OMNIBUS BRIDGE BILL

Passed by the House; Listened to an Apology by Mr. Hobson of Alabama.

Washington, July 20 .- The house began business by passing an omnibus bridge bill, then listened to an apology by Mr. Hobson of Alabama for having last February made some uncomplimentary statements about Ambassador O'Brien at Tokio and further consid-

There were several lively tilts, one of which culminated in an announcement by Mr. Macon of Arkansas that he would resign his seat if it could be proved that he was a legislative obstructor

The most serious discussion centered about Francis J. Heney, special assistant to the attorney general. Chairman Tawney of the appropriations committee made the statement that Mr. Heney had received during the last year $25,000 for services he did not render.

Mr. Clark of Missouri went after the scalps" of some United States attorneys, and without being specific alleged that a good many of them were incompetent, necessitating the employment of special counsel to render their work effective.

SHEATH BATHING

Thursday.

The nationalists have entered Teheran, Persia's capital, and have had several skirmishes with the royalists. M. Hubert Latham made a successful aeroplane flight, remaining aloft for eight and one-half minutes, says a dispatch from Calais, France. A high official at Annapolis declared that Lieutenant James Sutton was killed by his own bullet, intended for a brother officer.

The Hebrew Sheltering and Immigrants' Aid society is in doubt as to whether it shall accept a $10,000 cndowment offered by the Russian gevernment.

The tariff conferees adjusted the cotton and wool schedules and minor paragraphs and at the evening session of the committee completed first reading of the free list.

SKIRT ALLOWED

Officials Permit Attention-Attracting Costume.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 20 .- The sheath bathing skirt is not immodest and will not be a subject of official censure in Atlantic City this season. This dictum emanates from Beach Surgeon Beckwith, who refused to interfere with two pretty girls who appeared on the beach in bathing rigs whose skirts were cut so "skimpy" as to give the appearance of tights. Beach Pollceman Frey, whose attention was called to the girls by their following of staring men, was in a quandary as to whether the outfit came under the ban of beach regulations. and he believed that the question was settled when he heard the gasp from spectators that followed when the girls calmly unbooked the gashes down the sides of the skirts to allow them to sit down on the sand. Frey rushed to the beach tent for instructions, but the head of the beach police force refused to adjudge the sheath skirt immodest, and the smiling young women continued their attention-attracting stroll without inter

The White House was stormed by 23 Republican congressmen who spent an our and a half with the president elling him that their very political ives depended upon the protection of raw materials. The president replied that he was not committed to the principle of free raw material, but that he was committed to the principle of a downward revision of the tariff, which he had promised, and that he was obliged to look at the matter, not from the standpoint of any particular district, but from the standpoint of the whole country, and also from the standpoint of responsibility for the entire Republican party.

He said the question in each case was a question of fact, to be determined by evidence, as to whether the present duty was needed for protection or whether the rate was excessive, so that a downward revision or putting the article on the free list would not injure the industry.

He repeated the platform of the Republican party and said that he had always understood that it meant a downward revision in many instances, though perhaps in some few instances an increase might be needed; that he reached this construction of the platform on what he understood to be the principle of protection and its justification, namely, that after an industry was protected by a duty equal to the difference between the cost of production abroad and the cost of production n this country, including a fair profit o the manufacturer, the energy and enterprise of American business men and capitalists, the effectiveness of American labor and the ingenuity of American inventors, under the impulse of competition behind the tariff vall, would reduce the cost of production, and the tariff rate would become educed. This was the normal operation of the tariff as claimed by the defenders of the protective system-not in every case, but as a general rule. That of course a revision of the tariff could

The accident occurred on Hemp stead Plain, Mineola, where Curtiss had been giving demonstrations for the New York Aeronautic society, to which he recenly sold his aeroplane.

It was a member of the society, Al exander Williams, 42 years old, that was injured. While Williams has driven many an automobile, is familiar with gas engines and is somewhat of a machinist he seemed to lose complete control of himself as the Curtiss aeroplane soared heavenward, and when it had attained a height of thirty feet the craft careened sharply to the right, swooped toward the earth, and striking on end, turned completely over, then rolled on its back.

Those who witnessed the fiasco say Williams simply had stage fright. His attempted flight followed a successful one made by Edward Foster Willard of New York city, also a member of the Aeronautic society. Willard, who is 28 years old and a gas engine expert remained in the air for 28 seconds. making a short flight at an average height of twenty feet. He descended without mishap, although it was his first experience in an aeroplane. He alighted nearly a quarter of a mile from the starting point. Curtiss then took the machine and made a beautiful flight back, cutting several sharp turns and ascending at one time for more than 100 feet, then shooting swiftly downward until he was only 30 feet above the earth. The witnesses of this birdlike drop, among them A. M. Herring, himself an aeroplanist of note, say that it was extremely spectacular. Back at the starting point Williams took his seat In the machine and shot away in the early morning light.

Struggle Enacted In Court Room.

At one point in his testimony Lieutenant Adams and an orderly enacted the struggle with Sutton in the courtroom. The witness chair was removed and they both lay prone upon the floor. P. R. R. SHORTENS LINE

Plans Reported to Reduce Distance to Buffalo From Pittsburg.

Pittsburg, July 20 .- To reduce the distance between Pittsburg and Dubois 27 miles and probably furnish a short route between the former city and Buffalo the Pennsylvania is said to contemplate building a short line from Kittanning to Dubois. By building a line up Cowanshan nock creek, which empties into the Alegheny three miles north of Kittanning, a slight grade would be encountered and Punxsutawney could be reached in 36 miles and Dubois in 58, whereas the distance to the latter place over the Low Grade division from Kittanning is now 85 miles.

An official of the Pennsylvania was asked if any other changes of the route to Buffalo were being considered and
