NATIONAL CONVENTION

Of Republicans Met in Chicago Coliseum.

Senator Julius C. Burrows of Michigan Outlines Issues of Campaign in His Speech as Temporary Chairman. Revised Outline of Platform Planks on Tariff, Trusts and Injunction.

Chicago, June 16.—National Chairman Harry S. New of Indiana called the Republican national convention to order in the Coliseum at 12:10 p. m. He then introduced Bishop Muldoon of Chicago, who made the opening prayer, during which the entire convention rose to their feet.
Senator Hopkins, on behalf of the Chicago citizens committee, which cooperated with the national committee on arrangements for the convention, then presented to National Chairman New a handsome gavel. It was large and made for business. A heavy gold band was inscribed "Mr. Harry C. New, chairman Republican national convention, 1908."
Mr. New expressed his appreciation of the gift, and at once announced that Secretary Elmer Dover of the national committee would read the call of the convention. Mr. Dover delegated Mr. Malloy of Columbus, O., one of the reading clerks, to do the reading. As he read the bands played on the outside, to some extent drowning the voice of the clerk.
After the applause had subsided Chairman New in a few words expressed thanks for the gavel. He then said:
"Gentlemen of the convention, the national committee has selected for your temporary chairman Senator Julius C. Burrows of Michigan."
There was another shout from the convention, which was prolonged when Representative Henry C. Payne of New York rose to move that the action of the national committee be approved. The motion was at once adopted.
Asks Judgment For Party's Record.
Mr. Burrows was greeted with renewed cheers as he advanced to the speaker's stand. Simultaneously with Mr. Burrows' appearance at the speaker's table an immense oil painting of President Roosevelt was unveiled at his right. The tableau brought forth a burst of enthusiasm. As Mr. Burrows began to speak the picture was removed and the sole attention of the immense gathering was devoted to the Michigan statesman. The more striking sentences of his speech were liberally applauded. When he reviewed in figures the increased business of the country during the past four years and announced the enormous sum of gold accumulated in the national treasury the convention became enthusiastic.
He turned his attention to the administration's regulation of trusts, and when he said: "But no honest industry has been hampered," there was a round of approving applause. The declaration that those corporations that had encroached on the rights of the public had been curbed to an extent never before known also pleased the convention.
Mr. Burrows' challenge of "Judgment upon the record of the Republican administration" was the signal for a shout and applause.
The following additional temporary officers were then elected:
General secretary, John R. Malloy, Columbus, O.
Chief assistant secretary, Lafayette B. Gleason, New York.
Sergeant-at-arms, William F. Stone, Baltimore.
Chief assistant sergeant-at-arms, Ed. P. Thayer, Greenfield, Ind.
Parliamentarian, Asher C. Hinds, Washington, D. C.
Official reporter, M. W. Blumenberg, Washington, D. C.
Chief of doorkeepers, Stephen R. Mason, Baltimore.
Chaplain, Bishop P. J. Muldoon, Chicago; Rev. William O. Waters, Chicago; Rev. Tobias Schanfarber, Chicago; Rev. John Wesley Hill, New York; Rev. Lorenzo D. Case, Chicago.
Assistant secretaries, Charles Brooks Smith, Parkersburg, W. Va.; Ernest Walker Smith, Hartford, Conn.; Philip M. Heofle, St. Louis; M. J. Tobin, Vinton, Ia.; Charles M. Harger, Abilene, Kan.; Allen Hollis, Concord, N. H.
Reading clerks, Thomas W. Williamson, Edwardsville, Ill.; Albert Berg, Beaudette, Minn.; George A. Wilson, Des Moines, Ia.; W. J. Setz, West Liberty, Ky.

Committees were then appointed on permanent organization, rules and order of business, credentials, resolutions.

SHERMAN NOT ACCEPTABLE.

Administration Said to Regard Him as Too Conservative.

Washington, June 16.—The shift of the administration to the candidacy of either Senator Dilliver of Iowa or Governor Cummins of that state for the nomination for the vice-presidency, is regarded as the outcome of developments during the last couple of days which indicated that Representative James S. Sherman of New York would probably get the support of that state for second place on the ticket.
It is believed that if the Cortelyou boom had developed strength in New York state sufficient to get the delegation the announcement made in favor of Dilliver and Cummings would not have been forthcoming.
Sherman is regarded by the administration as rather too much of a conservative to take second place on the ticket and also is looked upon as lacking ability to carry on a whirlwind campaign which the vice presidential nominee will probably be expected to do. There are many advisers in favor of Mr. Taft remaining at his home in Ohio to receive delegations and to perhaps make short speeches of welcome to them.
There are many dangers awaiting the presidential nominee as a result of a momentary mistake of judgment in making long political speeches which would be a part of a general stump campaign. For that reason many of those who are interested in Mr. Taft's candidacy will not wish to see him make a tour of the country.
But in the case of the vice presidential nominee just the opposite view prevails. Either Senator Dilliver or Governor Cummins is looked upon as an ideal campaigner. They are both advanced in political views and would readily, it is declared, meet the approval of the great West and Pacific coast states. They are both ready talkers and are familiar with what are known as the Roosevelt policies, both of them having been particularly energetic in co-operation in carrying them out.
It is believed that on the stump either of them will be able to fully satisfy the campaign managers by calling forth enthusiasm for the Republican ticket. At least such may authoritatively be stated to be the administration view.

ANTI-GAMBLING BILL

Signed by the Governor Shortly After It Passed the Senate.

Bookmakers Arrested—Millers War on Health Foods—Acquitted in Capitol Graft Trial—Gould Deserts Pittsburgh—Vanderbilt's Colt Won the Grand Prix de Paris.

After a bitter struggle the precise like of which no man in or about the legislature has ever seen, or expects to see again, the famous Agnew-Hart anti-racetrack gambling bill is now law of the state of New York. Governor Hughes by his signature affixed to each of the bills crowned a legislative victory, the brilliancy of which, equaled only by its unexpectedness, is conceded even by those who fought him in this matter to the last ditch and beyond.
A few minutes before 2 p. m. Thursday the truly extraordinary session of the legislature of 1908 adjourned without delay.
The decisive votes which passed the bills were cast by Senator Otto G. Folsler of the Fourth district of Brooklyn, who crawled from a sick bed and made a sixty mile railroad journey to do so, weak and distressed in mind and body that he seemed on the verge of utter collapse, and by a new senator, William C. Wallace of Niagara Falls, who was elected at a special election, in the campaign preceding which the governor himself toured the district speaking in behalf of his election.
The bills which now constitute chapters 506 and 507 of the laws of 1908 in no way affect, so far as their face provisions go, the state racing commission in particular or horse racing in general. They relate solely to the penalties for gambling, pool selling and book making, which as before are declared by the law to be "a public nuisance." Chapter 506 amends the racing law by repealing that provision under which an exclusive penalty of simply recovering at civil suit the amount wagered, which has applied to gambling within a racetrack enclosure, thus exempting such gambling from the penalties operative elsewhere in the state, and it also provides that this general penalty shall be "imprisonment in the county jail or penitentiary for a period of not more than one year," without alternative of fine.
Chapter 507 amends the penal code in like manner and in addition changes the grade of the crime from that of felony, which any gambling was until now, to that of a misdemeanor, thus bringing the offense within the jurisdiction of the minor criminal courts.
Nine Bookmakers Arrested.
Between 15,000 and 20,000 persons, a bumper throng for a Friday, went down to the Gravesend racetrack from New York to see the horses run and, if possible, to make wagers on their favorites. Hundreds of gaily dressed women were in the crowds in the grandstand and the fieldstand.
Six races were run according to the schedule and six favorites won. There was betting, too, on every race, notwithstanding the new Agnew-Hart anti-gambling law was in force and notwithstanding John Cavanaugh, the master of the betting ring, announced that no speculation should be indulged in.
Nine persons were taken into custody by the police authorities, who in uniform and plain clothes circulated in large numbers among the crowds in the betting pavilion. The prisoners were charged with violating the new anti-gambling law and each man was held in $200 bail for a hearing.
Orlando Jones, one of the leading members of the Metropolitan Turf association—the big bookmakers' club—was the most prominent of the bookmakers arrested. A rumor to the effect that Jones would invite arrest to test the constitutionality of the new law was current and when he was led from the betting ring and taken to the Coney Island police station no denial of prearranged plan was forthcoming.
Millers War on Health Foods.
The millers of the country are up in arms against the makers of breakfast foods and a lively war, backed by a $100,000 advertising fund, is likely to be launched by the Millers' National federation. The point at issue is the statement commonly made by the health food men that white flour is harmful. Secretary Goetzmann recommended immediate measures to counteract the claims of the opposition. The day was devoted to consideration of the "troubles of the milling industry and a remedy." It was agreed that there is a large over-production in the industry.
Threats Made Against Thomas Car.
The United States embassy at St. Petersburg recently brought to the attention of the foreign office several threatening letters received by the Thomas company, an American concern, saying that an attempt would be made to damage its automobile which is now crossing Siberia in the New York to Paris race. In reply the foreign office informed the embassy that orders to protect the car have been sent to the Siberian administration.
Bryan Claims 25 More Than Needed.
William J. Bryan returned from York, Neb., to his home in Lincoln. At his office it was announced 637 delegates to the Democratic convention at Denver are pledged to vote for Bryan for president, this being 25 more than the necessary two-thirds majority.

CONFEDERATE FLAG

Pulled Down From Decorations Because It Overlapped Stars and Stripes.

Ossining, N. Y., June 16.—A Confederate flag flying from the printing office of William J. Physioc on Main street was hauled down by Commander Sumner A. Smith of Morell post of the Grand Army of the Republic. Physioc was cited to appear before the post and explain his action in hoisting the flag so that it overlapped the American flags also flying from poles on the roof.
Ossining is in gala attire because of a convention of farmers and Physioc had decorated his building in honor of the occasion. He declared that the flag belonged to his father, a Virginian, who fought under it during the Civil war, and that he hoisted it intending no disrespect to the Stars and Stripes but to add to the beauty of the decorations. Physioc was a member of the Rough Riders regiment during the war with Spain.
He was not at his office when Commander Smith appeared there to demand that the flag be lowered and in his absence Smith hauled it down and carried it away.
Morrell post met last night and passed a resolution sustaining Commander Smith in his action and deciding to keep the flag as a trophy. Major Physioc and his father, Major Physioc of the Confederate army, were present and told the veterans that the flag had been displayed as a decoration. The explanation was accepted and the Physios were given a reception by the post.

The driver of the taxicab, John Nolan, fell into the water with the machine. He was able to swim, however, and was rescued. Joseph Coleman, a chauffeur, husband of one of the victims, jumped from the automobile before it reached the end of the pier. All are residents of this city, the home of the Colemans and of Miss Borden and the Knight child being on West Fifty-first street.
