—The school on Germantown Hill, Tionesta twp., is closed for the present on account of chicken pox, a dozen or more of the pupils being down with the juvenile disease.

—The family of the late Adam Sibley desire to express their gratitude to all friends and neighbors who gave them aid and comfort during their late sad bereavement.

—R. G. Irwin of Eagle Rock was here Monday evening to receive treatment from Dr. Bovard for a fracture of the right wrist bone, sustained while handling ties at that station.

—We are informed that a dog poisoner is again at work in town. Aside from its heartlessness and cruelty that is a dangerous game to play at, there being a severe penalty provided for any person convicted of such practices.

—The Herald, a spy evening paper published at Albany, Oregon, by our former citizen W. A. Shewman Jr., is now a daily visitor to this office. It looks like a money maker for its proprietor judging from the large advertising patronage it enjoys.

—A company headed by G. H. Lowe and R. A. Welch of Jamestown, N. Y., and including several Tionesta parties, has leased the Hunter, Abbott and Noyes tracts, near the old Asbury Chapel, on the road to Pleasantville, in Venango county, and are preparing to drill the same at once.

—The ground hog failed to see his shadow yesterday if he ventured out, and so the backbone of winter must be broken, and we shall have to prepare for spring and a cessation of cold weather cussedness. Provided always that we believe in the accuracy of Br'er Ground-hog's prognostications.

—There are some curious facts about our calendar. No century begins on Wednesday, Friday or Sunday. The same calendar can be used every 20 years. October always begins on the same day of the week as January, April as July, September as December, February, March and November begin on the same days, May, June and August always begin on different days from each other and every other month in the year. The first and last days of the year are always the same. These rules do not apply to leap year, when comparison is made between days before and after February 29.

—Don't forget the entertainment of the Utopia Minstrel Club of Oil City at Board's hall Saturday evening. While strictly high class in every particular, it will be lively from start to finish. Come prepared to enjoy a hearty and continuous laugh and you'll not be disappointed. Remember the date—Saturday evening next.

—An acquaintance of Jas. N. Strahl, who is serving a life term in the penitentiary for wife murder, has received a letter from the prisoner in which he says he is "right in society," working between two bankers. Strahl says he is happy, and his letter indicates it. One nice thing about this life, he says, is that he can lay off a day and his time goes on just the same.—Franklin News.

—Hague & Collins will have a good oil well in their No. 2 on the Collins lands in Green township, about a mile and a half northeast of Gollitz, which was completed and shot last Friday. The well was showing up for a five to ten barrel producer and is also a strong gasser. The first well drilled by these parties will also make a producer, but is not yet rigged for pumping.

—Either run a town with a vim or just sell out and loaf, says an exchange. One thing must be done—run the town for all it's worth; get up steam and keep it up. Do you want trade? Bid for it. Do you want business to come to your town? Encourage what you have. Do you want a prosperous town? Then never permit jealousy to rule your actions, but work together for the common prosperity and mutual benefit.

—The revival at Nebraska, under the ministrations of Rev. W. O. Calhoun of the M. E. church, is by far the most successful one ever held in that village. Upward of forty conversions are thus far reported and the interest is increasing nightly. The attendance, which is unusually large, taxing the capacity of the church, is largely made up of men, which the affable dominie looks upon as a most encouraging and hopeful sign.

—Dr. Bovard reports the existence of four cases of scarlet fever in the borough, the victims being a young son of Mrs. Kirkwood, who came here from Pittsburgh a short time ago to visit her mother, Mrs. Wiant, and three of George Henschaw's children. The cases are now under strict quarantine, and it is hoped to prevent the further spread of the disease. The school rooms of the borough were thoroughly fumigated Friday and Saturday last week.

—The House having taken a short recess last week Representative Melching came home to spend Sunday, stopping over Thursday night with Tionesta friends on his way. Beginning Monday of this week the legislature has gotten down to business and hard work, which will continue till adjournment day, April 15, and Mr. M. thinks that all important legislation can be passed by that date, and the unimportant or useless stuff can be dumped into the rubbish pile.

—The February number of The Ladies' World has a cover by Charlotte Weber-Ditzler, which is one of the most attractive we have seen. There is a Lincoln story, which is a most interesting one, telling of his early life and taking him up only to the time of his marriage with Mary Todd. There is the usual collection of good fiction, and the departments of fashions and dressmaking, health, artistic needlework, and society are full of reasonable advice. [New York; Fifty Cents a Year.]

—Anyone who does not want to receive a publication will have no trouble discontinuing it, if you notify the publisher that you don't want the paper any longer—provided that you owe nothing. Don't continue to take the paper until pressed for payment and he "swell up" and say that you never subscribed for it. No publisher wants to force anyone to take his paper who doesn't want it, at the same time he expects those who take his paper to pay for it just the same as they pay any other debt.

—To the man who remembers how he used to bring in an armful of stove wood which he had picked out of the snow, and how he procured water to wash his face in the morning at the frozen pump, the winters are milder now than when he was a boy. But the change is not so much in the seasons as in ourselves. We have only to turn on the gas now to have all the fire we want, and we have the luxury of hot water by simply turning the faucet. The winters are about the same as they have always been in this climate, but the discomforts are not so many, a fact we are apt to forget in comparing recent wintry seasons with those of the past, which the Oil City Blizzard. And come to think it all over, we guess that's about so.

—The annual report of the county auditors appears in the REPUBLICAN today, and will doubtless be scanned with the usual interest by the taxpayers of the county. The statement of the County Commissioners shows a very healthy and satisfactory condition of financial affairs of the county. On the county account the county is considerably ahead of the game, having assets to the amount of $11,346.25, with no liabilities. On the poor account the district has outstanding bonds amounting to $20,000, from which assets to the amount of $12,033.29 should be deducted, leaving a net indebtedness of $7,966.71. But as the county and poor accounts are practically one and the same thing, the taxpayers having to foot the bills in either case, the showing still leaves the financial end of the county ahead to the extent of $3,379.54.

—Last week, being mild and springlike in its demeanor, was a good one for coons, several being captured by local talent. But speaking of coons, we guess former citizen of this county, George Stroup, who now makes his home at Kane, has the record all right. A month ago his capture of these cunning little animals counted up to 64 for the season, and how many he has bagged since then we wouldn't pretend to tell. It's "going some" to dispatch that many coons in a single season, but George has the pelts to prove his claim, and those who know him wouldn't dispute his word anyhow. Most of the catch was taken along the trout streams where they were feeding on the speckled beauties, the almost "dry" streams affording easy picking for Mr. Raccoon. And that reminds us that there is a proposition before the legislature to give lawful protection to coons! A bounty on them would seem to be more to the purpose, if it is desired to save the trout.

—Some devoted brother editor, whose identity is yet hidden, but who has managed to find his way into church at some time or other, writes thus freely on a delicate topic: In church it is just as natural for a man to desire to see the preacher as it is for him to demand that he be permitted to view the actors in a play. In the play house women remove their hats. In church the man who wishes to see the minister or the choir does so at the expense of a suffering neck. He dodges because he must, for one might as well try peering through the eye of a needle at an exhibition of rain-bows as to see the man who is preaching the sermon. The best of sermons will be lost on the man who is kept dodging a modern flower garden in the shape of a woman's hat.

—Sheffield Observer: Ernest Bernard, a ten year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Samuelson, of Breckston, was shot and instantly killed Monday by his eight year old brother at their home. The boys had taken a twenty-two caliber rifle from the house and the gun was accidentally discharged while in the hands of the younger boy, the bullet striking his brother behind the ear causing death. The funeral was at Brookston Wednesday.—Mrs. Bengt Person, of Brookston, received last week through the secretary, A. C. Gregg, a draft for $2,000, the amount of insurance carried in the K. O. T. M. by her husband, who died December 20th.

—The post office department has issued a new order in regard to tinsed cards. The text is as follows: "Cards bearing particles of glass, metal, mica, sand, tinseal or other similar substances, are unmailable, except when enclosed in envelopes tightly sealed to prevent the escape of such particles, or when treated in such manner as will prevent the objectionable substance from being rubbed off or injuring persons handling the mails." Heretofore cards placed in envelopes were sent to their destination. According to this ruling, cards of the description given above must be placed in envelopes and sealed. The purpose is no doubt to make sure the cards will not slip from the envelopes. The tinsed and other substances on the cards are a source of much annoyance to the clerks handling them, hence this order.

—Mrs. Ellen McMillen and Mrs. Emily Cole had charge of the W. C. T. U. meeting held at the home of the former, at Nebraska, on Jan. 28th. Subject, "Railroad Work." Devotional and song service was followed by readings and a discussion of ways and means of bringing our cause before those in the employ of the railroads; men on whose shoulders so great a responsibility rests. The union pledged itself to be more zealous in this department than before. Mrs. Ida Small, press superintendent, presented the claims of the Bulletin and secured a club of twelve for the new year. The presence of Mrs. Ben. George of Sheffield, sister of the hostess, added to the pleasure of the occasion. A dainty luncheon and the fragrance of the carnations with which the rooms were decorated, leave a pleasant memory with us of a day well spent.

A Large Lumber Deal.

A large lumber deal was made last week whereby T. D. Collins, of Nebraska, purchased the interests of the R. L. Buzard Estate, R. T. Buzard, of Sheffield, and G. F. Watson, of Tionesta, in the manufacturing department of the Salmon Creek Lumber Company, with mills at Kellettville, and the Pennsylvania Lumber Company, doing a wholesale business with offices in Sheffield. Before this deal was made Mr. Collins was a partner in both concerns to the extent of holding a half interest in the Salmon Creek company and a three-eighths interest in the wholesale company, and as he was the owner of all the stumpage on the Salmon Creek property, this gives him complete control of the immense operations of the two concerns. The consideration in the deal is not made public, but from the nature and volume of the business transacted by the companies the price paid would no doubt be a large one. We are reliably informed that the Salmon Creek company has yet two hundred and fifty million feet, principally hemlock, left to cut. At the same time the above deal was made Messrs. Buzard and Watson purchased Mr. Collins' interest in a tract of timber and lumber operations in Alabama, thereby dissolving a partnership which has existed for some years. Neither Mr. Watson or Mr. Buzard have made any definite plans for the future, but with their large holdings in Alabama, California and Washington, it is reasonably certain that they will be kept busy for many years to come. Mr. Watson has been the manager of the Salmon Creek company, while Mr. Buzard looked after the interests of the wholesale company, and their retirement will no doubt necessitate some important changes in the management of the affairs of the companies.

How "Cash-Up" Got Its Name.

A Titusville correspondent of the Pittsburg Commercial Gazette of May 31, 1888, gives the following interesting account of the manner in which "Cash-up," once a sensational oil pool, located in Venango county, three miles west of Stewart Run, Forest county, got its name. Dr. Shamburg referred to is still well remembered by most of our people, and once owned the Carter Farm at West Hickory, where he resided for a number of years. Incidentally some facts are adverted to about oil well production at that time that will make the average producer of today feel like a two-cent piece. The article referred to says:

"Dr. Shamburg, of this city, is one of the oldest and best known oil-producers in Pennsylvania. He has been constantly engaged in the business since 1865, and has amassed a large fortune. The rich pool known as the 'Shamburg district' was developed by him. Dr. Shamburg has given some interesting reminiscences which show the profits that are sometimes made in the production of oil. When the first well was struck, at a place afterwards known as Cash-up, the doctor was early on the ground. The new strike stood alone some four miles from any producing wells of consequence. It had barely touched the oil sand, and was flowing in a fine spray about 110 barrels a day. The well was owned by three young men. After negotiations extending over a day or two Dr. Shamburg bought the well for $30,000 cash. It was located on a five-acre lease, and he then succeeded in buying this for $32,000 cash. There was a small strip of land on one side of him that he wanted, and for this he was obliged to pay about $30,000 cash in hand. The manner in which these purchases were made gave the place the name of 'Cash-up,' by which it is known in history. The doctor drilled the well deeper, and it immediately increased to 800 barrels a day, at which rate it continued to produce for three months. Oil was then $4 25 a barrel. The well fell off in production until it was down to 300 barrels a day, when still deeper drilling increased it to 1,200 barrels a day. While it was flowing at this tremendous rate Dr. Shamburg sold his production ahead for two months for $4 a barrel.

"Mr. Hilton, later of the firm of Hilton & Waugh, agreed to take the production of the well at this figure for the period named. Mr. Hilton made this proposition without knowing that the well had increased from 300 to 1,200 barrels a day. When it became known in the trade that the well had increased to such an extent the market broke from $4 25 to $1 a barrel. During the two months that the contract had to run—and it was simply a verbal contract—the well produced 26,000 barrels of oil, which Mr. Hilton accepted, and for which he paid Dr. Shamburg $4 a barrel. The first month's production of this well paid back the $30,000 which the property had cost the doctor, and the net profits of the well in nine months and the few acres around it were upwards of $250,000."

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy the Most Popular Because it is the Best.

"I have sold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past eight years and find it to be one of the best selling medicines on the market. This remedy not only cures the coughs, colds and croup so common among young children, but is pleasant and safe for them to take. For sale by Dunn & Fulton.

REMARKABLE.

About six weeks ago a swelling came in my groin 2 1/2 inches from my navel about the size of a half lemon very painful and said to be caused by blood poison. I doctored about six weeks, and was getting worse, when Mr. Brown told me about San-Cura Ointment. I applied it as a poultice, changing morning and night, removing all pain at once. In two days it broke, discharging pus. I then changed it once a day until it was perfectly healed. I recommend San-Cura Ointment as the best poultice I ever used. It removes pain and all pus, keeping a sore moist and soft.
