NINE PERSONS DROWN

Capsizing of Rowboat During a Family Outing.

Occupants of the Boat Became Panlo-Stricken When It Drifted Into Swift Current and Began to Dip Water. Some Boys on Bank Heard the Cries but Could not Secure a Boat to Help. The Whole Party Swept Down River

Six men, a woman and two children were drowned Sunday afternoon in the Susquehanna river near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., by the capsizing of a rowboat in which they had started for an outing.

The dead are: Thomas Andrews William Andrews, Theodore Andrews, Frank Marionosky. Adam Strukus, Frank Ganosky, his wife and two boys John and Michael

The nine persons had started out for a boat ride in the small craft. While they remained close to the shore all went well, but as the boat drifted into the swift current it began to dip water.

The occupants of the boat became panic-stricken and called frantically for assistance. Some boys at play on the bank of the river heard the screams for help, but before a boat could be secured the rowboat in midstream had filled with water and sank None of the occupants could swim and they were swept down the river to their death by the rushing current. None of the bodies have been re

STEAMER SHORES LOST

News of the probable destruction of the steamer Sheres off Whitefish point in Lake Superior was brought to Duluth by sailors of the steamer Northland. They say that as the Northland was passing that point they discovered wreckage strewn all over the lake. In their opinion it belonged to the Shores.

The Adelia Shores belongs to the Manx Transit company of Cleveland and was upbound from Michigan with salt.

The ship was of 1,250 tons burden and under command of Captain S. Holmes. The engineer is R. S. Nott The gale in which the ship is thought to have foundered last week sent down the Aurania, the Russia and the Nestor. The wind then gained a velocity of 70 miles an hour. STATUE OF LONGFELLOW

President Taft Participated in the Unveiling at Washington. After years of effort by admirers of the poet Longfellow to honor his memory fittingly in the capital of the country which he loved a statue of the famous writer was unveiled and dedicated in Washington on Friday. The statue stands in the little public reservation at the corner of Connecticut avenue and M street.

President Taft participated in the dedication exercises, over which Chief Justive Fuller, who is president of the Longfellow National Memorial association, presided. Other speakers were General A. W. Greely, Hamilton Wright Mable and Brainard H. Warner. Several members of the Longfellow family attended the ceremony, and music was furnished by the Marine band

The statue is the result of twelve years of work by the association. The sculptor., William Couper, has represented the poet seated, with his right hand raised to his head. His left hand, drooping at his side, holds a book, and there is another book under the left arm. The figure is clad in academic robes. The cost of the monument was $25,000, made up mainly of smal contributions by admirers of the poet and his work. Congress appropriated $4,000 for a pedestal for the monument and authorized its location in a public square of the capital.

CREW OF MISSING WHALER Reported to Have Been Discovered In

Venezuelan Prison. The attention of the state department has been called to the report of the discovery of the crew of the whaling schooner Carrie D. Knowles of Provincetown, Mass., in a prison in Venezuela through a set of resolutions adopted by the local board of trade as soon as the members had read the dispatches which reached Provincetown at noon Thursday.

The board met at the request of Mrs. H. A. Martin, wife or widow of the first mate of the Knowles and mother of one of the members of the crew. Mrs. Martin was seconded in her efforts by Mrs. George O. Knowles, who succeeded to the ownership of the vessel on the death of her hus-

Mr. Bigelow, who is now 92 years old, said that he regarded the present labor troubles in France as one of the most perilous situations which that country has faced in modern times.

"The leniency which was shown the strikers in the settlement of the postal | ried from the room. Hardly had they difficulties," he said, "will always be a source of regret to the far-seeing Frenchman. The government's weak position at that time has incited the workers in all the other departments to push outrageous demands, and the whole battle, which might have been fought and won at the time of the postal strike, must be gone over again."

The big battleship Mississippi which has been brought from the naval station at Guantanamo, Cuba, to receive a silver service from the people of the state of Mississippi, crossed the bar at the mouth of the Mississippi, entered South Pass and came up the river to New Orleans without mishap of any kind.

The Mississippi will remain in New Orleans until May 12, when she will start up the river, making stops at Donaldsonville, Plaqumine, Baton Rouge, Bayou Sara and Natchez. Later she will go to Horn Island for the silver service.

JUSTIFIABLE HOMICIDE

Coroner's Jury Acquits Woman Who Killed a Prowler.

The coroner's verdict at Cincinnati eturned in the case of Mrs. Elizabeth Forsythe, who shot and killed Louis D. Plowman, a printer of Canton, O., while he was prowling Sout her window, says the testimony shows Mrs. Forsythe was justified in firing the first shot (which was the immediate cause of death), and that she followed Plowman on the street and fired the second shot while greatly excited, the second shot not being necessarily fatal.

Idaho Springs, Col., celebrated Friiny with speeches and meetings the fiftieth anniversary of the discovery of gold in the Rocky mountains.

On May 7, 1859, a mining company headed by George W. Jackson, the discoverer of the precious metal at Jackson's bar, within the present city limits, began placer mining upon the first paying deposits of gold ever opened in the Rocky mountains.

BOYLES ARE IN PRISON

Man For Life Sentence, Woman For Twenty-Five Years.

Woman Sald to Have Taken Polson Sunday Night and to Have Narrowly Escaped Death - Razor Found Concealed In Boyle's Necktie-Story of Boyle Implicating Harry Forker In Abduttion Not Generally Credited In Mercer and Sharon.

Pittsburg, May 11.-James Boyle and his wife, Helen Boyle, were lodged in the Western penitentiary here last night shortly before 8 o'clock, the former under a sentence of life-imprisonment, the latter sentenced to serve a term of 25 years.

The prisoners were taken first to a side room and told they would have to say good bye, as the rules of the prison would not permit them to see each other again. Mrs. Boyle threw her arms around Jimmie's neck and kissed him. She said "We must take it the best we can."

The prisoners then shook hands and the matron escorted Mrs. Boyle from the room. When she reached the corridor she burst into tears and asked to be permitted once again to see her husband. The request was granted and she again kissed and embraced Boyle. The man maintained silence.

When Mrs. Boyle gave her belongings to the matron, she asked permission to keep a small mirror she carried, saying "I do not want to leave it behind as that would make me have seven years of bad luck." The mirror was returned to her and she will be allowed to keep it in her cell.

During the trip here from Mercer, where they left late in the afternoon. the kidnapers spent most of the time in quiet conversation together. They discussed the sentence which they allege was unjust and asked what steps they would have to take to get a review of the case, and how to see an attorney. Mrs. Boyle tried to cheer "Jimmie" and wanted to know if he would be permitted to smoke at the penitentiary.

When asked how she felt, Mrs. Boyle said, "Pretty bad." On arriving in Pittsburg she remarked: "Mercer will sleep quieter tonight-sleepy old Mercer, since we are out of it."

Sheriff Chase said he was glad to get the prisoners out of his custody as he was afraid they would be suc cessful in their announced intention to commit suicide. The sheriff stated John Bigelow, the veteran author he believed Boyle had intended to kill the razor the sheriff found in the kidnaper's tie vesterday. Neither of the prisoners would deny that this was > and fast. The severity of the sentence appalled Mercer, where it was pronounced, and surprised many elsewhere. Then came the sensational scene in the courtroom, when both prisoners collapsed and had to be carreached their cells when the word was given out that the woman had taken poison during Sunday night and had narrowly escaped death at her own hand, and that a razor had been found concealed in Boyle's clothing Before this thrill had lost its force, Boyle gave out his statement implicating Harry Forker, brother of Mrs. Whitla, in the kidnaping case. In Mercer and Sharon the story does not seem to be generally credited, and as the assistant district attorney has no faith in it, there is little likelihood of any formal action in the matter.

YOUTH ENDS LIFE

Boy Hangs Himself to Tree; Little Brothers Find Body.

Washington, Pa., May 11,-"There's a man standing under a tree out there, looking straight up, and he doesn't move a bit!" excitedly announced two little sons of Mr. and Mrs. William Orum to their mother at 6 o'clock Sunday morning, running into the house, near Ten-Mile, after starting to get the cows from pasture.

Investigation revealed that Robert Orum, an 18-year-old son, had hanged himself from a limb of a maple tree 200 yards from his home. The boy, who weighed more than 200 pounds, had taken a cow halter, climbed the tree, fastened one end of the halter to a limb and the other about his neck, and dropped. His neck was not broken and death resulted from strangulation.

The motive for the suicide is not definitely known. A week ago the buy was severely rebuked by his father for whipping a horse while the two were working in a hay field. A quarrel followed and the boy, leaving the field, did not return to his home. His parents were ignorant as to his whereabouts during the week, but it is said he had been staying at the home of an aunt near Ten-mile.

Saturday night Orum called at Miss Loar's home, leaving there at 10 o'clock. He gave no hint of his plans. Later he was seen by several residents of the village from whom he tried to borrow money. It is now be lieved he intended to buy a revolver. Failing in this he resorted to the cow halter, which he took from his father's

CAN'T FIND BODY OF EMMA PROCH

Dynamiting of Creek and Search by 200 Men Proves Fruitless.

Latrobe, Pa., May 11.-Search for the body of Emma Proch, who mysteriously disappeared from her home on Friday evening, April 30, was resumed yesterday morning. When the body of 5-year-old Alvin Proch, who disappeared with his sister was recovered from Lovalhanna creek Thurs day it was supposed the girl's body would be found near. With this idea over 200 men began work in the creek at the Proch farm.

Fifty sticks of dynamite were exploded at various places where it was thought the body might have lodged. No trace of the hody was found and the search was abandoned after the father returned home, declaring he was satisfied his child either was not In the creek or had been carried by the current mlies down stream.

In the midst of the search a terri fic thunderstorm added to the discom fort of the workers. The Pittsburg and Independent breweries furnished wagons and men and hauled the drags poles, axes and hocks used.

Farmers served luncheon for the searchers at noon, including coffee, sandwiches, pie and cake.
