President Taft Dropped 1.200 Feet Through Darkness.

It Was the President's First Visit to the Montana Copper Region and Be tween the Smelters at Anaconda and the Mines at Butte He Had Some Interesting Experiences - President Was Accompanied by Two Cabinet Officers In Trip Below Ground.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 28 .- Attired in a linen duster, an old black slouch hat, and swinging an electric lanteru at his side, President Taft was locked in a narrow iron cage and dropped 1,200 feet through darkness into the depths of the famous old Leonard copper mine at Butte. He had the rare experience of seeing the miners at work with a giant drill in a vein of high grade ore that sparkled green with its wealth of mineral.

After half an hour underground, the president was brought to the surface. blinking in the glare of the noonday sun. He was cheered to the echo by the crowd of curious people gathered at the hoist. He declared enthusiastically:

"I would not have missed it for the world.

Thrilling Auto Ride Over Mountains. It was the president's first visit to the Montana copper region and between the smelters at Anaconda and the mines at Butte he had a series of interesting experiences. Not the least of these was a thrilling automobile ride over the mountains from Butte to the mouth of the Leonard mine. The grades were steep and winding. but the chauffeurs were experienced nien, and, while there was apparently no threat of danger at any stage of the trip, there was a sigh of relief when Mr. Taft had once more been placed safely aboard the Mayflower for the run to Helena. Arriving at Helena he went directly to the state fair grounds, where after viewing a portion of the exhibits he made an open-air address and witnessed a race of cowboys. Returning to the city Mr. Taft reviewed a parade of school children.

Leaving Helena in the evening, he headed direct for Spokane, where he expects to deliver his formal speech on the conservation of the natural resources and the reclamation of arid lands.

The president made a flying trip through the Washoe smelter of the Amalgamated Copper company at An-

Well-Known Beaver Falls Citizen Probably Fatally Injured.

Beaver Falls, Pa., Sept. 28 .- Will-Iam H. Ewing, a stock dealer, and his little grandson, Robert Murphy, were driving from an alley into Eleventh street yesterday afternoon when a street car struck the buggy, throu ing both to the ground.

Mr. Ewing, who is 69 years old, sustained a fractured skull, broken jaw and fractured shoulder. The boy escaped with severe bruises. Mr. Ewing was taken to the Beaver Valley hospital, New Brighton, where his recovery is said to be doubtful.

Jumps From Train; Skull Fractured. Canonsburg, Pa., Sept. 28.-Simon

Anekel, 35 years old and married, attempted to jump from a moving train near the railroad station here and was thrown against an embankment. He was picked up unconscious and taken to the Canonsburg General hospital. His skull was fractured and it is aconda, then proceeded into the city and after a brief address took the train for Butte. The crowds which greeted him on the streets there were the largest he had seen since leaving Chicago. The police had their hands full in opening a way for the automoblle procession and after the president's car had passed the crowd swarmed in its wake. Speaking at the court house the president looked out upon a mass of humanity that blocked the square and spread far down the converging streets. He made a decided hit with the great throng when he told of the wonderful impression the country was making upon him, and ending by saying:

"I am like the old Dutchman who said 'The more you live the more you find, by golly, out.""

When the president disappeared down the shaft of the Leonard mine with a hearty good bye shouted to the waving group at the entrance he carried with him into the depths of the earth two of his cabinet officers and won the presidential record for the furtherest underground.

President Roosevelt entered some of the Butte mines during his term but did not get down to 1,200 foot level. Postmaster General Hitchcock, who joined the president at Anaconda, and Secretary Ballinger accompanied the president in the picturesque trip down the dark chute and through the crosscuts and drifts of the deep level.

Drop of 800 Feet to First Level.

The elevator used by the president and his party consisted of a small steel doored square cage in three decks. The president got into the topmost one, accompanied by John Hays Hammond and others. There was a sheer drop of 800 feet to the first level.

After this the levels came at intervals of 100 feet. Despite the assurance of the mine officers that they made from 20 to 30 trips a day down the shaft, at a speed which relegated the president's drop to a snail's pace in comparison, the descent through the first 500 feet of inky darkness was nerve-shaking to the nervous ones in the party.

The descent occupied two and one half minutes and during the journey there was nothing but blackness and silence.

At the 1,200 foct level, the two low er cages dropped by the opening to allow the president to step out first It was still inky dark and gruesome to those below when at last there came the cheery voice of the president from the level, calling to some of the newspaper men who were accompany ing him on the trip.

"How are you fellows down there?" he inquired.

There were still 600 feet of black ness below the cage and "We'd kindo' like to get out," was the reply.

"Well, I don't know so much about that," called the president. "I think I got you safe where I want you al Inst."
