 —A meteorite is reported to have fallen in the vicinity of Henry's Bend, about nine o'clock last Sunday evening. The same phenomenon was witnessed here at the same hour, the opinion being that it had fallen in the upper part of town.
 —If anyone around this country has a finer field of corn than that of Wm. M. Wolcott on the flats near his home up town, we want a look at it. The corn stands nearly fourteen feet high and appears to be very uniform in size. Go and see it.
 —A card from V. W. Welker, of Rochester, N. Y., whose pen of thirty homing pigeons were liberated here Sept. 10th at 11:10 a. m., states that the first nine birds arrived home at 3:40 p. m. and that all were home the same day. The distance is about 200 miles.

 —The appendix of a German citizen, operated upon in a Newark hospital, was found to contain twenty-two birdshot, caused from eating too much haseenpfeffer, the principal ingredient of which is rabbit. In the opinion of the Brookville Republican this is a timely warning prior to the opening of the hunting season. Always spit out the birdshot.
 —The government has issued orders that simply marking rural delivery letters "RD," dropping the "F," is sufficient for letters in that class. But why not simply use an "R," as instance "R. 1." It would save a lot of ink, the dropping of the "D."—Tidoute News. Sure thing. The way to simplify is to simplify. Sensible suggestion.
 —There is some danger of potato rot this season, a number of farmers reporting that already evidences have been discovered in their crop. In many sections digging has begun in the hope of saving as much of the crop as possible. The yield this season will be large and fine, unless overtaken by the rot blight, which usually makes short work of the tubers.
 —Have you been observing the bright star in the eastern part of the heavens these nights? It is what some of the scientists call the Star of Bethlehem. In view of the fact that this star only comes around once in about 500 years and labors for several thousand years in getting its light to the earth, it should be appreciated. It is not likely you will ever see this particular shiner again if that is the case.
 —Work on the new Presbyterian church is progressing rapidly these fine days, and another week of the same sort of weather will find much of the foundation laid, the gravel for the concrete base being already on the ground. The contractor, Mr. Ryham, of Kane, was here a portion of last week to see that a good start was made. He has a good force of workmen on the job who are apparently determined to make the best of the fine weather conditions to get the building enclosed as speedily as possible.
 —The Methodist Episcopal church, building at Nebraska is being thoroughly renovated and repaired and while the work is in progress the school house is being utilized for the regular services of the church. The building is being painted outside and in, the walls redecorated, the pews varnished, and a new carpet will be laid. New concrete steps will probably be put in at the front entrance. When all is completed no community will have a finer house of worship than the good people of Nebraska.
 —Rev. F. M. Small of Cooperstown, Venango county, and Miss E. Margaret Aisdorf of Sparta township, Crawford county, were united in marriage at 11 o'clock a. m. on the 16th inst., at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Dr. H. G. Dadds, district superintendent of the Meadville district of the M. E. church. The groom, who was once pastor of the M. E. church of Tionesta, is well known throughout this section. He has passed his seventieth milestone on life's journey and the lady of his choice is 42. A large circle of friends in this community will join in extending congratulations and well wishes to Rev. Mr. Small and his amiable bride.
 —Ex-Street Commissioner Aaron Segerstrom, of this place, who has been employed for several months past with the tanning firm of Harry H. Smith & Co., at West Hickory, Forest county, has decided to remain there, and is moving his family and household goods to West Hickory this week. Mr. Segerstrom put in the new water works for the firm, and they have evidently found his services quite valuable, as they have given him a steady position as outside foreman, looking after the bark and other work about the tannery.—Peter Moore left yesterday for West Hickory, Forest county, where he will be employed for some time to come at his trade as a stone mason.
 —Ridgway Advocate.
 —Supt. Cottle of the Forest telephone company has been down from Marienville the past couple of weeks looking after the setting of new poles and transferring the lines between Tionesta and Kiser's corners, a distance of about four miles. He has taken on a number of new patrons lately in that vicinity, and when all are installed will have upward of twenty new phones in operation over German hill, thus materially enhancing the service and usefulness of the line in that direction. Besides looking after the telephone business in the county, Mr. Cottle is quite an adept at bee culture, and that his spary turns out a fine article of honey can be attested by a number of our citizens among whom James distributed a quantity a few days ago, including the printerman.
 —Messrs. Anderson & Putnam, who have the contract for paving Elm street, in this borough, have notified the Council that they expect to be here shortly to begin operations, all contracts, papers, etc., having been signed up by the authorities and sent on to Harrisburg for the approval of the State Highway department. It is rather late to begin on a job of this nature, but the contractors believe they can finish a good share of the work before being overtaken by inclement weather. The same class of paving as was done last year on the northern end of the street, curbing, concrete foundation etc., is to be done on this job, except that Bessemer brick are to be used. They have a good reputation for wearing quality and are used in many large paving contracts. All speed and success to the contractors in the prosecution of this work.

—K. Edward Smith, of Sheffield, Pa., and Miss Ethel Hayot, of Tylersburg, Pa., were united in marriage at the First M. E. parsonage by the Rev. H. M. Conway at 11 o'clock a. m. Saturday. They will reside in Sheffield, where Mr. Smith is ticket agent for the Pennsylvania railroad.—Warren Mirror, 20th.
 —Hon. J. A. F. Hoy, one of Clarion's prominent lawyers, died at his home Monday afternoon of an internal affection of several months' duration. He was aged 45 years, and is survived by his wife one son and one daughter. Many friends of this genial gentleman will learn with pain of his death, for his circle of acquaintances and friendships extended to all parts of the state. As attesting his popularity it is recalled that he was three times elected to the legislature from his county, and his prestige in that body was second to none of his colleagues.
 —Frank Anderson, who made a number of attempts to commit suicide at his home near Pigeon, Howe twp., in the early morning of Sept. 23, died from the effects of his wounds at the Kane hospital on the 11th. He had slashed his throat seriously and then fired the contents of a shot gun into his head tearing the top almost entirely off. After being taken to the hospital he lived over a week. He was well thought of and a good citizen when not drinking, but was addicted to the habit periodically. Anderson was aged 50 years, and leaves an invalid wife.
 —The Perry (N. Y.) Record of Sept. 16th contained a fine group picture of the Robeson baseball team of that city, with which Sam Haslet and John Lawrence, of Tionesta, played during the past season as second baseman and catcher, respectively. The team made a wonderful record for the season, playing 28 games with all the strong teams of that section and winning all but two. The boys did their full share in winning these games, as their records will show. Haslet's record shows 28 games played, at bat 104, hits 36, runs 23, batting average .346. Lawrence's record shows 21 games played, at bat 69, hits 17, runs 21, average .246. In fielding Lawrence had 150 put outs, 17 assists, 4 errors, total chances 171, average .981. Haslet had 73 put outs, 54 assists, 6 errors, total chances 133, average .954.

Carson and from well filled baskets and the commodious Carson pantry and garden decorated several tables placed on the broad Carson lawn with all that goes to make a delicious Neiltown dinner. Mrs. Machesney and R. O. Carson were given the seats of honor.—Mrs. Machesney because she was a one-time resident and most esteemed by all, and Mr. Carson because he was the only male present,—and at one o'clock the dinner was partaken of by the jolly hostesses and the grateful visitors. BURGLARS ARE BUSY.
 Sheffield & Tionesta Railroad Station Burglarized at Kellettville Sunday Night.
 A successful robbery was committed sometime after midnight Sunday by blowing open the safe in the Sheffield & Tionesta Railroad station office in Kellettville. An entrance was gained by the office window at the rear of the station, which was easily hoisted from the outside. No noise of any kind such as would be made by an explosion was heard by any one, so far as is learned at this time. The first intimation of anything wrong was discovered at 6:30 Monday morning, when the agent, C. P. Cloak, upon entering the office, discovered the theft. The outer door of the safe has always been left unlocked and it was a short job for the burglars to cast a cup made of soap around the key hole in the inner door and fill this with nitroglycerine. A short length of fuse was used as there was the shell of the fuse lying on the floor when the agent entered the office. The charge blew out the lock, letting the inner door open easily. The cash box was rifled and it is evident they must have been in haste, as there was about three dollars in small change scattered about the safe and floor. It is not definitely known yet just how much currency was secured, but Mr. Cloak thinks about $25 in cash, besides a check for a like amount, was about all the night raiders secured of much value. It is reported that they took all the papers of importance found in the safe. Among the collection of papers carried off were a number of valuable private papers, the property of Leon Watson. These were secured from a small safe owned by Mr. Watson, which stood in the office. The outer door of this safe was not locked and the inner door was pried open. These papers are of no value whatever to anyone but the owner, Mr. Watson had been out of town since Friday and on his return Tuesday stated that the burglars had carried off a small iron box filled with papers, but that he could not tell what it contained until he examined his papers in a safety deposit box in Sheffield. All the evidence seen about the room to indicate the visit of burglars is the hole in the safe, and some shattered and torn pieces of paper strewn about the floor in front of the safe. The window shades were left as they found them at half mast and anyone passing by could have easily discovered the robbers at work. There is no clue to the robbery and it is the opinion of a majority of the townspeople that local talent, assisted by someone higher up perhaps, were the perpetrators. The ground just beneath the window where entrance was gained is of a very soft and mucky nature and the footprints of at least two or perhaps three individuals are plainly visible in the soil. One of the footprints resembled that made by a woman's shoe. The only article of any kind or nature left by the burglars was a dark piece of cloth of a triangular shape. This was about the size of a large bandanna handkerchief and was found lying beneath the window. There is no evidence about the piece of cloth that it was used for a mask or for a covering of any kind. There were no suspicious persons seen about town at any time and whoever the perpetrators were they were very clever indeed. It was stated that an automobile was heard going up Tionesta creek shortly after the burglary was supposed to have occurred, and that the burglars may have escaped in that way, but this is not given much consideration at Kellettville.
 An effort was made early Monday to secure bloodhounds to trace the robbers. Every effort was put forth to secure the dogs until two of the man hunters were secured at Jamestown, N. Y. They arrived at Sheffield too late to catch the 4:10 train so a special was sent up and they reached here at 11:00 p. m. Perhaps the largest crowd by far that had ever assembled at the depot at one time were in waiting to see the man eaters arrive. On board the special were the regular train crew, Ben George of Sheffield, a Pinkerton detective of considerable note, who had been at Nebraska visiting relatives and had come up earlier in the day and gone to Sheffield on the special, and a man in charge of the hounds. The officers in charge of the train, suspecting a large gathering to be in waiting and knowing the difficult task of getting good service from a pack of hounds among 300 people, worked a ruse by which the innocent throng failed to see what they had risked the loss of a few hours of sleep to witness. The dogs were removed from the train at another point and the disappointed people were seen to fast take their leave for home. Several hours after the people had all gone home the dogs were put on the trail, but the dogs gave up the hunt after making several starts. It was evident that so many spectators had tramped over the ground that all trace of the burglars' footprints were destroyed.
 This may be a gang of organized yeg-men who have been raiding the country successfully in this vicinity the past month. About four weeks ago a visitor at the Globe Hotel, West Hickory, was robbed of considerable money. Two weeks ago a robbery was committed at Loleta, and on Sept. 5th some effected an entrance into A. L. Weller's store at Henry's Mills and secured about $18 in small change. Last week burglars entered the sleeping room of Charles Adolphson, at Hastings, and stole two silver watches and a check for $23.
