Information concerning this patriot is desired by the members of the Tidoute Chapter, D. A. R. and will be thankfully received by Mrs. H. H. Cummings, Tidoute, Pa.

—In "Our Fourth at Rubicon," Woman's Home Companion for July gives the actual Fourth of July experience of a town that has abolished toy cannons and fire-crackers. The graduating class numbers about one hundred in the regular normal course, and in addition to these there will be a number of graduates in the music course and in the teachers' commercial course.

—On the recent opening of the river fish season the Blizzard fish editor drops out this conclusion: "All lovers of the piscatorial sport should curb their appetite and keep within the restrictions, which limits the catch of bass to 20 a day for each fisherman. The law does not say that he has to catch 20, but that he must not go beyond that number. For most of us it is a very safe and reasonable law."

—Gas development excitement is growing by leaps and bounds at Iowa six miles east of Brookville, and two and a half miles from the Knoxdale field, where on Thursday a crew of men drilled in a well on the F. C. Deemer leases. The well has a capacity of over 11,000,000 feet per day, exceeding by far the greatest strike ever made in Jefferson county. The owner has refused an offer of $80,000 for his holdings.

—Here is a pointer for almost any town: Down in Jersey Shore the Civic Committee is now in the midst of a new scheme for beautifying the town. Photographs are being privately taken of unsightly back yards, corners, etc., which will be made into lantern slides and thrown upon the canvas in local moving picture houses. It is thought that the owner will immediately recognize his property, as will many of his neighbors, which the committee hopes will bring a speedy reform. The plan is a good one. Try it.

—R. M. Herman's second well on the Kelly lot up town will make a small producer in the Lytle sand, and is being drilled to the Red Valley sand in hopes of finding another pay streak. The Critchlow well on the Fourth National Bank land, on the hill across the river, will be drilled in today. The tannery gas well at West Hickory is delayed by a fishing job, the tools being lost in the hole. A small flow of gas was found in the Queen sand and the well was being drilled on to the Speechley sand.

—The Franklin District Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will meet in Tionesta Monday and Tuesday of next week. On Monday evening at 8 o'clock, Rev. He followed this work for over sixty years. Mr. Moll served five years in the army as a cavalryman and was discharged at the close of his enlistment with high honors. He had resided at Russell since 1853.

He was principal of the schools at Ford City, Armstrong county, the past term, and just finished the term when attacked with the fever.

It is the intention of the party to stop at Seattle and attend the A-Y-P. Exposition before they start across the continent.—Oregon City Courier, June 11th.

—Foreigners caught with guns, rifle or firearms of any kind in their possession will be subject to heavy fines and imprisonment. These are the provisions of the Steel bill, which Gov. Edwin S. Stuart signed, and is a law that has been advocated for a long time, because so many game wardens have been shot and wounded by foreigners who shoot birds of any kind and use firearms without any consideration of what the results are going to be. By the Steel bill unnaturalized foreigners dare not have in their possession firearms of any kind.

—Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Gerow, Mrs. Robert A. Fulton, Thomas Fulton and Miss Dora Gerow went to Lily Dale, N. Y., Monday, to prepare for the opening of the Maplewood Hotel, which Mr. and Mrs. Gerow have rented and will manage for the summer season. The hotel is a commodious one of seventy rooms and is the only one on the Lily Dale Assembly Grounds. It will be opened for the season on July 1st and will be under the direct charge of Mrs. Gerow and Mrs. Fulton, who will spare no pains to make it a pleasant and popular resting place for the guests. Rates, $2.00 per day. Special rates to all season guests.

—A letter from James Beatty, a former Forest county citizen and expert saw-filer, states that he has made a change in his residence and is now located at Tioga, W. Va. He says: "Your paper is like getting a letter from home. I saw quite a number of Forest county people the other day, among them Elmer and James Stitzinger. They are doing a good business down here, having a nice little lumbering plant here. I also saw John Gold their engineer. He is the same old 'Greely.' W. W. Underwood, having just returned from the west, has taken a filing job six miles from where I am located. He is getting along fine. We like this state well. Lots of hills, and good big ones. Remember me kindly to all old friends at our old home."

—H. S. Brockway Esq., accompanied by Mrs. Brockway, was a visitor to the county seat Monday, and while here took occasion to lift his commission and be sworn in as a Notary Public before Recorder Geist. Mr. Brockway will maintain an office at Marienville where acknowledgments can be taken and all legal matters pertaining to his appointment will be attended to promptly. He is also a regularly admitted agent and has power to prosecute pension claims in the Department of the Interior at Washington, D. C., and having had much experience in this line under the late Hon. J. B. Agnew, is well equipped to successfully conduct any claims that may be placed in his hands. Old soldiers throughout the county should make a note of this when in need of the services of a competent agent.

—Out along the public road leading to Tylersburg, about a mile and a half northwest of that village, is located the goat farm of Dr. J. E. Beck of Marienville. The enclosure covers several hundred acres, and much of the land is covered with a thick growth of pine, hemlock and other saplings, through which courses a pretty stream of pure water, making a cool retreat for the herd in hot weather and the whole furnishing an ideal home or romping ground for the hundred or more sleek-looking little animals there corralled. The goats are of the Angora variety, and while the starting of this industry was largely in the nature of an experiment, or perhaps a fad, it seems to be flourishing so well that if he isn't mighty careful it will turn out a money-maker for the Doctor. If the goats happen to be congregated near the road, as they were a few days ago while the writer was driving by, the sight is one of unusual interest and pleasure.

—One of the very worst habits to acquire—if we care for our own happiness and the happiness of others—is the habit of contradiction. And unfortunately it comes easily, often unknowingly, and attains its growth before we are fully aware of the existence of the evil thing we have nurtured. Its beginning can often be traced to the early days in the life of the first baby, when solicitude for the child—or possibly for the mother—leads the man to make a suggestion that is lightly brushed aside with perhaps a remark that "men don't understand such things." Only a little ripple that passes in a second and apparently leaves no trace that it ever was, but there has been planted a seed which, unless carefully watched, produces a plant that embitters the whole domestic life. Woman has no monopoly of this habit. It is as often seen and just as bad in a man. Continual watchfulness over the unruly tongue is the only safeguard, the only remedy, the only cure.—The Ladies World for July.

The Musical Club's Open Meeting.

One of the prettiest entertainments that a Tionesta audience has had the pleasure of attending in many a day was given by the Musical Club last Friday evening in the lecture room of the Presbyterian church, when this organization of accomplished musicians held an open meeting which closed their program for the past year. The Club had arranged a seating capacity of one hundred, and we believe there were no vacant chairs during the rendering of the well arranged program, which was as follows:
Intermezzo of Valse Lento... Leo Delibes
Miss Heyman, Mrs. Davis.
Synopsis of Flying Dutchman... Wagner
Mrs. Weck.
Spinning Song (from Flying Dutchman)... Wagner
Club.
Rhapsodie, b minor... Brahms
Miss Olive Lanson.
a—Those Eyes so Blue... Tassen
b—Love's Golden Land... Harvey
Mr. Gill.
Greeting to Spring... Strauss
Club.
Autumn, op. 35... Chaminade
Mrs. Davis.
The Spring has Come... White
Mrs. Feit.
Romance... Tours
Miss Lanson, Miss Olive Lanson.
a—A Winter Lullaby... DeKoven
b—In Maytime... Speaks
Mr. Gill.
a—Cannon Amour, op. 25, No. 3... Navin
b—Morning, op. 46, No. 1... Grieg
Miss Hopkins.
I Would That I Love... Mendelssohn
Mrs. Sharpe, Mrs. Davis.
Annie Laurie... Buck
Club.

Throughout the music was of a classical order, as was also the rendering of the same, every number receiving a full measure of applause by the appreciative and delighted audience. Mrs. Cora Feit, whose rendition of White's "Spring has Come" displayed her strong rich voice to excellent advantage, was obliged to respond to an encore. The instrumental duets and solos by Miss June Herman, Mrs. James D. Davis, Misses Elya and Olive Lanson, and Miss Edith Hopkins, were of a character that must have pleased the most critical ear, and with which even the higher critics would have been delighted. The choruses by the club members were faultlessly rendered and fairly captivated the audience, while Prof. Gill's contributions were of the usual sweetness and melody. One feature that was not on the regular program, but was given as a pleasing surprise to the audience, was the whistling of Mrs. Benjamin Kelly of Chicago. Mrs. Kelly was not permitted to escape with one selection, but was promptly recalled, and she fairly electrified her hearers with another selection, and demonstrated with consummate skill what could be accomplished in this new musical art. A voluntary silver offering netted the Endeavor Society a neat sum for their treasury.
At the conclusion of the program the audience was invited to remain for a short social session, during which the Club served a refreshing treat in the nature of orange frappe and waters. The entertainment was a royal success in every way, and the appreciative audience enjoyed every minute of the time.

Improvements at West Hickory.

Harry H. Smith, the son of Capt. and Mrs. Perry R. Smith, of this place, who bought the tannery at Hickory, Forest County, some months ago, is making wonderful improvements in that village. The tannery has been remodeled and made modern in every respect, and now the residences are being remodeled and repaired in fine shape. C. A. Newburg, the Ridgway contracting carpenter, is doing the carpenter work, and S. W. Miles and Nels A. Johnson, both of this place, have the contract for doing the plastering. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Miles leave this afternoon on the 5:35 train for Hickory to begin their contract. Aaron Segerstrom, of this place, will also lay several thousand feet of water line for the protection of the property from fire. Mr. Smith is having a fine residence built for himself and will move his family from Ridgway to Hickory in the near future. We are sorry to lose them, but wish them success in their new home. Harry has secured a good education and then served an apprenticeship at the tanning business, hence we have no doubt he will make a big success of the tanning business like his father did before him.—Ridgway Advocate.
