Young Girl Stenographer of Sar Francisco Died of Operation.

Trained Nurse, Who Has Acted For a Year as the Doctor's Assistant Made a Full Confession to Police Declared that Paul H. Parker, Well known Stanford Graduate and Prom inent Athlete, Was Responsible For Miss Swan's Condition.

The police of San Francisco, Cal. have secured postive legal evidence of the gullt of Dr. James Grant in causing the death of Miss Eva Swan the young stenographer, whose mutilated body last April was crowded in to a trunk and buried under the base ment of a lonely cottage in Mission district.

Marie Messerschmidt, the trainer rurse, who for a year has acted as Dr Grant's assistant, made a full confes sion to the police. She told a straight story. She said: "Eva Swan had made two visits to Dr. Grant's office before she came for the operation. On the tenth day after the operation she died. "Dr Grant was in a state of great alarm, but decided that the body must be removed promptly and he swore both me and Willis Saack, the office boy, to secrecy, declaring we were all in one bost. Then he fetched a trunk from upstairs and began sawing the bones of the dead girl's legs, so he could crowd the corpse into the trunk, "He went about this work as though he was butchering an animal and it made so great an impression on me that I fainted. When I came to, the doctor was chaffing my hands, I told him I could not help him as I could not stand the sight of blood so he told me to go home and brace up. "I don't know when the body was removed. All I know is that when I came back two days later the trunk was gone.'

The nurse also declared that Paul H. Parker, the wellknown Stanford graduate and prominent athlete, was responsible for Miss Swan's condition and was present during the operation which resulted fatally.

When the news was broken to Dr. Grant in his cell that Miss Messerschmidt had confessed all about the girl's death and the placing of the body in the trunk, he broke down and had a regular hysterical attack. He sobbed an mouned and declared the woman had sent him to his death. The only way in which Dr. Grant can stop the mouth of this nurse is to marry her as his predecessor, Dr West, did in the famous case of Addie Gilmour, the girl who was done to death under the same circumstances and whose case at the time attracted widespread interest.

Roosevelt and Sherman Enthusiastically Received.

Delegates Cheer All Prominent Men Who Appear In the Hall or on the Platform-Chairman Griscom Favors Henry L. Stimson For Governor, Putting Congressman Bennett Out of the Running, Unless Sherman, Sarnes and Wadsworth Decide to Support Him-Candidates For Other State Offices Are a Little Shy.

Saratoga, Sept. 27 .- The Republican state convention opened here in the Convention hall today at noon, with a feeling of intense excitement prevalling on all sides.

The delegates and alternates were early on the scene of their labors. A great deal of discussion took place on the floor of the hall, one delegation buttonholing the other in an attempt to gain their votes for their side of the house

Workers on both sides were in an exhausted state when the hour to convene was reached, and no one at that time seemed able to definitely state who had succeeded in garnering the most votes from the uninstructed delegates.

Roosevelt and Sherman Cheered. Colonel Roosevelt and Vice President Sherman divided the honors of the convention. Mr. Roosevelt, when his presence was noticed by the delegates, received an ovation, the like of which has never before been heard or seen in Saratoga,

The very walls seemed to shake and quiver from the immense volume of sound that emanated from the crowded mass of humanity that had wedged and jammed itself into the hall. Tae colonel graciously bowed and smiled his acknowledgments of the ovation.

Vice President Sherman was also greeted in hurricane fashion, the old guard doing themselves proud in their reception to their leader. Round after round of cheers and handelapping were given when "Sunny Jim's" smiling countenance was detected by the now hilarious delegates.

Especially noticeable was the recen tion accorded him by the large delegation from Oneids county and Utica. Mr. Sherman bowed and smiled, as only Mr. Sherman can, and quiet was restored only for a minute, to break out again with cheers and handelapping when some wellknown face appeared on the platform or among the delegates doing yeoman's service for his faction.

Rollcall of Delegates.

The roll of the delegates was called. and prayer was delivered by the Rev. Joseph Carey of Saratoga Springs. Lafayette Gleason of Delhi, clerk of the senate and secretary of the state committee, read the official call, as following the usual custom.

Timoth L. Woodruff, chairman of the state committee, and whose removal is demanded by Mr Roosevelt: Lloyd Griscom, president of the New York county committee, and Mr. Greiner, the Buffalo leader, presided at the opening of the convention following the usual precedent. Prolonged cheers and hand-clanning greeted Mr. Woodruff from the socalled "old guard." who constituted the following of Vice President Sherman, when he arose from the speaker's table.

Soon came the calling of the roll of the question of the temporary chairmanship of the convention, around which point the fight centered and the bitter party warfare of the last few weeks came to a climax.

Could Colonel Roosevelt elect himself temperary chairman and control the convention in all its workings? Would a radical direct primary plank be inserted in the party platform? These were the two leading topics discussed by the 1,015 delegates, and on them, it was universally agreed. rested the fate of momentous party questions that will arise in the near future. The Republican nomination for the presidency in 1912, the prospects of an unqualified indorsement of President Taft's administration, the control of the state committee, which dominates the party in New York, the retention of the convention system of nominating in the state, the political future of many preminent public men. These constitute the leading questions concerned in the admitted imbroglio in which the G. O. P. came to time the convention was called to or-

The Opening Scenes.

The events leading up to the opening of the convention were interesting and portentious to an advanced degree. The leading chieftains of both the progressives and the old guard arrived the day before, and planned secretly their campaigns.

At the hend of the Roosevelt cam naign were Lloyd C. Griscom, Greiner, Naval Officer Kracke of Brooklyn, the foe of Woodruff; State Superintendent of Prisons Cornellus C. Collins of Troy, Senator Hinman of Binghamton. Otto T. Bannard, who ran against Gaypor for mayor of New York; Congressmen Cocks of Nassau, Parsons and Bennett of New York, Fassett of Chemang: Senators Newcomb and Agnew of New York and Rose of Orange county.

up as follows: Vice President Sher- offered to me," he said.

man, who arrived Monday morning, full of fight; Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Jr., of Albany; Chairman Woodruff, Lou Payne of Columbia county, Hendricks and Ray Smith of Onondaga; Congressman Malby and Edwin A. Merritt, Jr., of Lawrence.

Colonel "Abe" Gruber of New York headed the anti-Roosevelt delegation from the metropolis.

The temper of the opposing side was early shown by the statements. Otto T. Bannard, for Mr. Roosevelt: The colonel positively will not with draw in favor of any third person." Vice President Sherman: "I am to

I came here for," William Barnes, Jr.: "There will be no quitting so far as my friends are concerned.

Lloyd C. Griscom: "The Issue is clean cut and there will be no compromise.

Griscom Favors Wimson.

Mr. Griscom, chairman of the Re publican county committee of New York, decided against Congressman Bennett and in favor of Stimson as his candidate for governor. This puts Bennett out of the running, unless Sherman, Barnes and Wadsworth decide to support him. The Republican state committee by a vote of 22 to 15 affirmed its choice of Vice President Sherman as temporary chairman of the Republican state convention. This is a gain of two votes over the previous vote. The committee members voted 22 to 15 that Mr. Griscom's charges of trickery and deceit in the original selection of Mr. Sherman were false and unfounded in fact. The party chieftains of both sides have their encampments in the cele brated "Cottage Row" of the United States hotel, while the other leaders and their satellites, delegates, etc., for the most part live in the hotel proper just across the green sward court. All day and all night conferences are held, and confidential representatives of the "big men," flit to and fro on their mysterious errands. Unexpectedly the rivalry between the Roosevelt and Sherman forces breaks out-as witness the occur rences of yesterday, when in the afternoon Vice President Sherman was ferced by his enthusiastic followers to make a speech in the courtyard of the United States hotel, and about two hours later a Roosevelt parade was organized, led by a brass band, and the band played "The Gang's All Fiere," and other timely melodies, including one with words as follows: 'Has anybody here seen Teddy?

T-E-double D-Y. Has anybody here seen Teddy,

Teddy from Oyster bay?" The progressive or Foosevelt side contemplates the reorganization of the entire state organization, if such a task be possible of accomplishment.

The list of possibilities for the new state chairman is small, and there has been a great deal of effort made to reach a decision of that problem. It is conceded by all the progressives hat the candidate for governor should be allowed virtually to select men who will have the responsibility for cunning his campaign.

Besides Mr. Bannard, three upstate men have been talked about. They are Colonel John T. Mott of Oswego John W. Dwight and Cornelius Collins

To Enlarge State Committee. One development was a suggestion carefully discussed among the progressives of enlarging the state com mittee to 150 members, elective by the voters directly at the primaries, Most of the leaders seem to favor this change. It is their opinion that It could be made by the adoption of a resolution in the state convention, and no new legislation would be necessary. This was a feature of both the direct nominations bills introduced at the last legislative ression and the Meade-Phillips bill, the machine's 'primary reform" measure, 'Therefore, the progressive leaders figure that there should not be a great deal of opposition to it if it is decided on v them.

The boom of Congressman William S. Bennett of New York city, who so far appears to be the only man who is anxious to have the Republican nomination for governor this fall, re celved added impetus from the arrival in town of the candidate himself. He got a warm reception from his friends and was escorted to his headquarters, which have been open for two days,

There are Bennett flags and butons everywhere, and the goulal face of the congressman peers at the delegates from nearly every tree and post in town and out of every nook and corner of the United States hotel.

His workers are very active and are talking most hopefully. They lay find itself in the Empire state at the a great deal of emphasis on their contention that the congressman would be acceptable to both the warring factions. It was also openly stated that Otto T. Bannard is taking a great deal of interest in the Bennett boom. He is recognized as the representative of President Taft at the convention. It is generally conceded that things look rather bright for Mr. liennett.

Other Gubernatorial Possibilities. The other men whose names have een mentioned as possible nominoes-Seth Low, President Jacob G. Schurman of Cornell university, Controller Prendergast of New York city and Henry L. Stimson-have not talked for publication since they arrived. Fred C. Stevens of Attica, state superintendent of public works, whose

Sixteen People Killed When Rock

Island Bridge Collapses. Sixteen persons are known to have ost their lives, probably others killed and their bodies washed away, and eleven injured is the result of a terrible wreck which occurred on the Rock Island railroad two miles east of this place at an early hour Friday morning when a fast train on the Rock Island ran through an open bridge into 20 feet of raging water.

Nine of the dead have been identified while seven are yet unknown. Yet others may have been washed away by the torrent. The stream which wrought the destruction is at ordinary times simply a dry arova with no water, but with its tremendous rain fell and the dry bed was soon filled up to the brim with a wild torrent.

The bridge itself was quickly brok en up and carried away, Shortly after I o'clock in the morning, while the storm raged, the fast passenger train from Kansas City to Denver, traveling at 40 miles an hour, rushed beadlong into the gap and the forward end of the train took the plunge into the water-filled ravine. The locomotive, tender and baggage car disappeared entirely under water and the engineer, fireman, baggageman and conductor were instantly killed. The smoker which stopped on the brink of the stream was telescoped by the chair car and many passengers were killed outright. Others were thrown into the stream and were drowned. With the exception of the last pullman the entire train left the track and the cars and coaches were piled in a big heap or rolled into the ditch alongside the rails.

CHAVEZ CROSSED THE ALPS After Completing the Daring Feat-the Peruvian Aviator Met With Bad Accident.

Chavez, the Peruvian aviator, crossed the Simplon Pass at an altitude of 7, 000 feet and passed over the Simplon Kulm, the high peak, some 18 miles from Domodossola, in safety. He had been in the air 50 minutes when he met with the accident. He fell a distance of ten meters.

Chavez began to descend, not sug pecting that a violent wind was blowing lower down, as at the higher altitude a perfect calm prevailed. He tried to slide down on his planes, but a gust of wind caught the machine and suddenly upset it. As it fell forward a cry of horror seended from the crowd which rushed to the place where the aeroplane struck the ground. Chavez was taken from the debris and removed to a hospital. When he regained consciousness he declared that he was suffering great pain and said: "It is horrible." It was found that both his legs were injuries to the head. His condition, however, is not serious, Pailleti, the third competitor in that race, successfully crossed the Alps and landed at Stresn. He went up again shortly afterwards and made a start for Milan. No further news has been heard from him here.
