CURTISS' GREAT FEAT Problem of Starting From and Land

ing On Water Solved.

The aeroplane added another con quest to its long list of achievements on San Diego bay, Cal., when an aeroplane driven by Glenn H. Curtiss arose from the surface of the bay, flew two miles, returned to the starting place and alighted on the water as lightly as a gull,

The solution of the problem of starting from and landing in water which has been regarded as one of the most difficult at the same time the most important, from a miltary standpoint. ever undertaken has been solved.

Young Woman Held on Charge ila observatory, says the seismic activiof Homicide.

New York, Jan. 31 .- An Italian physician was found lying on the floor of an office in a drug store in Catherine street, which he owned with two bullet wounds in his head. By his side was a hysterical young woman who would tell nothing of what had happened in the office since she and the doctor had gone in there some moments before. The wounded man died in the Gouvenneur hospital a few hours later without regaining con-

The man was Pr. Daniel A. Gazella who had been living for a year at East 176th street as a boarder in the house of Phillip Hagelstein, a photographer. Dr Cazella was talking with Dr. Osnato at the entrance to the former's store when Madeline Basigalupo entered the store and passed to the rear of the shop. When Dr. Cuzella finished his conversation he joined her.

The two went into the doctor's office They had been there about five minutes when the clerk and a customer who were in the store, heard two shots followed by a woman's scream.

The clerk and customer rushed in and found Dr. Cazella lying on a sofa with blood streaming from two bullet wounds, one in the center of the fore head and the other over the left eye. A new 32-calibre revolver lay beneath his right hand.

McCurdy Was Within Six Miles of Cuban Coast When Forced to Descend.

Havana, Jan. 31. - J. D. McCurdy, the American aviator, who attempted yesterday to fly from Key West, Fla., to Havana in an aeroplane dropped into the sea when within plain sight of this city and harbor. When the accident happened he was within too miles of town and but six miles off the coast. His mishap was due solely to the fact that his supply of lubricating oil became exhausted, necessitating his descent. In spite of this misfortune he wins the prize for which he contested, it being announced soon after he flight that the Havana Post would pay the $5,000 offered by them. A few minites later it was stated the city an horities would follow suit. McCurdy was the most cheerful mar aboard the destroyer when he stcamed inta Havana. He had broken two world's records for over-sea flights and was the first aviator who had ever sailed out of sight of land in an aero-

TOWNS ARE WRECKED

Earthquakes Kill 300 People on Taal Island.

Four-Foot Tidal Wave Followed the Sinking of Taal Island and Swept Over a Deserted Area For a Mile Inland, Destroying All the Crops. Trees Are Breaking From Weight of Mud From Volcane-Manila Covered With Shower of Ashes.

Manila, Jan. 31.-The scientific observers sent to watch the eruption of the volcano Taal report that at 2 o'clock yesterday morning there were several violent, spectacular eruptions. At the same time there were two prolonged, strong earthquake shocks, Taal isand on which the volcano is sitnated, sank five feet. Then for a quarter of an hour there was a shower of mud, and this followed by a shower of ashes, which lasted half an hour. The boatment became terrorized and refused to embark on the lake. Ocean steamships arriving at Manila are covered with ashes.

Terrific Electrical Storm.

The constabulary reports that a ter-rific electric storm and aerial explosions prostrated half the dwellings along the lake shores. Trees are breaking with the weight of the mud from the volcano. The military forces are assisting the natives in removing their belongings from half destroyed homes. The town of Talisay is submerged and the crops have been ruined in the vicinity of the lake.

An American teacher telephones that the inhabitants of Tanauan are fleeing to the hills. Mud and stones fell at Calamba, which is 25 miles away from the volcano, and showers of ashes fell on ships at a distance of 20

A private of the Eighth United States cavalry was killed by a falling house on the lake shore.

A four-foot tidal wave followed the sinking of Taal island and swept over a deserted area for a mile inland, destroying all the crops. The huts near by are shaking constantly and several have fallen. Houses and huts in the towns of Taal, Lemery and Tanauan have been badly damaged by falling stones.

Yesterday's eruption caused much excitement in Manila. Many persons were awakened violently and the earth tremors caused a general feeling of nausea. Father Algue, the head of the Man-ty does not threaten Manlla. An American school teacher who has traversed the west side of Lake Taal, telegraphs that five villages have been totally destroyed and 200 lives lost. The government last night started special trains with food and other necessaries for the lake district, Showers of Ashes Over Manila. A southerly breeze brought a light shower of ashes over Manila during the afternoon. The sun was lurid. All neighboring provinces report innumerable seismic explosions. The natives are terrified. They have crowded into the churches and are praying incessantly. The government has sent reassuring telegraphs to the provincial officials.

Several venturesome American explorers have had narrow escapes from suffocating gases and falling rocks in the vicinity of the Taal volcano. The total number of shocks record ed by the observatory here since the beginning of the rumblings now ex ceeds four hundred.

BELLE ELMORE'S ESTATE

Murdered Actress' Sister Applies For Letters of Administration.

London, Jan. 31, - In the probate court counsel for Mrs. Theresa Hunn of Brooklyn, a half sister of the late Mrs. Hawley Crippen, better known as Belle Elmore, applied for letters of administration on the estate of the murdered actress, whose husband was hanged for the crime on Nov. 23, of last year. The application stated that the estate consisted of jewelry, furs and cash and amounted to about $875 Counsel for Mrs. Hunn contended that Dr. Crippen, who made a will in favor of Ethel Claire Leneve, his mistress, was barred from benefiting from his wife's estate because of the crime. The councel quoted the precedent of Mrs. Maybrick, who was not permitted to receive any of the insurance on the life of her husband whom she was accused of killing and for which crime she served many years in prison.

Ends Her Life With Poison.

Marion, O., Jan. 31 .- "Papa, mama just took something and went upstairs," said the 11-year-old daughter of Elmer Randolph, at her home yesterday. The husband rushed upstairs and found his wife, Lucy, aged 37, lying on the floor. "My troubles are all over," she murmured. Mrs. Randolph had swallowed two ounces of carbolic acid, and lived only a few minutes. Her mind is believed to have been deranged by ill health.

Woman's Death Due to Epileptic Fit. New York, Jan. 31.-After an examination of the woman who was found dead on Sunday night in a room in the Bryant hotel, Forty-fourth street and Sixth avenue, Coroner's Physician Schultze decided that death was the result of an epileptic fit.

JOHN O. SCHENK

Will Refuse to Take His Wife Back Even If She Is Acquitted.

SCHENK JURY DISCHARGED

Unable to Reach an Agreement In Famous Poisoning Case.

Unable to agree an a verdict, the Wheeling (W. Va.) jury in the case of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenk, tried on the charge of poisoning her husband, John O. Schenk, was discharged by Judge Jordan Thursday afternoon. The case will now be redocketed and retried at the next term of court unless a continuance is asked.

Five minutes before the jury was called into the courtroom, the attorneys for both the state and defense, petitioned the court for the discharge of the jury. Reluctant at first, Judge Jordan finally called in the jurors but refused to say what he intended to do.

As soon as the jury was discharged it was announced that they had stood eleven for acquittal and one for conviction on almost every ballot taken. It was not possible to learn the number of ballots taken.

Mrs. Laura F. Schenk was released on Saturday on her own recognizance to appear for a second trial on the first day of the March term of criminal court. A few minutes before she was released her husband filed suit in the circuit court for divorce
