GAINED 55 POUNDS.

Charles L. Schultz of Dunkirk Tells How He Regained His Health.

When, six months ago, I began using Thompson's Barosma, I had made up my mind to sell out and go out of business, but a friend of mine asked me if I had taken Barosma. I had not, but was willing to try most anything and began using it as directed. I was very pale and weak, I continued using it as directed and today I weigh 55 pounds more than when I commenced using Barosma. I was a skeleton compared with what I am now and shall remain in business. When I would get up in the morning I would feel dull and sleepy and not rested, felt like going back to bed again.

EXPERTS ADVICE OF EATING.

Authorities Tell Us What Foods We Should Consume and Avoid.

Sicero told us long ago that we should eat to live, not live to eat, and Prof. Gautier, of Paris, amplifies that wise pronouncement in the course of a very interesting article on "How We Ought to Eat." The professor is the sworn enemy of all culinary artifices the object of which is to stimulate taste, excite the appetite and induce a man to eat without hunger and drink without thirst.

These, he says, are prejudicial to the maintenance of health. When one has an appetite for plain bread, vegetables or meat unmodified by any seasoning then and then only can one be said to be really hungry. Another paternal recommendation which the professor makes is the old advice of our grandmothers, that we should always leave the table with a slight sensation of hunger not entirely appeased.

It appears that we lose every day from 85 to 100 grams of albuminoids, corresponding to 420 or 500 grams of muscular flesh or analogous tissue. An inhabitant of Paris, for instance, recuperates on the average to the extent of 102 or 103 grams a day.

As a guide to what we should eat the professor tells us that the best meat is that of animals fattened on pasture land—beef and mutton. Then comes poultry and pork fed on prodigious quantities of vegetable origin, whether grain or herbaceous.

One should always avoid the flesh of animals fattened to excess on muscular flesh and also, to a certain extent, that of animals which are too young. Veal is not good for either gouty or arthritic people. It is not recommended for people with fragile, irritable, eruptive skin.

Fish, excellent in itself when it is quite fresh, is easy to digest, but it is not suitable to eczematous persons or those who have any other skin disease. Black meats or game excite the kidneys, predispose to gravel, to hepatic congestions and to arterio-sclerosis. One may live absolutely without meat; one can not do without vegetable aliment.

Eat with regularity and in accordance with the demands of hunger such dishes as have always been regarded as innocuous and remember that, as a rule, it is neither meats nor bouillon nor wine nor spices nor coffee which poison us, but their abuse.

THE SCALE TAILED CRAB.

Naturalist Schaeffer Once Counted Them, and Found 1,802,604.

The crab known as the scale-tailed was believed to have become extinct in Great Britain fifty years ago. In the last recorded specimens being taken in the ponds on Hampstead Heath. But now it has turned up again in Preston Merse, near Southwick, in Kirkcubrightshire. About two and a half inches long, the apus bears a very striking likeness to that remarkable creature the king crab, and this because the fore part of the body is covered by a great semicircular shield or carapace, while as in the king crab, it swims on its back. In the great number of its legs the scale-tailed apus has few rivals, while in the number of the joints which these share between them no other creature can compare. The naturalist Schaeffer once essayed the task of counting them and made the magnificent total of 1,802,604. Latreille put down the number at a round 2,000,000.

Never in the Limelight.

James Grant, the third son of the great general, is a quiet man, who spends most of his time in New York and is never in the limelight. He does not club, and belongs to two or three clubs. He says he is a splendid "loafer," and if he has a good cigar he can stare at a wall two or three hours and be quite happy.

"Barefoot Brigade."

In Paris a "barefoot brigade" is trying to make converts. Their chief is a painter of talent, who believes that going barefooted is absolutely essential to health. In his studio he wears no foot covering of any kind, and when he is out he wears specially made shoes which are perforated so as to allow free access to the air, water and snow.

"Bob" Nearly Perfect.

Gutun Borghum, the sculptor, says that Robert Fitzsimmons is one of the best specimens of physical manhood in the world, and by far the most perfect representative of the fighting man that this age has produced.

Silk Industry in Lyons.

The ancient city of Lyons, the third city in France with a population of 500,000, vies with Milan in importance in the world's silk industry. No fewer than 60,000 people—men, women and children—are employed in the factories.

Postcards to Dogs Now.

Pictures postcards are being sent to pet dogs on the continent. A young woman residing in one of the leading hotels in Ostend introduced the fashion. The postcards are inscribed with the dog's name, and addressed care of the owner.

The wise man makes few promises and breaks none possible of fulfillment.

FOUR INDIAN TRIBES.

The Cherokees Are the Most Advanced in Civilization.

The Cherokees, who tracked De Soto's footsteps for many weary days while he was marching through the Southern forests and swamps and who later welcomed Cortez through Georgia, are the most advanced Indians in civilization and the most eager for education, spending $50,000 a year on their schools and colleges. The Chickasaws have five colleges, with 400 students, maintained at a yearly cost of $47,000. They also have 17 teen district schools, costing $16,000.

The Choctaws have 150 schools, in some of which the higher branches are taught.

The Seminole, one of the smaller tribes, have ten colleges and sixty-five common schools, with a total attendance of 2,500.

Nests of the Golden Eagle.

Every pair of eagles whose habits I have had an opportunity of watching over a period of a few years would seem to have invariably at least two alternative sites for their nests; some have three, and I know of one with four sites. In fact, I only know of one pair out of many which habitually resort to but one place and only one.

The reason for this, however, apparent, for owing to its situation it has never been disturbed. The nest is in a small cavern on the face of an absolute wall of limestone rock some 800 feet high, at about 400 feet from the summit. Above the cliff is a talus of loose stone at an angle of 45 degrees or so, above which again rise other precipices. To reach the nearest point above this nest would be a long day's work.

The Double Canals on Mars.

For the first time the much-discussed double canals on the planet Mars have been caught on a photographic plate. Professor David Todd of Amherst College did it, 15,000 feet above sea level in the Chilean Andes, with his fine celestial camera, made by Gaierneer of Chicago, especially for the college telescope, which has an object glass 18 inches in diameter, and is the largest ever used in the Southern hemisphere.

Joke on Governor Fitch.

There seems to be a joke on Governor Hoch of Kansas. He appointed J. E. Wade of Cloud County a member of the Farmers' Convention, "reposing special confidence in his ability and integrity," etc.; but it turned out he was in the penitentiary digging coal. Wade was the former treasurer of Cloud County, but was a prominent and respected stockman when Hoch knew him.

Has the Freedom of Morocco.

At least one European has the freedom of Morocco without danger of molestation or capture. Mme. Du Gast, a pretty society woman of Paris, who had visited the country before, was commissioned sometime ago by the French Government to investigate and report on the agricultural resources of Morocco. She has made many journeys into the interior, being furnished with escorts sometimes by Raisuli, the famous bandit; sometimes by the pretender Muley Mohammed, and occasionally by the Sultan himself.

Rattles of the Rattlesnake.

The rattles of the rattlesnake, he edgewise. It is evident that they must do so, inasmuch as they are but continuations of the backbone. The snake carries the rattles on the ground except when he raises them to sound his warning. This will be evidenced by the fact that in every snake of any size that is killed the rattles are worn through on the underside.

Mr. Jacob A. Rills tells of a little boy who earned his living by blacking boots. Every Sunday he attended a mission school. This school, through its well-meaning teachers, decided to have a Christmas tree. The gifts for the pupils were provided by them by the teachers and some patrons of the school.

Jimmy, the bootblack was there Christmas Eve, but was much disappointed when his present proved to be a copy of Browning's poems. He folded it carefully in the paper in which he received it, and took it home.

The next Sunday the superintendent of the mission school announced that any child who was disappointed with his or her gift could exchange it. Jimmy marched boldly to the front with his.

"What have you there, Jimmy?"

"Browning, sir."

"And what do you want in exchange?"

"Blacking, sir."

LONG MILITARY RECORD.

led the Army When the Present King's Father Was a Baby.

Sergt.-Major Robert Elliott, of the British army, has been awarded the royal Victorian medal for the long continuous service in the military ranks of Great Britain. Sergt.-Major Elliott's service extends as far back as January, 1842. The medal was given by King Edward eighth Lord Allendale, the captain of the king's bodyguard. Sergt.-Major Elliott is now in his eighty-first year. He was only fifteen years old when he joined the second battalion of the King's Rifles. Much of his service has been in South Africa and in the West Indies. At a recent inspection of the guards, King Edward had a lengthy chat with the old soldier. The Prince of Wales accompanied the king and asked the veteran "When did you join the army?" "When your father was two months and two days old," responded the soldier.—Washington Herald.

Musk Started a Riot.

In Berlin the other day a riot was unwittingly started by a woman who had perfumed herself with musk to such an extent as to cause annoyance to the other occupants of a car in which she was a passenger. Other outbreaks have been similarly caused. In Paris very serious rioting was started in scenting themselves with eau-de-cologne; the reason being that this perfume is of German origin, and anything German was hated in France. At Lyons, Bordeaux, Amiens and elsewhere anti-cologne societies were formed, whose members pledged themselves forcibly to prevent the use of the obnoxious scent by their fellow citizens.

Curious Peasant Dance.

Peasants of the upper Bavarian Alps are famous for their agility as dancers. One of their curious dances is as follows: Eight boys form a ring in the middle of the dancing ground. They join hands firmly as they circle round; every alternate dancer flings his feet forward until his body becomes horizontal and parallel with the ground. These four then brace their feet together and, supported by the others in the ring, they form a rapidly revolving cross. After a little while they regain their feet and the others form the cross.

Manual Power Street Cars.

Street railways with cars operated by manual power are in use at Mombasa, in East Africa. The light, narrow-gauge tracks are laid through the street, and the cars are for hire, like cabs, or are the private property of officials and wealthy residents. They are four-wheel cars with one or two cross seats, and each is propelled by two natives. Spur tracks are run into private grounds, so that persons can take the cars to their doors.

Export of Cape Colony Diamonds.

The export of Cape Colony diamonds during 1906 amounted to $33,247,976, or a large increase as compared with 1905, the greater part of which, both cut and uncut, went to the United States through European ports. In addition the export of Transvaal diamonds through Cape Colony last year amounted to $7,729,301. Orange River diamonds to $4,046,928 and Rhodesia diamonds to $28,469.

Great Private Game Preserve.

One of the greatest private game preserves and summer homes in the West is about being completed in the heart of the hardwood belt of Upper Michigan by Marvin Hughtitt, Jr., son of the president of the Northwestern Railroad. He recently bought an entire township, consisting of 23,400 acres of land, which includes several of the most beautiful interior lakes of Upper Michigan.

Substituting Potatoes for Wood.

There is no wood that really serves, in the manufacture of lead pencils, in place of the soft cedar which is so rapidly disappearing, and German scientists with characteristic ingenuity and audacity are now making a substitute out of potatoes.

Rubbing Posts for Cattle.

Rubbing posts for cattle, made of the whale's jaws, are to be seen in the village of Hawsker, in England, and represent the whale trade formerly carried on at that place. They stand 12 feet or so above the ground.
