Gov. TEXNER will play baseball for charity next Friday. He will cover first base on a team of college players who will participate in a game at the Country club, at Harrisburg. The proceeds will go to a fund for pasteurized milk for Harrisburg's poor children. The plan, supported by a number of society women, is headed by Mrs. Olmstead, wife of Congressman Olmstead. The big Governor, who is a famous extension league pitcher, will be the drawing card for this game and the crowd will doubtless be a big one.

An act recently passed by the legislature of this state makes unnaturalized foreign born residents subject to taxation in the same manner as citizens of the Commonwealth. An unnaturalized man in Pennsylvania who has resided in this state for one year shall be subject to the payment of all taxes, assessed by virtue of the Commonwealth, of any county, city, borough, township or school district in this state, in the same manner and under the same penalties as citizens of this Commonwealth now are. Provided, That this act shall not apply to any poll-tax which may be assessed for the purpose of qualifying citizens to vote.

The Supreme court of Pennsylvania has recently handed down a decision which is of vital interest to municipalities in which water supply companies are located. The case was brought by the Clear Springs Water company to restrain the borough authorities of Catawago from establishing a water plant of its own. This, the court decides, is a legal proceeding, though it has heretofore been generally supposed that when a borough owned a franchise to a private water company, it (the borough) was thereupon barred from establishing its own water supply. The inherent rights of the municipality to provide for itself are thus maintained and upheld.

Crazy Game Legislation. Judging by a new game bill that has passed the House at Harrisburg it is the intention of the lawmakers to deprive about one-half the citizens of the state of their share of the game that flourishes in this latitude. Under this bill the open season will be from November 1 to December 15. This will deprive the northern half of the state of all woodcock shooting, since these birds, being of the migratory class, will have taken their flight for southern climes long enough before the opening date. The month of October, the pleasantest of all the year for outdoor sports, is completely obliterated as a game month. During this month, when pheasants are scattered and well protected by the leaves which still cling to the bushes, it requires some effort and skill to get them and it is a rare thing for any hunter to bag the limit. But in November the trees and bushes are bare, the birds are driven in coveys to find shelter from cold and stormy weather in the valleys, and a whole covey is often cleaned out by a single hunter, who will be doing well to get two or three birds in a day's hunting in October. No that, instead of a law to protect and conserve these noble game birds, this bill is more in the nature of one to make the slaughter of pheasants a cinch. As to squirrels, there would be no need to hunt for them, as by the first of November they're holed up for the winter, and the occasional one that leaves his warm nest for a little outing is sure not to get far away from it nor to stay out long at a time. The bill also takes in raccoons and gives them the protection of a close season. The raccoon is at once the most destructive marauder that haunts the forest. He slyly robs birds' nests, steals the eggs of hatching pheasants, and when the streams get down low in summer time, Mr. Coon goes fishing, and will fill up about twice a day on brook trout, taking big and little alike. There should be a bounty on the raccoon instead of a protection. What the average legislator doesn't know about a common sense game law is plenty.

Duhring and Vicinity. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Emminger of Duhring entertained at a house warming in honor of Mr. Emminger's sister, Mrs. A. E. Shook, of Sharon. Music and games were a feature of the evening. At a late hour a fine luncheon was served by the hostess. All spent a very pleasant evening. Mrs. F. W. Knupp, music teacher, has been quite busy the past week training the quartet for the Easter services at Duhring. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felton of Sackett made Mr. and Mrs. Emminger a call Monday morning, on their return trip from visiting relatives in Marienville and Letota. Misses Edreda Speitz and Edith Miller visited the school at Duhring, Thursday. Curt Ions spent Sunday with his wife at Art Johnson's. Robbie Porter spent Saturday and Sunday with his family. F. W. Knupp put up a fine building on his premises the past week. R. N. Oyer moved his family from Nansen to Spring Creek, where he is conducting a boarding house. Sam Zuck spent a few days at his home at Tylersburg, returning Monday evening to his work at Spring Creek. Sam Oyer is thinking of going into the poultry business at Parrish. Bert Emminger purchased a fine hog from E. W. Heppinger. Dick Oyer and Barney Groce spent Wednesday afternoon in Sheffield. The young folks from Watson Farm attended Epworth League at Duhring Sunday night. The boys who work on the steam loader spent Friday afternoon in Sheffield. Fred Johnson, who has been on the sick list and doctoring with a specialist in Buffalo, is no better. E. W. Heppinger has been taking timbers out of the mill pond to build a rig for the new well he intends drilling on his new lease. Claude Nealy has been suffering the past week with a smashed finger. Ed Heppinger and son Paul made a business trip to Marienville, Saturday. The young folks who are studying music spent Friday evening with their teacher, Mrs. Knupp, who is pleased with their progress. Arthur Johnson spent Friday afternoon in Sheffield. Mrs. Mary Porter is visiting friends in Letota. F. W. Knupp was seen cutting grub worms out of a stump Friday, so we know the fishing season is here. Sam Oyer spent Sunday afternoon with Bert Emminger. Carl Speitz called at John Anderson's, Ferndale, Friday evening. John Guyer has been employed by R. N. Oyer as blacksmith for a few days.

Something New In Books. Surely "in the writing of books there is no end," we thought, as the intelligence reached us recently that a new book had been published by Sherman, French & Co., 6 Beacon St., Boston, whose author is none other than a former Tionesta pastor, the Rev. Albert S. Stuart. Within the past few days, it has been our privilege to read this nicely bound volume, which the author has yeeted "St. Luke's Garden," and which we find devoted to the delights of travel in our eastern states, and consider ourselves fortunate in having it added to our library for the nominal sum of $1.10. The English call it of the choicest. The author's aesthetic nature has been given full play and his classic touches add a charm to his descriptions. He makes us hear the heart of nature beat and use of all the mighty works of Him who "watreth the mountains from His chambers." He gives a pleasing touch of romance to scenes as yet unang in western Pennsylvania, and "brings to view in panoramic movement, forest and mountain and stream" in their springtime beauty. The readers of this section of the beautiful Allegheny, will note with pride the glimpse they catch of "Tionesta the fair"; "Hickory with its gentle slope"; "Tidoute the picturesque" and "Warren the elegant." In the 31 chapters, covering in all, 124 pages, sketches are drawn of portions of that wonderful picture of the Creator, painted in heavenly beauty on the mighty canvas of His universe. True incidents are given here and there which add special interest to the scenes described, and the lessons gleaned are of the purest and best. We believe the book will more than fulfill the mission designed by Mr. Stewart in bringing its readers into closer touch with nature and with nature's "covenant-keeping God, whose almighty hand set solid on their vast foundations, the eternal hills, bathed in the beauty of the evening sunlight."

Clarion High School Commencement. The first commencement of the Clarion High School, held on April 8, 9 and 10, was a great success. On Saturday evening Miss Marie Engdahl and her eighth grade pupils banqueted the seniors at the home of Martha Greenhill, an eighth grade pupil. Everything was nicely arranged and all spent a most enjoyable evening. At the close Prof. Burnham surprised the eighth grade pupils by presenting them diplomas. On Sunday evening the baccalaureate sermon was preached in the Methodist church by Rev. H. E. Phipps, of Marienville. A large crowd attended and all were very much pleased with the address. The music was furnished by the other students. On Monday evening an enthusiastic audience gathered in the Methodist church to hear the commencement exercises. After the class had marched in and had sung a song of welcome, Sadie Dunkle called the roll in original poetry that was both witty and appropriate. [Owing to its late arrival and length, eighteen verses, we are obliged to omit the poetry.—Ed.] An oration entitled "How to be Popular," was given in a masterly style by Neil Hotel. Mary Coon then read a very well arranged history of the class, after which Irene Cook presented each member of the class a useful present, explaining the gift in verse. She gave to Robert Campbell a small mirror, to Gusie Brewer a ring, to Neil Hotel a curling iron, to Ralph Fitzgerald a teddy bear, to Mary Coon a broad knife, to Sadie Dunkle a necklace, to Donald Heasley a bed, and to Ruby Matthews a handkerchief. The class sang "Our Nation," which was followed by a well prepared and instructive oration entitled "The Great Within," by Ruby Matthews. She told about the powers hidden in every one of us that are never brought to light, the powers we know when we say "I can." Ralph Fitzgerald caused much laughing by his description of the Clarion High School and the dark side of the future school. Donald Heasley pictured a successful school. Both numbers were well given. Along with the humor there was much good advice. In a well arranged story Augusta Brewer gave a most entertaining prediction of the future of her classmates. Robert Campbell kept the audience in convulsions by his mock valedictory. His delivery shows that he has good claims to become the great orator that Miss Brewer predicted. After the class sang its farewell song, Rev. Mr. Stewart of New Bethlehem, gave a most entertaining and instructive address. In it he urged the pupils to have courage, enthusiasm and consecration. With these they could not fail. Supt. Morrison gave a short address, after which he presented the diplomas to the graduates; also read and white carnations with the compliments of the W. C. T. U. Rev. Mr. Stewart dismissed the audience.

REWARD FOR BOY HERO. Youth Who Extinguished Flame In Girl's Veil Given Bank Account. Wilkes-Barre, Pa., April 18.—Father Griffin, pastor of Stajisus church, this city, has founded a bank account for 10-year-old John A. Schmitt. The latter rushed to the altar railing and rescued a girl who was receiving her first communion and whose veil had been ignited by a candle. The boy's heroic act prevented a panic. Hold Proprietors Responsible. New York, April 18.—The coroner's jury that has been investigating the Asche building fire returned a verdict after a seven hour session, holding Isaac Harris and Max Black, proprietors of the Triangle Waist company, in whose factory the fire occurred, responsible for the death of Mary Herman, the young operator, whose death the jury elected to investigate.

Blackleg. Owners of livestock in Forest County whose cattle are exposed to the infection of blackleg or blackquarter may have their cattle vaccinated against this disease by the State Livestock Sanitary Board without cost to the owner of the cattle by complying with the following rules: 1. An application for vaccination shall be filled out and mailed to Dr. C. J. Marshall, Secretary of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, Harrisburg, before May 1st, 1911. 2. The application shall contain the name and address of the owner of the cattle, a statement as to the location of the farm upon which the animals are kept and the number and kind of animals in the herd. 3. Vaccinations cannot be made at the expense of the State Livestock Sanitary Board upon application received after May 1st. For such cases vaccine will be furnished free of charge, but the owner will be required to defray the expenses of employing the veterinarian to administer it. C. J. MARSHALL, State Veterinarian.
