held a reunion at Kennedell Thursday, August 7. Friends and acquaintances are invited to attend.
—Since Joe Scowden and Jim Davis have each caught a fish within the past week we will say that they (the fish) are getting to be a comparatively easy proposition.

—The Clarington Sawmill Company has taken the contract to saw all the timber remaining on Millcreek, for A. Cook Sons Co., and the mill is now being moved from Clarington to Millcreek. It will take about two years to cut out this lumber. Cook's mill was burned recently.—Clarion Republican.
—"Our reports from all over the state show that there will be only about a half crop of apples in Pennsylvania this year," said Doctor Surface, State Economic Zoologist, in Harrisburg yesterday. Frosts last spring injured the trees in the western and northwestern counties and the yield will be larger in the eastern counties.
—Tionesta Lodge, No. 369, I. O. O. F., will observe its sixty first anniversary by holding a big harvest home picnic on the court house lawn, Saturday, Sept. 10, to which a general invitation is extended. Prominent speakers will be on hand and a program of popular amusements is being worked out, the details of which will be announced later.
—Fred Anderson, a teamster employed on the street paving job, got his left thumb caught in the cogs of a dump wagon last Friday, with the result that the end of the thumb was about severed. Dr. Boyard sewed the piece on again and thinks the member will be as good as new. Mr. Anderson showed his pluck by sticking to his job and never losing an hour's time.
—The Library of the Look Haven State Normal School is well selected, accurately catalogued and the books are easily accessible. The library rooms are said to be handsomer than those of any other school library in the state. The remarkable success of the school's debating team in the inter-normal debates is due, in a large measure, to the library. Write for the school's handsome catalogue. It —Thomas Shaffer, of Meadville, was arrested at that place Saturday by Sheriff Maxwell, on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. He was brought here and at a hearing Monday before Squire Randall was held for court under $200 bail. He is now in jail. He was employed as a finisher of curbing on the street paving job here and sold a set of tools to contractor Harry Putnam, and afterwards vanquished with the tools.
—The work of the Look Haven State Normal School is, primarily, to prepare teachers for the public schools. In this work, it has been eminently successful. Its graduates to-day are college professors, normal school teachers, county superintendents, high school and grade teachers. It also maintains a college preparatory department, and departments of Music, Elocution, Art, and Business. The fall term opens September 6th. Send for illustrated catalogue. It —After killing his faithful dog, shaving off his mustache and beard, which he had worn for many years, taking a bath and kissing his wife in a most affectionate manner, Elwin White, aged 60 years, Saturday afternoon walked nine miles from his home at Tionesta, near Titusville Pa., to Sugar Lake. There he hired a boat, rowed out into the middle of the lake and jumped overboard. His body has not been recovered. Nothing that would explain the man's suicide or his strange acts during the afternoon has yet come to light.
—Samuel Felton, for several years past located at Tulsa, Okla., sent his mother, Mrs. Wm. Felton, a basket of peaches gathered from his own orchard that beat anything yet seen in this latitude. The editor of the REPUBLICAN was remembered in the divide by Mrs. Felton, and the specimen was something away out of the ordinary in lusciousness and flavor, and weighed just one-half pound. Sammy has disposed of more than $300 worth of this fine fruit from his orchard this season, yet the crop was not above the ordinary for that section.
—Postmaster Jamieson, the Presbyterian parsonage, and J. B. Hagerty are fronting their properties with new flag stone and cement walks. With the completion of these improvements Elm street, from James Landers' property to the upper end of Riverside cemetery, will be practically supplied on either side with substantial stone or cement sidewalks, a distance of more than a mile. Wooden walks are a thing of the past in Tionesta, and so are muddy streets since the completion of paving operations. Thus is there an end of our troubles in that respect.
—Three boys, Leo Rapp, aged 13, Emile Jacobs, aged 11, Walter Sloan, aged 9, were instantly killed at Emmenton, Monday, when a light wagon in which they were riding was struck by a fast passenger train on the P. R. R. Two other boys, Elgy Weller and Harold Porterfield, jumped from the wagon and escaped. The Rapp boy was the son of Andrew Rapp, the well known oil producer, and was a cousin of Andrew Weaver, of this place. About a month ago the Rapp barn was struck by lightning and burned. Leo was in the barn at the time and one of his shoes was torn off by the bolt. He was uninjured. The horse, which was also killed in the accident Monday, was rescued with difficulty from the burning barn.
—The REPUBLICAN desires to acknowledge receipt of the 1910-11 catalogue of the Northwestern State Normal School, Edinboro, Pa. The catalogue is finely illustrated, and gives the information which young people who want to prepare to teach need to know. The fall term opens September 6. The catalogue gives very clear explanation of the work of preparing teachers. It will prove helpful to any person interested in teaching, or who wishes to prepare to teach. The State pays the tuition at Normal Schools. This assistance affords special opportunity for young people, particularly for those who must economize in getting an education. A copy of the catalogue will be sent to any reader of this paper who wishes it. Send to the school for it.
—When you hear a man running down his home paper or any other local industry, take a good look at him. Ten to one he will have a chin as long as a rail, an eye as restless as a horse thief, and he will hitch around in his chair as though he had a touch of St. Anthony's dance. Talk with him awhile and you will discover that he has made a failure of everything he ever tried (except being disagreeable), and nine times out of ten he is dependent on the public for favors or support; you will find him of a meddlesome, peevish, jealous, hateful, unreliable nature; a man who is always complaining, and although he has but little, if anything, of his own, one would imagine to hear him talk that he had a quitclaim deed to the earth and a first mortgage on heaven. He knows everybody's business, and why shouldn't he? He has none of his own to take up his time. Such people, like mosquitoes, were not created in vain, perhaps, but one fact remains staple, they do not add materially to the pleasure of conducting legitimate business.—Lewisburg Saturday News.
