MUST LEAD SIMPLE LIFE

Dunkards Will Discipline Members Who Are Worldly.

Reading, Pa., June 20.—Members of the Church of the Brethren (Dunkards) returned from St. Joseph, Mo., yesterday, where they attended the general conference of the church. Important action was taken reaffirming the position of the church on the matter of dress, urging more strict conformation to the rules of simplicity of life and attire, and suggesting that special efforts be made to hold the young people in the church.

A committee which has been appointed to consider the subject recommended that the women wear plain clothing with no adornments whatsoever, and that bonnets or hoods be the head dress. The male members are to wear plain standing collars and black coats.

(Gold for ornament and jewelry of any kind will not be tolerated. It shall be the duty of each pastor to teach his flock the simple life, and see to it that it is observed.)

Those who do not conform with the rules will be dealt with as disorderly members. The conference also went on record as being opposed to sending a representative to the Universal Peace conference.

STORM FULLY CURES WOMAN

Although Long Paralyzed, She is Able to Walk to Church.

Reading, Pa., June 20.—During a terrific electrical storm, which swept over this region last week, Mrs. Mary R. Wentzell, who had been a paralytic for three years, found herself able to move her arm. Later she was able to stand, and yesterday, for the first time in months, she walked to church. Her strange cure was announced from the pulpit at the morning's service by the Rev. A. R. Yost, whose statement answered the question on the lips of many persons who could not understand how Mrs. Wentzell came to be in her long vacant pew.

Mrs. Wentzell's cure is attributed by the minister to prayer. Members of the congregation, he said, had always remembered the woman's affliction when asking for Divine mercy. Mrs. Wentzell was in bed during the storm. The lightning played around her home almost continuously. Finding herself able to move she cried out. Her family helped her to her feet and gradually her muscles strengthened and she was able to stand alone.

FISH BITE MAY BE FATAL

Talk of Amputating Leg of Man in Attempt to Save Life.

Philadelphia, June 20.—Bitten on the ankle by a bluefish last week, Paul Jaquette of 117 Kaighn avenue, Camden, is suffering from general blood poisoning in the leg in the Cooper hospital, and is not expected to live. Physicians may amputate his leg at the knee today in an effort to check a further spread of the poison.

Jaquette was one of a party of amateur fishermen who went down the Delaware in a motorboat to try their luck. They had much of it, and were kept so busy that the captured fish were thrown into the bottom of the craft. Jaquette took off his shoes during the day, and in walking across the pit was bitten by a big fish on his exposed ankle. He paid no attention to the wound until blood poisoning developed.

The First Oyster Eater.

The gluttonous Vitellius is reported to have eaten 1,000 oysters at a sitting. "He was a very valiant man who first ventured on eating of oysters," King James was wont to declare, a sentiment echoed by the poet Gay: The man had sure a palate covered o'er With brass or steel that on the rocky shore First broke the oozy oyster's peary coat And risked the living morsel down his throat.

Trying to Help.

Hotel Clerk (to rural guest closing front entrance)—Hey, there! What are you trying to do? Uncle Eben—Don't get excited, young fellow! I jest thought, seeing as how I was probably the last one in tonight, I'd do the right thing and lock the doors "fore going to bed"—Puck.

TRAIN HITS HIS AUTO

Artist W. J. Munce Killed Near Washington, Pa.—Attorney Escapes by Jump.

Washington, Pa., June 20.—W. J. Munce, a wealthy artist of Washington, was killed and H. B. Hughes, a lawyer, was severely injured last evening when their automobile was struck by a Pennsylvania passenger train two miles north of here.

Mr. Munce was driving and stopped to see if a train was approaching, but cars on a siding obstructed his view. Mr. Hughes jumped in time to save himself, but sustained a sprained leg and painful bruises.

The men were driving to the Washington Country club when the accident occurred. Mr. Munce was a son of W. J. Munce, one of the widest known wool men in the United States.

POPULAR SINGER STRICKEN

Harold Stahler Makes Futile Fight Against Spinal Disease.

Allentown, Pa., June 20.—There is much sympathy over the condition of Harold Stahler, who has spent nearly half of the last four years in bed, fighting spinal disease. Mr. Stahler, who has one of the finest baritone voices in America, first became afflicted six years ago.

When able to get out, he immediately secured an engagement through Walter Damrosch, and was hailed as a great artist. He was one of the most popular singers in the East.

Child Burns to Death.

Sharon, Pa., June 20.—Ivy, the eight-year-old daughter of Elma Dilley, was burned to death yesterday morning, when the house burned. The mother jumped from the second-story window to the ground, but the daughter fell backward into the fire and perished. Her charred remains were found later. The origin of the fire is not known.

Courtaut the Wolf.

Paris has forgotten the time when it used to go in terror of the wolves which carried off women and children from the streets and even raided the graveyards. At one time they became so mad with desire for human flesh that in a single week they devoured fourteen persons, all between Montmartre and the gate of St. Antoine. On the vigil of St. Martin (says Grace James in "Joan of Arc") there was hunted—and taken a horrible wolf,

"which it was said had done more, and more cruelly, than many others put together. That day he was killed. He had no tail, and from that he was called Courtaut. There was as much talk about him as if he had been an outlaw of the woods or a cruel captain, and when he lived folk said to one another as they went forth to labor in the fields, 'Look out for Courtaut.' And on this day he was taken through Paris in a cart, dead, with his great jaws open, and all the people went to see, and they made holiday and rejoiced, because Courtaut could trouble them no more."

Rented Wedding Cakes.

There was something wrong with the cake, the baker said. It looked all right, and it smelled all right, but his artistic sense told him it would not taste all right. "Then fix it up with an extra coat of icing and we will keep it for a renter," said the proprietor. "Who in the world would rent a cake?" some one asked. "Wedding parties," said he. "They want a big cake in the center of the table for show, but a cake of that size good enough for a wedding would cost more than they can afford to pay, so they order fine cake put up in individual boxes for the guests and use the bride's cake just as an ornament. They don't buy it; they rent it. Sometimes a cake is rented a dozen different times. After each wedding it is freshened up with a new coat of icing and looks as good as new for the next occasion. A good renter fetches about $3 a wedding."—New York Press.

Matter of Intelligence.

Mrs. Suburbs—John, did you call at the intelligence office today to inquire about a maid of all work? Suburbs—Yes, my dear. Mrs. Suburbs—Couldn't you find one? Suburbs—Oh, yes; I found a dozen, but they were all too intelligent to come out to this place.—Chicago News.

HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Diet and Obesity.
Obesity cannot be controlled entirely by diet, although it is the principal factor. It is customary to reduce the amount of water taken to not more than one quart, the normal quantity being two quarts, including all drinks. The foods to be especially avoided in obesity are sweets, pork, veal, prepared dishes, potatoes, white bread, oatmeal, hominy, rice, fats, beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, cream and soups. Fish and lean beef are the least objectionable of the meats. Stale graham is the best bread.

Shut Her Up.
A young wife was continuously pestered by her mother-in-law about the way she was bringing up her firstborn babe. The young wife was intelligent and capable, and she was really doing very well with the baby. From her mother-in-law, however, she got nothing but sour advice, warnings and veiled abuse. One day the mother-in-law, looking fixedly at the mother with her baby on her lap, said angrily: "A woman has no right to have a child if she doesn't know how to hold it."
"No, nor a tongue either," was the quiet reply.—Detroit Free Press.

Berlin.
"Berle," from which Berlin has caught her name, means uncultivated land. Slavonian Wends, the earliest settlers on the sandy plain, could make but little out of the soil. The population in 1832 was only 250,000. Less than forty years later it was 800,000, and now it runs into 2,000,000. The man who gave to Berlin its present form was Frederick II, but Frederick the Great and the Great Elector started the noble hobby of beautifying the wonderful city.

The Mantle of Charity.
The lady was making some remarks about the kind of clothing some other ladies at church had on. "The finest garment a woman can wear," said her husband, "is the mantle of charity."
"Yes," she snapped, "and it is about the only dress, judging by the fuss they make over the bills, that some husbands want their wives to wear."

Sweden's "Church Boat."
The "church boat" is a popular institution in Sweden. It brings families to service from the farms around Lake Siljan to Leksand. The water route is the nearest and most convenient, and so the big boat goes from farm to farm along the shore picking up the churchgoers, who later return by the same route.—Wide World Magazine.

Suit Soliloquy!

To buy or not to buy—that's the question! Whether 'tis nobler in the mind to suffer the trash of "Bargain Sales," or to buy a guaranteed suit of ours and end a sea of troubles, and by the action also end the heart ache and avoid the shock of disappointment. 'Tis a consummation devoutly to be wished.

To Buy a Suit at $18 Elsewhere, and Perchance Get a Poorer Suit than We Sell for $15, There's the Rub!

When we have shuffled off this mortal coil, it matters not about our raiment—but, today we are particular and that doth give us pause. You may suffer the pangs of the law's delay and the insolence of office—they are but the heritage of man—but when it comes to a man's attire, we have the kind you want or we will our own quietus make.
