1,200 DEATHS FROM FLOOD Five Hundred Bodies Have Been Recovered at Monterey.

The number of dead in Saturday's flood at Monterey, Mexico, will reach 1,200 and maybe more. The river has fallen considerably and while still high the danger is now over.

Fully 15,000 people are homeless and are being cared for by the city government in the best way possible. At noon 5,000 people were given bread, coffee and soup at the municipal office.

In one school building on the south side of the river 90 women and children were drowned when the walls of the building collapsed. This was one of the most pathetic incidents of the flood.

The Spanish army is now in the full circuit of ten kilometers or 6.21 miles, raising its total money winnings for the meeting to 36,000 francs, besides the international cup which goes to the Aero club of America.

As in Saturday's cup contest, an accident—the only serious one of the meeting—removed Bleriot, the American who was the most dangerous competitor.

The passenger carrying contest was won by Farman. With two passengers he made the circuit of the course in 10 minutes 39 seconds, and with one passenger 9 minutes 52 4/5 seconds.

Farman in the prix des passagers carried two newspaper reporters, one sitting on the other's shoulders. His single passenger was the Marquis de Polignac, president of the committee on aviation.

MERELY AN AUDITOR

Mr. Gompers at International Trades Union Congress.

Several European Delegates Denounced What They Claimed to be the Equivocal Attitude of the American Federation of Labor With Reference to Joining the International Movement—Appeal to Unionists to Strive for Abolition of War.

Paris, Aug. 31.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was the dramatic center of the first day's session of the sixth international trades union congress.

Mr. Gompers needed all his old-time energy to repel the attack. He insisted that the problems and policies of American trades unionism were so intermingled with American traditions and ideas that Americans could ill spare the time to encounter the influence of European leaders.

Nevertheless, as an evidence that the United States was anxious for international co-operation Mr. Gompers introduced a resolution proposing a world-wide organization which would defend the rights and interests of all and create international fraternity and solidarity.

The clash came over the question of the exact status of Mr. Gompers and the American Federation of Labor in the conference. Mr. Gompers explained that for the present he was merely an auditor but was ready to give his opinions.

Mr. Gompers' statement was received coldly. Several delegates jumped to their feet to protest. Hueber, an Austrian delegate, vehemently characterized Mr. Gompers' explanation as mockery.

"Personally," he continued, "I have no authority to pledge the affiliation of the American Federation of Labor, but I believe it will come in time."

Mr. Gompers' reply. Mr. Gompers, singing under the rebuke but unflinchingly, arose to reply. "I regret," he exclaimed, "that you have misconstrued my remarks as an attack upon European trades unionism.

I repeat we are sincerely desirous of international federation but only so far as it preserves the American conception of unionism. If Europe does not want it we will be unfortunate. Nevertheless, we will continue to do everything possible to attain the goal for which the human race is struggling—international fraternity and unity."

Hueber retorted that it was now seven years since the Americans began talking about joining the international confederation and it was about time a decision was reached. "It now appears," he concluded, "that Mr. Gompers is merely on a voyage of discovery."

M. Legion, the international secretary, ended the controversy with the statement that Mr. Gompers was only a guest but he hoped that that official was convinced that the moment had arrived for the American Federation of Labor to join forces with their European brethren.

The regular business of the conference was then resumed and resolutions were adopted in sympathy with the strikers in Sweden and Barcelona and for an appeal to the unionists of the world to strive for the abolition of war.

LEAVES PALACE AT LOVE'S CALL Multi-Millionaire's Daughter Is Happy in Two Rooms.

Cincinnati, Aug. 31.—Mrs. George Washington, daughter of a several times millionaire, Lilburn Martin, president of the Oglesby Paper company, large shareholders in the playing card trust and in a bank, has left the parental palace at the call of love for a two-room flat in Covington, Ky.

Two weeks ago she was told that her father had bought a large paper mill in New Hampshire and was going to move there. She reached for a telephone, called up George Washington, who is the deputy organizer in Kentucky for the Order of Owls, and told him she didn't care how poor he was.

Also Arrayed in Top Coat to Keep Off Flies, She Gives More Milk. W. Keley Sheep, who is heavily interested in the Metropolitan Street railway of New York city, and who owns a 150-acre farm in Glendale, a Chicago suburb, has purchased twenty-four coats for his $75,000 herd of Jersey cows.

The two attendants, whose sole duties are to look after the cattle, place these coverings on them every morning to protect them from flies. The teeth of each blooded Jersey are brushed three times daily. This departure in dairy farming is said to result in better health and better milk.
