Announcements.

CONGRESS.
ENDAVOR, PA., Nov. 29th, 1909.
MY DEAR EDITOR:- You are hereby authorized to announce my name as a candidate for Congress in the Twenty-eighth Congressional District of Pennsylvania, subject to the rules governing the Primary to be held Saturday, June 4th, 1910.
NELSON P. WHEELER.

EDITOR FOREST REPUBLICAN:- Please announce that I am a candidate for Congress subject to the decision of the electors of the Twenty-eighth Congressional District of Pennsylvania, at the primary election to be held Saturday, June 4th, 1910.
JOSEPH C. SHELLEY.
Franklin, Pa., February 21, 1910.

THE Hon. Leslie M. Shaw says that Japan is determined to dominate the Pacific or make it run red. Somebody ought to lock Mr. Shaw and Capt. Hobson in a dark closet and see which one could see the other one to death.

A BILL was introduced into Congress on Monday of last week by Congressman Nelson P. Wheeler, providing for an appropriation of $100,000 for a federal building for Warren. One fifth, $20,000, is for the site and $80,000 for the building.

A PRESS dispatch from Washington says that the sale of envelopes by the government with return addresses printed on them is prohibited by an amendment adopted to the postoffice appropriation bill in the house. Advocates of the prohibition against the sale of printed envelopes claimed that the government had no right to enter into competition with private printers.

ONE day recently Andrew Carnegie, in the most casual sort of way, came across $3,000,000 which had been mislaid, and proceeded forthwith to hunt up a deserving charity to which to bestow it. We can realize how Andy felt when he made the discovery, as we once had a similar experience, that is to say, somewhat similar, -when we found a dime in an old last year's fishing outfit. -Oil City Bizzard.

HAVE YOU $34.87 in your pocket or in the bank? If you have not, then you are shy on the per capita circulation of money in the United States as shown by the books of the treasury department. The department in reaching this calculation, estimates the population of the United States at $9,888,000 and announces the amount of money in circulation on March 1 as $3,134,093,250. There is in circulation today $9,315,344 more than there was a year ago.

A DISPATCH from Harrisburg says that the supreme court of Pennsylvania has coincided with the opinion of the lower court, that the law against the use of automatic guns for hunting protected game is constitutional. The dispatch further says that it splices to "pump" guns, but this is not thought to be the case. It seems to local men that action was taken only against such guns as load and eject the shells when the trigger is pulled, instead of those that must be loaded by working a hand lever or pump, though this may not be the case. Former statements, however, seem to favor the assumption that pump guns may be used, though it may turn out that this is not the fact.

THE editor of one of our effervescent exchanges, who has evidently been investigating the high cost of living on his own book, pries himself loose from the following: In 1896 it took three dozen eggs to buy one pound of white sugar. Now one dozen buys six pounds of much better granulated sugar. In 1896 it took from six to eight pounds of butter to buy one gallon of ordinary coal oil. To-day one pound buys three gallons of much better coal oil. In 1896 it took two bushels of wheat to buy a common calico dress. To-day one bushel will buy two many dresses. In spite of this everybody blesses the farmer and damns the soulless oil, sugar and textile trusts.

People seem to forget that to prevent disease is half the battle. They live about any old way, and later call the doctor to mend results of ignorance in a minute, which have been years in the making. When the doctor inquires as to their habits, and suggests reformation along that line, they sometimes call another doctor who gives them a dose, which temporarily relieves them, and does not remove the cause of their trouble which of course appears again in a more severe form - but they simply say they are "sick again." How little sense most people possess after all! Did you ever think of it? It is really amazing. Nature is making them walk, barefooted, on the rocks of experience, but most of them learn very slowly, and many never. -Physical Culture for March.

CONGRESSMAN NELSON P. WHEELER, accompanied by Mr. C. A. Randall, of Tionesta, visited our city on Saturday last, calling on several of the business men in the interest of his canvass to succeed himself as national representative of this district. Mr. Wheeler is a most pleasing gentleman, a man who impresses those he meets with a confidence that he is a man of business affairs and straight-forward character, and a worthy representative of the intelligent citizenship of this district. During his tenure of this office we believe that he has made an effort to properly represent his constituents, and we know nothing to his discredit except his politics. Mr. Wheeler has visited the principal towns of the county as well as his district, and we understand he is to make another visit to us later in the spring, if his Congressional duties will permit it. He left here for Washington, D. C., to resume his duties on Monday. -St. Mary's Gazette.

ROOSEVELT AT KHARTOUM

Colonel and Kermit joined by Mrs. Roosevelt and Ethel.

Khartoum, March 15. - Colonel Roosevelt and his son Kermit, both looking as hard as nails and wearing khaki hunting suits, have arrived here. As he stepped ashore from the steamer that had brought him down the Nile, it was thought that the colonial wore a rather bored expression as he regarded the group of British officers that had gathered to greet him. Their black soldiers who formed a guard presented arms as the former president stepped on land. The scene was perhaps an unpleasantly abrupt reminder of the abandonment of primitive camp life for the formalities and conventions of the modern world. The incident, however, had no lasting effect. The colonel was fairly beaming with good nature and smiled broadly as he heard a battery of cameras click around him.

Slatin Pasha, inspector general of the Sudan, and other prominent British received and escorted Colonel Roosevelt and son to the palace of the sirdar, where numerous introductions were made. An hour later the two travelers crossed the Nile to meet Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Ethel. As the train pulled into the station Miss Ethel was looking out of a car window and Colonel Roosevelt and Kermit were alongside before the train came to a halt. They ran joyously along the platform shouting a greeting and waving their hats frantically.

Happy embraces and warm words of welcome followed. When the party alighted, all were conducted back to the palace. In an interview Colonel Roosevelt spoke repeatedly with the utmost enthusiasm concerning the trip which is drawing to a close. "I believe after all," he said, "that I am glad to be back. It was splendid while it lasted but it lasted long enough."

Every fan knows that Mathewson is the world's greatest baseball pitcher and he is a member of the New York Club. Several weeks ago the newspapers and magazines all over the country were printing articles about Mathewson writing a book and baseball enthusiasts have been looking forward to a great treat, but not participating in an opportunity of reading the story in a newspaper would be offered. However, The Pittsburgh Dispatch, ever on the alert for the "best always," surprises the public with the good news that it will enable everyone to read the great story before the book is put on sale. No fan should miss it and to be sure of reading it you had better notify your news dealer now.

A BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCH OF MRS. SARAH HUNTER.

BY HERSELF.

In 1830, December 9th, Martha Harriet Hunter was born. Also in this year Mr. Hunter sold his property and went back to live with his father and mother. He also bought the mill property for which he paid eleven hundred dollars, the payments to consist of one hundred bushels of corn and twenty-five dollars each year until the same was paid. Also this year disease visited us. Myself and nine children were sick with the measles. In 1833, November 5th, Nancy Hunter was born. In 1834 death entered our circle and took from our midst one that we loved, our little Nancy. In 1833, February 11th, James Hunter was born. In 1836, September 3rd, Hannah Hunter was born. In 1838, July 8th, Ellen Hunter was born. In 1841, April 22nd, Moses Hunter was born. In this year October 5th, father Hunter was laid away in the church yard at the good old age of eighty-two years, leaving us the large island for taking care of him during the last years of his life. In 1841 we built a two story house and moved into it in December. In it we had plenty of room for our family and the preacher as long as we lived there. In 1842, April 22nd, Isaac Hunter was born. We have now had the poor man's blessing and by this time my girls were large enough to help me and I put them to spinning. They all stayed at home and we all worked together. In 1843 I procured a loom so I did my own weaving and considerable for other people. Also in this year we built a large barn. In 1844 our boys built a saw-mill, the timber of which they rafted to Pittsburgh, in which place we often procured our groceries. In 1845 and 1846 nothing particular occurred. The boys kept the mill running, steadily pressing, pressing onward, all working together, doing the best we could. In 1847, September 18th, death with its icy hand took from our midst our little son Isaac, throwing its mantle of sorrow over all of our hearts. In this year Rev. John Abbott was our circuit preacher. In 1848 Rev. John Whippo preached in our circuit. Also in this year we made some improvements on our property. We took down the old grist mill and erected in its stead a new three story mill at the cost of about five thousand dollars, which may serve as evidence that through our persevering industry, we had steadily advanced in financial matters. In 1849 and 1850 our accumulations were used in relinquishing the mill obligation incurred for its erection. I went into the grist mill and helped what I could, besides attending to other household duties, and we were blessed and prospered. In 1852, December, death again entered our midst, filling our hearts with sorrow and our home with gloom, taking from our circle our daughter, Harriet, yet in due obedience to high heaven I could say with reverence to Him.

"Though cast down we are not forsaken, Though afflicted, not alone, Though midst give and then hast taken, Blessed Lord, Thy will be done." Time passed rapidly and we progressed favorably, as we could do for that part. In 1859 the great oil excitement broke out and spread in all directions. Our son, George, put down a well and was very successful. Also in this year we had very high water in our canal into our house, so that a canoe was run through our kitchen. In 1860 the oil excitement was still raging and our boys still worked their well. In 1861 Moses Hunter went into the army, leaving us to rear his three children and a son-in-law. In 1864 we sold our land property which consisted of the island and land bordering on the shore. For our island we received thirty-five thousand dollars and the one on the shore we received eleven thousand dollars. We then purchased a farm in Erie county, to which place we moved in December, 1864, bringing with us our money, forty-five thousand dollars, besides personal property consisting of cows, sheep and horses. We came to Richard Gregory's, whose kind hospitality we enjoyed for four days. We then moved to the shore where our grateful thanks and as this closes this brief sketch of one who, under a kind providence, has been permitted to contend with the hardships and privations, so incident to the first settlers of Western Pennsylvania when the early pioneer laid the axe to the lofty trees that frowned upon him, and built their lowly cabins, and who in her old age is able to look back through the mists of time, which comes between us, present and the past, and recall incidents of those early days, and see flowers spring up sending forth their fragrant odors, where in our youth the dense forest reared its tall and resolute to the ax of the settler and with heartfelt thanks to God for his kind care and protection, she expresses in the language of the divine,

"And now in age and grief, thy name, O, yet this bosom feels the fire, And bow my faltering knee, This trembling hand and drooping lyre Have yet a strain for Thee." That a due appreciation may be felt by her children for the advantages which they enjoyed and a regard for Him who directs and cares for us all is the earnest wish of SARAH R. HUNTER.

ATTACHED TO PRECEDING SKETCH.
