Don't fail to be registered, Republicans, September 21 is your last chance.

If Mr. Bryan would pledge himself not to run again when his campaign fund reaches $1,000,000 the Democrats' contributions might begin to come in real lively.

Mr. Bryan is giving more publicity than usual to his ardent desire for campaign contributions. Give Mr. Bryan the money and he will take chances on getting the votes.

If Foraker has relegated himself to the rear he has none but himself to blame for it. He is a pronounced opponent of the Roosevelt policies. Mr. Taft stands for them. And there you are.—Blizzard.

The postoffice department is taking a hand in the matter of good roads. It has decided that if the townships do not keep the roads in good repair that the rural free delivery routes will be withdrawn.

Every Republican in Forest county should know that his name is on the registry list. September 21 is the last day for registration to entitle one to a vote in November. Surely no Republican will want to lose his vote this fall. Then see to it at once.

The Harrisburg Telegraph figures that Bryan is not sincere in his slogan, "Shall the people rule?" And then goes on to state why as follows: "Tammany wasn't for Bryan, but its support was won by some sort of a bargain consummated about the time of the Denver convention. What are the terms of that bargain? Possibly only the parties at interest know all the details. But this much is clear enough to anyone familiar with the very practical quality of Tammany politics—that the New York crowd wouldn't be likely to stand for any candidate without assurance that in event of success the crowd should have its share of the swag."

Bryan Prospects in the West.

It seems from reading the Democratic newspapers of the "Great Middle West" that underneath the boasts of victory there is a substratum of consciousness that defeat is coming.

In Ohio they (we mean in all cases Democratic editors) tell you that there is no hope of that State, but Indiana is surely Democratic.

In Hoosierdom they say that while Bryan may not carry Indiana he is sure of Illinois.

In the Sucker State they think that Bryan has a poor show, but just look at Iowa, where the Republican scrap means Democratic victory!

In Iowa they point to Kansas, and in the Cornflower State all they can say is that Oklahoma will go Democratic if its full constitution doesn't overturn things before November.

On the whole, it does not seem as if there was a very serious doubt that Bryan will carry Oklahoma. But we refuse to concede even this for the present.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

No Sign of Revolt.

Candidate Bryan's contention that in the pending presidential contest the main chance for the Democracy lies in the west is not endorsed by Democratic authorities whose opinion is worth considering. The Republicans of the west have settled down to the firm conviction that their interests can best be conserved by the Republican party and Republican policies, and nowhere in any state west of the Mississippi river has there been the slightest sign of Republican discontent, nor has there been any tendency to break away from party affiliations. They are taking the view expressed by James S. Sherman, the Republican vice presidential candidate, in his acceptance of the nomination, when he said: "The overshadowing issue of the campaign really is, Shall the administration of President Roosevelt be approved?" The Republicans of the west will answer in the affirmative when they cast their votes for the Republican nominees next November.

The most sanguine Democratic leader recognizes that a revolution would be necessary to turn the western states that have heretofore been Republican from their political moorings, and no leader of that faith has so far been reckless enough to even pretend that in the western states there are any signs of a revolution. On the contrary and in a most significant way, the Cincinnati Enquirer, owned and edited by John R. McLean, accepted as one of the most sensible and far-seeing Democrats in the nation, has served emphatic notice on Mr. Bryan that there is absolutely no chance for his carrying any of the western states. The Enquirer, on the other hand, sees danger that the Republicans are likely to carry one or more of the southern states that have always been counted safely Democratic. It points out that the Roosevelt policies are decidedly popular in the south and, in view of the fact that Mr. Taft is certain to carry out all of them, reaches the natural conclusion that more than one of the southern states are made uncertain for Mr. Bryan and are debated this year.

Of course, the Democrats are making no fight for Bryan in Pennsylvania. However, it has developed recently that a strenuous effort is being made in some of the congressional districts to hoodwink the voters into support of Democratic candidates for congress. This is particularly noticeable in the Washington-Beaver-Lawrence and the Westmoreland-Butler districts. In the former E. F. Acheson, after feeding at the Republican crib for about a quarter of a century, was at the spring primaries defeated for renomination to congress. He was beaten in an open contest in which the people were honestly and fairly heard. Since his defeat Mr. Acheson is alleged to have joined with the Democrats and the Anti-Saloon league advocates and to be assisting the fight that is being made against John K. Tener, who defeated him for the Republican nomination in the primaries. Mr. Acheson, it is charged, has wholly abandoned his former Republican position and is advocating assistance to Bryan and Bryanism, not because he is a Democrat but because he is out for revenge against the Republican voters of his district who refused to continue him longer in an exalted office.

Immediately after the defeat of Mr. Acheson for the congressional nomination he proposed to head a revolt against the reelection of United States Senator Boies Penrose, but Mr. Acheson soon found that the Republicans of the state were almost a unit in favor of returning Mr. Penrose to the senate and he dropped that end of his revenge scheme like a hot potato. So far as Senator Penrose is concerned the political skies are entirely clear. He has kept absolutely clear of all factional contests and the Republican party in this state, weary of that sort of strife, is back of him almost to a man. It seems certain that he will be the only Republican candidate for the position in the senate, which for a dozen years he has filled with dignity and rare ability. The Republican party is always certain of coming into and keeping its own when factional strife is allayed. The effort now making to stir up strife in the congressional districts is intended to make several of them uncertain, if not Democratic.

In the Westmoreland-Butler district a number of political bushwhackers are at work with a view to breaking down the strong political position occupied by Colonel George F. Huff, the regular Republican nominee for congress. Colonel Huff was one of the recognized leaders in the last congress. He is an indefatigable worker and his industry and devotion to his duties forced him well to the front among the national lawmakers and brought to him burdens which were heard to bear. His brilliant effort to have the government establish a department of mines and mining, intended almost entirely for the betterment of the condition of the miners of the country, imposed upon him in connection with his other multitudinous duties, more work than he could do and his health weakened under the strain.

It Wasn't It.

Recently a news reporter of the Spirit lost an old and much beloved pipe, to which he had become strangely attached on account of the sweet memories and powerful odors that clung to it. It was the kind of a pipe that inspire men like Whitcomb Riley and Rudyard Kipling to write poetry about "That Old Sweetbriar Pipe," and "The Betrothed."

The Spirit reporter advertised for his pipe persistently and almost hysterically for a week or so, changing his form of plaint and appeal every day. Our old friend and fellow sufferer in the somewhat barren field of country journalism, Jacob E. Wenk, of the Forest Republican, read the advertisements faithfully, and his sympathies were aroused. We have no doubt he was touched to tears. In the goodness of his heart he resolved to do what he could to relieve the heartrending situation.

Yesterday we received, by freight, a soap box containing a most bewildering assortment of pipes, all of them old and most of them reeking with the odors of nicotine. Evidently Wenk had ransacked Forest County for cast-off and battle-scarred pipes. It was pathetic in his frantic effort to restore the lost tobacco furnace he had hurriedly thrown the pipes together in the box, upon which, in great agitation, he had written, "Is either of these it?"

Alas, neither of them was it. But the beautiful solicitude of Br'er Wenk shall never be forgotten.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. that was held in the Presbyterian church last Thursday evening, August 18th, marked the close of another year of faithful service by this band of white-robed women, who for so many years have striven to impress on the hearts of every one the greatness and worthiness of the cause of temperance. While the yearly reports of the officers and superintendents showed no great gain in membership, yet it could most plainly be seen that the interest in the work had in no way diminished and that much good had been done all along the line.

The following officers and superintendents were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. Martha Derickson; First Vice President, Mrs. Anna Watson; Second Vice President, Mrs. Eliza Clark; Recording Secretary, Mrs. Nettie Adams; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Myrtle Huling; Treasurer, Mrs. Mary T. Irwin; Assistant Treasurer, Mrs. Eliza Clark. Superintendents.—Evangelistic, Mrs. A. B. Kelly; Sabbath Observance, Mrs. Wm. —Whenever the price of meat is advanced there is a corresponding sigh from the house-keeper who has the family purse in charge. If wise, she will cast about for ways to cook the cheaper cuts and those parts of the animals which often find the scrap-barrel for their resting-place. How seldom, excepting on the English table, will one find kidneys or hearts, and yet when properly cooked these parts make a delicious addition to the menu, and will also lower the meat bill considerably. Besides the kidneys and heart there are the tongues of beef and lamb and veal, to say nothing of beef and pig, all of which in many localities, especially in the villages, can be purchased for a small sum, and in some instances can be had for just the asking.—Ladies' World for September.

—The monument being erected at Fredricksburg, Va., in commemoration of the charge of Humphreys' Division on Mareys' Heights on Dec. 13, 1862, will be dedicated on Nov. 11 next. Every honorably discharged survivor of the eight regiments constituting Humphreys' Division, in whatever State he may live, in accordance with the provisions of the dedication act of June 13, 1907, is entitled to free transportation to Fredricksburg and return, from the railroad station in Pennsylvania nearest to his residence. In order to secure this transportation, which does not include either subsistence or sleeping or parlor accommodations, individual application must be made to the secretary, James M. Clark, New Castle, Pa. This initiative application need contain no information, but his desire, name and postoffice address. The rest will follow in due course. While orders for transportation will not go out before some time in October, it is important that applications be sent to the secretary at once, in order that the railroads may have timely notice for the needful ticket arrangements.

Neighborhood Notes.

There is promise that the grape crop will be of a better quality and fully up to former years in quantity this season, so reports from the "bell" say.

The Meadville Star says the crop of oats in Crawford county this season will be the largest it has had for fifty years. Fifty bushels to the acre will be no uncommon yield in this county this fall.

Saturday, at Sheakleyville, Mercer County, Mortimer Bissel, aged 21 years, fell into the feeder of a thrashing machine and sustained such terrible injuries he died within an hour. He was literally ground to pieces.

David Humphrey of Curlyville, Clarion county, who is 84 years old, visited Mrs. Freeman, aged 114, at East Brady, the other day. He found Mrs. Freeman in very good health, smoking her pipe and enjoying life.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Foust is arranging for Federal assistance in a crusade against adulterated flour in this state, and if the reports of chemists who will analyze flour samples sent by his agents show that foreign matter is used he expects to have Dr. H. W. Wiley, of Washington, and James S. Shepherd, of South Dakota, an expert on flour, to testify. Samples will be taken in a number of counties.

A couple of slick swindlers are said to be operating in this section of the state. One represents himself as an agent of the state department commissioned to test cows for farmers to see if they were free from tuberculosis. In one place he told a farmer that ten of his herd were affected that way and he had better sell them for what he could get. The next day a man came along looking for cows to buy and the farmer sold the ten cows, and a few days he found out that he had been swindled.

Deputy Secretary of Agriculture Martin, who directs the farmers institute for the State, says that there will be four movable schools for farmers established for the coming winter, the western part of the State being given the preference owing to the fact that the schools were held in the eastern section last season. The places selected are Meadville, Erie and Port Allegheny, in the west, and Bloomsburg in the east. Meadville and Bloomsburg will have six days each and the others four days. There are many demands for these schools, but as the Department must also conduct 400 days of institutes it will be impossible to make the appropriation reach.
