 —County Treasurer Geo. W. Holeman desires to give notice that ten per cent. will be added to all mercantile taxes remaining unpaid after July 1st. This is required by law and all persons concerned should govern themselves accordingly.
 —The common whortleberry, or huckleberry, as it is frequently called, may be dried in the shade, then placed in paper bags and kept for winter use. It will be found a very acceptable substitute for raisins.—From Woman's Home Companion for July.

—Rev. Dr. Charles W. Bowtell, of Philadelphia, Secretary of the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal church, will preach in the Nebraska M. E. church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock and in the Tionesta church Sunday evening at 8 o'clock.

—The Neilltown Cemetery Association will meet on Friday, June 24th. All interested in the work of the association are requested to come and to bring a contribution.
 —At a school meeting on June 18, the directors of Howe township elected their teachers for the coming term with the following results: Brookston same as last year, Kate Guenther, Grace Jaycox and Della Sutton; Watson Farm, E. G. McCurdy; Frost, Percy Dodds; Lynch, Neil Kuselman; Hastings, Catherine Mohney; Cooper Tract, — Ellis; Shortell, Anna Allaire; Purkey, Lena Anderson. The wages were left the same as last year, excepting one of the Brookston rooms, where there was a raise given.
 —The Jenks township school board, in a meeting held yesterday, elected the following teachers for the ensuing year: Marienville, Principal, W. N. Strawbridge, of Erie county; first assistant principal, Juliana Clark; second assistant principal, Miss A. A. Walker; No. 8, J. C. Beck; No. 7, room dropped; No. 6, Charles Kendall; No. 5, Katherine Mohney; No. 4, Jennie Murphy; No. 3, Edith Austin; No. 2, Jennie Wilton; No. 1, Mildred Russell; Gilfoyle, Maude White; Byrontown, Bessie Songer; Nickolas, Clara DeSmit; Duhring, Grace Deitrich; Eldridge, Gladys Sutton; substitute teacher, Mabel Walker. The schools will open August 22 for a term of nine months. The tax levy is 13 mills for school purposes and 5 mills special.

—Sam Anderson of Stewart Run brought in the daddy trout of the season Monday. It measured 20 inches and tipped the scales at seven pounds. The trout was of the rainbow species and was taken by Mr. Anderson out of Pit-hole creek, not far from his home. But this was only a baby compared to the one Sam and his brother captured in the same stream a few days prior. This one measured over 27 inches and weighed eight and a quarter pounds. The story is verified by several witnesses who saw the monster fish weighed and measured. It also was a rainbow trout. Many years ago this stream was lavishly stocked with these fish and but few were ever caught. With the exception of chubs few if any other species of fish are seen in this stream.
 —We are glad to learn of at least one small oasis in this vast expanse of trout-bitten territory, where the prospects for the usual crop yield is fairly good. The Derrick reports that James R. Clark, of the South Side, has returned from a trip into Clarion county and reports the astounding fact that neither the people nor the crops of that favored section of the earth knew anything about a recent frost. While this section was in the throes of one Clarion county escaped without the slightest vestige of anything resembling frost. Consequently the fruit, wheat and corn and other crops are just now at their finest and the outlook for a great harvest is fine. Speaking through the vista of long years Mr. Clark states that the old limestone growing belt of Clarion county never looked better than at the present time.

—Although the season for game fish has been on for a full week, the market has not been so overstocked with the finny tribe as to cause a glut that anybody's head of. A few of the wary bass and salmon have been taken, to be sure, but the real fun has not yet begun. Bass are not through "nesting" yet, which is quite unusual, as they have closed business in that line heretofore by the first week in June at the farthest. However, this is an unusually backward season in all commodities, and unless there is a radical change in weather conditions, and that instanter, we'll not be short on fish only, but "roasting ears" as well as every other species of garden truck. It's all chargeable to the weather man, too. But he's doing better now, having furnished a number of genuine sizzlers in the past few days.

To Protect the Game and Fish.
 A meeting of citizens interested in the propagation and protection of fish and game was held last Thursday evening, and after some discussion an organization was effected by electing the following officers: President T. F. Ritchey; vice president, Joseph W. Landers; secretary, Russell J. Hopkins; treasurer, Howard Kelly; captain, J. Albert Lawrence. The name adopted is the Forest County Fish and Game Protective Association, and it is intended to be an auxiliary to the State association having for its aim the same object, the protection of the fish and game of this section, and the enforcement of the laws relative to the same. An enrollment paper has been prepared and is being signed by everyone who is in the least interested in propagation and protection of fish and game in Forest county, as it is a county wide association, and it is hoped to enlist the aid and support of every citizen who believes that the laws relating to the same should be rigidly enforced, to the end that, instead of wiping out the fish and game of our noble little county altogether, it shall be made to increase and flourish, and under the law, furnish sport and recreation for those who would enjoy an occasional day afield or on our beautiful river and mountain streams. The association is to be made a terror to the game hog, the spot hunter, the dynamiter and the law infractor generally, and to insure clean and decent sport to those who enjoy it. The invitation to join is to every person who believes in these principles and is willing to uphold them. The more who join the better. Let everybody enroll and make it a strong organization. The enrollment fee has been placed at 50 cents, and the annual dues 50 cents.
 The motto of the new organization is, or should be, "clean sport and an abundance of fish and game," and if everybody does, or is made to, observe the law, this happy consummation will be the inevitable result. See the secretary, Russell Hopkins, and enroll your name.

RECENT DEATHS.
WEAVER.
 Mrs. Margaret Weaver, aged 67 years, relict of the late Conrad Weaver of Clarion county, died at her home, No. 11 Stone street, Oil City, Wednesday morning, June 15, 1910. She had been an invalid for the past four years and bore her sufferings with great fortitude. The deceased was born in Fryburg, Clarion County, in January, 1843, and was married to Mr. Weaver May 14, 1873. Her husband's death occurred 23 years ago. She moved to Oil City with her family 10 years ago, which had since been her home. She was the mother of five children, and the step-mother of our townsman Andrew Weaver. Mrs. Weaver was a member of St. Joseph's R. C. church of Oil City. The body was conveyed to Fryburg where funeral services were held Saturday morning, with interment in St. Michael's cemetery.
HEPLER.
 Philip Andrew Hepler was born at Wolf's Corners, Clarion county, Pa., Dec. 23, 1872, and died in the afternoon of June 19, 1910, after an illness extending over a period of nearly two years, of tuberculosis.
 The deceased was a son of William and Margaret (Wolf) Hepler, and made his home with his mother on the old homestead in Tionesta township, his father having died about 8 years ago. He had been a member of the M. E. church from early manhood and lived a consistent Christian life to the end, bearing at all times the high esteem of his neighbors and all who knew him. For a number of years "Andy," as he was familiarly known here, resided in Tionesta, being a trusted clerk in the store of G. W. Robinson. October 14, 1906, he was united in marriage with Miss Caroline Belle Jones, who preceded him to the grave three years ago. He leaves surviving, his mother, two sisters and three brothers, namely, Mrs. R. W. Ledebur of Starr, Mrs. Harry Smith of Titusville, Reed C. Hepler of Shippensburg, Pa., Milton J. of Youngstown, Ohio, and Howard N., of Brockwayville, Pa.
 Funeral services in his memory were held yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, at Washington M. E. church, of which he was a member, Rev. M. B. Riley, assisted by Rev. E. L. Monroe and Rev. S. Timmis officiating. Interment in the cemetery connected with the church.

American Girl Captivates London Music Lovers.
 The following account of a notable musical affair relates to the daughter of a former Tionesta lady, Mrs. Kate Cobb Dunn, whose many friends here will read it with much interest and pleasure:
 The many admiring friends of the late Dr. Thomas D. Dunn, will be gratified at hearing that his only child, a daughter, Miss Rachel Dunn, is winning a prominent place in England for her accomplishment as a performer on the piano-forte. On May 23, in Bechstein Hall, London, she made her first public professional appearance to a large and thoroughly refined and appreciative audience. The recital was announced for May 11, but owing to the manifest interest in the death of King Edward, it was postponed until the 23d, when in spite of the gloom and mourning Miss Dunn's announcement attracted a large number of interested people of that great city. The bill announcing the recital speaks of the occasion as being her "first appearance in England," and it is beautifully illustrated with a portrait of the young woman, taken from a painting made recently by a noted Australian artist. Tickets were placed at three prices, ranging from ten shillings, six pence, to two shillings, two pence each. The choice entertainment met with favor at the hands of the musical critics of the leading newspapers of London, the following notice being in part evidence of their appreciation of the high attainments of the fair American performer, a West Chester girl, who, with her mother, has been in Europe for several years:
 (London Morning Post, May 24.)
 A first appearance in England was made at the Bechstein Hall last evening by Miss Rachel Dunn, a pianist with an artistic equipment of a very much higher order than is general. It is not difficult to anticipate a great deal for Miss Dunn. The tone gradation of her playing is of great extent, but it is always kept within bounds of consideration for the sensitiveness of her audiences' ears and is invariably musical and always individual. Her technical command is good, and the occasional want of clear definition in her playing was due probably to temporary causes which experience will teach her to keep under control. The nature of her sympathies was indicated by the fact that she placed Schumann in the form of eight of the Fantaisies at the head of her programme and Brahms and Beethoven in succession, represented by the B minor Rhapsodie and the Sonata Op. 2, No. 3, respectively. Three Chopin numbers followed and the scheme was closed with a very interesting group consisting of examples of Poldini, Norman O'Neill, Schytte, Arthur Hinton and MacDowell. Her attitude to all these works was musical-ly like in its comprehension of the meaning and in the fidelity of its interpretation, and it was made clear that in Miss Dunn is found a new pianist who is entitled to the fullest consideration.
