—Potter & McCoy are building an addition to their livery barn, which will give them much needed stable room.

—Harry Wertz has just about put the finishing touches on his handsome new residence on Walnut street and is preparing to move into the same next week.

—The well on the Frazee tract, near the mouth of Little Hickory creek, owned by Tionesta and Bradford parties, was finished and shot Monday. Forty feet of good sand was struck at a depth of 565 feet, with a show of oil at the bottom, but the well failed to respond as a producer.

—WANTED.—A good reliable District Manager for Forest County to represent a Society paying sick, accident and accidental death benefits, with a distribution of its surplus earnings every five years. A good renewal contract to right party. Address, Protective Life Assurance Society, No. 809 Mutual Life Bldg., Buffalo, New York.

—The County Commissioners have caused five good gas lights to be erected at the approaches to and on the river bridge and that hitherto dark and dreary spot will now be well lighted. The new lights are quite ornamental, as well as being put-up in such a substantial manner that wind and weather can not beat them down.

—If the citizens of Franklin can get together on the proposition she is going to try herself as a city of the third class. There is yet a considerable division of sentiment as to whether the scheme will prove advantageous or otherwise, and that's what they're figuring on now. Surely the "Nursery of Great Men" ought to be a city of some class, at least.

—It is no discredit to have enemies and opposition. Many men hesitate to adopt any course that will call for opposition for the reason that they do not want enemies. The world is full of envious people. Some hate a man because he is successful in business or occupies a prominent place in the community. The world has no animosity toward the quiet citizen who offends no one—gets in no one's way. It is the live man, the man of push and energy, who incurs enmity. Every man who is fearless in the discharge of his obligations in any station of life has enemies.

—The wise merchant begins now to plant his advertising seed for the Christmas harvest being aware that early planting brings correspondingly early fruitage. Likewise the early Christmas shopper gets the pick of the wares and saves himself much worry and anxiety at the last minute. The glad uletide will be here just four weeks from next Friday.

—The papers commencing the death sentence of James N. Strall to life imprisonment, signed by Governor Stuart after he had received the recommendation from the Board of Pardons, were received Thanksgiving day by Sheriff Frank Williams at Franklin. The Sheriff departed Saturday with Strall for the Western Penitentiary where he entered upon his life sentence.

—Farmer Schaffer, who is tilling the Proper farm at the top of German Hill, was ploughing meadow land on Friday last, the day after Thanksgiving, and the ground was so dry as to make the work rather difficult. It is not often that one witnesses such an unusual condition in this latitude, but this is an unusual year, the like of which has perhaps never been known before. Farmers generally throughout this section are doing much ploughing during these first days of December in this year of our Lord, 1908.

—A horse driven by Councilman W. N. Feit of Franklin was killed on Tuesday night of last week under extraordinary circumstances. As Mr. Feit and a party of friends were returning from a rabbit hunt they met an automobile and the horse became frightened and leaped to one side of the road. As it did so it struck on the point of a stake in a fence and was impaled. The animal died in a few minutes. The horse was worth at least $300, and as the party got 20 rabbits, Mr. Feit figures that each rabbit cost him $15.

—C. H. Akens, the Blevins murder investigator, came over from New Castle today to have an interview with Frank Barnes at the county jail in regard to the famous tragedy. Mr. Akens told a reporter that the committee of Councils with whom he has been conferring have advised him that before they proceed further they desire to learn all that Barnes knows about the Blevins murder and that is why he is here. Since Barnes's visit to New Castle three weeks ago various details of his story have been confirmed.—Franklin News.

—A representative of The Times yesterday visited the North Warren State Hospital and viewed the arrangements being made to give the 1,100 patients their Thanksgiving dinner of turkey and other seasonable delicacies. Some of the items of the meal follow: 182 turkeys; two barrels of chowder; 250 mince pies, and 15 bushel of potatoes. In stuffing the turkeys 240 huge loaves of bread were used and the feast was splendidly prepared and served. The unfortunates had a very enjoyable day and the officials of the institution did everything possible to make the day one to be long remembered.—Warren Times.

—The personal registration law has unearthed some strange things. Among them is Joseph Jeanblanc, of Titusville, a Frenchman, who voted for years without being a citizen. When the registration law was put into effect Jeanblanc hurried into court and applied for his final papers. Judge Prather asked him who was president of the United States. "George Washington," promptly replied Joseph. "Who is the governor of Pennsylvania?" asked Judge Prather. "Curt McKinney," was the ready reply. Joseph was sent back for another year. Now he is a citizen. "Curt" McKinney was mayor of Titusville when Jeanblanc elevated him to the gubernatorial chair.

—Thanksgiving day was passed in Tionesta in the usual quiet way with nothing doing out of the ordinary. Family gatherings, the home-coming of friends, the suspension of all sorts of business, and the exchange of pleasant greetings among neighbors being the marked features of the quiet restful occasion. Union services at the Presbyterian church in the evening were attended by a large congregation, which listened attentively to a good and appropriate discourse by Rev. E. L. Monroe of the F. M. church, Revs. Bailey and Calhoun assisting in the services, and a union of the male chorus with the regular choir furnishing some excellent special music. A fitting finale to a beautiful custom.

—"Bonsetter" Reese, of Youngstown, Ohio, is still a favorite with our people who have ailments and dislocations. Joseph Clark returned a day or two ago from visiting Mr. Reese, having been afflicted with a lame shoulder for some time past. He is much better now. Commissioner Herman Blum of German Hill was over to see the Youngstown wizard this week. Some months ago he injured his right ankle and foot severely and it gave him much trouble after he got around again, so he went to consult Mr. Reese with the result that the trouble was greatly reduced and he was practically well from his injury, when he again gave it a bad wrench, necessitating a second trip, on Monday, to this remarkable manipulator of injured bones.

—Remember the supper and bazaar to be given by the ladies' aid society of the Presbyterian church next Friday evening. The supper will be served in the Relief Corps Hall beginning at 5:30 o'clock. The bazaar will be open to the public at 7:30 o'clock in the lecture room of the church, but the articles on display will not be offered for sale until 7:30. Several booths for fancy work, aprons, market, candies, and various amusements will be established. All contributions should be brought to the church between one and two o'clock Friday afternoon. The committees in charge of the affair are: Supper—Mrs. Mary L. Thomson, Mrs. James Canfield, Mrs. R. M. Herman, Mrs. S. T. Carson, Mrs. G. G. Gaston, Mrs. Chas. Hunter, Fancy Work—Miss Artie Robinson, Mrs. J. H. Kelly, Miss Delva Randall. Aprons—Mrs. J. T. Carson, Mrs. Charles Clark, Mrs. Jacob Smearbaugh. Market—Mrs. Sula M. Sharpe, Mrs. G. H. Killmer, Mrs. A. C. Brown. Amusement—Misses Lenore Ritchey, Emma Arner, Bessie Sigworth, Beulah Clark, Hazel Fones.

—The large window in the Sunday school room on the west side of the building is to be known as the Collins window, the central design of which will be a figure of "Christ the Good Shepherd." It will be inscribed with the names of Mr. and Mrs. Collins and their son, Eyerell. Flanking this are two smaller windows, one of which is taken by Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Douth in memory of the latter's parents, Joseph and Jane B. Grove, and the other by O. W. Proper in memory of his mother, Sarah A. Proper.

—The large window in the auditorium on the north side of the building is erected by Mr. Kreidler in memory of his parents, Bernhard and Maria Kreidler. The central design of this window will be the figure of "Christ Blessing the Little Children." One of the smaller windows flanking this is taken by Mrs. W. A. Grove in memory of her husband, W. A. Grove, and W. F. Hunter, M. D., and family. The other has also been taken and will be erected as a memorial to Charles A. and Mary J. Hill, by their children.

—The large window opening into the gallery and class rooms on the south side of the building is the Hoffman window, the central design of which is Hoffman's bust of Christ at the age of twelve years. The inscription for this window has not yet been decided upon. Flanking this are two smaller windows, as well as one on the north side of the Sunday school room, and one on the east side of the auditorium, which have not yet been taken, but it is expected that these will be arranged for before the contractor leaves.

—The expense accounts of the candidates in the late campaign are being filed at the Prothonotary's office, but are not all in yet. Those now on file are as follows: W. H. Pickens, secretary and treasurer of the Republican county committee certifies to an expenditure of $560, J. C. —A report has been received by Dr. F. J. Bovard, county medical inspector, of the state health department's analysis of the samples of water from Marienville, which samples were sent to the department last week with the statement that the use of water from these wells was supposed to be the cause of several cases of typhoid fever now existing in Marienville. The report shows that the water from the Brockway well showed the presence of 420 bacteria to the cubic centimetre, or one-third inch of water. Only six of these were of the colon bacillus, which is responsible for most cases of bowel disorders. No typhoid germs were reported in this water, so it will be necessary to look elsewhere for the causes from which the fever originated. Up to last Thursday night Dr. James Hess of Marienville had reported to the proper health officer that there were five cases of typhoid fever under his care and stated that the probabilities were there would be more. All the patients were doing well.

—The water problem in almost every community is as serious as it is at Seneca, Vanango county, according to the "Kicker" of that place, which says: "Almost every spring and well in town has been drained of the last drop of water and on every hand one hears the question, 'What are you doing for water?' The answer being usually the laconic one of 'Doing without.' The water well on the W. P. French property furnishes the water supply for about all the North Main street residents, Mr. French pumping the tank full every day for their use, and were it not for this our people would be in even worse straits. The Barr spring, hitherto full to the brim with clear and sparkling water, has been drawn upon to such an extent that the water is muddy and unfit for drinking purposes, though a great deal is taken out daily for household use. A few other springs about town are being drawn upon to a large extent but most of our people follow the practice of getting a pailful of water wherever they can, finding it impossible to get any quantity at one place. The water from springs in distant pasture fields, long unused is being hauled for laundry purposes, and rain water is jealously hoarded.

—Dr. and Mrs. George H. Jackson, of Butler, Pa., were guests of the former's sisters, Mrs. L. J. Hopkins and Mrs. J. F. Proper, from Wednesday to Friday last.

—Miss Genevieve McCutcheon, of Grove City, who is assistant principal of the public schools at Pleasantville, Pa., was a guest of Miss Lenore Ritchey over Sunday.

—Mrs. J. N. Sandrock, in company with her daughter Dorothy, returned to her home in Tionesta, after spending a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred A. Ludwig, West Elm street.—Titusville Herald.

—Neal A. Snodgrass, of Wilcox, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Morton, of Oil City, accompanied by their two children, Harriet and Dorothy, spent Thanksgiving here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Snodgrass.

—Clark Getz has issued the following marriage licenses during the week: Fred Wheeler of Frewsburg, N. Y., and Mrs. Katherine McNameara of West Hickory, Thomas L. McWilliams and Viola Wagner, both of Tionesta township.

—Gus B. Evans of Endeavor, private secretary to Congressman Wheeler, left for the national capital Monday, accompanied by Mrs. Evans. They will again make their home in Washington this winter. Mr. Evans goes by the way of Philadelphia where he will represent Olive Lodge, F. & A. M. at the State Grand Lodge, which meets in that city this week.

Davis, brother of Mrs. Cook, attended the obsequies.

—Willis W. Rathfon, who has spent the past four or five years at Oakley, California, returned to this section a week or so ago, and is at present with his parents at Lickingville. Mr. Rathfon was married to a California girl during his absence and his wife and babe accompany him, and they expect to remain in the east. Mrs. Rathfon had her first sight of snow storm shortly after arriving in the community.

Drove 700 Miles.

O. A. Murray, of Gilfoyle, Forest county, arrived in the city Friday from Oblong, Ill., having driven the entire distance, 700 miles, in two weeks, without accident and scarcely unusual incident. When he left Oblong, Friday, November 13, the ground was covered with snow there, but the further east he traveled the warmer the weather he encountered. There was only one day's rain on the entire trip that caused him to remain one day at Kent, O. Mr. Murray had been employed as a pumper in the Oblong field, and owned a pair of driving horses, which are so cheap there just now that he refused to sell at the great sacrifice demanded, and decided to drive them to Pennsylvania, figuring that it would cost him less than shipping. Fifty miles from there he swapped the team for a seal brown mare six years old, and it was with this nag and a rubber tired top buggy that he made the remainder of his long drive. He drove over the National highway to Spiceland, Ind., and over country roads throughout the entire length of Ohio, leaving the Ohio state line at Orangeville, and came here via Mercer, Greenville and Franklin. He left Saturday morning for Gilfoyle.

Mr. Murray speaks highly of the highways of Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. The National road is about 30 feet wide and is of crushed stone, covered with fine gravel, and practically level. The roads throughout Indiana and Ohio he found to be macadamized until Media county, near the eastern end of the state, was reached, when the highways were of dirt. The highways near Akron are macadamized and there are six miles on either side of Warren, O., of this material.

The longest drive he made in any one day of 10 hours, was 51 miles, and at no time while he was passing through Illinois, Indiana or Ohio, was he out of sight and sound of some habitation. The only place along the route where he saw anything growing in the vegetation line were some fine appearing fields of wheat in Mercer and Venango counties. The horse he drove is a little foalster, the tires have been practically worn from his buggy, but that is all the effects of the wear and tear to be seen in the outfit. Mr. Murray himself is in the pink of condition.—Oil City Derrick, 30th.

That Pot of Gold.

Mrs. Anna Caldwell Haskin, of Chattanooga, N. Y., speaking of the find of money by rabbit hunters near Oleopolis, recently says:

"That money, I am certain, belongs to my grandfather, Harrison (not John) Caldwell. He was not crazy, as some of the papers made out. He was never in an insane asylum in his life. He was queer and childish for about eight years previous to his death. There is more than one man using his money that should belong to his children. He sold a nice farm and no one knows what he did with the money. The money that Edward Woods and Thomas Dickinson found rightfully belong to the heirs who are William S. Caldwell, John Caldwell and Elizabeth Neyman. I wish to have this published because I do not want any one to think my grandfather was crazy. "ANNA CALDWELL HASKIN."

Neighborhood Notes.

The December term of Cambria county court will be featured by the trial of five men charged with murder. Three of these trials promise to be sensational and will be hard fought.

John E. DuBois is constructing a highway for automobiles from DuBois to a point near Brockwayville. Although the highway will be through private land, it will be open to owners of bugg-wagons.

Deputy Attorney General Cunningham has given an opinion that fines recovered from physicians who fail to make returns of births, deaths or contagious diseases in townships where there is no treasurer, must be paid to supervisors.

William Montgomery, former cashier of the Allegheny National Bank, convicted of looting the institution of more than a million dollars, was denied a new trial on Saturday and sentenced to serve fifteen years in the penitentiary.

Secretary of Agriculture Critchfield has ordered 20 prosecutions of firms engaged in handling fertilizers because of failure to comply with state laws. This action is the result of the recent analysis of fertilizers and the act suits will be based chiefly upon failure to brand goods properly.

At Oil City on Monday last week H. L. Dale, the liveryman, and employes of the Pennsylvania railroad, had a pitched battle over a property line. The railroad men used the derrick boom of the work train as a battering ram, and battered down the concrete piers under a building which Dale had erected. Dale's forces used rocks and hose streams, but were beaten out. Dale and his men had been keeping guard of the building day and night since Saturday. The battle was exciting to the spectators and created a sensation. It is likely that the dispute will be taken to court.

The skeleton of a man was found in the woods near Brandy Camp, Elk county, on Tuesday last week. The flesh had entirely decomposed, leaving nothing but the bleached bones, and the clothing was rotted beyond identification, making it evident that the body had lain there for two or three years. A watch, a revolver and a bunch of keys were found with the body and from these the remains were identified as those of Bart Brandt, a single young man who lived with his parents at Cuneo Station and mysteriously disappeared on Sept. 30, 1905. A charge of shot was found lodged in the skull and the coroner's jury rendered a verdict of "death from a gunshot wound by a party unknown."

The reasons filed by the board of pardons for the commutation of the death sentence of James Strall, of Venango county, are practically that Strall was emotionally insane. To quote from them: "The temple of his home was defiled." His wife would "not regard his appeals and spurned him." "In the stress of his excitement and mental agony he drew a revolver and shot her." He had "extreme provocation," and "agony of mind." He suffered from a "nervous strain inspired by his wife's infidelity." There was on her part "a violation of every principle of Christian and family relations." To him it was "domestic treason." There was a "flaunting in the husband's face" of "the horrible conduct" of "wife and paramour." Therefore Strall "ought not to die on the gallows."

Worth Consideration.
When buying from a jewelry store wouldn't you consider it very important to feel there is absolutely no question about quality. When you buy here you don't pay any more, perhaps less, than an indifferent store, but you are

That point alone is more important in choosing Diamonds and Jewelry, Watches and Silverware than any other merchandise.

QUALITY
First, last and all times is our reason for asking for your patronage. Quality means not only good cloth, but good linings, and honest tailoring that will stand up and hold its shape, and to top off with style quality means paying a fair price for your clothes, but on the other hand it means longer wear and better satisfaction to the wearer. We ask your business on the platform of better goods for the same money or the same goods for less money, and if we don't make good, bring back your purchases and we'll return the money. Do you deal at a store that plays fairer than this?
