TWO AIRMEN KILLED

World's Most Daring Aviators Hurlled to Their Death.

Were Warned Not to Go Up on Account of the Treacherous Air Currents—Moisant Falls 100 Feet at New Orleans, and Hoxsey Over 500 Feet at Los Angeles—Other Current Topics of News of the Week.

John B. Moisant and Arch Hoxsey, two of the world's most daring aviators, were killed Saturday. Both fell out of treacherous air currents with their machines—neither from a great height—and Moisant's remaining minutes of life were so few as to count as naught. Hoxsey was killed instantly. Moisant met his death, attempting to alight in a field a few miles from New Orleans. Hoxsey was crushed in a lifeless mass in view of the thousands who were watching the aviation tournament.

Thus the last day of 1910, in bringing the total number of deaths of aviators to 35, capped the list with two of the most prominent of those air men who have been writing the history of aviation in the sky of two continents.

Both met death in almost the same manner. Each machine was headed for the earth and suddenly seemed to stop, hover in the air, then "turn over onto its nose," and dive headlong to the ground—into destruction.

MILK TESTER EXPLODES

David Hodge, 33, College Instructor, and four students injured.
 The explosion of a centrifugal milk testing machine at Ithaca, N. Y., in the laboratory of the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, resulted in the injury of David Hodge, Jr., instructor, and four of his students.

High Price for Whipping Boy.

DeForest Demming, a farmer residing in the eastern section of the town of Phelps, N. Y., caused the arrest of Lewis Gosman, an Alloway farmer, for an alleged brutal assault upon Elmer Demming, the 7-year-old son of the complainant. In the complaint it was alleged that Gosman violently lashed the child with a horsewhip, striking the boy over the head and body after the little cutter. Before the case was called in justice court, Gosman succeeded in effecting a settlement of his debts whereby he paid the Demmings $50 to cover the damages to the wounds inflicted by the whip and $200 for the cost of the court and attorney's fees, which amounted to $21 more.

Threshing Machines in Demand.

Aonia, N. Y., dispatch says many farmers are looking anxiously for the mowers in hopes of getting their threshing done. Winter set in so early that it has been impossible to get the machines from place to place in the field. Besides, there is only one or two threshing rigs to be had, and a few years ago there were several of them. The seeming lack of threshing machines cannot be attributed to the farmers, as many of them say they have tried time and again to get a machine but without success.

Lost in Oregon Mountains.

Two men received from Albany, Ore., news that Thomas Bond, a Orean resident of Geneva, N. Y., was in the mountains and that all hope concerning him had been abandoned. Bond, who is 25 years of age, is a resident of the town of Hopewell, and was a son of Frederick of the town of Hopewell, and a son of C. S. Bond of the Hillsboro. Two years ago he went to the coast for the purpose of seeing country. He spent some time in Oregon and then went to Oregon.

Ithaca Citizen Drops Dead.

George Mack, who had been for years an assistant to the treasurer of Cornell University, and one of the oldest citizens, dropped dead Friday morning on the university campus, opposite Sage college annex. Mr. Mack was 77 years of age. He lived in this city for 74 years and was identified with Cornell for a larger time than most members of the faculty. He was a close friend of Andrew D. White. Mr. Mack has contributed poems to leading magazines and had written quite a bit of local history.

Bloodhounds caught a man they were trailing from Carrier Mills, Ill., and literally tore him to pieces. The incident occurred in Carrier Mills and a resident in Carrier Mills had been robbed in the absence of the family and on their return they ordered bloodhounds brought. COASTING ACCIDENT

Young Girl Badly Hurt When Sled Jumps Over Embankment.
 Gertrude Woolley, of North Main street, Hornell, N. Y., is in a critical condition as the result of a coasting accident on Hartshorn hill.

The girl was a member of a merry party of coasters who were enjoying rides on a big old-fashioned bobbed sled. The sled got beyond control and all of the riders managed to fall off, except the Woolley girl. She was carried over a high embankment and hurled with great force into the field below.

Her right arm was fractured, her left leg broken in two places and she sustained numerous cuts and bruises besides internal injuries that, it is feared, will result in her death.

Alienated Love Valued at $1,000.

In the case of Thomas Russell against James A. Kester for the alienation of the affections of Russell's wife, the jury at Corning, N. Y., returned a verdict of $1,000 in the supreme court last Thursday. A motion for a new trial was denied but the case probably will be appealed. At the conclusion of this case court, which has been in session for five weeks, adjourned without day.

Harry S. Duncan Acquitted.

Decision was rendered Thursday by Justice F. E. Brown at Newark, N. Y., in the case of Harry S. Duncan, the Wallington apple buyer, who was charged by a Detroit firm with defrauding it out of $1,500 by reporting the prices paid for apples bought on commission for them higher than the actual figures which he paid. Mr. Brown discharged the defendant because of lack of evidence.

Former Ithaca Teacher Killed.

Miss Iren Van Kleek, 30 years of age, of Ithaca, N. Y., one of the best-known educators in the state of Ontario, was thrown by a fractious horse she was riding at Lewiston, and died almost instantly. Miss Van Kleek was a graduate of Cornell and formerly secretary to Andrew D. White, former president of Cornell and ambassador to Germany. She was at the head of the commercial department of the Lewiston High School.

To Appoint County Bacteriologist.

The appointment of a bacteriologist for Ontario county to succeed Dr. Clive Hallebeck, whose resignation was accepted by the supervisors last month, was considered at a meeting of the board of supervisors in Canandaigua. It is probable that a graduate of Johns Hopkins university, who was recommended by Dr. H. J. Davenport of Auburn, a former county bacteriologist, will receive the appointment.

Farmer Cuts His Throat.

H. J. Duneved, a farmer living in the town of Clymer, near Jamestown, N. Y., committed suicide Saturday night by cutting his throat with a pocketknife. Neighbors found his body in the barn. He had left the house a few minutes before to do some work. No cause for his act is known. He was 50 years old and leaves a family.

Body Brought to Rushville.

The remains of Abner Dwell, a former resident of Rushville, N. Y., were brought here for burial, in the village cemetery. His death occurred in Nina, Nevada. He leaves one brother, Emmett Dwell of Penn Yan, and one sister, Mrs. Heese of Avoca, both of whom accompanied the body to its final resting place. He was 70 years of age.

DIX IS INAUGURATED.

First Democratic Governor In 16 Years.

Great Crowd Assembled in the Chamber to Witness the Proceedings—Governor Made Several Telling Points in His Inaugural Address—Favors Return to a Direct State Tax—Public Reception Held After Inaugural Ceremonies.

Albany, Jan. 3.—Governor John Alden Dix rode in the inaugural parade from the executive mansion to the Capitol yesterday in a closed automobile. There were 30,000 people jammed on both sides of the street all along the route of march. Governor Dix was accompanied by retiring Governor White.

The weather was disagreeable. It rained three or four times during the morning and the sky was overcast all day. It was in fear of the rain which came dribbling along later that the first inaugural ride in 16 years had to make his inaugural ride in the big closed automobile.

Ceremonies Rather Long.

Exercises in the assembly chamber where Governor Dix was officially declared the state's chief executive were rather longer than have been customary in recent years, owing to the fact that the introductory address of retiring Governor White taking a longer time for delivery.

There was a great crowd assembled in the chamber before the arrival of the gubernatorial party. The first to take their seats on the platform built out over the speaker's rostrum and the desk of the assembly clerks, were Mrs. Dix and Mrs. White, wives of the governors, the ladies of the official party and relatives of the governor and state officers-elect. Sergeant-at-Arms Charles Helmsing of the state senate escorted the official guests to the platform.

In presenting Governor Dix, Secretary of State Lazansky announced that Governor Dix had taken the constitutional oath of office at his town house here on Saturday night. This official announcement to the people that the new governor had formally assumed office was a signal for the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner," and enthusiastic cheers from the assemblage.

Before the vast audience arose Sergeant John Brennan of Company C, 10th Infantry, Albany, who had been detailed as the governor's orderly, rap partly up the steps leading to the platform and gave a signal which was transmitted from the assembly chamber to watching guardsmen in the street below and the detachment of the First Battery, field artillery from New York city, began booming away the 19 guns salute to the new governor.

Governor Frequently Applauded.

Then Governor Dix delivered his inaugural address which was closely followed and frequently applauded. When the governor declared that he would endeavor to give to the public dollar the same purchasing power as he would give the private dollar, the assemblage appeared to be especially enthusiastic.

Another telling point which met with particular favor was that if it came to pass that it was necessary to return to a direct state tax, that the governor proposed to tell the people frankly all the facts and to indicate to them who was responsible for such a return.

Right Rev. Thomas M. A. Burke, Catholic bishop of Albany, gave the benediction.

Following the ceremonies in the assembly chamber, the governor and his staff proceeded to the executive chamber where Governor Dix held a public reception lasting for an hour.

A continuous throng of people passed in one door and out the other during the reception and each shook the hand of the new governor and extended good wishes. Most of the party friends and old time Democrats who passed along the line spoke to the governor about having "waited 16 years" for the opportunity there presented of shaking the hand of a Democratic executive.

Schiff's Would Be Assailant Suicides.

New York, Jan. 3.—Anna Volynsky, the woman who was committed to the Manhattan state hospital on Ward 11 last about a month ago, after she had threatened to take the life of Jacob H. Schiff, was found hanging by a rope from a hook in the clothes room at the hospital late yesterday afternoon. Jacob Schiff, when told of the suicide, expressed deep regret.

NEW OFFICIALS APPOINTED

Heads of State Departments Announce Their Several Selections.

Albany, Jan. 3.—Attorney General Cermody announced that he had retained the services of the retiring attorney general, Edward R. O'Malley, who will have charge of the Saranac land and lumber trespass cases and the legislative reapportionment litigation.

The attorney general also announced these new appointments: Frank W. Brown of Warsaw, Wyoming county, salary $4,500; James A. Parsons of Hornell, deputy attorney general, salary 4,000; J. F. Backley of Benton Center, Yates county, confidential clerk $1,500; and Joseph D. Edolson of New York, as second deputy, in charge of the New York office, at a salary of $4,500.

Comptroller Sohmer announced the appointment of Thomas E. Rush of Manhattan as transfer tax attorney for New York county, in place of Edward J. Fallows. There is no salary attached to this office.

Comptroller Sohmer can make the salary any amount he desires. Comptroller Sohmer also may abolish the office as a fee office, which it always was until two years ago, when it was worth from $65,000 to $85,000 a year to the incumbent.

George W. Batten of Lockport has been appointed deputy state treasurer, a position he held under ex-State Treasurer Julius Hauser. The salary is $4,500.

Joseph T. McNally, the city editor of the Albany Argus, has been appointed secretary to Lieutenant Governor Conway. The compensation is $2,000.

Secretary of State Lazansky appointed as his private secretary James J. Neville of Syracuse, who acted in a similar capacity under Secretaries John S. Whalen (Dem.) of Rochester and Samuel S. Koenig (Rep.) of New York.

REVOLUTION IS WELL UNDER WAY

Honduran Soldiers Desert to Bonilla in Large Numbers.

Teguigalpa, Jan. 3.—With the arrival yesterday of General Lee Christmas and ex-President Manuel Bonilla, near Puerto Cortes, the revolution against President Davilla of Honduras is well under way.

Ex-President Bonilla sent a large force against the garrison of Puerto Cortes yesterday and the place is now practically in the hands of the revolutionists. The soldiers of the existing government deserted in large numbers to Bonilla.

A part of the force arriving with ex-President Bonilla and General Christmas has been sent on towards the capital, as a reserve force to the main army, which is expected to reach here inside a week. The army is advancing at easy stages, putting to rout all opposition.

That President Cabrera of Guatemala has broken its treaty of Washington and all neutrality laws is indicated by the fact that ex-President Bonilla and General Christmas have recruited most of their forces on Guatemalan soil. President Cabrera's attitude is partly inspired by hatred for President Davilla, who is a protege of Zelaya.

That ex-President Bonilla will win is almost assured. There is little bloodshed in prospect.

Senator Villamor said there is no doubt that the Japanese government is familiar with the details of the fortifications of the island.

"On my way to this country I stopped in Japan and while there talked with a number of Japanese army officers. One of them told me he had no doubt that Japan could take the Philippines at any time.
