THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES has decided not to increase its membership, but to permit it to stand at 291. That would make the ratio about 220,000, which would permit this district to remain as it is.

At least two of the nine justices of the United States supreme court chew tobacco, Chief Justice White and Justice Harlan. There are plenty of men who can chew tobacco just as well as these luminaries, but they are lacking in other accomplishments.—Punxsutawney Spirit. Sure! We know some of 'em. They stand on the street corner and spit, and spit, and spit.

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES at Washington, Wednesday, by a vote of 188 to 159 decided in favor of San Francisco and against New Orleans as the city in which an exposition to celebrate the opening of the Panama canal in 1915 shall be held. This vote was taken on a roll call to determine whether the San Francisco resolution of the New Orleans bill should have consideration in the House. On a final vote the San Francisco resolution was passed by a vote of 259 to 43. The New Orleans bill called for an appropriation of $1,000,000 for a Government exhibit and the creation of a Government commission. Congressman Wheeler, of this district, voted for San Francisco.

THE greatest weapon the express companies have with which to fight the parcels post is the merchants in small towns. Numerous individuals and interests, under the inspiration and direction of the express companies, are set vigorously to work to arouse the opposition of the country merchants, who are persuaded to believe that the privilege of sending an eleven-pound package by mail would be fatal to their business. The big mail order houses would ruin them! The truth is that actual experience will demonstrate that everybody, including the country merchant, will be benefited by the parcels post. Nobody's business excepting the express companies' will be injured. The solicitude of the express companies for the country merchant is extremely pathetic.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

REPUBLICANS frequently yield to the plea to vote for the Democratic candidates and reform the government. They yielded to the plea in the state of New York. As a result, a political combination of tiger and fox named Sheehan is the darling of the men in power at Albany, and the Republican party, weakened by defeat, is now dominated by Barnes at Albany, who has been made party chairman, as he would not have been had the New York Republicans voted their ticket. In Congress the Democrats elected by Republican votes are being led by Champ Clark, and the bunch of them lack the courage to even declare that they will raise just the tariff schedules at once on gaining power, though it was to do that very thing that they asked and obtained election. The results of kicking the Republican party have not been such as to give a Republican any special satisfaction.—Franklin News. Alas! how true these words.

THE SULLOWAY PENSION BILL, WHICH HAS BEEN APPROVED BY THE G. A. R. POSTS OF THE NATION, AND WHICH HAS PASSED THE LOWER HOUSE IN CONGRESS, WILL HAVE SENATOR PENNACKE'S ARDENT SUPPORT WHEN IT COMES INTO THE SENATE. THE MEASURE PROVIDES A PENSION FOR ALL HONORABLY DISCHARGED VETERANS OF THE CIVIL WAR WHO HAVE REACHED THE AGE OF 62 YEARS, AND UNDER 65 YEARS AT THE RATE OF $16 PER MONTH; OR 63 YEARS AND UNDER 70 YEARS, $20; AND THOSE OF 75 OR OVER $36 PER MONTH. THE VETERANS OF THE STATE ARE NOTIFIED THAT THEY WILL HAVE AN EARNEST ADVOCATE AT COURT WHEN THE BILL REACHES THE SENATE.

JOHN WALKER, one of Pittsburgh's greatest steel manufacturers, says that it will cost half a billion dollars to build the ship canal from Lake Erie to Pittsburgh. He offers for this amount of money to build and equip a four-track railroad over the proposed route and haul all the freight free of charge through all time for the interest upon the balance remaining when his roads are finished. It is noted that the Venango and Crawford county people are not in favor of this canal unless it takes its course up French creek, and up in this latitude were "again" it because it doesn't extend on up the Allegheny and branch off up Hunter run route. So there you have it.

A BILL presented in the House at Harrisburg has for its purpose the carrying out of the constitutional amendments adopted at the election in 1909, and providing for the extension of the term of officials affected by the amendments not already provided in the amendments themselves. It seems necessary to make special provision by law for these extensions in order that no hiatus shall occur in the several official positions, and so the bill extends the terms of about 30,000 officials in the state, ranging from president judges to township officers, many of which would expire next March, April and June. Those will be extended to January of 1912 by the enactment of the proposed law.

THE severe changes in the weather conditions are without a doubt the cause of unpleasant conditions in our physical nature, yet we are of the unfeeling sort and all things work together for good to the steadfast and unwavering. Some of our boys are at home from the camps, having a sort of tussle with the grippe, not exactly to their liking. Mr. and Mrs. John Gould are this week visiting friends in Clarion county. The missionary meeting at the home of Mrs. Rachel Ward last Wednesday afternoon was a success in every way. The weather was ideal to say the least, and attendance and interest no less so. These meetings are interesting and encouraging, and we hope soon to be able to tell of a public meeting to be held here. Mrs. Harrington has returned from Starr, where she has spent the past month at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ehlers. Seems to be a lull in horse trading, but horse buying on the Sabbath day is the order of things with some it seems. Some people were able to get out to church Sabbath, despite the icy roads, for if they couldn't walk or ride they went "on all fours," and got there all the same. Our friend, Dr. E. W. Smith is not rapidly improving, but we wish him a complete recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert McKee were Tionesta visitors on Saturday. Samuel Preston returned last week from a visit with friends and relatives at Sigel, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Myers and children spent last Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Dewdney at Golitza. N. G. Cole spent several days last week in Hickory and Harmony townships. Miss Mary Thompson and Miss Nellie DeWolfe were visitors in Tionesta on Friday evening. John Mitchell met with a painful accident last Friday near President, where he is engaged in taking out ties. He was cutting off a limb which was bent under a tree when it let loose, striking the unfortunate man across the face. No bones were broken but his nose and face were badly bruised. He was brought to his home here. A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Byron Walters on Friday, Feb. 3, 1911. Miss Goldie Hill, of Kellettsville, spent Sunday night with friends here. Mrs. Fitzgerald is confined to the house with the grippe. Wm. Myers was a Tionesta visitor on Thursday. Mrs. Frances Crawford, of Gowanda, N. Y., is assisting Rev. W. O. Calhoun with his special meetings here. Mrs. Crawford is a good talker and is awaking considerable interest. There have already been several conversions.

Mr. Elliott's Report on the Cook Lands to Governor Tener. Within the past few weeks the REPUBLICAN has given accounts of the possibility of the State acquiring the Cook estate lands for a public park. Below we give an installment of the report of State Forestry Commissioner S. B. Elliott, who made an examination of the property at the request of Governor Stuart. The report is in form as it is to be laid before Governor Tener. It is very lengthy and will be printed in two installments: Report of examination of a proposed State Park, located in Jefferson, Clarion and Forest Counties, Pa., belonging to A. W. Cook and others.

Carrying out the understanding between ourselves and Governor Stuart, I visited during the last days of Dec., 1910, the region of the proposed State Park, situated in Jefferson, Clarion and Forest counties, in this State. Owing to causes not necessary to relate I was able to make only a partial examination which, however, was sufficient to justify me in deciding that the project was a subject worthy of serious and careful consideration, and one that should be gone into more fully than I have been able to do. Maps should be secured with details of acreage of the different character and varied condition of soil, surface and forest covering, and also the exterior boundaries, streams, roads, etc. The map shown me contained but little of this information. In the main the surface of the tract, which I understand contains about 10,000 acres, is a plateau, with such modifications as the erosion of comparatively recent geologic times has brought about over a large part of our State. The tract is traversed by the Clarion river, down which, from far above this point much lumber has, in the past, been floated to Pittsburgh or other markets lower down. The river here has cut its way down fully 400 feet below the general average surface of the plateau, with, in some cases, precipitous sides, and other gentle slopes. The general course of the river where it passes through the tract is slightly south and west, although it is very crooked and places can be found where it runs towards nearly every point of the compass. It has several small tributaries, which are located on both sides, and these have, where they join it, cut their way down to the river's level. These form, in most instances, easy and convenient routes of access to the latter. The main surface of the plateau is gently rolling, and except in the ravines, varying not much more than 75 or 100 feet in elevation; but still with rough irregularity to bring about a wonderfully charming variety of surface and ever-changing landscape. The average height of the plateau is about 1,500 feet above tide. As one approaches the Clarion river, which in some places is really a gorge, and there catches a glimpse of the winding streams, there is a sudden change from repose and quiet to a wild and picturesque surroundings, and the transition is so sudden that it intensifies the beauty of the entire landscape. When once in the valley of the Clarion river the whole scene is transformed. Here steep and gentle slopes alternate and little level ground is to be seen. In some places both abrupt and very declivities come down to the river's very edge, while in others there are little areas which barely give room for a roadway; and, again, others of several acres in extent of practically level ground,—the latter in strong contrast to the rugged rocks which show their heads high up on the steep hillsides. Any one seeking the repose and quiet which an approximately level region formed of gentle slopes and quiet dales can give, and "where distance lends enchantment to the view," may find all that the heart desires in the higher portions of the tract, while one who seeks the stimulus which a wild fantastic region affords may gratify that craving along the winding and rapid-flowing Clarion river; and he who seeks a "Lodge in some vast wilderness, some boundless contiguity of shade," can indulge that wish in the dense virgin forest which cover not only the upland but both the abrupt and gentle slopes which border the river and the tributaries which enter it. For varied scenery the region has few equals and no superiors. While I concede to it picturesque and charming scenic features I do not look upon them as the most valuable ones. Its forest features, its dense and vigorous growth of the most valuable species of trees, make it one of the most important tracts of timber land to be found in our State, and for its size, and without a superior east of the Rocky Mountains and north of Mason and Dixon's Line. Quite a large area of it is covered with a dense virgin forest, mainly composed of white pine, yet with some first-class hemlock and hardwoods intermingled. The ax of the lumberman has never invaded this. There are many acres of it that will yield for 40,000 to 60,000 feet, board measure, per acre and the trees are still vigorous and healthy; and it will be a long time before they will naturally decline. In most cases the pines run from two to three feet in diameter and from 100 to 125 feet in height, and will allow three and sometimes four 16 foot logs to be cut before a limb is reached. This portion is, in full measure, an exemplification of the poet's idea of a "Forest primeval," and as it is very doubtful if there remains in the United States an equal area of such a stand of white pine, it would be a public calamity and little short of State vandalism to permit its destruction. It should be allowed to grow on and thus become a living monument illustrating Pennsylvania's former greatness of forest wealth. White pine is indigenous to North America only and of the small area left this, no doubt, is the best, and it should be preserved as an object lesson for future attainment for forest reproduction. Probably not one person in 10,000 will hereafter see such trees again, even if these are preserved, and practically none will be seen if they are destroyed. (To be concluded.)

For many years he was one of the prominent educators of Clarion county and for a time was associated with F. E. and H. C. Whittekin, civil engineers, in Tionesta. His jovial disposition made him many friends here, who will learn with regret of his demise. He also taught school in this county and was principal of the Marienville schools. Going to Parker Mr. Miller became a member of the lumber firm of E. E. Amisler & Co., and was in charge of the company's business. He was also interested in the Weisfeld Manufacturing & Chemical Co., of which he was secretary. He was serving his second term as Mayor of the city. He was a member of Olive Lodge No. 557, F. and A. Amisler; also by a son and daughter, Frederick and Marion. The son, who is 14 years old, is ill with typhoid fever.
