KAISER'S BAD BREAK,

Chancellor Von Buelow's Authority and Prestige Weakened.

How the Emperor's Recent Interview Escaped Scrutiny of Foreign Office Officials-Radical, Liberal and So cialist Journals Utilize the Event to Urge a Demand For a Ministry Responsible to Parliament Instead of to the Crown Alone.

Chancellor von Buelow's position at Berlin appears to be almost untenable. Far and wide throughout the empire the newspapers of all parties discuss with varying degrees of mockery, amazement and regret the government's explanation of how what purported to be enormously important utterances of the emperor, affecting three great powers, passed through the hands of the chancellor and a long line of foreign office officials seemingly without having been considered by any of them or even read by most of those responsible for the delicate foreign relations.

The emperor fully condones Prince von Buelow's part in the affair, but the chancellor's authority and prestige with the country have been so shaken that he may again ask the emperor to relieve him.

All the Radical, Liberal and Socialist journals utilize the event to urge upon the country a demand for a ministry responsible to the parliament and the people, instead of the continuance of ministerial responsibility to the crown alone.

In addition to the semi-official accounts already published, it is learned that the emperor handed the manu script of the interview which appeared in the London Daily Telegraph and the authorship of which is still undisclosed, to Baron von Jenisch, who was attached to his entourage while the emperor was absent from the capital a short time ago, as the representative of the foreign office, with the direction to send it to Prince von Bue-

The chancellor described the note from Von Jenisch, which accompanied the manuscript, as referring to the enclosure as an article, not as an interview, so that the chancellor did not consider it necessary to give it his personal attention. The manuscript consisted of a number of small flimsy-like sheets, the handwriting being difficult to decipher, and the chancellor referred it to Herr von Mueller, the minister at The Hague, who was acting as the chancellor's private sec-

The latter, in his turn and without examining the document, sent it to ried to William Astor on Sept. 23. the foreign office, where in the abscence of Herr von Schoen, the secretary of foreign affairs, it was read by the subordinate officials, who did not Mrs. Orme Wilson, are now living. attach importance to its contents, and it was returned through the proper channels without further examination until transmitted by one of the imperial secretaries to England, where, as the Tagliche Rundschau, one of the newspapers that is read in court, aristocratic and military circles, described it. "it emerged gayly into the world, infuriating the French, Russians, Dutch and Japanese, chilling the British, exciting bitterness and nervous irritation on the part of our own people, and undermining our neighbors' belief in our reliability." The whole subject is likely to come up for debate in the reichstag, which

Head of Reading System Decrees What Consumers Must Pay.

George F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron Co. and the Reading system

Robert J. Montgomery, general sales agent of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company, and Fred. Grettenberger Reading Coal and Iron company, and other railroad officials, were examined by MacReynolds and Todd, special assistants to the attorney general. Mr. Montgomery denied that he had anything to do with fixing the price of anthracite coal.

"Who does fix it?" Mr. MacReynolds asked. After a moment's pause Mr. Mont gomery answered: George F. Baer, president of the Reading Railway company, always fixes the price himself. When he wants to make a change he sends a schedule of rates to his sales agent. He sent them to my predecessor, and when he wants to make another change I presume he will send one to me. I have nothing to do with the rates."

$10,000 For Two Days In Jail. Five thousand dollars a day was the remuneration allowed Harry Hughes by a jury in Judge Brentano's court in Chicago for the time he spent in the county jail on what the jury decided was a false charge of embezzlement. The decision is against the Interstate Shirt and Collar company and J. O. Eaton, its president. Eaton swore out a warrant for Hughes and the latter was placed in fall Dec. 15, 1906. He remained in iail two days in default of bonds, and ultimately was acquitted of the charge. in Municipal Judge Newcomer's court. He sued for $25,000, but the jury docided that $10,000 was sufficient rec-

CONVICTED OF BRIBERY.

Contractor Blake Hired Juror to Vote to Acquit Ruef.

Standing in the shadow of the penitentiary at San Francisco, last week, with sentence about to be passed upon him and having seen his young wife just led from the court room hysterically crying "No, no," E. A. S. Blake, a contractor, convicted of attempting to bribe John M. Kelly to qualify on the jury to try Abraham Ruef, and vote for Ruef's acquittal, made a full confession in court.

Blake said that after he was arrest ed on a charge of bribery, Frank J. Murphy, Ruef's associate counsel, came to him and promised him $10. 000 and provision for his wife, and that notes for $10,000 purporting to be signed by Ruef were delivered to a third party, to be paid to Blake immediately after he was sentenced if he were convicted of bribery. Bepides this amount, Blake declared, his wife was to receive $100 a month while he was in the penitentiary.

When Blake was called on to rise and receive sentence his wife cried "No, not that," and began to cry hysterically. She was led from the room. After motions for a new trial and arrest of judgment had been denied. Blake said that he had a statement as a reason why sentence should not be pronounced. This came as a surprise to his attorneys, who were permitted to withdraw their case,

After he had been sworn and had stated that he had not been promised immunity. Blake said he had been offered $1,000 by Attorney A. C. Newburgh and F. J. Murphy of Ruef's counsel to influence J. M. Kelly, a prospective juror, to vote for the acquittal of Ruef. He at first offered Kelly $500, which was refused, he said, but an offer of $1,000 was accepted.

MRS. WILLIAM ASTOR DEAD.

For Thirty Years Was Regarded as

Social Leader of New York. Mrs. William Astor, who for thirty years has been regarded as the social leader of New York, died Friday night of heart disease at her home on Fifth avenue. For nearly four weeks Mrs. Astor, who was 82 years old, has been in a critical condition.

There is no name in the American social register that is so well known as that of Mrs. Astor.

It was Mrs. Astor who established the famous "400," her visiting list originally being confined to that number of names.

William Astor, who died in Paris in 1892, took little part in the social activities his wife enjoyed. Mrs. Astor was Miss Caroline Schermerhorn, a daughter of Abraham Schermerhorn, a well-to-do merchant. She was mar-1853. John Jacob Astor was their only son. There were four daughters. Two of them, Mrs. Ogilvie Haig and The eldest daughter, Miss Emily Astor, who married James Rooseveltsome years ago, as did Miss Helen Astor, who married ames Roosevelt Roosevelt.

CONVICT MONTGOMERY AGAIN

His Peculations In the Two Cases Said to Amount to $613,000.

William Montgomery, cashier of the Allegheny National bank at Pittsburg until the discovery of a shortage in its funds of over $1,250,-000, early last summer, necessitated closing the institution, was for the second time last week found guilty of embezzlement and abstraction of funds, his peculations in the two cases amounting to $613,000. The case just concluded involved the abstraction of $144,000 worth of the bank's bonds, and as in the first case Montgomery offered no testimony in defense

Every effort has been made by the prosecution and the bank's directors to learn from Montgomery what became of the money abstracted or who besides himself received the money. but the cashier has steadfastly refused to involve others, and it is generally believed that it was to prevent the possibility of others being dragged into the case that no defense was offered in the two cases.

Commission Secures a Settlement. The New York Central and Hudson River R. R. announced to the public service commission in the Second district its willingness to pay to the Gleason Cold Storage company of LeRoy a so-called reparation claim for $4,044. It appears the railroad company made an excessive charge on shipments of apples. The claim is one of the largest of its kind satisfactorily settled since the commission announced it would receive complaints involving such claims. The commission has ordered the New York Central Railroad company to reduce the weighing charge to the Buffalo Foundry and Machine company from 50 to 25 per cent, loaded or empty.

PUT BODY ON DUMP

Confession Made Near Spot Where Corpse Was Found.

Identified by Several People as the Teamster They Had Seen With His Wagon In the Neighborhood Last Sunday-Brother's Wife, He Said Helped Him Put the Body In the Dump Wagon-Haunted by Victim's Face Since the Murder.

Detroit, Nov. 3. - John Kurka, a teamster, made a dramatic confession of how he killed his half-brother, Anthony Schultz, a week ago and then hauled the body in his dump wagon across the city to the spot in the western outskirts where it was found. The confession was made near the spot where the body was found.

The police had dressed Kurka in the clothes he wore on the morning of the murder, mounted him on his wagon and had him drive across the city from the Schultz home to the woods, to permit several persons to identify him, if possible, as the teamster they had seen in the neighborhood last Sunday.

After he had finished the grewsome task and had been identified by several people, Kurka broke down and admitted that he killed his half-brother. He said that Schultz and his wife were quarrelling and when he interfered Schultz attacked him. "Then I let him have it with the hatchet," said Kurka, "His wife and I loved each other and we wanted him out of the way. Mrs. Schultz helped me put the body in the dump wagon and I drove it away. I feel better now. I was haunted by Schultz's face ever since I killed him."

King rushed to the place where Hengerer went into the river and tried to save him. Hengerer threw himself forward into the swift current and was swept over the river bank and a card found in one of the pockets led to the identification. E. L. Hengerer, treasurer of the Buffalo department store, came here in the afternoon and identified the coat as one belonging to his brother.

Deer Leaped Into Mill Rollers.

Saulte Ste. Marie, Ont., Nov. 3 .- A frightened deer today leaned into the rollers of the steel rail plant which were in action and as a result 1,000 men were idle for some hours. A buck and a doe appeared wandering around the railroad tracks. A yard engine scared the buck into the river but the doe dashed in the direction of the mill and leaping over the heads of the startled workmen landed in the steam rollers. The animal was so badly injured that it had to be killed.

Entire Face of Nation's Politics WIII

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 3.-Eugene W. Chafin, the Prohibition candidate for president, closed his campaign last night in Milwaukee, speaking in his native state to an audience which included the Phantom Outing club, of which he is a member.

his address, "I make this prophesy, The party that goes down to defeat tomorrow will never again put a candidate for president in the field. The entire face of the politics of the nation will change before another four years are passed.

"The entire Prohibition ticket tomorrow will receive the largest vote it has ever been given by tens and tens of thousands, and the old parties will wake up on Wednesday morning to the realization that there is something more than a body of what they call fanatics backing this anti-liquor party.

"The old parties will realize that the political battles of the future will be waged over this question, and that this liquor issue will be the great issue until the day when the saloon is abolished forever. Then, and not until then, will we stop our fight for the wiping out of the liquor traffic."
