

Calendar for November 1909 showing dates 1 through 30.

The dime novel costs a good many dollars when it comes to the suppression of crime.

An agent of the Carnegie Hero Fund has been sent to Cherry, Ill. There is a harvest for him there, even though reports may have been exaggerated.

FIFTEEN HUNDRED orphans were made by the latest mining calamity in Illinois. The call for relief work is loud and should meet with a general response.

A KANSAS hen has laid an egg bearing the prophetic inscription, "drought 1911." This is what comes from operating a poultry farm in a prohibition country.

THE Blizzard grows poetic when it says: Beware of the smooth-tongued promoter, who has just a little stock left; watch out or you'll have the stock and be of your money bereft.

THE Oklahoma Supreme Court has sustained a lower court in dismissing proceedings begun by the direction of Gov. Haskell, to restrain the circulation of publications from outside the state which carry advertisements of intoxicants.

THREE leading colleges have cancelled their football games for the season. There have been twenty deaths and more than forty dangerous injuries since the opening of the season. Had so many lives been sacrificed in warfare the nation would be in mourning. The thing is wrong. It will never be right until the game is revised and its terribly rough features eliminated. Nero and his games constitute the only object with which we feel like making a comparison.

A COLLEGE professor of the University of Illinois, thirty years old and in good health, committed suicide the other day because he could not endure babies, one of which came to his home about two weeks before. He left a note saying: "Three and a half grains of potassium cyanide are responsible for my fate." And this moves the Pansy-tawney Spirit to remark that he should at least have had the forethought to have his life insured for the benefit of the squawier who drove him to suicide.

SCIENCE has at last discovered why the turkey is so scarce that its price has become prohibitive for many a Thanksgiving table—the big bird is being literally wiped out in New England by appendicitis. More than this, the disease has spread far south as Virginia and is already invading Michigan, which up to the present time has for years been the chief breeding place for turkeys. So serious is the danger of a virtual extinction of the "national bird," that a thorough investigation of the cause of the disease and its possible prevention is being made by such well known scientists as Dr. Theobald Smith, and Dr. E. E. Tyzzer, of the Harvard medical school, and by Mr. Philip B. Hadley, of the state experiment station of Rhode Island.

In Pittsburg a laborer was killed by an injury to his back. His obituary required six lines. He was killed while working, endeavoring to support his family and himself. He was not a hero, just a plain laboring man. But had he met death while playing in the line of a university football team, columns would have been required to relate his greatness. The American estimate of what constitutes manhood is strangely perverted in these later days. The real greatness of the land is in the homes where men work, where children are brought up to be honest and God-fearing. The death of the head of such a household is a tragedy. But it does not appeal to the general public like the cracked skull or broken back of a gladiator warrior.—Titusville Herald.

REV. BILLY SUNDAY has the faculty of drawing big audiences and of keeping them interested and peaceable even when bombarding them with epithets. A similar gift marked the career of the late Rev. Sam Jones, who, while capable of finished eloquence, preferred to use the homeliest and most forcible elements of the language. Mr. Sunday's vocabulary is in its shirt sleeves and he is ready for any sort of rough and tumble with sinners. If Rev. Billy were to appear in elegant conventional costume the crowds that witness his picturesqueness would laugh at him, not with him. He has had a long experience in converting thousands and begins the tackle by taking off his coat, assuming that if the clergy will not hold it, so much the worse for them.

Governor's Thanksgiving Proclamation Governor Stuart of Pennsylvania has issued his thanksgiving proclamation, as follows:

"In accordance with a well established custom, I, Edwin S. Stuart, governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby set apart Thursday, November 25, 1909, as a day for thanksgiving and prayer. "Our people have reason to acknowledge their dependence upon Almighty God, and to manifest their gratitude for His infinite goodness and mercy. He has been pitiless in rich gifts, and in all the things which make life enjoyable. We have been blessed with peace and plenty, with bountiful harvests, with increasing prosperity, and with freedom from plague, pestilence and famine. "Discoveries in science are checking the ravages of disease. Our churches, schools, libraries and educational facilities, has stimulated and promoted among us the things of the mind and of the higher life, and yet, amid all our blessings and advantages the Lord has kept us mindful of our dependence upon His omnipotent power, and of our constant need of His care and protection. "Let us come together in our homes, churches and places of worship, and render unto God grateful acknowledgement for the manifold blessings He has bestowed upon us, and humbly beseech the continuance of His divine favor. Let us remember the poor and needy, the widow and the fatherless, the sick and the distressed. Out of our abundance let us assist the unfortunate, remembering that the greatest virtue is charity."

JOHN SHERMAN'S HEIRESS

Brings Suit For Absolute Divorce and Custody of Her Two Children. Washington, Nov. 23.—Suit for an absolute divorce and the custody of her two children was instituted today by Mrs. Mary Sherman McCallum, the adopted daughter and heiress of the late John Sherman of Ohio, secretary of state, secretary of the treasury and senator. In her bill Mrs. McCallum names Susie MacDonald Hopkins as a co-respondent. Mr. and Mrs. McCallum were married here Dec. 12, 1894, at the Epiphany church by Rev. Randolph McKim and their marriage was a social event. At that time Mr. McCallum was a stenographer employed in the supreme court of the United States, but later was appointed consul at St. Gall, Switzerland.

A rather pretty little story concerning the adoption by Senator and Mrs. Sherman of Mrs. McCallum has been current in Washington for many years. As the story goes, the Senator and Mrs. Sherman were strolling through an orphanage one day and they were especially attracted to a strikingly beautiful girl child. They had no children of their own and made known their desire to adopt her. They were informed that the baby had a twin sister and whoever adopted one would have to take the other. The Shermans took both and the twin first chosen died soon afterwards. The other, the present Mrs. McCallum, was reared by the Shermans. When Senator Sherman died he made her practically his sole heiress.

CLARKSON TO RETIRE

No Connection Between Customs Frauds and His Resignation. Washington, Nov. 23.—It was made known in an authoritative quarter that General James S. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York, would retire from that office Jan. 1 next. The explanation was given that this arrangement was a matter of long standing and not to be construed as reflecting on General Clarkson in any way. Emphasis was laid on the fact that it had been understood by the administration for eight months that General Clarkson would retire and there was not the remotest connection between his contemplated resignation of his commission and the customs frauds, which had not been discovered except as to the underweighing of sugar until after the administration knew that General Clarkson would give up the surveyorship.

General Clarkson is 67 years old. He was a war horse of the Republican party and was chairman of the Republican national committee. In Iowa, where he spent the greater part of his life, he is regarded as a foremost citizen.

POSSUM GOES TO PARK

President Taft Not to Desert Thanksgiving Day Traditions. Washington, Nov. 23.—President Taft is not going to desert the Thanksgiving dish of presidents since Grant at least by turning from turkey to possum and in consequence the big ten-pound white-haired specimen of tree-climbing rodent which came from Dr. E. O. Greer of St. Louis to the White House has been sent to the National Zoological park in Washington. The usual turkey from Horace Vose of Westley, R. I., was coming and the White House regulations do not provide for the keeping of animals.

Farley Judy Unable to Agree.

Owego, N. Y., Nov. 23.—The jury in the case of State Game Inspector W. C. Farley, indicted for grand larceny in the second degree, reported in county court that it was unable to agree. It is said the jury stood 10 to 2 for conviction. Farley, who is an undertaker and a prominent politician in Waverly, was charged with having obtained $29.50 from Mrs. Lena M. Powell in connection with burial of the woman's late husband.

The Actress' Retort.

Georgette Leblanc, the actress, wife of Maurice Maeterlinck, was on tour in a French town, where the local company "supported" her in one of her husband's plays. But the support was weak and halting. The poet's lines were mangled, and several characters seemed unable to understand what they were saying. Mme. Leblanc sought out her manager and spoke to him. "A writer like Maeterlinck should be treated with more respect." "Madame," he answered, "M. Maeterlinck is not the first to suffer. Sophocles, Moliere, Racine, Shakespeare, Goethe and other great dramatists are daily murdered in the same way." "Possibly, but they are not murdered alive, at any rate."

The Unappreciative Londoner.

London is a marvel. But we Londoners do not wax passionate over its qualities as the enthusiastic Frenchman does over his Paris. There is more beauty, more charm, more wealth, more culture and more art to be found in London than anywhere in the world, and we stolid English people do not really appreciate it.—London Graphic.

Selwyn's Curious Taste.

George Selwyn had a strange but not uncommon passion for seeing dead bodies, especially those of his friends. He would go any distance to gratify this pursuit. Lord Holland was laid up very ill at Holland House shortly before his death. George Selwyn sent to ask how he was and whether he would like to see him. Lord Holland answered: "Oh, by all means! If I'm alive tomorrow I shall be delighted to see George, and I know that if I am dead he will be delighted to see me!"

Kellettville.

Mrs. J. W. Daubenspeck, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Vernon Anshler, at Baltimore, Ohio, for several weeks returned home Monday. E. R. Small of Sheffield spent a few days in town last week. A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Smith, Saturday. J. L. Painter of Marienville was the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Lewis Arner, Saturday. J. F. Mealy of Tylersburg is visiting relatives in town. Dr. W. W. Serrill visited his parents at Jackson Center a few days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Gilooly, who have been visiting relatives at Williamsport, returned home Saturday. Geo. Phillips is visiting his family at Austin, Pa.

Revival Meetings are in progress at the F. M. church, conducted by Rev. A. J. Horner.

The parlor meeting under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., held in Andrews Hall Wednesday afternoon, was well attended. A very interesting program was rendered by members of the Union. A lunch was served at the conclusion of the program. A very delightful afternoon was spent by all present.

Mrs. J. G. Harmon and son Merl visited relatives at Minister, Sunday. Mrs. Geo. R. Johnson and daughter Edna are visiting the former's son at Harrison Valley.

Mrs. E. A. Babcock and son Kenneth visited relatives at Sheffield over Sunday. Burt Littlefield of Ivory, N. Y., is the guest of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Pope.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Scott Smith, Saturday. Scott Mealy, who has been visiting his parents at Tylersburg, returned Saturday.

E. M. Porter returned from Lamartine, Saturday, where he has been visiting his father, who has been very sick.

ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

The old Salmon Creek mill has been undergoing repairs for the past week. It is about ready now for operation. It has been rather a difficult matter lately to furnish sufficient material to keep the two mills running full time and while the company were short of material they took advantage of the situation by doing the necessary repairing. It is expected that when the steam skidder is in operation there will be no lack of saw material.

The Sheffield & Tionesta Railroad Co. have been unusually busy for the past month, especially the freight service. There has been an average of about 30 cars per day for several months. Two and sometimes three days per week it is necessary to run two trips to relieve the congestion. These days of double trips over 40 cars are delivered to the P. & E. at Sheffield. For a road only 35 miles in length and through a thinly settled country this is certainly a strenuous business.

A. L. Weller is having his farm barn treated to a coat of paint which adds very materially to the general appearance of the building as one passes by. There are also other improvements such as the finishing of the carpenter work and cement floors in the basement department.

Through the associated press news of Friday we learn that W. S. Kelly and sons of Westfield, N. Y., were heavy losers in the fire that did so much damage to property on Thursday. Mr. Kelly had just recently purchased a general grocery store at that place and had moved his family from Forest county, where he was a successful jobber for the Salmon Creek Lumber Co. The family resided some distance from the store and the fire was under control before it reached their home.

The first number of the high school entertainment was rendered in Andrews' hall, Tuesday evening, to a large and delighted audience. The number consisted of the Ionic Quartette and each participant was an artist in their line of entertainment. The number consisted of songs, readings, recitations, monologues, etc. A special train from Nebraska helped to add lustre to the coffers of the management.

Chas. Smith of East Hickory has been secured to plaster the two dwelling houses for the Salmon Creek Lumber Co. and also the Catholic church. Having had over twenty years experience at this line of work, a good job is guaranteed.

John H. Brennan, our photo artist, has secured a fine cut of the town and it is without doubt the best birds-eye view of Kellettville ever secured. Kellettville is so situated that it is a difficult matter to get a cut that will do justice to the town, but John has at last solved the question after making at least a good round dozen attempts. Several very good cuts have already been secured up to this last attempt but now all former views are left in the dark. John says the most difficult problem to solve was to get the town to stand still long enough to make the proper exposure, "don't you know." The picture is on exhibition at the Kellettville Pharmacy, where it can be seen and where you can leave your order for one or more pictures, which will be ready for delivery this week. A large number have already been ordered.

Thomas Gilooly, who has been employed down in Maine for the past year or more, is paying his family a visit.

Mrs. O. L. Johnson of Sheffield is down a couple of days last week visiting friends and relatives.

W. G. Tate, a former manager of the Salmon Creek store, was in town a few days last week.

Clarence P. Cloak, the hustling agent at the depot, is again confined to his room, having suffered a relapse from having gone on duty too soon after his recent illness of two weeks. He is suffering from an attack of kidney and liver trouble.

Some of our local hunters and trappers secured a nice bear last week, making their third one in about four weeks. At this particular time of year, when so many nimrods from a distance are with us for a hunt after big game, the market is good for the sale of large game, as one can scarcely capture a trophy until some distant hunter wishes to exchange a handful of the root of all evil for a mouthful of bear meat.

An old-fashioned ring hunt was pulled off last Wednesday by about 20 would-be sports. Dr. Davis and Victor Hendrickson were captains. The side scoring the smallest number of points were to entertain the entire bunch at the Kingsley House at 7:00 dinner. The day being a poor one for small game there were but very few points, and the score was very close, 160 to 165. Dr. Davis and his small army were in for the expenses, while Victor was victorious.

David Ittel, a timber cruiser from Warren, was in town several days last week. Mr. and Mrs. Vern Albaugh are the happy parents of a 10-pound boy.

Resolutions.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Clarington offer the following tribute of love and esteem to the memory of Mrs. Anna Henderson, who was called home Nov. 15, 1909. Though she was a sufferer for several years she never complained. Patient in suffering, spiritual in mind and devout in her quiet life, her love and trust in her Savior were deep and abiding. She was always interested in every good work.

Whereas, Our Heavenly Father has visited our society and taken this loved sister, therefore,

Resolved, 1. That we bow in humble submission to God's most holy will. 2. That in the death of Mrs. Henderson we sustain a great loss. 3. That each member is indebted to her for her good advice and wise counsel. 4. That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family as an expression of the heartfelt sympathy of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. That a copy of the same be placed on the minutes.

Thoughts of Thanksgiving.

[Written by a Soldier.]

The rain is gently falling And the skies are laden gray, The wind anours through the bamboo In a dreary mournful way, Our quarters damp and gloomy Present an uninviting scene, And Thanksgiving is approaching In the far-off Philippines.

That name, somehow familiar, We have all heard it before, But have lost all interest in it Since the happy days of yore. For instead of pie and turkey We will have hardtack and beans, And be thankful we are living, In the far-off Philippines.

And our memory turns backward To one Thanksgiving day Spent with our friends and parents, In the old home far away. There we had cranberries And turkey roast a "T." Mince pie, cake, tarts and jam, And everything was free.

And best of all, my sweetheart, In whom I took such pride, That little blue-eyed maiden Was seated by my side.

And she drove out to the country In the moonlit winter scenes, The memory of it almost Makes me hate these Philippines.

For today in the old homestead, So many miles away, There will be the same old gathering As there was that other day. The best as well as the good, The same old friends be there; But it isn't that I miss so much, For that little care.

But a little blue-eyed maiden, Who oft I see in my dreams, Will go driving with another While I'm in the Philippines. So, good friends, just consider, What a soldier leaves behind When he parts from home and country And loving friends so kind.

When he hikes through mud and water In the worst swamps ever seen, Just to keep "Old Glory" waving In the horrid Philippines. And today, while you're rejoicing, And your prayers to heaven raise, Don't forget the U. S. soldiers, For they seldom get much praise.

But he is always staunch and ready To go forth to any scene; So remember this Thanksgiving Of those in the Philippines. For we are tried and tempted More than anyone can dream, And we want your prayers to help us Stand the test in the Philippines.
