Case Against Mrs. Harry Sampson Is Called. 1

Widow, Who is Only Twenty-Three, Faces a Jury In Lyons, N. Y., on Charge of Shooting Husband After Quarrel - She Declares He Committed Suicide-Testimony Against Her Includes Absence of Powder Marks on Dead Man's Clothing.

The case of Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson, accused of shooting to death her husband, Harry Sampson, on Nov. 1, 1908, was called for trial at Lyons, N. Y., on Monday. The prominence of the two families-Harry Sampson's uncle was the late Rear Admiral William T. Sampson, who commanded the fleet at Santiago, while the Allyns are among the wealthy folks of this part of the state-has made the alleged murder the principal topic of conversation around the hearths of the county all through the winter.

In the courtroom today Mrs. Sampson preserved the same nonchalant demeanor that has marked her since her arrest. She has declared that her lawyers will prove that Harry Sampson committed cuicide after a quarrel with her, despite the damaging testimony that will be adduced against her. Justice Adelbert P. Rich of Auburn presides at the trial.

The shooting of Harry Sampson oc curred at Macedon, a village about eighteen miles west of Lyons. He was twenty-seven years old and had been married to Georgia Allyn six years. She is now only twenty-three. The young couple lived in a house occupled partly by the family of the wife's parents. Probably it would be more correct to say that the Sampsons lived with the Allyns. The shooting took place in the Allyns' dining room, and the young man died in a living room used by the two families.

After the shooting the rifle was found standing in a corner of the room which saw the tragedy, and medical men will declare on the witness stand that the bullet which killed young Sampson ranged downward, as though fired from the stairs down which his wife ran after the report was heard. There were no powder marks on his cloth-

Georgia Sampson was indicted on Feb. 8, the grand jury charging her with murder in the first degree. On the following day George Sampson, father of the man whom she is accused of killing, died suddenly of Bright's disease. It is asserted that grief over the shooting hastened his

The dismissal order which will af feet agents who devote only a part of their time to the company, was rendered necessary by the decision rendered by Supreme Court Justice O'Gorman upholding the constitutionality of that section of the insurance law which limits new business to be written by any company in any calendar year to $150,000,000. Justice O'Gorman's decision forbade the company from issuing a $25,000 policy on the ground that its limit for new business for the year had been reached and could not be exceeded.

in the finding of the bodies of Ludwig Krueger, aged 66, and his wife aged 63 buried in the cellar of their home which was destroyed by fire early in the day, the Toledo police are confronted by a murder mystery Boys digging in the ruins noticed that the brick floor of the cellar had been tampered with. CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM

Abolished and Georgia Will Work State Prisoners on Public Roads.

The last rag of Georgia's convict lease system was shaken off at sunrise on Thursday last. Throughout the state hundreds of human beings were being led from the depths of mines, from the choking kilns, from the whirring, dark atmosphere of factories, out into the sunlight, from the control of harsh and often brutal task masters into the service of the state.

the unfortunates are blacks. Though shackled and ironed, the convicts greeted the change with shouts of joy and weird hymns of thanksgiving. AIRSHIP SPORT OF THE WIND Count Zeppelin Landed in a Marsh After Being Up 11 Hours.

The Zeppelin airship made an attempt to fly from Friedrichshafen to Munich and back. It encountered a storm and was driven far out of its course, and after eleven hours in the air, landed safely at Dinggolfing, 65 miles northeast of Munich.

Part of the journey was made under circumstances of peril. One of the motors refused to work, and it was impossible for the airship to make headway against the wind that increased steadily in violence. Helpless and drifting rapidly to leeward, the airship travelled for four hours while Count Zeppelin and his men awaited an opportunity to make a safe and successful landing.

Count Zeppelin's feat in safely landing in a gale which was blowing about 35 miles an hour, is highly praised by aeronauts who have tried the experiment. He was desirous of returning to Munich to spend the night, but the wind increased in violence and it was impossible for him to do so. He made a successful return to Munich the next morning.

ROGERS OPENS NEW ROAD

His Virginian Railway Is the Realization of Long Cherished Plans. Frklay of the first train of the new Virginian railway at Sewell's Point and the formal opening of the road by Henry H. Rogers, the financier, the favorite project of Mr. Rogers became a reality. For several years Mr. Rogers has been laboring to construct a railroad from the rich coal fields of West Virginia across Virginia to tidewater. The crowning of his labors with success is the opening of the new road to regular traffic.

Mr. Rogers, who is the president and virtual owner of the Virginia railway, witnessed the opening of the line with a party of friends. Among them were Samuel L. Clemens, better known as Mark Twain: James M. Beck and Urban H. Broughton. The citizens of Norfolk, who have shown great interest in the building and opening of the railroad, gave a dinner at night in honor of the party.

The cost of the road has been approximately $40,000,000, about half of which has been put up by Mr. Rogers personally.

BOOTH'S 80TH BIRTHDAY

To Be Honored by Salvation Army

Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army announced from the army's headquarters in New York city that a new undertaking, to be known as a "world university of humanity" for the training of workers for the army's social service operations would be launched on April 10, in honor of the 80th birthday of her father, General William Booth. The work of raising $5,000. 000 for the founding of the university will begin on that date, and the first branches will be opened in this country in New York and Chicago.

The headquarters for the rest of the world will be in London and it is intended to extend the institutions to all the 54 countries now occupied by the army, as rapidly as possible.

Ex-President Came Ashore Almost Undiscovered.

Met Guglialulo Ferraro, the Historian. Went With Mr. Griscom In Automobile to Capimonte to Visit Duke and Duchess of Aosta-Spent Some Time in Naples Museum-Boarded Admiral Late at Night For Mombasa-Will Stop at Messina.

Naples, April 6 .- The great crowds ashore, who had been waiting for hours to see the former president, became exceedingly impatient at the delay, but even when the Scorpion's launch, with Mr. Roosevelt aboard, did come ashore, they were ignorant of the fact and the distinguished visitor reached the landing stage practically undiscovered. When, however, he appeared in an automobile and proceeded to the Hotel Excelsior a great roar broke from the crowd, and he was cheered continuously all along the route. The ovation moved Mr. Roosevelt to remark:

"It seems that the Italians can make as much noise as the Americans after

Arrived at the hotel, the ex-president received with the greatest cordiality the Americans and foreigners who had gathered there to welcome him. He spoke for some minutes with Guglielmo Ferrero, the historian, who recently returned from an extended visit to the United States, and whom Mr. Roosevelt recognized immediately. Many of those assembled. however, could only receive a smile and a handshake, as there was little time for words, it being then nearly 3 o'clock. Lunch was served at the hotel among those at the table with the expresident being his son Kermit, Ambassador Griscon, Consul Crowinshield and Mrs Crowninshield, Lieutenant Commander Logan, John W. Garrett, first secretary of the embassy; Winthrop Chandler, Mrs. Garrett and Miss Cartright. The party was a merry one, frequent outbursts of laughter being heard as Mr. Roosevelt described some of his advantures aboard ship. He seemed to be in the best of health and spirits and expressed himself as looking forward impatiently to his arrival at Mombasa.

Meets Duke and Duchess of Aosta. Following the lunch, Mr. Roosevelt proceeded in a motor car with Mr. Griscom to Capimonte to meet the Duke and Duchess of Aosta at their palace, which is the most magnificent in the Neapolitan provinces, with its pect. On the way to the palace Mr. Roosevelt confessed that this visit was intensely interesting to him, not only because of his desire to meet the duke and duchess personally but because of the official nature of the meeting, the duke representing King Victor Emmanuel. The ex-president was warmly welcomed at the palace entrance and the duke received him in private, the two conversing at great length concerning affairs in the United States, the voyage just ended, the ex-president's prospective hunting trip and the experiences of the Duke of the Abruzzi.

The duke expressed the hope that Mr. Roosevelt would meet the Count of Turin, who is now on a shooting expedition in Africa. Later Mr. Roosevelt was presented to the Duchess of Aosta, and they conversed together for some twenty minutes, their conversation dealing almost entirely with hunting in Africa, where the duchess had spent some time. She gave Mr. Roosevelt many hints, which he laughingly promised to carry out. The room in which the meeting occurred was resplendent with trophies of the duchess' African expedition, being hung with elephants' tusks, deer antiers and the skins of tigers and liops, which, however, she would not say had fallen before her gun.

The good impression was mutual, as, while Mr. Roosevelt was charmed with the duchess, the latter said after his departure that the ex-president was the most interesting American she had ever met-she might almost say, the most interesting man.

Visits the Pompeian Rooms.

The party proceeded to the museum in Naples, where Mr. Roosevelt said he would have liked to spend hours But the time was short and they went direct to the Pompeian rooms. The bronzes particularly attracted him and he said: "I shall now get an idea of what I want to see when I return. Such a museum deserve days of study; it has been entirely transformed since I was here before."

Mr. Roosevelt desires it to be known, especially in the United States and England, that he received in Naples several thousand letters and telegrams, but not having a secretary at his disposal, it was a physical impossibility for him to reply to these He wishes to thank all for their kind thoughtfulness.

Returning from Capodimonte ex-president received the civic author ities at the hotel and the most cor dial expressions of friendship in the name of Italy and the United States were exchanged.

The dinner at the hotel was of strictly private nature, after which Mr. Roosevelt boarded the Admiral shout 10 o'clock. He was accom panied by Ambassador Griscom and Lieutenant Commander Belknap, who will go to Messina with him.

Pittsburg, April 6.-Within a few feet of his wife's grave and just as the twilight was fading out of the sky. Henry C. Beall, a patternmaker, aged 62, of 35 Alma street, Northside, despondent because of incurable deafness, committed suicide in Highwood cemetery, Northside. His death occurred at St. John's general hospital an hour after two bullets had penetrated his head. He used a 32-calibre revolver. He left a note for his relatives, saying he contemplated suicide because of his deafness.

On entering the cemetery at o'clock Mr. Beall inquired of some workmen for W. B. Jones, the superintendent. Mr. Jones was pointed out in a far corner of the cemetery and Mr. Beall started in the direction indicated. When near his wife's grave he turned suddenly and, walking a few paces, shot himself back of the right ear. Grave diggers who live inside the cemetery grounds saw Mr. Beall drop to a sitting posture and fire another bullet into his head. Superintendent Jones ran to the telephone and, strangely enough, for he did not know who was shot, called up Dr. S. C. McCorkle of Woods Run avenue and Brighton road, who is Mr. Beatl's son-in-law. Mrs. McCorkle over heard the conversation and remarked that the man shot was probably her father.

Dr. McCorkle reached the dving man shortly after the shooting and had him taken to the hospital. He died without regaining consciousness

Lyons, April 6.- The work of selecting a jury which is to sit in judgment over the fate of Mrs. Georgia Allyn Sampson, placed on trial here charged with the killing last November of her husband, Harry Sampson, was completed after an entire session devoted exclusively to the examination of talesmen. The presentation of the state's case was made at the opening of the session today, after which the taking of testimony will be begun. Justice Rich, before whom the trial is being conducted, informed counsel for both sides when court opened that he wanted the case moved expeditiously and a jury quickly selected.

Sixty-six talesmen were under a fire of questions before the final juror was selected. Those selected as jurors are: Noah Parish, a farmer, of Clyde; Jacob Laible, a farmer, of Newark; Charles Harris, a farmer, of Ontario; Grant Welch, a laborer, of Alton; C. H.
