THE CHIEF THING

Upon which we always prided ourselves is our ability to give our customers the acknowledged best values in the best merchandise. Our habit of doing this regularly, day-in-and-day-out, has created such an outlet for standard qualities that we frequently are enabled to pick up many manufacturers' lots and odds and ends of stock on terms that means savings of one-fourth, one-third, one-half and even more to our patrons. This is emphatically demonstrated now in these bargain offerings. Investigation of the items quoted will put you in possession of many important facts and figures.

All Kinds of Smart, New Summer Suits and Dresses at Radically Reduced Prices.

There is no reason why any woman should go away on her summer vacation without having at least one more new stylish outfit. Our lines of women's summer apparel were bargains at their original prices, but the order was issued to drop prices away down lower than you ever dreamed of buying them at.

- Tailored wash suits that were $5.00 are now $2.50

MR. TAFT NOTIFIED

Heard Formal Word That He Is Choice of Republican Party.

All Classes of Citizens United to Do Honor to the City's First Nominee For President—Address of Notification Made by Senator Warner of Missouri—Speech of Judge Bromwell at Unfurling of Flag on the Taft Residence.

Cincinnati, July 28.—This is a memorable day in Cincinnati, on occasion of the notification of William H. Taft by the committee of the Chicago convention of his nomination for the presidency. The day had been made a public holiday and all classes of citizens united in doing honor to the nominee.

At seven o'clock in the morning there were salutes of twenty guns or more fired from these four hilltops—Price hill, Mt. Adams, Mt. Lookout and Fairview Heights, as a welcome to Cincinnati's first candidate for the presidency.

At 8 o'clock bands stationed in the parks, squares and at prominent corners began to make melody and kept at it all day.

At 10 o'clock a flag was presented by the city of Cincinnati to Charles P. Taft, brother of the nominee, to be unfurled over the Taft residence on Pike street. This presentation was made at the Taft residence, the lawn of which, exclusive of walk and driveway, was covered with an immense platform.

At 11 o'clock the notification committee was escorted to the Taft residence and, on the temporary platform, Judge Taft heard the formal word that he is the Republican party's choice for president. There were but two speeches—that of Senator Warner of Missouri, notifying Mr. Taft, and that of acceptance by the nominee.

Judge J. H. Bromwell of Cincinnati, in presenting the flag to Mr. Charles P. Taft, just prior to the notification ceremonies, spoke as follows:

Fellow Citizens: A distinguished honor has been conferred upon our city by the selection of one of our townsmen for nomination to the greatest office on the face of the earth, the presidency of the United States. In appreciation of this high compliment, and as a special tribute of our regard and respect for our neighbor and fellow citizen upon whom this honor has been bestowed, we have set apart this day to rest from our usual vocations and to celebrate an event unique in the history of our city.

Ohio the Mother of Presidents. Ohio, the mother of presidents, has furnished other great and able men to fill the office of chief executive of our nation, but on this occasion our own fair city offers, for the first time, one of its sons for that high station.

This demonstration is in no sense partisan or political. For the time being we lay aside party lines and ignore national platforms. We are here as citizens of Cincinnati and as friends, neighbors and admirers of William Howard Taft.

It would be unbecoming under such circumstances to enter upon any eulogium, however brief, of his ability or his fitness for the high office for which he has been named. That will come later, in the great battle of oratory and argument which is to follow the exercises of this day.

How appropriate, then that the formal ceremonies of this occasion should be opened by the function of raising the flag, in which all may freely participate without sacrifice of party affiliations or political tenets.

For the American flag belongs not, exclusively, to any man or body of men; not to any political party, religious sect or social organization. It is the priceless heritage handed down by heroic ancestors to all the nation and to every one of its people.

It is to us an emblem of the unity of our government and the wonderful progress and development it has made in the brief space of little more than a century.

It has been heft aloft in the front rank of that steady, forward march which has transferred us from a handful of scattered colonies with rival interests and little in common, save their need of protection from aggression by foreign powers, into a world power, the equal of any on earth, with a common purpose and a single interest.

Every great national achievement, whether in war or peace, has been wrought under its beautiful folds, which ever have been, and ever will be, the glorious emblem of civil and religious liberty.

It was with Washington at Yorktown, with Perry on Lake Erie and with Jackson at New Orleans; it was with Scott and Taylor in Mexico, with Grant at Appomattox and with Dewey at Manila, and with Sampson and Schley at Santiago.

It saw the birth of the nation in the Revolutionary war; its redemption from unjust aggression in the war of 1812; the filling up and rounding out of our territory in the war with Mexico; the emancipation of a race and the unification of our republic in the civil war; and the release from tyranny of the Islands of the Sea in the war with Spain.

Never Trailed in Dust of Dishonor. In every contest submitted to the arbitration of the sword it has waved over victorious armies and unconquered navies. It has never been trailed in the dust of dishonor nor lowered in the shame of defeat.

Not alone in the bloody strife of battle has it led triumphant hosts to victory. It has floated above the great industrial army of development and civilization which has swept over our country from ocean to ocean and joined the Orient and the Occident; which has crossed mountains and plowed prairie, tilled the forests, built school houses and churches, dug into the earth for its precious stores of mineral wealth and opened up the natural resources of a country blessed beyond all others by divine providence; it has been raised in the regions of perpetual ice, in the glaciers of Alaska and beneath the tropical sun of Porto Rico and the Philippines. Beneath its continents are being cut in twain for the commercial traffic of the world.

It floats over your school yards, an ever present object lesson in patriotism to the generation to follow us; over your public edifices as a constant reminder that to be entitled to the blessings which it typifies we must ever hold public office to be a public trust; and in and over your churches to remind you that while church and state shall ever be held separate and apart, every proper religion shall have its protection without partiality or discrimination.

Webster's Hope More Than Fulfilled.

The hope of Webster has been more than fulfilled, for its thirteen stripes of red and white and its stars set in its azure field are not only still high adorned, with not a stripe erased or polluted or a single star obscured, but its field of blue has filled with new stars, as each succeeding state became a part of the Union, until the little constellation upon which Webster gazed has become a galaxy.

Others are yet to be added, as the wards of the nation now in tutelage shall become worthy of self-government; and among them some day shall come another star to take its place to represent a state in our distant Asiatic possessions, and no name will be more honored in the ceremonies of that day than that of the first governor of the Philippines, our own citizen and neighbor.

From this day until the people express their choice at the ballot box in November this spot will be visited by many distinguished Americans. It will be the Mecca to which hundreds will make their pilgrimage to pay their respects to their great party leader.

It has been thought by the good citizens of this city that it would be eminently proper that, upon this spot, which will today become historical, the glorious emblem of our country shall be raised to greet the eyes and welcome the steps of these, our coming guests and visitors.

To you, Mr. Charles P. Taft, as the representative of your distinguished brother, is entrusted this loving tribute of your and his neighbors and fellow citizens, that it may float on high on every proper occasion to do honor to one who has made a record which will reflect luster upon himself and this, his home city, and who, if selected by the American people as their president, will prove a worthy successor to his predecessors in that exalted station; so that in days to come, when our youth shall read the history of their country, one of the names which shall go down into its annals as representative of the highest type of official character and devotion to public duty will be that of William Howard Taft.

GREAT SHOWING BY YANKEE ATHLETES.

Scored 114 1-2 Points to 66 1-3 by Great Britain and Ireland.

Oyster Bay, July 28.—When the president received his telegrams and mail he found a cablegram from the United States commissioner at the Olympic games in London informing him of the splendid showing of the American participants in the contests. The message was as follows:

"London, July 25, 1908.
"Hon. Theodore Roosevelt, President of the United States, Oyster Bay, N. Y.

"In the athletic section of the Olympic games of 1908 representing the world's championship track and field, the athletes representing the United States won fifteen first prizes out of a possible twenty-seven, scoring more firsts than the athletes of the entire world.

"On the basis of five for first, three for second and one for third, the United States athletes scored 114 1/2 points, Great Britain and Ireland combined scored 66 1/3 points.

"James E. Sullivan,
U. S. Commissioner."

The president was so well pleased that he immediately sent his congratulations to the men and said he wished he might shake hands with each one of them.

The president's message in full was as follows:

"James E. Sullivan, U. S. Commissioner to Olympic games, London.
"Heartiest congratulations to you and team. Wish I could shake hands with each man.
"Theodore Roosevelt."

BOLTS HIT CAMP.

Three Members of Pennsylvania National Guard Killed.

Standard Oil Fine Reversed—Mayflower Sank a Schooner—Quebec's Tercentenary—Governor Hughes Will Accept—America Wins New York to Paris Race—Remorse Drew Him to Scene of Crime.

On the eve of their departure for their homes three men of the Pennsylvania National Guard were struck dead in one of the most severe electrical storms ever experienced on the historical battlefield of Gettysburg about 10 o'clock Thursday night. The dead are:

Private Barbe, Eighteenth regiment.
Private Morrison, Tenth regiment.
Private Garver, Eighteenth regiment.

When the storm came up Governor Stuart was entertaining a few friends in his tent. The storm broke with such suddenness and fury that the occupants of the tent were entangled in the canvas and ropes but all escaped serious injury.

There were nearly fifty men in the regimental guard tent of the Tenth regiment when the storm broke and not one is believed to have escaped injury.

The men of the Second brigade, whose tents were pitched in the lowland, were forced to swim to safety. When the storm swept down upon the camp there were hundreds of visitors present. Scores of men and women sought shelter in the Y. M. C. A. tent. This immense sheet of canvas was tossed like a toy balloon in a gale of wind, but strangely enough not one person was injured.

The greatest excitement prevailed and many troopers who were injured could be located only by their cries for assistance, all the lights in the camp having been extinguished by the terrific wind.

Standard Oil Fine Reversed.

Following the unanimous decision on Wednesday of Judges Grosscup, Seaman and Baker, composing the United States circuit court of appeals, reversing and remanding the case of the government against the Standard Oil company of Indiana, in which case Judge Landis in the district court had imposed a fine of $29,240,000, the federal attorneys announced that the government had thirty days within which to file a petition for a rehearing, and that it would be filed within the allotted period.

In the case that was reversed the Standard Oil company of Indiana was found guilty of accepting rebates on shipments of oil from its refinery at Whiting, Ind., to East St. Louis, Ill. Judge Landis fined the company $29,000 on each of 1,462 counts, each count representing a carload shipment.

The opinion of three judges of the higher court leaves little of the contention that each carload constituted a separate offense. Even the various shipments, of which there were about 500, could not be considered as separate offenses under the ruling of the court of appeals.

The fine should have been based upon settlements between the railroad and the oil company, the opinion holds. Of these there were thirty-six. The maximum fine on this basis would amount to $720,000, and the minimum $26,000.

It is said that $223,000 is the total amount which the Standard Oil company is alleged to have received as rebates on the shipments in question.

In the event that a rehearing is denied the government may go to trial on the original indictment containing 1,462 counts. Such an action District Attorney Sims could be ready to take within two weeks. There are also seven other indictments, containing 4,422 counts.

Another move which may be made by the federal attorneys is to transfer the prosecution from this jurisdiction either to the Western New York district or to the Eastern Tennessee court. In these two districts, the government investigation led to indictments containing about 2,000 counts against the Standard Oil company.

Five Cars With Perfect Scores.

Cambridge Springs, Pa., July 28.—The five cars with perfect scores in the 1908 tour for the Hower trophy arrived at Cambridge Springs from Buffalo at 1:52 o'clock yesterday afternoon without mishap and still with perfect scores. They left this morning for Pittsburgh.

Dives Sixty Feet and Lives.

Hastings, Minn., July 28.—J. D. McDonald of Chicago would not take a dare and jumped into the Mississippi river last evening from the spiral ridge at a height of sixty feet and swam to shore unharmed.

Bringing Merchandise Down

Out of the shelves onto the counters and center aisle tables and putting such prices on each lot as will make this last week of July, 1908, a very busy one at this store. Merchandise to which we don't propose to give shelf room any longer. It's the policy of this store; as the end of each season approaches, shelves and boxes are emptied. At this time very little attention is paid to original price. A price to sell and sell quickly is employed. Immediate sale the only consideration. Just a few prices quoted here:

25c Organdie Dimities, 17c.—As handsome a summer fabric as ever found room on a dry goods counter. Large floral design on a white ground with a dimity cord plaid. Eight or ten designs.

25c Bordered Lawns, 17c.—Just two shades, lavender and green ground with white polka dot and striped border.

16 Bordered Percalines, 12c.—White grounds with black polka dot.

TOUR TO YELLOWSTONE PARK AND THE CANADIAN ROCKIES.

In northwestern Wyoming in the heart of the Rocky Mountains, lies one of nature's richest treasures—the Yellowstone National Park. Set apart by Act of Congress for enjoyment of mankind, it is America's greatest show ground. To visit this Park is to see nature in a variety of majestic moods. Mammoth hot springs, with multicolored terraces, cliffs of glass, beautiful lakes, mighty falls, glorious canyons, and geysers of all descriptions, are found in this wonderful region.

On August 24 a personally-conducted tour through the Yellowstone Park to Portland and Seattle, returning through the magnificent Canadian Rocky Mountains, will leave the East by special train over the Pennsylvania Railroad. Five and one-half days will be spent in the Park, one day in Portland, one day in Vancouver, one day at Field, B. C., one day at Laggan, Alba., one day at Banff, and stops will be made at many other points of interest. The tour will cover a period of twenty-two days.

As an educational trip for either teacher or scholar, this tour is especially attractive, as it covers a section of America rich in scenery and replete with the marvelous manifestations of nature.

The rates, which will cover all necessary expenses, will be $246 from New York, $243.20 from Philadelphia, $241.20 from Washington and Baltimore, $230.80 from Pittsburgh, and proportionate from other points.

Preliminary leaflets may be obtained of Agents, and detailed itineraries will be ready for distribution shortly. Persons desiring to avail themselves of this opportunity to visit the Park of the Nation should make application for Pullman space early, as the party will be limited. Make application through local Ticket Agent or address Geo. W. Boyd, General Passenger Agent, Broad Street Station, Philadelphia.
