SECOND CRANK CAUGHT

Wanted to See President Taft About Pension Matter.

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 16.—The secret service men who guard President Taft captured their second crank of the summer. To the Beverly police he gave the name of James F. O'Connor.

He wanted to see Mr. Taft, he said about a pension matter. He declared that he was responsible for the recent newspaper stories predicting a reorganization of the Republican party. O'Connor, according to the authorities has spent a couple of years in the Massachusetts state farm for the same.

President Taft had practically no political discussions yesterday. In the morning he played golf with Representative Longworth at Myopia and in the afternoon he saw Judge D. D. Woodmansee of Cincinnati and Leonardo Osorio, a former governor of one of the provinces of the Philippines. Mr. Osorio was a leader in the Philippines in the fight for independence. The president said he was still interested in that subject but did not think it would come for a great many years. He said he hoped to get over the islands during the present administration.

Judge Woodmansee expressed the belief that the Republican would carry Ohio.

DIDN'T KNOW HIM.

He Was Not in the Colored Porters' Hall of Fame.

A notoriety noted for the liberality of his lips stopped at a Baltimore hotel where negro porters predominated. His name was speedily known to every member of the serving fraternity and his every wish anticipated. Soon after his arrival he sent his card to a friend who made his home in the hotel, but whose temperament happened to be quite the opposite of that of his open handed caller—refusing, not given to "tipping" or any other form of sociability and who therefore lived almost unknown to those about him.

The old dandy who received the card studied it for a full minute.

"Seize me, colonel," he said, "but I don't believe nobody by that name come here dis mornin'."

"This mornin'?" returned the other.

"Of course not! Mr. Blank has lived here for months. You know my name well enough, and I haven't been here a day. Do you mean to say you can't remember a man who has made his home here since some time last winter?"

"Seize me, colonel, sah," began the old man deferentially, "but you must know, sah"—as if uttering the subtlest compliment—"dat dere's gemmans what can make demsels more notorious in one day, sah, dan odder gemmans does in a year, sah!"—Youth's Companion.

That Headache!

"This is such a beautiful treat," said the inebriated man at the matinee where they went on her pass, "that I want to take you to dinner afterward if my headache gets better."

"Is your headache getting better?" she asked him after the second act.

"It's terrible," said he. "I can hardly see."

After the third act she again approached the subject. "How does your headache seem to be getting?" she queried solicitously.

"Worse and worse," he frowned.

When the performance was over he held his head with both hands. "My head aches so," he moaned, "I'm afraid I'll die of it."

"I knew it," said she as they walked on home.—New York Press.

HIS AUTO RAN AWAY

Philadelphia Repairing Machine Is Deserted Suddenly.

Philadelphia, Aug. 16.—When the power on the machine of H. G. Tie-man gave out he found that the engine refused to spark, and got under the car with his monkey wrench and other tools. He tinkered for a while and he found that the whole trouble lay in the fact that one of the wires that feeds the ignitions had been disconnected.

He gave a twist to the broken ends and suddenly found himself looking up into the bright blue sky, with several scratches on his body and a sense of "goneness."

Looking around, he saw the car dashing up the street with a bicycle policeman in pursuit. After a short spurt the copper caught up with the machine, climbed in and shut off the power.
