MANY KILLED IN MINE

Officials Say 138. Others Estimate at Least 50 More.

All But Two of the Bodies Recovered Were Frightfully Mutilated - Body of John Ivill, Cousin of Mine's Pres-Ident, Found Beneath a Coal-Digging Machine-Another Unfortunate Had Put His Face In Water In Vain Attempt to Escape Suffocation.

One hundred and thirteen bodies, all but two of them horribly mutilated and several dismembered, were taken from the mine of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company at Marianna, where an explosion occurred Saurday that killed many men and cast into gloom what until then had been considered the model mining town of the world.

Officials of the company, who said that over 125 had been killed, now admit that 138 men went down the shaft to work Saturday morning. According to miners and others familiar with the number of men generally employed in the mine, the death list will exceed the company's estimate by at least fifty.

As in nearly all mine disasters there seems no way at present of knowing how many men went to work. The number check-off system again has proved defective and from no source can an accurate statement as to the fatalities be secured.

It is possible that the exact number of men killed never will be known. Two of the men taken from the mine had been suffocated and their bodies were not even scratched. One of these was John Ivill, a cousin of John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburg-Buffalo Coal company, owners of the mine, who was employed as head timekeeper. Ivill's body was found beneath a coal-digging machine and it was apparent that the young man had crawled there in a vain effort to escape the deadly fumes.

The body of another man was found near Ivill. The unfortunate had placed his face in a pool of water, which all miners are advised to do when an explosion occurs, in a desperate attempt to fight off suffocation.

COLLISION OFF SANDY HOOK.

Three of Steamer's Passengers and One of Crew Lost.

Fog. the heaviest known for number of years, caused the loss of four lives when the Panama Railroad steamer Finance, bound for Colon with 85 passengers, was sunk in collision with the White Star freight steamer Georgic in the main ship channel, off Sandy Hook

To add to the confusion a moment after the impact there was an explosion of an ammoria tank in the forward hold of the Finance and the fumes drove the engineers and firemen to the decks. William Todd, the third assistant engineer, was partially overcome by the fumes and, staggering to the rail, threw himself overboard. He was not again seen. Three passengers are missing. They are Mrs. Irene Campbell of Colon, Henry Muller, a conductor on the Panama railroad; Policeman Schweinler of the Canal Zone police.

The captain of the Georgic quickly dropped anchor, manned his boats and sent them to the wrecked steamer. greatly aiding in the rescue. All of those saved were taken on board the Georgie.

The Finance had over 700 bags of mail aboard. Four elephants in the Georgic's hold were undisturbed by the collision.

months. For many years and until his death Fred. Grettenberger Mr. Raines was active in the Democratic party. His unusual ability soon made him felt in the local courts, and in 1871, at the age of 24 years, he was elected district attorney of Monroe county, on the Republican ticket, however. Mr. Raines returned to the district attorneyship in 1874 as the candidate of the Democratic party. Of over forty first-degree murder charges tried by Mr. Raines the defendants whom he prosecuted were all executed except the three men accused of the comparatively recent Sodus murder, who were sentenced to life imprisonment; while of the others whom he defended not one went to the rope or the electric chair. After quitting the district attorney's office Mr. Raines became senator of the district, then composed of Monroe county, running on the Denzocratic

STANDARDOIL ABROAD

Mr. Archbold Says Bulk of Illuminating Oil Is Exported.

Products of the Company Reach Every Part of the World - Standard Oil Company of New Jersey Was Formed to Hold Properties Which Had Previously Been Held by Standard Interests-Capital Stock of Standard Oil Company Is $110,000,000.

New York, Dec. 1. - The development of trade of the Standard Oil company in foreign fields, as a subject of evidence in the government suit to the time from now until the first week dissolve the oil combination, gave John D. Archbold, vice president of the Standard, an opportunity as a witness to spread upon the records some interesting features of the Standard's busi ness in foreign countries.

Of the total amount of illuminating oil refined by the Standard in 1906 Mr. Archbold stated that 63 per cent was sold abroad. Export figures of other years further showed that the Standard exported the major bulk of its illuminating oil.

The line of testimony with regard to the immense foreign trade indicates that one of the defenses of the Standard is that the present combination makes it possible to obtain this foreign trade, which, the company will endeavor to show, brings a trade balance in favor of the United States.

This foreign business, Mr. Archbold went on to say, was secured in the face of the competition of 400 foreign companies. Products of the Standard reach every part of the world. Mr. Archbold said, who further declared that it was the aim of the company to reach direct every consumer in the Far East, as was done in this country. Testimony was given by Mr. Archbold that during the period of the Standard Oil trust the trustees poured millions of the company's earnings back into the trust for the construction of new refineries and pipe lines. Mr. Archbold said that the trustees of the Standard Oil trust, after its organization formed the Standard Oll company of New York and New Jersey, to hold properties which had previously been held by Standard laterests. The witness said the Standard companies of New York and New Jersey were still the same companies as those formed in 1882. The capital stock of the Standar. Oil company of New Jersey was $3, 000,000 in 1882, but was increased in 1892 to $10,000,000 and in 1899 to $110,000,000, of which $10,000,000 was preferred.

110 BODIES RECOVERED.

State Department Will Take Charge of Mine When Recovery Work Is Done. TEST OF HEROISM.

Pittsburg, Dec. 1.-The squeaking fron bucket, operated in the 500 foot shaft leading to the Rachel and Agnes mines of the Pittsburg and Buffalo Coal company at Marianna, Pa., since last Saturday, when a terrific explosion in the mines wrecked the up-to-date elevator in the shaft and snuffed out the lives of 120 miners or more, has carried to the surface the bruised, mangled and burned remains of more than 100 of the victims of the disaster. The most reliable count of the bodies recovered is 110, two-thirds of which have been identified. The general belief is that not many more hodies would be found

James E. Roderick, head of the state department of mining, said that from data furnished him by the company and reports from his six deputy inspectors, he did not believe the death list would exceed 120.

When recovery work is finished he will take charge of the mine, investigate the cause of the disaster and fix responsibility therefor if possible, "I have good reports from the six deputies who have been working with the rescuers," he said, "but I will not attempt to assign a cause from these reports. I can say, however, that department a greater surprise than an explosion in the mine at this time." Mr. Rod-rick said this disaster and the serie of last winter would form the text of a communication to the legislature next January urging sweep ing changes in the state mining laws.

BIG DEATH LIST AT MARIANNA.

Company Has Names of 130 They Knew Were In Mine.

Pittsburg, Dec. 1. - Thirty more bodies have been located in the wrecked mine at Marianna and these will be brought to the surface at once. Of the victims 23 Americans have been identified as follows:

The work of rescue continued throughout the night. Miners forming the rescue party to bring the bodies to the surface remained in the mine all night working in four-hour shifts to facilitate the work. All the headings, with the exception of two left headings, were penetrated, and it is said that little difficulty was experienced as a result of falls of slate and coal.

All danger from further explosion is past, it was said, and the work of bringing the thirty additional bodies which had been located, will proceed at once. John H. Jones, president of the Pittsburg - Buffalo company, stated that the company representatives had checked off the names of 130 miner whom they knew were in the mine at the time of the explosion and he does not believe the list of dead will exceed that number. One hundred and twelve bodies have already been lo-

TAFTTAKESSTAND

Questions as to Courage and Capacity for Lorde S ip Are Settled Definitely

PLEDGES TO BE CARRIED GUT

Harmony Conditions in Keystone State Preclude All Possibility of Strife Being Again Stirred Up-Unwarranted Attacks on Senator Penrose

Important interviews with President elect Taft have taken place lately at the Virginia Hot Springs. One result of these interviews is that all quostions as to Mr. Taft's courage, and as to his capacity for leadership of the highest quality, are settled. Another result is that it has been determined doubtless for all time, that under Pres ident Taft the Republican party will continue as a party of action and progress and that the reactionaries and donothing people in Congress are to have a positive and aggressive man in the White House to reckon with during the next four years, just as they have had during the last four. Mr. Taft has made himself the leader of the progressive forces within the Republican party and has practically served notice upon the reactionaries that unless they come into line they will have trouble on their hands. This applies to the tariff and to everything else. Mr. Tatt's attitude is a clear one. There is no mistaking what he wants nor what he will do if he does not get it. What the reactionaries will do remains to be seen. They will probably seemingly surrender with a secret hope that they may be able to get their way by indirection and maneaver in the end. Should they, however, decide to stubbornly stand out they will likely provoke an appeal to the country. There is but little doubt that should Mr. Taft find it necessary to protect himself and the policies to which he is committed, and his good faith pledges made to the people during the campaign, he would not hesitate to take the people into his confidence, not in opposition to any individual, but within his rights to ask the country to use its influence upon its representatives at Washington in favor of the policies which the people believe in and for which they voted on election day.

Mr. Taft has positively refused a preffer of peace and comfort and a chance to let things slide along and take it easy, and in turn has served notice that his administration is to stand for progressive policies, for a genuine tariff revision, for carrying on the work which Mr. Roosevelt began but did not finish, and that as to the tariff and other matters, if the speaker of the house and those aligned with him do not come into the path he (Mr Tafta has marked out and stand by the administration, there will be war from the very outset. However these things may turn out the die is cast. Those who had hoped that Mr. Taft could be taken into camp by the reactionaries, on the plea of giving the country a rest and having peace within the party at the expense of good faith in the redeeming of Mr. Taft's own campaign pledges, have suffered defeat. The new administration is to be progressive.

Referring to political conditions in the Keystone State, the most striking feature at the present time is the plain, straightforward, manner in which the candidacy of Senator Boies Penrose for reelection to the United States Senate is being present ed to those who will sit as members of the coming legislature. This presentation is being made by a committee named for that purpose by the caucus of the Philadelphia county members which so enthusiastically indorsed Sen ator Penrose. It is generally agreed that Philadelphia is entitled to one of the two senatorships. It cannot b nied that Philadelphia is entirely pleased and satisfied to have Senator Penrose fill the position alloted to that city and county so long as he shall be permitted to live. There is nothing in Senator Penrose's record that cannot be uncovered to the most searching publicity without danger of advers criticism, unless it come from band of chronic trouble makers whose vision is always distorted and whose constant aim in the past has been to stir up factionalism in the Republican party in Pennsylvania. But happily the day and opportunity for those provokers of strife has passed. Harmony now prevails in the Republican party in Pennsylvania and it is to continue to prevail. The responses being made to the presentation of Senstor Penrose's name by the committee named by the caucus of the Philadelphia legislatorselect is most gratifying. They indicate that sentiment all over the state is practically unanimous in favor of returning Senator Penrose to the place

Senator Penrose has proven himself in the years he has been in the Senate as one who can do things that are of benefit to the nation at large and to his state. He is one of the strong, patriotic bulwarks of the Senate. Having been one of the greatest of the factors in bringing about the election of Mr. Taft to the presidency, the wonderful vote rolled up for Mr. Taft in New York being one of the most marked and direct results of the work Senator Penrose was assigned to do, there can he no question as to the attitude of Senator Penrose toward the man he did so much for to elect. Senator Penrose's Republicanism can never be assailed. It is consistent always. His patriotism in all matters affecting the nation: his devotion to the interests of his state; his ever-active interest and untiring labors for and in behalf of the working people of the country; the executive ability he splendid shown in filling the arduous position of chairman of the Senate committee on postoffices and post roads; his safe course in matters touching the country's financial system-all these point emphasize the desirability of havin Senator Penrose returned to the United States Senate.

Charles M. Schwab and Other Financiers Are Named as Defendants.

New York, Dec. 1 .- Papers in a suit involving the ownership of a Mexican silver and lead mine in which Charles M. Schwab and other financiers are interested have been served upon Mr. Schwab. The complainants in the case are Alfred S. and Sidney A. Wetherhee, brothers, living in Mexico City, who claim they were unjustly deprived of a considerable amount of this mining stock, said to have been worth several millions. The plaintiffs allege that they owned a majority of the stock at that time and that they had options on practically all the minority stock, Mr. Schwab's associates in this enterprise, who are named as co-defendants with him in the suit, include Morris Carnegie, a nephew of Andrew Carnegie, and Thomas H. Bowles, former general agent for Wisconsin of the Mutual Life Insurance company.

Counsel for Mr. Schwab said that neither Mr. Schwab nor any of those interested with him were disturbed by the suit, but that Mr. Schwab's answer would be filed in due time.
