ONE of the first things proposed by a Democratic administration in New York is the revival of a direct state tax. It has been a long time since Tammany had a pull on the state treasury and its appetite is keen accordingly.

"Tis true, 'tis pity, and pity 'tis 'tis true, as the Punxsutawney Spirit says, that in this erratic and disputations world of ours a man is about as likely to be condemned and abused for doing right as for doing wrong. It is the trimmer who adjusts his opinions to the changing views of the multitude, who seems to have the smoothest road to travel. He who neither allies himself with the Reds or the Blues, nor becomes a partisan either of the Parmuldrins or the Scuterios at the gladiatorial combats, is most likely to preserve intact his reputation and his bones, although he be lacking both in courage and ability .- Blizzard.

ALFRED HENRY LEWIS, Writing in Human Life for January concerning recent political events in New York in which certain heretofore potent factors in politics were flattened out, says: "Come we now crippled for life, but will live, to Mr. Woodruff. Mr. Woodruff, petted by the late Boss Platt as 'Little Tim,' also suffered defeat in his soul. Had the Republicans held the legislature, he intended to go in for the Senate mantle of Mr. Lepaw, lost now slipping from that afterdinner Cicero's shoulders. That is to say, Mr. Woodruff intended to do so until Mr. Roosevelt returned from Africa N. J., reduced wages 10 per cent yesand lions. Mr. Woodruff was of the Old Guard, and loathed-politically-Mr. Roosevelt and all his vigorous ways, Mr. Woodruff and the O. G. went after the ebullient Mr. Roosevelt with a purpose of marooning him. Alas and alack! He turned upon them and spilled them out of their leadership of party like pupples out of a basket."

According to the Pittsburg papers record-breaking cuts in fire insurance rates are threatened by foreign companies doing business in this state and it was reported Friday that one of the most bitter insurance wars ever waged in Allegheny county has already begun. It is an attack from a new source against the Allegheny County Board of Fire Underwriters, the aim of four big New York companies being to break the power of that organization in rate fixing. It is reported that announcement of big cuts will be made within a few days and that retaliatory steps will be taken by various domestic companies, all board members, to offset the attack by the foreign companies. This latest war has nothing to do with the recent suits brought to dissolve the Allegheny county board, yet it is said by prominent men on both sides of that controversy to be a direct result of the action brought there against the underwriters. Eighty-five big companies east of the Mississippi river have banded together and already an organization is said to have been formed in opposition to the underwriters' association.
