—The editor of the Oil City Blizzard declares that "the most vulgar display of wealth we have noticed for some time was a railroad man carrying a basket of fresh eggs, uncovered, along the street." Up in this neck of woods such rank ostentation would positively not be tolerated.
—The usual distribution of Thanksgiving turkeys took place at Endeavor last week, the gift of the Messrs. Wheeler & Dusenbury to the heads of families in the company's employ. In all there were 160, and the combined weight was over twenty-one hundred pounds, an evidence that the birds were in prime condition.

—Monday night Sheriff Maxwell took in a man who gives his name as John Green and who evidently hails from some foreign country. The man is demented and the Commissioners will have him removed to North Warren Asylum. He is a small man, and had wandered to the premises of Henry Zuendel, German Hill, when the Sheriff was notified.
—The irrepressible Peter Kern is heading a party of Meadville sportsmen who came over Saturday to wind up the rabbit season and take a sly at the wildcats for which Pete is famous. They are supplied with a pack of fine hounds and other paraphernalia, and have gone up into the big woods near Golliza. The other members of the party are Sol Stern, Henry J. Krueger, Robert Larkins and Claude West.

Bliss, of Harrisburg, will be one of the speakers. All who are interested in common sense diatribes are cordially invited to be present.
—The deer which we mentioned last week as having been shot by A. W. Mong, in Tionesta township, has not been captured, the hunters giving up the chase after two days of fruitless effort. August Wagner shot the buck Wednesday and Lewis Wagner got a shot at him Thursday as he was crossing a road. The distance was 351 yards and he missed. Frank J. Boyd and James P. Callopy, of Oil City, killed a four-year-old buck Friday on Hemlock creek, six miles back of President.
Fagundus Man Dies From Accidental Shooting.
John M. Proctor, aged 21, and residing with his stepfather, Samuel Strain, near Fagundus, this county, was fatally wounded while hunting rabbits near his home on Wednesday, and died on the following day at the Oil City Hospital, whither he had been taken for treatment. On the morning of the accident young Proctor, Robert Davis, his brother-in-law and Benjamin Byers had gone hunting and chased a rabbit under an old derick. Proctor went under the floor to scare it out, while the two companions stood above the hole waiting its appearance. The rabbit and Proctor appeared about the same time and as the two men on the derick floor were waiting for the rabbit to run far enough that it would not be shot to pieces the plank gave way under the feet of Davis, who finding himself falling, involuntarily pulled the trigger, the No. 4 shot in his gun tearing a hole in Proctor's back nearly four inches in diameter.
A physician was summoned who dressed the wound and advised the immediate removal of the victim to the hospital, but he was unable to withstand the shock and died as above stated. The body was taken to Fagundus Friday morning and the funeral was held at the home of the step-father. One sister, Mrs. Anna Davis of Rousseville, survives the unfortunate young man.

—Orion S. Bryan and Miss Edna M. McKean, niece of Mrs. T. V. McCoy, were married at the Methodist parsonage last evening at 7 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. W. Morton, pastor of the church. The young couple went last night to the home of the groom's parents at West Hickory, where they will visit for a few days. Upon their return to Titusville they will reside at No. 72 East Spruce street. Mr. Bryan is an employee of the Schatt & Morgan Cutlery company. Many Titusville friends will extend their congratulations and good wishes.—Titusville Herald, 24th.

RECENT DEATHS.

HALLIDAY.
Mrs. Sarah J. Halliday, relict of the late John W. Halliday, died at her home at East Hickory, Nov. 23, 1910, aged 78 years. Her last illness was of short duration, infirmities incident to age having doubtless hastened the end.
Mrs. Halliday was a daughter of the late William Patterson, a former resident of Whig Hill, long since deceased and was born in Allegheny county, Aug. 6, 1842. She was twice married, her first husband being William Lemon, who lost his life in one of the civil wars in 1865, being killed in one of the last battles in which his regiment was engaged. One son by this marriage, O. P. Lemon, survives her, and it was in his family she made her home in the last two years of her life. Her second marriage was with John W. Halliday in 1867, whose death occurred some years ago. One granddaughter, Miss Virginia Halliday, also survives her. The deceased had been a consistent member of the M. E. church for many years and died in the faith of that church. The funeral was held on Friday at the East Hickory M. E. church, Rev. G. A. Barnard officiating, and the interment was in the cemetery at that place, beside the remains of her husband and other kindred.
In this connection the surviving son, Mr. Lemon, desires to thank the neighbors and friends for the many acts of kindness shown his mother in her last illness.

WINKER.
Henry Anton Winker, an aged and respected citizen of Green township, passed away at his home on German Hill, at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, Nov. 23, 1910. His death was due to the infirmities of old age and came suddenly and unexpectedly, as he was in his usual good health up to the time of his death.
The deceased was born in the province of Hanover, Germany, Oct. 5, 1820. He spent the early years of his life in his native country, following no special occupation but spending most of his time as a herdsman and farmer. While still a young man he was attracted by the glowing reports he heard of America and early spring of 1846 he set sail for this country, arriving in Pittsburg several months later. Here he remained for about twelve years, working as a common laborer during this period. In 1849 he was married to Katherine Regina Aufderheide, also a native of Germany. Shortly after his marriage he again decided to engage in his favorite occupation, that of tilling the soil, and chose for his location the place where he died. In the spring of 1858 he, with several of his countrymen, moved with their families to this section and settled in what was then a vast wilderness. Here, by many years of diligent labor, he cleared and put under cultivation the farm upon which he had since resided. In the autumn of 1895 his wife died, since which time he and his two sons have resided alone on the old homestead. Throughout his lifetime he was much devoted to his home and family and seldom was away from the community in which he resided.
He was the father of six sons and two daughters, four of the sons dying in infancy. He is survived by two sons, Henry and Edward, at home, and two daughters, Mrs. S. C. Jensen, of Starr, and Mrs. Alexander Galmish, of Pleasantville, Pa.
Mr. Winker has been known and long will be remembered in the community in which he lived as a good, honest, upright citizen, a kind and loving father, and a sincere and devout christian. Early in life he joined the Lutheran church and remained firm in this faith to the time of his death.
Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon at his late home by Rev. H. J. Reimann, after which his body was laid to rest beside that of his wife in the Mt. Zion Lutheran cemetery.

BLUM.
Her son Blum, son of the late Sebastian and Anna Katherine Blum, was born on German Hill, Green township, Forest County, Pa., October 15, 1849, and died at his home, same place, November 25, 1910, being then aged 61 years, 1 month and 10 days. About three weeks prior to his demise he suffered an attack of pleuropneumonia, and although seeming to have overcome the attack his recuperative powers not being sufficient to tide him over the crisis, he passed away very peacefully, like one falling asleep, between eight and nine o'clock on the day above stated.
Mr. Blum passed his whole life on the farm and in the home in which he died. From youth up he stood high in his community. Thoroughly trustworthy he had held every office within the gift of the people of his township, besides serving a term as County Commissioner most acceptably, but declining a re-election which he could easily have had. In every capacity—as citizen, neighbor, friend, official—his manly, upright character was ever apparent, and his sincerity and absolute honesty were never doubted in the least. His convictions of right and wrong were unbending and he was just and fair to friend and foe (if he had one) alike. Surely the community has lost most heavily in the death of Herman Blum. In his domestic life he was most happy, and his devotion to and love for his family were of the tenderest and the truest nature, and his solicitude for the comfort and happiness of his faithful wife and children was ever uppermost in his mind. A communicant member for many years of Mt. Zion Lutheran church, he was faithful and consistent to its teachings to the end.
Fifteen years ago Mr. Blum was happily united in marriage with Mrs. Emma Vockroth, who, with one daughter, one son, and one step-son, Lawrence Vockroth, survives him. Two brothers, Wm. Blum, Hermon Blum, and one sister, Mrs. Frederick Ledebur, all of German Hill, also survive.
The funeral was held from the late home on Monday afternoon, Rev. H. J. Reimann, pastor of Good Hope Lutheran church, Oil City, conducting the services. He took for his text, Hosea 6:1, "Come, let us return unto the Lord: for he hath torn, and he will heal us; he hath smitten, and he will bind us up." His discourse was comforting to the bereaved ones and encouraging to the friends, very many of whom had gathered, notwithstanding the inclement day, to pay their tribute of respect to the memory of one whom they had always held in highest esteem. A choir composed of Miss Gusina Cook, Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Secor and Judge F. X. Kreidler, of Nebraska, very sweetly sang three familiar hymns, and at the conclusion of the services the interment took place in Mt. Zion cemetery, Messrs. Wm. Blum, Wm. Smearbaugh, Ferdinand Wenk, Wm. Shellhouse, J. E. Wenk, cousins of the deceased, and J. T. Dale, acting as pall bearers.
