DISASTER TO AIRSHIP.

Lieutenant Selfridge Killed—Orville Wright Badly Hurt.

One of the Propeller Blades Snapped Off and Hitting Some Other Part of the Mechanism Caused Machine to Overturn in the Air and Fall to the Ground—Wright Was Pinned Under the Motor.

After having drawn the attention of the world to his aeroplane flights at Fort Myer and having established new world's records for heavier-than-air flying machines, Orville Wright met with a tragical mishap while making a two man flight. The aeroplane was accompanied by Lieutenant Thomas E. Selfridge of the signal corps of the army. Lieutenant Selfridge was fatally injured and died at 8:10 o'clock Thursday night. Mr. Wright was seriously injured but is expected to recover. While the machine was encircling the drill grounds a propeller blade snapped off and hitting some other part of the intricate mechanism, caused it to overturn in the air and fall to the ground enveloping the two occupants in the debris. Soldiers and spectators ran across the field to where the aeroplanes had fallen and assisted in lifting Mr. Wright and Lieutenant Selfridge from under the tangled mass of machinery rods and shreds of muslin. Mr. Wright was conscious and said: "Oh, hurry and lift the motor." Lieutenant Selfridge was unconscious and had apparently struck the ground with great force. His head was covered with blood and he was choking when the soldiers extricated him from under the machine. Dr. Watters, a New York physician, was one of the first to reach the spot and rendered first aid to the injured men. When their wounds had been bandaged Mr. Wright and Lieutenant Selfridge were taken to the Fort Myer hospital at the other end of the field. Mr. Wright had lapsed into a state of semi-consciousness by the time he reached the hospital, while Lieutenant Selfridge did not regain consciousness at all. He was suffering from a fracture at the base of the skull. After a hurried surgical examination it was announced that Mr. Wright was not dangerously injured. He is suffering from a fracture of his left thigh and several ribs on the right side are fractured. Both men received deep cuts about the head. Mr. Wright regained consciousness at the hospital and dictated a cablegram to his brother at Le Mans, France, and requested that the same message be sent to his sister and father at Dayton, O., assuring them that he was all right.

ASIATIC CHOLERA.

Disease Spreading With Alarming Rapidity in Russia.

St. Petersburg is in the grasp of the Asiatic cholera, which exceeds in severity the visitation of 1893. The disease is increasing daily at an alarming rate and unless the authorities show in the future a much greater degree of ability to cope with the situation than they have in the past there is every reason to fear that it will get out of hand. The government's threat to declare martial law has driven the municipal officers to greater energy in clearing the city of the scourge. The administrative council Sunday voted $250,000 to enlarge the hospital space, to purchase and distribute disinfectants and to expedite the interment of bodies. The dead houses are overcrowded and many corpses lie unburied. The prefect of St. Petersburg has prohibited the sale of liquor here until Sept. 22 in order to diminish alcoholic excesses, which very materially increase the liability to cholera infection. A beginning was made when several public schools were transformed into hospital wards and 4,000 of the students were sent to their homes. The department of war has opened stores to supply immediate need and army field kitchens have been dispatched to the poorer quarters to dispense free food. Germany and Austria have taken precautions to prevent the plague crossing the frontier and other nearby countries have declared a quarantine against Russia, and France is ready to meet any exigency that may arise.

$10 FOR STOLEN KISS.

Man Who Paid It in Police Court Thought Price Too High. Stolen kisses are getting to be a drug on the market in Chicago. From a pretty girl of 18 against her will and it only costs you $10 it's a sign that the kissing market is 'way off. Once it cost $100.

Just in order to show that the "masses" are entitled to cheap kisses Municipal Judge Lantry on Friday assessed Michael Slick, a boiler maker, $10 for kissing Miss Emma Otto, 10701 Buffalo avenue, at a picnic held at Lakeside grove on Labor day. Slick claimed that he was not trying to live up to his name. He asserted that he did not believe that a girl really objected to being kissed anyway, and besides he did not kiss Miss Otto. "A kiss is not worth the money at that," said Slick unganfully, as he paid his fine. Miss Otto, with many blushes, told how Slick happened to kiss her. She said she attended a picnic at Lakeside grove on Labor day and when she got off the train Slick walked up to her and asked her if she came alone. She said she had and he asked her if he could dance with her. The music proved alluring and the couple were soon two-stepping. Later Mr. Slick grew bolder, escorted Miss Otto home and at her door implanted a rousing smack on her lips—she asserts—and was promptly slapped and later arrested.

ENTERTAINS VILLAGERS.

President Roosevelt Proved Himself an Ideal Host. President Roosevelt proved himself the ideal host when he entertained the residents of Oyster Bay at his summer home on Sagamore Hill. Each one of the 2,000 or more persons who went to see the president was made to feel that he or she had been especially honored.

For each of his visitors the president had something of particular interest to that person to say. If he was shaking hands with the father of a large family the president would increase the pressure of his hand; if he was greeting the mother of a large family he would grow even more enthusiastic, and when the children of the village finally managed to press through the crowd the president beamed with pleasure and patted the youngsters on the back with an affectionate little pat as they fled past him. Mrs. Roosevelt, Mrs. W. Emien Roosevelt and Mrs. Reeves Merritt assisted the president in receiving the guests. Refreshments, consisting of punch and ginger snaps, were served on the lawn, and every one was invited to make himself perfectly at home.

CANDIDATES FRATERNIZE.

Hughes and Chanler Forgo Their Opposing Positions For a Day. Syracuse enjoyed the unique distinction last Thursday of being the political center of New York state and of entertaining the most remarkable gathering of opposing political candidates and leaders brought together in recent years. Governor Charles E. Hughes and Lieutenant Governor Lewis Stuyvesant Chanler, with their political paths set in diametrically opposite directions by the Saratoga and Rochester conventions, met within comparatively a few hours of their respective nominations for governor by the Republican and Democratic parties and fraternized in their official duties as first and second officers of the present state administration. With them at luncheon and in social intercourse during the day were State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff of the Republican party and State Chairman Connors of the Democratic party.

Forest Fires Spread.

Fresh forest fires are being reported daily from the Adirondack and Catskill regions, and unless there is a heavy rainfall soon the damage may approximate that of the destructive fires of 1903, when over 450,000 acres were burned over, entailing a loss of $800,000 in standing timber, logs and pulpwood. Some of the fires thus reported are burning within the fire-swept areas of 1903, so that the damage in these sections will not be so great.

Succeeds Sherman as Attorney.

H. J. Cookingham of Utica was on Friday last week appointed by the state commission in lunacy attorney for the Utica state hospital for the insane at an annual salary of $1,200. He succeeds James S. Sherman, the Republican candidate for vice president, who for years served in that capacity but who resigned after his nomination.

French Kill 1,000 in Congo.

Dispatches to the government at Paris from the governor general of the French Congo state that a force of 1,900 French troops under Captain Jullied have routed the Oualah tribe, whose territory is the center of the trade in slaves and contraband arms. The tribesmen's losses number a thousand.

WHY THE G. O. P. SHOULD WIN OUT

Able Presentation of Issue at Outset of Campaign.

PROUD RECORD OF GREAT PARTY

It Stands For Expansion, For Progress and Prosperity, Is Constructive, It Organizes the National Will, Is a Party of Statesmen, and With Taft and Sherman As Its Standard-Bearers Is Bound to Be Successful at the Election to Be Held in November.

[Special Correspondence.]
New York, Sept. 8. In meeting the issue "Why the Republican party should be successful next November," the Republican congressional committee sought the brightest literary minds in the country to present the case in a brief and forcible manner, and from among 200 articles upon the subject submitted, that written by Frank Hendrick, of New York city, was awarded the first prize of $150.

This is what Mr. Hendrick wrote: "The Party of Expansion. The Republican party was founded upon the principle that this government was established to protect for all times the rights and opportunities of every individual from abridgment. That principle it has successfully maintained. Through the Civil War it consecrated a reunited country to free and equal American citizenship. It has kept the channels of interstate commerce open for all, through the national banking system, the refunding of the national debt, resumption of specie payments, the gold standard and the emergency currency law, has sustained the life current of national integrity. "As trustee of the national wealth, it has investigated mineral regions, surveyed soils, developed waterways, including the Panama canal, irrigated deserts, conserved watersheds, and husbanded the public lands. Protecting American labor by regulating immigration and by taking at the custom house, to pay American taxes, foreign capital's advantage from low wages, it has preserved to American industries the home market of eighty millions of the world's greatest consumers and so laid the surest basis for American competition in foreign markets. Uniting capital and labor, thus, in a common prosperity and common source of increased reward, it has created opportunities, improved conditions of employment, brought about a higher standard of living, and more widespread distribution of wealth and well-being, and made expansion moral as well as material. "Trusted with insular possessions, it has brought them peace and progress, and provided for the extension and protection of American trade, for the national defense, and for the honorable discharge of the responsibilities of world greatness. Maintaining peace at home, with foreign nations and among them, it has given American rights and American opportunities new meaning throughout the nation and throughout the world. "The Party of Progress and Prosperity. "Promising progress and prosperity, it has been politically sincere. It has never had a candidate of a section, prejudice, or class, nor a platform of negation, scheme of repudiation, program of scuttling or doctrine of despair. It has never lent itself to a demand for revolution, to be followed by reaction and retrogression, it has stood firm for evolution by constant, steady and enduring progress. Finding trusts, giant-born, flourishing under supposed conflict of state and national law, the double prohibition of existence serving but to foster their development, it has never, in an attempt to destroy trusts, withdrawn, in state or nation, the protection of law from prosperity, but has, through executive investigation and resort to the courts, resolved the conflict which had silenced law and given trusts existence. "It has never proposed to advance American workingmen and American industries by banishing American industries and building up those of other lands, and scorned to insult labor with an illusory promise of immunity from law. Yet it passed the pure food law and the employer's liability law, secured equal accommodations on railroads, aided agriculture, created the civil service, established free rural mail delivery, reduced foreign postage, and increased pensions. Continuing naturally marked-out progress, it will keep its pledges of tariff readjustment, currency reform and development of the merchant marine, and make the United States the financial centre as it has made it the industrial centre of the world. "In the evolution by which party government has become the extra-constitutional method of securing responsibility to the people, the Republican party has become their traditional representative and the Democratic party the organized aspiration of individuals for power without responsibility. Fairly tried, from 1893 to 1895, the two Democratic houses and the Democratic president were a 'wild team' and a helpless driver. Democracy agitates local differences, Republicanism organizes the national idea. In 1863 the people were committed to the cause of human liberty; the idea of 'Liberty and Union' expanded for the first time into the reality of the American nation. "In 1879 money was committed to a

Has Important Qualifications.
"These questions are fruitful of trouble and perturbation, and the primary requisite of the man or woman must deal with them is an abundant knowledge of the people of the outlying domain. That Mr. Taft is possessed of this knowledge as is no other man in the country is hardly to be denied; granted that he has had extraordinary opportunities, he has shown himself able to improve those opportunities in a manner which it is not extravagant to say will be his broadest claim so far to enduring fame when the acute visual distortion of the present and opportune shall have given place to the inexorable perspective of history in which the real values of public deeds to public duties are completely clarified and announced to posterity."

CLEVELAND'S LAST WORD TO PARTY
Praised Taft and Called For Elimination of Bryanism.

[Special Correspondence.]
Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8. Pennsylvania Bryanites are greatly exercised over the publication of Grover Cleveland's last political document, in which he forecasted the election of Judge Taft and recorded his opinion that the national Democracy will never regain its prestige until Bryanism shall be eliminated. There is no doubt that these declarations have had far reaching influence among the conservative element of the Democracy of the Keystone State. The Cleveland article was the first of a series which the late ex-president intended to write, but which his death cut short. It was copyrighted by the New York Times after permission to print it had been obtained from Frederick S. Hastings, executor of Mr. Cleveland's estate. In this article Mr. Cleveland among other things said: "With the other parties disorganized, redeveloping and procreating, the Republican party is certain, though with a considerably lessened strength, to move on to a safe victory sustained by the popular support of reforms which should not redound to its glory solely, those reforms having been the work of decent men of all parties. * * * "Personally and officially I have had the opportunity of knowing many things concerning Mr. Taft that were not a matter of general knowledge, and with a keen interest I have watched his large share in the conduct of our national affairs in very recent years. His excellence as a federal judge in Cincinnati is something not to be underestimated or overemphasized, for should he come to the presidential chair the qualities which made him a judge of high ability, which I know him to have, will be the most needful to him as president of the United States. His high ideals of honesty and of relative justice, his great capacity for severe labor and his humorous wisdom in the face of the serious problem are attributes equally valuable and commendatory to a people, seeking him in whom they may repose the trust of their collective interests while they turn their increased attention to their pressing individual demands. "After discussing problems resulting from national expansion, continuing, he said: "Has Important Qualifications. "These questions are fruitful of trouble and perturbation, and the primary requisite of the man or woman must deal with them is an abundant knowledge of the people of the outlying domain. That Mr. Taft is possessed of this knowledge as is no other man in the country is hardly to be denied; granted that he has had extraordinary opportunities, he has shown himself able to improve those opportunities in a manner which it is not extravagant to say will be his broadest claim so far to enduring fame when the acute visual distortion of the present and opportune shall have given place to the inexorable perspective of history in which the real values of public deeds to public duties are completely clarified and announced to posterity."

TWO GOULD DIVORCE CASES

One Set For Hearing Oct. 1 and the Other For Oct. 2 in the Same Court.

New York, Sept. 22.—Mrs. Katherine Clemons Gould, who is suing Howard Gould for divorce, has applied through counsel to Justice Gieseler for an order compelling Mr. Gould to pay her $120,000 a year alimony and $15,000 for her counsel fees. After a hearing the Justice adjourned the argument until Oct. 1 at the request of Cornelius Sullivan, counsel for Mr. Gould. Immediately following the temporary disposition of this action the case of Helen Kelly Gould against Frank J. Gould for absolute divorce was called before Justice Gieseler in the same courtroom. The proceedings in this case were brief, the court there fixing Oct. 2 as the date for a hearing on the motion.

CEMENTED NAILS OR HIGHER RATE.

Shoe Dealers Object to Railroads' Recent Ruling.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Boot and shoe manufacturers are up in arms over a new rule of Western railroads which under present conditions means an increase of 50 per cent in freight rates on their product. A storm of protest has been caused with the result that the railroads have consented to a conference with the manufacturers this week to adjust the difficulty. The new requirement is that cased nails in boxes containing shipments of boots and shoes or be subject to a 50 per cent increase in the first class rate. The rule was adopted at the last meeting of the Western classification committee and becomes effective Jan. 1. Manufacturers object seriously to using cement-coated nails unless a reduction is made in the rate. So tenacious are the nails that a box must be hacked to pieces in order to open it thus preventing its further use. The railroads defend their action by saying that, with the possible exception of whisky, no other article is as frequently stolen from boxes in transit as boots and shoes. Damage claims are showered upon the railroads for the missing articles. When ordinary nails are used a thief is able to pry off the box cover with little difficulty, select a good pair of shoes and fasten the cover on without leaving any visible trace of the theft. Cement-coated nails are said to be burglar proof, however, and an attempt must be used to get at the contents of a box.

Schooner Overturned in a Squall.
New London, Sept. 22.—The schooner Louise B. Robertson, light, was capsized off Faulkner's island in a squall at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon. The captain with his wife and crew were picked up by a passing vessel and taken to New Haven. The captain came to New London and chartered a local tug and is now searching for the overturned schooner.
