—The case against John M. Andrews, charged with the murder of Emilio Amann, is set for trial in Warren this week. Efforts on the part of the defense have been made to get a continuance to the September term, on account of illness of one of the defendant's attorneys, and that point will be decided today by Judge Hinkle, before whom the case will be tried. —Many anxious inquiries are made concerning the condition of George W. Warden, general manager of the extensive lumbering operations of Wheeler & Dusenbury at Endeavor, whose illness was noted in these columns a couple of weeks ago. While yet in a precarious state of health it is gratifying to learn that his physicians are encouraged by their patient's progress, which, though necessarily slow owing to the nature of his ailment, is nevertheless in the right direction.
—The Hickory township school board met Monday and re-elected the following teachers for the coming year: Endeavor, High School, Laura Smutz, principal, No. 4, Iva D. Carpenter, No. 3, Dora A. Rosen, No. 2, Laura McKean, No. 1, Christine Anderson; Queen, Ethel Douglas; Beaver Valley, Maude Head. On account of contemplated changes in the schools, teachers were not elected for the Church Hill and Albion schools. The length of the term will be the same as heretofore, eight months, but the opening date was not decided.
—The Allegheny river and other streams are still filled with floating dead fish, and interested parties, including fish wardens and fishermen, are beginning to wonder if the thousands of dead bodies seen were the victims of disease or dynamite. The fish are so numerous that they leave a very undesirable stench along the streams and on shallow riffles hundreds have lodged. They are mostly of the species known as "soft" fish—suckers, chubs, horned dace and the like. The fish warden is puzzled, and though he has made many trips along the river he cannot find any trace of dynamite being used except the floating dead fish.—Warren Times.
—The twenty-ninth annual convention of Franklin District of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society was held in the Methodist Episcopal Church in Nebraska, Pa. May 31, and June 1, with 25 delegates in attendance. Mrs. T. N. Rogers of Oil City, the district secretary, was present and presided at each session. Mrs. A. M. Hopkins of Glen Hazel, and Mrs. A. C. Ellis of Oil City, gave an interesting and instructive evening's lecture on "What I have seen and heard in Edinburg". Thursday afternoon Mrs. W. S. Mitchell of Oil City conducted a symposium which included the spiritual woman, the young woman, the talented woman, the ordinary woman, and thoughtless woman. The discussions all through the convention were very helpful. The convention adjourned to meet in Kouseville in 1912.
—In the prize essay contest under the auspices of the scientific temperance instruction department of the W. C. T. U. of Forest county, seven essays were written in the Barnett township schools by pupils in the eighth grade. The work was carefully considered by the judges, Mesdames Weak and Huling of Tionesta, and Beck of Marienville, and their decision given in favor of Miss Susie Black of Greenwood school as winner of first prize, which was $2.00, and Miss Martha Greenhill winner of second prize, $1.00. Each of the other contestants received a neat little badge. All the essays were of unusual merit, showing careful thought and preparation on the part of the writers. The subject taken was a very pertinent one to present day conditions: "Why do employers demand total abstinence on the part of their employees?"
—From a private letter from our old friend L. J. Osgood, formerly of Endeavor, we take the liberty to quote a few lines: "I am located away up in the mountains, close to famous Mt. Ranier. It is winter here during the night, but the days are fine. We have a big mill here on which I am head flier. It is a 10-foot wheel, the saws are 16 inches wide, 60 feet long and 12 gauges thick with teeth 3 inches apart; an edger that will take in a cut 10 inches thick and 6 feet wide. Then we have an 8-inch hand re-saw. The mill has run but 10 months and I am the sixth head flier they have had. There seems to have been something wrong either with the mill or the fliers, yet I have been here two months and have had no trouble, making everything go good. I note with sadness the passing of quite a number of my old friends in the east, reminding me that the infirmities of age will soon have us all. Kindly change the address on my paper from Buckley to Fairfax, Wash. I am always anxious to get the old FOREST REPUBLICAN to see what is going on in my old home county. My best wishes to all old friends."
—Do you read the REPUBLICAN? If not, why not try it for a year? Costs only $1 and gives all the county news.

Hillard and Miss Margaret Loreta Black was solemnized, Rev. Dr. W. H. McMillen, of the Second Presbyterian church of Allegheny, performing the ceremony, assisted by Rev. J. E. After a honeymoon trip which shall include a sojourn on the south branch of the beautiful Potomac river, Mr. and Mrs. Hillard will be "at home" to their friends at Oil City where they will reside for a few months.
First Man Hanged in Clarion County.
The first man to be hanged in Clarion county was Vincent Voycheck, who was hanged Thursday, June 1st. The day for his execution was appointed by the Governor the first of May, but he seemed to have an idea he would be pardoned. He was very healthy and peaceable during the entire time of his imprisonment. When the men were building the scaffold he made the remark, "They may build it, but not for me."
On the night of May 31st he was very restless and slept but very little. He arose early and asked for his breakfast, but was refused because he had not made his last communion. When his spiritual counselor, the Rev. Winkler, arrived he made his communion, and then ate a little breakfast. About 9:30 a. m. he was dressed and at 10:05 was told to go on the scaffold. He walked unopposed to the scaffold and after getting there repeated a prayer. The cap was then placed on his head by the deputy sheriff and he was asked if he had anything to say. His reply was in the negative. The rope was put around his neck, and the trap was sprung by a man from Pittsburg, whom the sheriff had engaged. He fell four and one-half feet and hanged fourteen minutes and seventeen seconds before he was pronounced dead by the physicians. The body was conveyed to the Catholic church where funeral services were held and then laid in the Catholic cemetery.
Yours respectfully,
FLOESSIE M. BRADEN.
Voycheck was aged thirty-four years. He was an Austrian and killed Andrew Stupka, a countryman, at Rimersburg on the 8th of October, 1909, after a day's carousal, using a knife with which he cut his victim eight times. This is the first execution to take place in Clarion county since its organization, over 70 years ago.

RECENT DEATHS.

Besides her parents she is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Bessie Gladys and Hollis. The child had been ill about three weeks from diabetes. The parents were former residents of Bowmansville, in that county, and have many friends in that community who will sympathize with them in this bereavement. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday afternoon by Rev. D. B. Tobey of the F. M. church, of which the parents are members. Interment in the family plot in Grove Hill cemetery.
FITZGERALD.
Another of our veterans of the Civil war, and a worthy and respected citizen of our borough, has answered the last roll call. Monday, June 5, 1911, at 2 o'clock p. m., Solomon Fitzgerald passed away at his home in Tionesta, after an illness of several months, aged 76 years. Mr. Fitzgerald was born in Farmington township, Clarion county, Pa., March 22, 1835, and was a son of John and Susan (Dunkle) Fitzgerald, both natives of Pennsylvania, of Scotch-Irish descent, and early settlers of Clarion county. Solomon was reared and educated in his native county, and in 1858 he located in Barnett township, this county. He was in the Civil war, enlisting in April, 1861, and was assigned to Company K, Eleventh Regiment, Pennsylvania Reserve Corps; was wounded at Charles City Cross Roads in the seven days' fight before Richmond; was taken prisoner, and spent forty days in Libby and Belle Isle prisons, when he was exchanged and then rejoined his regiment at Alexandria, Va. He was afterward twice wounded at the battle of Fredericksburg, being shot through the leg and right wrist, and was honorably discharged on account of wounds, in September, 1863. After his return home he engaged in lumbering in Forest county until 1886, when he was elected treasurer of the county for a term of three years. He married, in 1865, Rebecca, daughter of William and Maria (Keister) Henry, of Farmington township, and to this union were born six children, three of whom, Albert W., of East Liverpool, Ohio, Mary, at home, and Samuel, of New Castle, Pa., with the mother, are left surviving. One brother and one sister also survive him, as follows: Leonard Fitzgerald, of Mayburg, and Mrs. Susan Conner, residing near Sigo, Clarion county. Mr. Fitzgerald had been a faithful member of the Methodist Episcopal church for more than twenty-five years, being always regular in his attendance upon its services, and leading a consistent christian life. He was also a member of the G. A. R., I. O. O. F., and K. of P.
Funeral services in memory of the deceased will be held at his late home this, Wednesday, afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. O. Calhoun, to be followed by interment in Riverside cemetery.
Former Tionesta Boy Passes Away.
The following account of the death of John Patton Tate, is from the Idaho Statesman, of April 25, 1911, published at Boise, Idaho. Many Tionesta friends of the family will learn with keen regret of the death of "Jack," as he was familiarly known to them, and will extend sincere sympathy to the remaining members in this bereavement:
"News was received yesterday of the death Sunday evening, at San Jose, Cal., of John P. Tate, a former well known resident of Boise. Mr. Tate has been living at Morgan Hill, Cal., for some years, in the hopes that the climate would benefit his health, and had gone to San Jose for special treatment. It is thought by his relatives here that the treatment was too severe for his system to withstand.
"Mr. Tate came to Boise about 20 years ago and was the owner of one of the largest insurance agencies of the northwest at the time of his business retirement four years ago. He invested his money in Boise, being confident of its future, and lived here until his ill health compelled him to leave, selling out his interest to his brothers, Wilbur and Philip Tate.
"To Mr. Tate and W. S. Bruce belongs the credit of establishing the Y. M. C. A. in Boise, all religious work being close to his heart, particularly work with young men. Even his serious illness, which necessitated his being wheeled about in an invalid chair for three years, did not prevent his engaging in this work. While in Boise last summer he organized a branch of the "daily testament reading society" in several of the churches and in the Y. M. C. A.
"He was one of the most liberal subscribers to all worthy causes, including the local hospitals, the Salvation Army and all the missionary societies. He owns the Angus hotel and the Alaska building, and a handsome suburban home in South Boise. At the time of the erection of the former building Mr. Tate made arrangements that on his death it should be transferred to the American Sunday School union, a nonsectarian institution. By the terms of the will the members of his family are to receive a certain part of the proceeds annually until death, after which the building will be owned by the Sunday School union.
"Mr. Tate, who was born in Tionesta, Pa., 41 years ago, was an active member of the South Boise Presbyterian church during his residence in Boise. He was married in this city in 1868 to Miss Emma Gekeler, who survives him, together with four sons, David, John, Philip and Paul. Other relatives are his mother, Mrs. Katherine Tate, two sisters, Mrs. Susanna Osgood and Mrs. A. P. Wilson, and two brothers, Wilbur J. and Philip E. Tate.
"The body will be brought to Boise for burial, funeral arrangements to be made when particulars are learned from California."
