Announcements.

CONGRESS. ENDEAVOR, PA., Nov. 29th, 1909. MY DEAR ENDEAVOR: You are hereby authorized to announce my name as a candidate for Congress in the Twenty-Eighth Congressional District of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules governing the Primary to be held Saturday, June 4th, 1910.

EDITOR FOREST REPUBLICAN: Please announce that I am a candidate for Congress subject to the decision of the electors of the Twenty-eighth Congressional District of Pennsylvania, at the primary election to be held Saturday, June 4th, 1910. JOSEPH C. STANLEY, Franklin, Pa., February 21, 1910.

Work on the erection of the $140,000 memorial to the sons of Pennsylvania who fought in the battle of Gettysburg has been begun in earnest at Gettysburg. The tablet will contain the names of 22,000 Pennsylvanians as they appeared on the muster rolls on the night before the opening of the fight. The memorial will be dedicated on September 27th.

The Commissioner of Fisheries, William E. Meehan, will distribute cans of 12,000,000 trout fry to the streams of the state as soon as the weather opens up. He said he would order shipment of cans from the hatcheries as soon as the ice leaves the streams and the waters are normal. "The applications in hand call for about 12,000,000 fry," said Meehan. "Almost half the cans will be taken from the Curry hatchery. We will probably send 5,000,000 fry from that place. The Bellefonte hatchery will supply 4,000,000 and Spruce Creek the remainder." The Commissioner says that the streams have all been high this spring and that conditions were favorable for a good fishing year, although much will depend upon the weather in the next six weeks.

HON. N. P. Wheeler, who is now representing this district in Congress, is in Ridgway today meeting the people and looking after his interests for re-nomination to that office at the coming primary election. Mr. Wheeler is stopping at the New Hyde hotel and will be glad to meet and greet all who will call upon him. He is a very genial gentleman and makes friends wherever he goes. People admire him for his honesty of purpose and ability as a good, clean business man. He is a man of the people and knows the interests of this district well, as he is doing work for the people of this district that has never been surpassed by any man who ever represented us at Washington. Mr. Wheeler did not authorize this announcement as he is a modest man and shies from notoriety, but we know that there will be many who will be anxious to meet him if they learn he is in town, and we feel it a duty to our readers to let them know of this opportunity to meet their Congressman—Ridgway Record, 4th.

Dropped Dead in Her Brother's Arms.

Mrs. Ellen Ahlstrand, widow of the late John Ahlstrand, one of the oldest residents of Mill Village, Erie county, Pa., while answering a ring of the door bell at her home on Thursday evening, March 3, 1910, fell dead in the arms of her only surviving brother, J. B. Hunter, when he entered as she opened the door. Friends and relatives had been with her till 5 p. m. and at 6 p. m. Mr. Hunter called to see if she was as well as usual. Mrs. Ahlstrand's sister, Mrs. Hannah McCray, dropped dead while en route to Meadville on an Erie train on February 12th, from heart trouble. The shock of her sister's death, with her generally weak condition, doubtless had much to do with her sudden demise. Mrs. Ahlstrand, whose maiden name was Ellen Hunter, was a daughter of William and Sarah (Hauger) Hunter, of Tionesta, Erie county. She was born in Tionesta, Pa. on July 8, 1835, and was the thirteenth of a family of sixteen children, of whom only two survive, Mr. J. B. Hunter, of Mill Village, and Mrs. Martha Bitts, of East Hickory, Pa. She lived in Tionesta until 1865, when the family moved to Erie county and settled on the old homestead, one mile north of Mill Village, where her parents died. In 1878 she was married to John Ahlstrand and remained there until his death, when she sold the farm to Horace Burton and bought a home in the village, where she died. She was a good faithful Christian and will be greatly missed by all who have known her. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the interment was made in the village cemetery. Those present at the services from a distance were Mrs. Martha Bitts, Mrs. J. Albright, Homer Ball and Mrs. M. J. Hunter, of East Hickory; Judge John Higgins of Tidioute; Charles Hunter, George Monday, and Mrs. Henry Ambrurger, of Tionesta; Mrs. Beely, Mr. and Mrs. Plate, Mr. and Mrs. Brotherton, of Erie.

Redcliffe and Greenwood.

A little daughter arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Gould last week. Rev. J. E. McAby passed through Redcliffe Thursday on his way to Marienville. Alice Huling has been on the sick list the past week. Some of the girls are crowding the season by wearing white dresses already. Anna Gould returned home Sunday from a visit with her brother, Harvey Gould. Waid Irwin was over to Barton's Tuesday. Mark Barton was at Redcliffe Wednesday evening. Anna Fulton is working for her grandparents, Mrs. Cousins. Guy Leslie was in Marienville Tuesday. Carl Height, the Redcliffe mail carrier, has been unable to drive a horse to Marienville on account of such bad roads, so he walked and it makes us a little late in getting our mail. Lizzie Barton is visiting her aunt, Mrs. Lena Irwin. Harry Hostler is carrying the mail from Hottelville to Redcliffe. Arthur Huling has the Redcliffe post-office. Mrs. Waid Irwin was at Clarington last week. John Lewis was at Redcliffe last week. Leo Braden was at Barton's Wednesday and at the gas well.

Porkey.

Thomas Miller visited friends at Henry's Mills Saturday afternoon, returning home Sunday.—H. E. Gillespie attended auditors' settlement, Monday, at Lynch.—The S. & T. train is running on schedule time again, something we are all very glad to see as the overland route from Sheffield to Kelleetville was not of the pleasantest to people that were compelled to make the trip in a sleigh or on horseback. A walk through in a number of places on the road.—The people of Porkey are mourning the sad loss of their foot bridge, which was taken away during the flood. The large tree bridge was anchored to a stake with the bridge. The bridge will be rebuilt on higher ground as soon as the weather settles, although it will be some time before the bridge will be ready for travel.

Kelleetville.

Mrs. Scouten, of Clarion, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. J. Miller.—Mrs. Will Stover, and daughter, Phyllis, of Endeavor, are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shaffer.—Lillie Watson returned from Erie, Pa., Saturday.—Inez Hollamby, of Weston's Mills, is visiting at the home of Wm. Goode.—Mrs. W. Hartman and daughter, Nancy Morris, visited friends and relatives at Mayburg over Sunday.—Mrs. Geo. Slocum and children, of Endeavor, are visiting Mrs. Slocum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Watson.—Mrs. O. H. Wise, who has been visiting her daughter Mrs. Fred Atkins, of Mayburg, for several months, returned home Sunday.—Erna Donny spent a few days visiting relatives at Mayburg last week.—Mrs. Wanda, of Blandish, N. Y. is visiting friends and relatives in town.

A DISASTROUS FLOOD.

From Sunday evening until Friday morning Kelleetville was at the mercy of the waters and ice of Tionesta creek. The rise of the mercury and the heavy rains of Sunday released the ice in the creek. This was an unmistakable omen of coming disaster. Late in the evening of the Sabbath the waters began to rise and watchers were stationed on the bridge that spans the creek to keep the people in touch with the situation. Monday morning found the creek full to the top of its banks. All day the waters remained in this threatening attitude. Tuesday there was perceptible change. Early Tuesday morning a large gorge, located just above town, broke and in twenty minutes the main street was barricaded with ice from the hotel to the Wheeler tract on the north. Several large cakes came in contact with Dr. Davis' dental parlors and wrenched the building from its original shape, leaving it like a victim of a cyclone. For a time the fears of the people subsided; but the announcement of other larger gorges to follow brought consternation to all. About 1:30 p. m. a long series of toots from an S. & T. engine announced the coming of the Buck Mills gorge. Nearly all the inhabitants rushed to advantageous localities to witness the scene. They were not disappointed. Twenty minutes was allowed the watchers, then there was a grand scupper for home and the highland. At 3 p. m. the waters stretched from hill to hill, two to seven feet covered the thoroughfares of town. All the properties on the east side of the creek were flooded. For twenty hours the water did not vary six inches. Not until Thursday afternoon was the siege lifted, and we were permitted to travel on dry land. A recount of heads showed that no lives were lost. The loss to property was less than expected. Mrs. Andrews is the heaviest loser. Her loss is estimated at $1,000. Dr. Davis' loss covers from $300 to $500. The total loss will reach $2,500, not including the amount lost through the suspension of work. The basement of the M. E. church was flooded. This will prevent Sabbath services. The public schools were closed from Monday until Friday.

NOTES OF THE FLOOD.

The following are candidates for Carnegie medals: J. C. Miller, who was the first erected, proved too small for the growing needs of the church and in February, 1893, at a congregational meeting, it was decided to build an addition to the church to the west side of the present building. Accordingly a subscription paper was circulated and many subscribed for its erection. In addition to the new portion, the main auditorium was rearranged and the whole building given the appearance of a modern structure. The cost of this building was $2,850.00, all of which was paid or provided for previous to dedication. It was also under his pastorate that the Senior and Junior Endeavor Societies were organized. After the death of Rev. McAninch the church was without a pastor until May of the next year, 1903, when Rev. Ralph W. Illingworth was called to the pastorate. He served the church but a short time and was dismissed by his own request. Rev. P. J. Slonaker was then called to the pastorate and remained its pastor until Sept. 17, 1906, when he resigned to accept the pastorate of the Presbyterian church of Brockwayville, which he still serves with acceptance to the people. The church was again without a pastor, and on March 29, 1907, the present pastor, Rev. H. A. Bailey, was called from the pastorate of Co. (Catsburg) and accepted the call, arriving on the field April 1st of the same year.

ANOTHER CORRESPONDENT.

With the past few spring days which have opened up the season, everyone will soon be working again. The laundry has been humming along, continually, while the wood mill furnishes its quota of labor, and the mills will be yanking in the wet logs and converting them into dimension stuff ere this time has been set to type. The Catholic church has been so nearly completed as to render it ready for occupancy for services on Sunday, March 27. At the last services the pastor publicly thanked the school board who allowed the members to hold services in the school building. Mrs. Fred Scowden, of Shippenville, is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. J. Miller. Erna Donny spent the past few days with her parents at Mayburg. Mrs. Augusta Stover and daughter, Phyllis, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Shaffer. One of Clarence Jenkins' young sons was accidentally injured about the head by falling out of one of the tannery barns while playing with some other boys. He fell from the hay loft, a distance of about eight feet, striking on his face on the icy pavement. His condition is not dangerous but it will be some time before he fully recovers. Mrs. Miller returned home Saturday, after a week's visit at Oil City, Hickory, and Sheffield. Archie and Arch Lease are employed as firemen on the P. E. R. at Oil City. Steve West is also in the service of the same company as brakeman. Late flood notes as witnessed by your correspondent.—A Medley: Abe Weller ran the ferry on Main street, part of two days. It is some time since Abe has had much experience in this line, but he made good, however. Aside from bumping into a porch column or a picket fence, no serious trouble was encountered. Will Kribbs was one of the first to secure passage by boat. Will takes to water as naturally as a duck to a desert. All the occupants of the buildings along Main street vacated early and with the gas main broken total darkness reigned supreme, so far as the piped variety was concerned. Lanterns were as numerous as loafers around a country grocery on a rainy day. Pat Fleming was fearless, while John Olson walked most all the way from Sheffield to be present. Larry McNulty roosted on the water tank until the ice moved. Boyd Winans played such old tunes as "Irish Washerwoman," "Devil's Dream," "Arkansas," etc., while Vincent and Hays did some buck and wing dancing just to amuse the crowd. Dr. Serrill was deeply interested in the doings about the Kribbs home. Harry Denton wore his usual smile and felt very grateful that his loss was so light. Jake Ray was foreman of his stable boys. With a bag of oats and a bale of straw on his back he sat there until the water subsided. Frank Harkless made periodic trips to and from the drug store to see that all his stock was intact and was not too heavily watered. Will and John Silze boosted the goods in the Watson & Co. store which had reached the high water mark. Goods are now very high. Web Miller did not close his pool room, but at very short intervals during the high water all games were reduced. Both Dick Arnold and Darius Keese had their slack tubs refilled. Will Deter was chief cook at the hotel for a short time. Nine inches of water in the office caused Will to wear gum boots while serving meals. Wesley Whitehill lost his fence in the rear of his residence and also some of his buildings. Dr. Deter has been made richer by Mr. Whitehill's loss. No mail was changed in the postoffice from Saturday until Thursday. John Brennan is the only person to profit by the flood, he having secured a number of excellent pieces of furniture. Shaw & Rudy had their pool tables placed on chairs. This gives them a needed rest. Prof. Robbins remained perched on his front porch where he could witness proceedings, while the fun was constantly on the by. Win. Hendricks had nothing to do but watch results. Charles Russell was caught in the act of adjusting his toilet and, acting directly upon the floor, he hastening across the street to the Andrews store he quickly inserted himself into his trousers and mingled with ladies and gentlemen who had gathered there to be in the land of plenty. Secured one of the best one of Mrs. Andrews' delivery horses, while handsome Plimmer Wilson did a like service. Both resented Paul Ruffer, of old, so gallantly did he perform his duty. Brave boys' Clyde Wiser suffered from continued spell of sea-sickness. Perry Hill took to higher ground. Al. Orcutt never saw so much water before—in his residence. Clarence Jenkins is used to such condi-

Mayburg.

Miss Lodie Bitts of Pittsburg is visiting at the home of James Babb.—Miss Helen Paul returned to town Friday after a two-month absence.—A son was born Feb. 23rd to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Craft.—Wm. Richards was a Warren and Oil City visitor Wednesday and Thursday of last week.—Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Christy spent Monday morning.—The work on the mill has started up again and the men seem glad to get back to work.—The Free Methodist quarterly meeting was postponed indefinitely on account of the illness of the Elder, Rev. M. B. Miller, of Oil City.—Several of the young men of Kelleetville came up to attend church Sunday evening.—Mrs. Timothy Pedersen, who has had an attack of influenza, is able to be out again.—Mr. Erma Donny spent a few days at her home last week.—Mrs. Wm. Hartman spent Saturday and Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Stephen Steele.—Miss Sannie Morrow of Kelleetville spent Sunday at the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Horner.

THE NEW PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
