RAISING OF THE MAINE

State Department Has No Word From Spain on Matter.
Officers of State and Navy Departments Do Not Believe a Second Inquiry Will Add More Light on Subject—Project Would Cost About $500,000.

So far as could be ascertained the state department has had no information from the Spanish government that it intends to request a new investigation into the causes of the blowing up of the battleship Maine in the event of the wreck being raised. While officers of the state department decline to discuss the attitude of the United States if such a request is made it is known that both the state and navy departments will probably oppose a second formal investigation of the accident.

Shortly after the Maine was blown up a naval court of inquiry made a comprehensive study of the accident and decided that the Maine was destroyed by an external explosion. Officers of the state and navy departments believe that the investigation was complete and convincing and they do not think a second inquiry will throw additional light on the subject. The actual work of raising the Maine, however, will probably not be begun until congress makes an additional appropriation for the purpose.

In an official communication to congress several days ago, Brigadier General William L. Marshall, chief of engineers of the army who is instructed by the bill providing for the raising of the Maine to supervise the work of raising the wreck, pointed out that an appropriation of $100,000 was inadequate. General Marshall has estimated that it will cost at least $500,000 to remove the ruins of the battleship. He plans to construct coffer dams around the wreck, pump out, embed the remains of the sailors still embedded in the hull and examine the hull to see what would be necessary in the way of patching to make it float.

The court of inquiry into the blowing up of the Maine held that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a submarine mine which caused the partial explosion of two or more of her forward magazines. The officers and men of her crew were absolved from any responsibility. The court added that there was no evidence obtainable for fixing the responsibility for the destruction of the Maine upon any person.

KING EDWARD BURIED

Last Resting Place at Windsor, Near Father and Mother.
With bowed head and solemn countenance all England watched on Friday the taking of the body of its deceased sovereign to its last resting place at Windsor. Edward VII. rests now near his mother, Queen Victoria, and his father who died two score years ago. The ceremonious mournful pageant, that marked the conveyance of the royal remains, was unsurpassed in recent history, rivalling and in some respects surpassing that which saw the laying away nine years ago of the body of the great queen.

From Westminster hall, where the body of the sovereign had lain in state three days, to Paddington station and thence through the pleasant Middlesex country to Windsor, the route of the funeral procession passed through rows of somberly clad Englishmen, attending by their solemn demeanor the genuine sorrow they felt for the final passing of their king. It is a day of official mourning, to be sure, formally ordered by the dignitaries of the realm, but it is also a day of genuine, heartfelt sorrow among the populace. In that respect it resembles more the February day nine years ago when the last scene in the long drama of the life of Victoria the good was acted than those earlier days, of unhappy memory for England, when the people rejoiced almost openly over the death of some particularly scapegrace royalty. As Victoria was mourned, so is her son. The twenty miles from London to Windsor seemed to give forth an almost audible sigh as the train conveying Edward's body moved slowly to its destination.

The last touch of mediaevalism came when Sir Alfred Scott-Gatty, as Carter king of arms and therefore chief heraldic officer of Great Britain, under the earl marshal, announced in solemn, ringing tones that the last earthly scene dealing with "his most excellent majesty Edward VII., by the grace of God of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland and of the British dominions beyond the seas king, defender of the faith, emperor of India."

WORK MORE UNPOPULAR

Ex-Mayor Bookwalter Says Schools Educate Away From Labor.
Charles Brookwater, former mayor of Indianapolis, speaking before the United Typothetae of America in Washington on the subject of the future of the Winona Technical institute, declared that the tendency of the average American technical school was to educate boys away from work and not toward it. "The average American boy is getting to think it is dishonorable to work with his sleeves rolled up," Mr. Brookwater declared. "It's almost the same way with the girls. I hope to

HUMANITARIANS MAD

Protest Against Roosevelts Miscellaneous Killing of Animals.
Methods of the Hunter and Collector Mediaeval and Unintelligent—Lord Lonsdale Gives Luncheon to Colonel Roosevelt at Which a Number of Famous Hunters Were Present.

London, May 24.—A committee of the Humanitarian league has addressed an open letter to Colonel Roosevelt in regard to his Africa hunting expedition, protesting against the slaughter of animals. The league in its letter to the colonel says it deeply regrets that by the recent expedition, during which a large number of mammals and birds were destroyed for what were termed purposes of science but which we must think were primarily purposes of mere amusement, you have given worldwide encouragement to that senseless lust for slaughter which is misnamed sport, and that as the ex-president of the greatest republic in the world you have exhibited yourself as having no more humane or more rational form of recreation than the butchery of big game.

The letter concludes as follows: "At a time when it is immensely more important to the cause of science and moral for mankind to become acquainted with the minds of animals than with their hides and bones, you have done your utmost to retard thought by the glorification on a large scale of the mediaeval unintelligent methods of the hunter and collector."

LUNCHEON TO ROOSEVELT

Ex-President Meets a Large Number of Famous African Hunters.
London, May 24.—Lord Lonsdale gave a luncheon to Colonel Roosevelt and a number of famous hunters. Among the guests were Sir Frederick St. Louis, Sir Henry Seon-Karr, William A. Baillie-Grohman and a large selection of African hunters. The colonel took with him Seth Bullock and R. J. Cunningham. There was much hunting talk during the luncheon, which lasted until late in the afternoon.

Last night the colonel dined quietly at the home of Lieutenant Colonel Arthur H. Lee, former military attaché of the British embassy at Washington, where the Roosevelt family will spend the remainder of their visit.

The colonel's throat still needs attention and rest. Otherwise he seems thoroughly fit. Other guests were the Earl of Warwick, Lord Curzon, Lord Desborough and Sir Frederick Linsard.

On the way to the luncheon Colonel Roosevelt met Cunningham and Carlton in the street and he insisted that they enter the carriage with him and Seth Bullock. In this way they all drove to Lord Lonsdale's home where they were welcomed.

DELESSEPS' FLIGHT

Aviator Gives Up Attempt to Return Because of Wind.
Owing to a very stiff wind and a haze Jacques DeLesseps, the French aviator, who on Saturday crossed the English channel from Calais to Dover in a monoplane, decided not to attempt to make the return aerial flight. He went back to the French torpedo boat, which was detailed to accompany him on his flight to England, leaving his aeroplane to be packed and shipped home.

Dispatches from Calais state that when he arrived there the people gave him an enthusiastic reception.

BLESSING FOUND GUILTY

Jury Elects to Agree in Councilman George Schads' Case.
Dr. F. C. Blessing, the president of the common council of Pittsburgh, last week was found guilty of accepting a bribe. The jury was out 23 hours before reaching a verdict.

Councilman George Schads, who is also a member of the state legislature, tried for grafting in councils, was not convicted by the jury which took his case. The jury failed to agree and was discharged.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

Report on the Condition of Business by R. G. Dun & Co.
R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review says: The trade movement taking the country as a whole, continues large. Sentiment in iron and steel is more optimistic as a result of a broader demand for finished products, accompanied by increased interest in pig iron. New business has come forward most freely in the East where inquiries for about 35,000 tons are pending and fairly large contracts for Bessemer and basic iron have been closed in the Pittsburgh district. Conditions appear more favorable in finished steel lines now that the railroads and agricultural interests have resumed active buying of needed equipment. Good orders for rolling stock have been received and while demand for rails is chiefly for small lots, the aggregate tonnage taken is of quite large volume.

Commercial failures this week in the United States are 212 against 248 last week. Failures in Canada number 14 against 11 last week.

AFTER LITHIA BOTTLERS

Agricultural Department Claims Water is Not Up to Fixed Standard.
The pure food people are after the bottlers of several so-called lithia waters. One of the most widely known of these waters—one that has for years been prescribed by physicians—has been withdrawn from the market in the District of Columbia owing to threatened proceedings by the department of agriculture while reports from other cities indicate that it is impossible to buy some brands that were once on sale at many grocery stores.

REDMOND ON LATE KING

Deplores Check on Political Movement Made by His End.
John Redmond, the leader of the Irish parliamentary party, has broken his silence regarding the death of King Edward VII., which has been so adversely criticized. Addressing a meeting in Cork city, he deplored the check that would be placed on political movements by the king's death. That event he said must be regarded by Irishmen in two respects, personal and constitutional. He thought everybody in Ireland was sorry that King Edward was dead, from a personal aspect, adding: "He never showed any hostility to Ireland, an unusual thing in a British sovereign, and the general feeling in Ireland was that he was a frank, manly and friendly sovereign."

INSURGENTS VICTORIOUS

Revolutionists Elated Over Defeat of President Madrid's Army.
Washington, May 24.—Senator Salvador Carrillo, the representative of the revolutionary government of Nicaragua, was elated over the news that the insurgents had defeated the government troops near Rama. "This means," he said, "that Estrada will soon overcome the Madrid forces and that the latter will have to surrender. We now have them cut off from their supplies and they cannot last much longer."

JOHN DALZELL "INSURGED"

Denounced the Enlargement of the Powers of the Tariff Board.
Washington, May 24.—Representative John Dalzell of Pennsylvania, who has been in congress 23 years, broke a long record for regularity when he jumped the reservation and "insurged" against the provision in the sundry civil bill enlarging the powers of the tariff board. He bitterly denounced this provision in a speech.

The tariff board provision was under consideration throughout the day in the house. A point of order was made against it by Representative Fitzgerald of New York on the ground that it was new legislation and he was sustained. The amendment was then offered in a modified form by Representative Tawney, who is in charge of the pending bill. Mr. Fitzgerald made a point of order against the sub-provision. This will be argued today.

DANISH CABINET TO RESIGN

Radicals Defeated in Last Election on the Defense Question.
Copenhagen, May 24.—It is announced the cabinet will resign as soon as King Frederick returns from London where he went to attend the funeral of King Edward VII. The Radicals, who control the cabinet, were defeated in the elections on May 19 and therefore feel impelled to resign.

There have been three ministries in Denmark since the last election a year ago. The latest contest turned on the defense question and the Radicals, who wanted the defense bill of 1909 abolished or amended, were defeated. Premier Zahle and two of the ministers were elected but two other ministers were defeated. The result was: United left favoring the bill, 55; Right, 12; Radicals, 20; Socialists, 24.

17 People Injured in Train Wreck.
Washington, May 24.—A special passenger train on the Southern railway running north from Atlanta and as the second section of No. 19 was wrecked between Catlett and Calverton, Va. Four sleeping cars were derailed and 17 people injured more or less seriously.

CALLS CHICAGO WIFE TYRANT

J. J. McGrath's Plaintiff Wins Him Decree in Reno.
Reno, Nev., May 24.—James J. McGrath, formerly a well known business man of Chicago, after relating a story of tyrannical abuse and systematic vilification extending through a period of two years, previous to last October, by his wife, Louise McGrath, whom he married at her parents' home in Chicago, June 6, 1906, was granted divorce decree.

McGrath declared that not only did his wife call him vile names when there was no occasion for it, but she repeatedly falsely accused him of being familiar with other women. This conduct was begun within about sixteen months after their marriage and kept up until October, 1910, when he was compelled to leave her. He deeded a house and lot in Chicago valued at $4,000 to his father-in-law for his wife's benefit, and in other ways did all possible for her.

SYMPATHY FOR KING GEORGE

Innumerable Messages From Beyond Sea Touched His Heart.
London, May 24.—King George has issued the following: "To my people beyond the seas—innumerable messages from my people beyond the seas have touched my heart and assured me that I have in full measure their sympathy in the great trial which has befallen me and them; that my sorrow is their sorrow; and that we share a common loss. The happiness of all his people, throughout his dominions, was dear to the heart of my beloved father. For them he lived and worked and, as in their services he died, I cannot doubt that they held his name in grateful remembrance."

"I am now called to follow in his footsteps and carry on the work which prospered in his hands. As a sailor I have been brought into constant touch with the overseas dominions of the crown and have personally realized the affectionate loyalty which holds their lands of diverse peoples in one glorious fellowship."

TRACKMEN ON STRIKE

Slight Reduction in Pay Causes a Walkout of 200 Men.
Pittsburgh, May 24.—Effort to slightly reduce the pay of all trackmen in the Pittsburgh district of the Pennsylvania railroad lines west of Pittsburgh rather than discharge some has resulted in a strike and the lines of the Pennsylvania west of Pittsburgh are without the services of trackmen. About 200 angry trackmen refused to return to work. The trouble began Saturday afternoon when about 200 of the trackmen were notified that Saturday hereafter would be a half holiday without pay until further notice. The men rebelled at this order. Effort to resume work at many points with new men resulted in unpleasantness from the workmen and repair work is at a standstill.
