YOUNG BOY MISSING.

Nine-Year-Old Lad Disappears From His Home In Bath.

May Have Started to Walk to Home in Rochester—He Went Out to Play Friday Morning With Some Companions and That Was the Last Seen of Him—Other Items of Interest.

Edward Hargrave disappeared from the home of his grandmother, Mrs. Dil-dine, in Bath, N. Y., last Friday, and thus far his whereabouts have not been learned. The lad is the nine-year-old son of Edward Hargrave of 212 Lincoln avenue, Rochester, former resident of Bath. About four weeks ago he went to Bath to visit his grandmother.

On Friday morning he went out of doors to play with several companions and that was the last seen of him by his relatives. Chief of Police Ormsby was notified on Saturday, and run to earth several theories concerning the boy's disappearance, including reports that he had gone to the river and was drowned and that he had been spirited away by gypsies.

It was finally learned that the lad was seen on Friday, following the Erie railroad tracks towards Rochester; later he was reported as being in Avoca, eight miles west of Bath. It is believed the lad is trying to walk to Rochester, as he had complained of homesickness and expressed a wish to see his mother.

The authorities of Wayland, Atlanta, Cohocton and other places between Avoca and Rochester have been notified, and the lad may be apprehended ere he reaches the Flower City.

Storm Stripped Hickory Nut Trees A large proportion of the hickory trees in Genesee township have lost nearly all of their nuts during the continued high winds of the past several days. The trees were loaded and the Genesee youngsters had promised themselves all kinds of good times this fall to make up for the several off seasons for hickory nuts they have just passed. Genesee is in the Western New York black walnut belt, however, and in spite of the hurricanes of the past several days the walnuts have stuck to the heavily loaded trees.

For Good Roads.

The roads of the country will be benefited to the extent of $200,000,000 during the next five years if the house adopts and the senate and president then approve a resolution which Representative French of Idaho has introduced. It provides for an expenditure of $20,000,000 by the government each year for five years, the states to add an equal amount for improving their roads. The money would be divided among the states according to population, not counting cities with 30,000 or more population.

FAMILY HAD NO FOOD

Terrible Suffering of Widow and Her Children.

Sickness and Labor Overcome Chicago Woman Who No Longer Was Able to Feed Her Offspring—Effort to Provide For Family Under New Provisions of Juvenile Law.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Help under the new pension clause of the juvenile law will be sought for a widow and three sick babies, who were found starving in a basement yesterday. Mrs. Anna Wytiklone lost her husband by typhoid fever in September, 1909. Since that time she has been the wage earner and supported her babies until sickness prevented her. Charles, her oldest boy, who is less than five years old, is recovering from typhoid fever. Peter is two years old, and he has suffered during the hot weather with infantile diseases. Tony, who was born after the death of his father, is also sick, and the mother finds that she is worn out with her struggle and can no longer do scrubbing, by which she has been able to earn their food and medicine.

Family Facing Eviction.

Last month the $7 rent which Mrs. Wytiklone pays for her rooms was paid by a Sister of Charity. This month the little family is facing eviction. Their plight was discovered by Mrs. A. J. Musselman, who reported it and an investigation was made. The attention of Judge Pinckney of the juvenile court will be called to the case and an effort will be made to obtain a pension for the mother.

Family Facing Eviction.

Mrs. Wytiklone was betrothed to her husband before he came to America from Lithuania. He obtained work in a foundry here and sent for her as soon as he could earn passage money. He was stricken with typhoid fever and died before he could provide for his wife and two boys. Then her third son came, and she was compelled to seek work to support the three long before she was able to endure the hardship.
