Let Us Supply Your Cold Weather Needs.

As the days grow colder and the problem of deciding where to go for the winter apparel becomes pressing, careful Mrs. Housewife naturally wants to buy where prices are lowest and qualities best. When we claim this distinction for our store, we're making no idle boast. Carrying as we do, the largest and most varied stock of any retail establishment between Buffalo and Pittsburgh, we can't help being in a better position to offer you wider assortments and bigger savings than the smaller stores.

Hats, Tailored Suits, Costumes, Coats, Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Dry Goods of every sort, Rugs and Upholsteries—all are here in assortments most complete, while back of everything you purchase stands the Smart & Silberberg reputation for honesty, which has been well known since the store was started, more than twenty years ago.

On purchases amounting to $10.00, we'll give you a rebate covering your fare one way; purchases amounting to $20.00 or over mean that the cost of your entire trip is paid for. There's nothing you can lose by trading here, and there's a very great deal you can gain.

Superb Display of Tailored Suits.

Five minutes spent in looking at our stock of tailored suits for women will be enough to show the immense variety of styles and fabrics at the various prices.

Women of ample proportions will find suits in both odd and even sizes, so cleverly designed that Art conceals where Nature has been over-liberal. There are suits for small women who wish to add inches to their appearance, if not to their stature; suits dignified in style, yet preserving the lines of youth, for elderly women.

In a word, here are found suits of every Autumn color and every fashionable fabric, cut so scientifically that practically all of them require no alterations at all.

Expensive Looking Suits at $12.00 to $20.00.

Hand Tailored Suits at $25, $35 and $40.00.

Foreign and Domestic Linoleum.

We are showing the most up-to-date styles made for this Fall's display; both printed and inlaid Linoleum in patterns that will prove attractive to the most discriminating buyer.

Domestic patterns in inlaid and printed Linoleum are from the following concerns: Thomas Potter, Sons & Co.; Geo. W. Blabon Co.; Farr & Bailey Mfg. Co.

Foreign patterns are in the following makes: Staines Inlaid Linoleum from London, E. C.; Barry's Inlaid Linoleum from Scotland; Delmenhorst Linoleum (inlaid) from the Bremer Linoleum Works, Delmenhorst, Germany.

Patterns in inlaid linoleum from the above mills, two yards or two metres wide; $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2 a square yard.

Patterns in printed linoleum are all two yards wide; priced 50c, 60c and 75c a square yard.

Dr. Johnson and Fruit.

The return of the strawberry season was always heartily welcomed by Dr. Johnson, for, as he once declared, of strawberries and cream he never could have too much. Fortunately he sometimes had opportunity to indulge his taste to the full, for his friend, Dr. Taylor of Lehigh, who he contrived when possible to visit at strawberry time, was rather a noted fruit grower, and when at his house it was, as Johnson said, with gusto, "Strawberries and cream, tangerines, strawberries and cream!" A voracious eater at any time, Johnson's appetite for fruit was almost limitless. Mrs. Thrall tells us that he used often to eat half a dozen peaches before breakfast, and then frequently she had heard him complain that never in all his life had he quite as much wall fruit as he desired, save once. The exceptional occasion was during a visit to Lord Sandys' seat at Umberley. The exact quantity he then devoured has not been recorded, but he was accused of clearing a whole wall side.—Pall Mall Gazette.

The Light of Crystals.

All diamonds do not shine in the dark after exposure to sunlight or electric light, but some do to a remarkable degree. A diamond rubbed with a woolen cloth or against a hard surface will sometimes shine brilliantly. The emission of light is a property belonging to many if not all kinds of crystals.

A variety of white marble found at Hastings-on-the-Hudson, N. Y., gives out a flame colored glow when pounded and bright flashes when scratched with steel. In northern New York is found a kind of stone known locally as "bell fire rock," which exhibits bright sulphur colored streaks when scratched in the dark. Pieces of rose quartz rubbed together exhibit brilliant flashes, sometimes bright enough to illuminate the hands of the person holding them. Smoked quartz and other varieties sometimes show a similar phenomenon.—Chicago Record-Herald.

The fear of being found out is often mistaken for the prickings of conscience.

Light and Sound Waves.

With reference to our ability to tell the direction from which sound proceeds, attention may be called to an interesting difference between the eyes and the ears in relation to the size of the waves that strike them. The average wave length of light is about one ten-thousandth of the diameter of the pupil of the eye. On the other hand, according to Rayleigh, the waves of sound proceeding from a man's mouth are about eight feet long, whereas the diameter of the passage of the ear is quite small and could not well have been made a large multiple of eight feet. One consequence of the minuteness of light waves in comparison with the size of the eyes is that the lenses of the eyes are able to concentrate rays of light upon the retina with great efficiency.—Scientific American.

According to Orders.

In employing men to work at his Palo Alto farm in California the late Senator Stanford gave strict orders that they were never to strike, kick or whip a horse. On one occasion, while at dinner, one of the drivers insisted that he must see the driver. He was ushered in, with blood over his face, which was badly cut. "John knocked me down," explained the man, referring to one of the trainers. "What did you do?" asked the senator. "Nothing," replied the man. "But you must have done something. I want the truth," persisted the senator. "Well, I only kicked a horse," growled the man, "and John knocked me down." "Those were John's instructions," said the senator emphatically, "and he did just right."

Gallant.

Mme. Sarah Bernhardt once told of a gallant to whom she had been introduced. "His compliments," she said, "were so glowing that at last I cried out: 'But, monsieur, remember, I am sixty-four years old!'" "Madam," he replied, "to me you are just thirty-two, for I, seared as I have been by scandal, am too charitable ever to believe more than half of what I hear."

A HUGE EARTH DAM.

Belle Fourche Project Undertaken by the Government at Cost of $5,000,000.

The big Belle Fourche irrigation dam in South Dakota, is the largest earth embankment in the world. Construction of the project was authorized by Congress on May 9, 1904, at a cost of $5,000,000.

From an engineering standpoint the Belle Fourche project is one of the most interesting which the Government has yet undertaken. Its principal structure is the earthen dam. This wonderful dike, which closes the lowest depressions in the rim of a natural basin, is 6,200 feet long, 20 feet wide on top and 115 feet high in the highest place.

The inside face of this structure, which has a slope of 2 to 1, will be protected from wave and ice action by 2 feet of screened gravel, on which will be placed concrete blocks, each 4 by 6 feet and 8 inches thick. The cubical contents of this dike will be 42,700,000 cubic feet, or about half of the famous pyramid of Cheops. The reservoir created by this dam will cover about 9,000 acres, and will be the largest lake in the State.—Popular Mechanics.

Elk Invade Washington Farms.

The heavy snows in the Olympic Mountains drove herds of elk down to this section and have grown fat on the hay and straw belonging to ranchers. Farmers generally take the invasion philosophically and several of them have gone to the length of putting out fodder for the half starved animals. It is unlawful to kill elk in this State until 1915. In the meanwhile the elk may roam at will on the farmers' land. Many of the ranchers figure that by feeding and harboring the elk they may stay on their farms until after the closed season ends in 1915. Elk are more plentiful in the mountain regions than generally supposed and are increasing.

A Watchmaker's Ingenuity.

A despatch in a French newspaper from Berlin recounts the remarkable achievements of a watchmaker, one Carron a Pole. The fame of Carron had reached the ears of the Czar. His Majesty ordered that some brass nails, some wood splinters, a piece of glass and a broken cup or lengths of iron wire should be sent to the craftsman with the command that he should turn this material into a watch. The porcelain cup served as the case and the works were made of the other material. The Czar was surprised to receive the completed work in an incredibly short time.—London Globe.

A 70 Mile Fox Chase.

"I notice a good deal of comment on a sixty mile two day fox hunt in Pennsylvania," remarked a fox hunter, "which reminds me that we covered more than seventy miles here recently in a single day, and what is more, we got the fox. 'First of all we rode not less than fifteen miles and back thirty miles. In the work-out we covered not less than twelve miles, and in the four hour chase, red hot every minute, surely thirty miles more, a total of not less than seventy-two miles.' 'Personally I believe it to be one of the most remarkable runs on record.'—Raleigh Times.

Wild Turkey in Virginia.

In King George county, Virginia, wild turkeys have been unusually plentiful. In a number of instances they joined flocks of domestic turkeys in barnyards. On the premises of Chapman Price, Belle Isle, a wild turkey joined the flock of fowls in the yard and when Price walked toward it the fowl became entangled in a wire fence and was caught. Alexander Pott, one of the best shots in King George county, frightened some wild fowl away from his flock of turkeys and succeeded in shooting one as it flew away in the direction of the woods.—Washington Star.

War Time Letter Box.

There is an interesting relic of the late civil war in Harrisburg in the post office box used by the soldiers camped at Second and Foster streets as a letter box. It is a wooden box that originally held a thousand cartridges, about 12 by 11 inches in size and 6 inches deep, and in the top is a slot in which the letters were dropped. It had a hinged lid with lock, and stood in the headquarters tent, from which all mail was carried once a day. When the camp broke up the present owner of the box got it from the commandant and has kept it ever since, and it is in first class condition.

How a Boy Caught a Carp.

It isn't safe for the carp in the West Branch to take a nap. Clarence Shafer, a ten-year-old boy of Muncy Dam, caught a 20 pound German carp recently by a unique method. Clarence said that he was walking along the shore when he happened to see the big fish "sitting" near the bank asleep. "He waded out to the fish and putting both arms around it threw it to the bank, he says, and it 'never woke up,' though, he had a tussle, but finally got it back in the field and then took it home.—Pennsylvania Record.

Pennsylvanian's Locust Exhibit.

H. Z. Baker of Newville, Cumberland County, has four bottles of seven-year locusts of dates as follows: 1851, 1868, 1885 and 1902. He was 12 years old the first time he saw them and is now 72 years past. Each bottle is labeled and contains one locust for each of the dates named.—Philadelphia Record.
