Edward T. Rosenheimer, who was accused of the murder of Grace Hough, was acquitted in the criminal branch of the supreme court in New York. The jury was out exactly 25 minutes.

Grace Hough was killed in a collision between Rosenheimer's motor car and a runabout in which she was driving with George Fadden and and Anna McCabe on Pelham Parkway the night of August 18 last but the prosecution was unable to show that Rosenheimer had been criminally negligent.

On the other hand James M. Os torne, counsel for the defense, created a reasonable doubt as to his client's negligence and showed pretty conclusively that the collision was not a rear end collision.

HOLD OFF BIG STRIKE

Leaders Demand That an Agreement Be Reached Wednesday.

> Improvished Conveyances of All Kinds Pressed Into Service In New York, Where Taxicab Drivers Have Quit Work-Business Men Request Companies to Concede Union Membership Point to Strikers-Several Tax icabs Badly Damaged by Having Their Tires Stashed and Windows

New York, Nov. 8. - The express strike situation has been worried into pretty uncomfortable shape by the taxleab boys. Enough of them went on strike to tangle up the transportation arrangements of most of the hotels and the labor leaders are confident that they will pull out still more of these drivers.

A general strike of just about ev erything on wheels is not at all im probable; the leaders say they can order it and they say they will meet for that purpose tomorrow if an agreement does not come before that,

Their only reason for holding off until then, they said today, was hope that a conference between employers and the men in the interim would bring

Rickety Coaches Doing Service. The effect of the strike of some of the taxicab chauffeurs was to bring out rickety old coaches that had not known what service was for years. They were brushed up and sent to a lot of the hotels. Even conveyances generally used for nothing but funer als had to do their part along Fifth

It was a harvest for the "buccaneers, as those men with independent taxis and not always reliable meters are called. Lots of them stripped off their clocks and if you did not want to employ them under those circumstances, you could walk.

The reason for the taxicab strike does not appear to be wholly sympa-

The chauffeurs as a body want a 12-hour day with an hour off for lunch: they want a flat daily wage of $2,50 a day, instead of working at 21 cents an hour as they do now; they don't want to be docked for repairs. The taxicabs belonging to the companies whose drivers are on strike suffered most from rioters.

Tires Slashed and Windows Broken. The New York Taxicab company sent out about 30 chauffours before the arrival of the delegates, who called out their men. About 20 of the men returned with their tires slashed and windows broken. Some of them did not return at all and their cabs had to be towed in.

The plan of emphasizing interstate commerce was continued today. The Adams and Wells-Fargo wagons which went out bore placards reading "This wagon is engaged in interstate commerce only." The purpose of this appeared to be twofold; to combat the suggestion that non-union drivers were liable to arrest for not having licenses and to lay a foundation for possible appeal to federal aid. There were 200 applications for licenses made yesterday. Francis V. S. Oliver, head of the bureau, refused to grant any of them until there is time to investigate as the law demands, The Merchant's association has sent whose companies are interested in the strike. It quoted a statement made by the mayor including this paragraph:

Negotiations Failed on One Point. "The negotiations failed on one point only, namely, the companies would not acquiesce in the request of the men that none of them should be discharged for the reason that he had joined the union." The association's letter continues 'Assuming this position to be that held by the express companies, we feel that you should understand that the merchants of New York, represented | ship. by this organization, who are among your largest patrons will have no sympathy with that position. "This association feels that it has a right to protest against a needless and unreasonable attitude which prevents the solution of the existing difficulties, and feels justified in demanding that you at once recede from your position, referred to above and guarantee to the pren and to the public that member hip in a union will not act as a cause of discrimination in re-employment,"

SENATOR BURROWS

Attends Meeting of Monetary Com mission In New York.

CURRENCY PROBLEM

Monetary Commission Will Hold Conference in New York.

New York, Nov. 8 .- United States Senator Julius F. Burrows of Michigan, who retires at the end of the next session of the senate, is at the Waldorf-Astoria to attend the meeting of the United States monetary commission, which is to begin at the Plaza Thursday. The commission comes to New York upon the invitation of the Academy of Political Science which has called a national conference on the currency problem to be held on Friday and Saturday. There will be a banquet on Friday night, at which Senator Aldrich is expected to tell what the monetary commission has done so far.

"The drift generally seems to be in the way of a Democratic house of representatives," said Senator Burrows, referring to the pending election. "Of course, this will be obstructive to legislation. With the senate Republican, which seems to be assured, and with the house Democratic, the result will be virtually to paralyze the administration and make any party legislation impossible.

"In Michigan I think the Republic ans are all right. I am confident the state will be Republican, and will elect the entire ticket. I believe the 12 members of congress to be elected will all be Republicans."

CREW STICKS TO WRECKED VESSEL

Ship Pounding on Rocks in a Fierce Northwest Gale.

London, Nov. 8 .- The 30 men comprising the captain and crew of the five-masted ship Preussen, the largest sailing vessel in the world, which drifted ashore Sunday in Crab bay, Dover, after a collision with the cross-chana letter to each of the express officials nel steamship Brighton, are still aboard the ship and have declined all efforts to take them off. The ship is pounding on the rocks > in a fierce northwest gale. The coast guards ashore got a line attached to a rocket across the vessel, but the men evidently did not care to make it fast. Twelve tags tried to pull the Preussen off the rocks yesterday, but were unsuccessful. The captain came ashore in a tug and said he expected to float the vessel as soon as the storm abates. He and the crew intend to pass the night aboard the
