 When the alarm sounded at the outer door of the residence of Alderman Henry McCready, on Seneca street, at a late hour Wednesday night, that prominent official of the Second ward did not make a grab for his trusty Smith & Wesson shooting iron and start a bombardment, thereby marring up the woodwork and furniture. Instead his honor, as he hustled out of bed said to his wife, "Well, here is where we rake in enough of the filthy lucre to keep that gas meter in a good humor for a couple or more months."

September Court Minutes.
 The regular term of September court convened Monday morning with President Judge W. D. Hinckley and Associates P. C. Hill and Samuel Aul on the bench.
 There was a good attendance of Petit Jurors and witnesses, but the Grand Jury had been notified last week not to appear as there were no cases requiring their attention.
 The constables' returns showed that there were no offenses against the criminal law. Constable A. M. Andrews, of Hickory township, reported the bridge on Hickory creek, at the mouth of Oster creek, as having been down for the past two years; and also that all index boards were down; and also a bad crossing on the railroad on the ferry road, above the Hickory river bridge. The court directed that the attention of the District Attorney should be called to these matters.
 The case of the Commonwealth vs. Thomas Shaffer, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses, was not pressed on payment of costs. A like disposition was also made of the following cases: John Harmon, charged with assault and battery; Harry York, charged with false pretense and absconding from a hotel; J. E. McCauley, charged with furnishing liquor to a minor. In the latter case the commonwealth costs were placed on the county.
 The case of the Com. vs. J. E. Beck, charged with assault and battery, was continued to November term.
 In the case of the Com. vs. Bart Ewing, charged with larceny in taking a watch, cornet, ring and money from T. E. Martin, of Endeavor, on July 5th, the defendant plead guilty to receiving stolen goods. After giving him some good advice, Judge Hinckley sentenced him to pay a fine of $25, costs of prosecution, to restore the property, and undergo an imprisonment of 60 days in jail. The court was disposed to be lenient with the prisoner on account of extenuating circumstances connected with the affair.
 L. J. Hopkins was appointed guardian of Linus G. Cropp, minor child of W. H. Cropp, late of Green township, deceased. Edgar F. Dodge was appointed guardian of Mabel B. Dodge, Ira C. Dodge and Francis E. Dodge, minor children of Frank Dodge, late of Jenks township, deceased.
 A rule to show cause was granted in the case of Leota Hoover vs. John Hoover, on a petition of the plaintiff for attachment for non payment of alimony.
 The report of the viewers to lay out and change a public road in Barnett township was confirmed nisi.
 The widows' inventory and appraisal in the estates of T. J. Bowman and John L. Metzgar, late of Hickory township, deceased, were confirmed nisi.
 David H. Henderson and G. W. Van Horn, executors of the estate of J. J. Henderson, late of Barnett township, deceased, were granted permission to extend time for sale of real estate to November court, 1910, and also allowed to bid at sale.
 The bond of $6,000 of Chas. A. Black, tax collector of Barnett township, was approved.
 County Treasurer G. W. Holeman acknowledged seventy-eight treasurer's deeds in open court.
 A motion for judgment in a foreclosure of mortgage was granted in the case of A. R. Braden vs. Lillie Hillard and A. B. Hillard.
 On petition of citizens of Jenks township, Z. S. Himes was appointed constable of Jenks township, to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of W. J. Mohney.
 Of the four cases set down for trial on the civil list, that of A. R. Braden vs. Leonard Agnew was continued to November term. The case of H. O. Putnam vs. McCabe Lumber Co. was erroneously on the list. The case of B. F. Winans vs. Leon Watson and A. L. Weller was also continued to November term.
 The big ejectment suit of T. D. Collins et al. vs. L. S. Clough et al. went on trial Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock, when the following jurors were selected to hear the case: Lewis Behrens, of Kinsley township; D. S. Nellis, of Tionesta township; P. A. Wolf, of Green township; C. H. Horner, of Howe township; E. F. Dodge, of Jenks township; August Wagner, of Tionesta township; C. J. Nelson, of Howe township; Lawrence Emert, of Tionesta township; Daniel Burns, of Jenks township; Charles Emick, of Harmony township; D. J. Beck, of Kinsley township; Sam. Swanson, of Howe township. This case is being heard before Judge John W. Reed, of Jefferson county, Judge Hinckley being ineligible to sit in the case on account of having been one of the attorneys for the defendants. There is a formidable array of legal talent engaged and present, the plaintiffs being represented by T. F. Ritchey, of Tionesta, Thomas H. Murray, of Clearfield, and A. L. Cole, of DuBois, and the defendants by A. C. Brown, of Tionesta, ex-Judge Frank Gunnison and H. E. Fish, of Erie, D. I. Ball and W. E. Rice, of Warren. The question in dispute is the location of the line between Warrant 5296, owned by the plaintiffs, and Warrants 5282, 5191 and 5194, owned by the defendants, all lying in Howe township. About 500 acres, heavily timbered with hemlock and various hardwoods, are involved. The value of the property in dispute is said to exceed $100,000. The case was tried before Judge Frank J. Thomas, of Crawford county, in the Forest county court, in September, 1907, when a verdict for the defendants was given. An application for a new trial was made and refused. The case was then appealed and argued before the Supreme Court in Pittsburg in October, 1908, which reversed the decision of the lower court and sent the case back for retrial.
 All jurors, excepting those engaged in the above case, were then discharged from further service at this court.

The All Wool Idea
 Goes away back to the cradle of the human race. You cannot talk it out or breed it out of mankind. Whether rich or poor, men never have and never will be satisfied with garments made of anything except the fleece of the sheep.
 It's easy enough to make all-wool clothes for the man who will pay $25 or $30 for a ready-to-wear suit.
 But there's never been a time in the history of the clothing industry when it is so difficult to produce absolutely pure wool, dependable and satisfactory clothing for the man who wishes to pay from $10 to $15 for a suit and get his money's worth.
The Clothcraft
 Line, which we control in this city, eliminates all doubts as to whether a garment is all wool or not, as every piece of cloth before being made up and the Clothcraft label attached, is acid tested, and every garment bearing the Clothcraft label is guaranteed both by the manufacturers and us to be absolutely all-wool, and to give satisfactory wear.
 Clothcraft fall styles now on sale $10, $12, $15 and $16.50.
