

The Smart and Silberberg Co

Showing a big variety of

The New Spring Dress Goods.

An immense showing at the moment and no end of other things still due us.

We believe you'll see here the cream of the Dress Goods market in such a variety of colorings as will fairly dazzle you when you come to make selection.

Of especial interest just now are the Silk Poplins, Silk Lansdownes, Wool Poplins, Batistes, Soliels, Directoire Cloths, Silk Eolienes, Silk Voiles, Henriettas, Prunellas, Wool Satins, Broadcloth.

Cloths with satin finish seem to predominate because of the dictates of fashion for soft, clinging gowns.

Comparison of prices here and elsewhere will, we are sure, leave the verdict in our favor.

Very special offering of Plain Brocaded and Printed Directoire Silks at 29c and 39c.

Thirty inches wide and in all imaginable shades and coloring such as Gray, Natural, Champagne, Mustard, Bronze, Melon, Copenhagen, Danish Blue, Rose, Apricot, Sky, Pink, Nile, White, Cream and Black. A very desirable fabric, as you will say when you see them and the price is wonderfully low. The assortment is large, but we advise an early selection.

Demonstration New Art Sunal

Art Sunal is a patent preparation for transferring designs, together with their original colorings, from wall paper to any plain fabric, either in cotton, silk or linen.

Any design in wall paper you would have copied on fabric you can accomplish at a very slight expense.

This interesting demonstration is in our Art Department.

Training Him

"He isn't stingy," declared the young woman, rather indignantly. "I'm sure he's as generous as he can be in most things, but—"

"Oh, I know," said the elder woman. "My husband used to be a great deal the same way."

"Indeed!" exclaimed the young woman.

"Until he got educated," said the elder woman. "I had to educate him, of course, and you'll have to educate William. Arguing isn't any good."

"I know," said the young woman. "I've tried it."

"And crying isn't any use," said the elder woman, with some severity.

The young woman blushed and glanced hastily at a mirror that hung on the wall.

"No, your eyes aren't red," said the elderly woman reassuringly, "but you've been crying, and I tell you it won't do and coaxing won't work one time in a dozen."

"Then how?"

"Use your common sense. There are lots of ways. Take him to shop with you the next time you go. That's one pretty good way of making him realize that a woman can't dress on nothing."

The young woman shook her head. "You don't know William as well as I do," she said. "I'd be worse off than ever and besides he wouldn't go."

"Oh, yes, he would," said the elderly woman, confidently. "He will if you manage him properly. You tell some woman friend what exquisite taste he has when he's around and notice how he'll begin to swell up. I never knew the man who didn't believe that he knew more about what was becoming to a woman than she did herself. Then follow that up by asking him to help you select a hat. He'll do it fast"

I ALMOST BELIEVE I'LL TRY IT. enough if you can make him really believe you depend on his judgment."

"But my dear!"

"I suppose you think he'll pick out some $5 horror or something that doesn't suit you at all."

"I'm afraid he would."

"Well, he wouldn't."

Go any place where there's a fairly good assortment, but not where they take $50 hats as a matter of course. All you've got to do is to pick out an intelligent saleswoman and insist on something inexpensive. If she brings you anything over $8, say: "Oh, dear, no. I can't afford to pay that price."

"I don't see—"

"Well, you will. You'll see that he'll insist on seeing something better and you'll see that he'll be about as helpless as a babe between you and the saleswoman, and he'll see that the only way he can assert himself is to urge you not to consider expense. Don't tell me he won't know 'em. You can have any hat you want and he'll go out of the store under the impression that he selected it. And you don't want to disabuse his mind, either. Tell him that you think the hat is perfectly charming and you are afraid he has been extravagant and the one at $11 would have done just as well. See if he doesn't tell you that it's economy in the long run to get a good thing and that you will get more than $5 worth of satisfaction out of the difference in the price. But don't ever let him convince you."

"Why not?"

"Because it wouldn't do. But don't fail to tell him how your friends raved about the hat and how surprised they seemed when you told them it was his choice and how they said they would hate to have their husbands pick out a hat for them and how you thought so, too, but didn't say it. And mention casually as the thing goes on to any company you have that you always let William select your hats on account of his exquisite taste, the only drawback being his criminal disregard of price. Some thing applies to gowns or anything else."

"But it would be awful to have to be everlastingly taking him around."

"You won't have to," said the elderly woman. "Don't you worry about that. He'll get tired after the first few times and let you get what you want yourself. But you won't bear any more talk about extravagance. He'll have got his horizon extended. But don't on any account let him lose his own good opinion of his taste."

"It seems a little deceptive," said the young woman, "but I almost believe I'll try it."—Marie King.

REMARKABLE. About six weeks ago a swelling came in my groin 2 3/4 inches from my navel about the size of a half lemon very painful and said to be caused by blood poison. I doctored about six weeks, and was getting worse, when Mr. Brown told me about San-Cura Ointment. I applied it at night, removing all pain at once. In two days it broke, discharging pus. I then changed it once a day until it was perfectly healed. I recommend San-Cura Ointment as the best ointment I ever used. It removes pain and all pus, keeping a sore moist and soft.

He Would Return.

Marlow was three years old. One day his mother said to him, "Now, Marlow, you may go outdoors to play for awhile, but if I see you crossing the street to play with that naughty little boy Willie Burr again I'll give you a hard spanking."

Half an hour later the mother looked out after her boy and saw him playing with Willie Burr. She raised the window and called with forced gentleness: "Marlow, come here to me!"

"Marlow, come here to me!" Marlow came, but he did so to be turned to his companion and said: "You stay right here, Willie. I'm doin' in to get spanked. I'll be right back."—Illustrator.

Catching Rats. The best way to catch rats is to put any animal substance, well perfumed with oil of rhodium, into a trap. This induces them to enter readily and even draws them from a considerable distance, as they are extremely partial to this oil. An ounce of oil of rhodium will cost you 50 cents. Catnip to a rat is nothing like rhodium to a rat. Oil of rhodium is made from a species of Lindweed and is used in perfumery.—New York Press.

The Wrong Shoulder. In a timber yard two workmen were carrying a large piece of wood when the manager, who happened to come up at the time, requested one of them. "Joe," said he, "you've got that batten upon the wrong shoulder."

"I know that," was the ready reply. "It should be upon yours!"—London Scraps.

Extending Zone. "Teacher says," exclaimed the precocious child, "that we live in the temperate zone."

"Yes," answered Colonel Stillwell, "and if these Prohibitionists keep going I'll be worse than that."—Washington Star.

Worrying. Worrying is one of the greatest drawbacks to happiness. Most of it can be avoided if we only determine not to let trifles annoy us, for the largest amount of worrying is caused by the smallest trifles.

Let him who has bestowed a benefit be silent. Let him who received it tell of it.—Seneca.

—Two years ago my daughter stepped on a needle, breaking it off in the ball of the foot, which swelled up very painfully swelling to the knee. The doctor at Gowanda lanced the foot, but was unable to find the needle. The X ray was applied, and we could see the needle. We then applied San-Cura Ointment, thick as a poultice, and after four applications the needle made its appearance (just as Mr. Thompson said it would) and was taken out to the great relief of my daughter, and all the family, as she had suffered a great deal, and every step pained her.

We received three big consignments of Woollens last week.

This Should Interest You

For several reasons. The range of patterns is greater. The weaves and colorings are more beautiful. The qualities are up to the McCuen Company's high standard for richness of appearance and for service. And lastly, the anticipated tariff reductions on woollens have already lowered prices. We will make, this season, in our own tailor shop, suits priced from $27.50 to $45. With Easter only a few days away, doesn't that appeal to you?

SILKS.

Silk assortment; Silk values; Silk quality. This store expects to merit your silk preference on the strength of silk values, assortments and quality. Your silk preference as to kind of silk or color is to be most liberally indulged. No question about that—plainly evidenced by the silks themselves. The silk values are unusual and at no slight sacrifice of quality.

Rough Silks.—Pongees, "Shab," "Shantung," "Majarah" and others of greater or less degree of roughness. When the first Japanese ports were thrown open to the commerce of the world American and European silk agents would not buy the rough "hand loom" silks at any price. Then along comes Fashion and sets her stamp of approval on silks of this peculiar weave and at once silk looms all over the world are set to work to reproduce a silk alike in construction to that made by the poor Jap on his small hand looms. We have every fashionable color. The manufacturers of "Moneybak Silk" make a beautiful rough silk and call it "Shab." The price is $1 and it bears the same guarantee as all other Moneybak fabrics "Majarah," 27 inches wide, absolutely all silk, at 85c

Foulards.—None but "all silk" Foulards sold here—satin finish and Messaline finish. We're particularly proud of the showing at 75c and 85c a yard.
