

The Smart and Silberberg Co.

Centre Street at Elm, Oil City, Pa.

A Wide Assortment of Dress Goods.

Dress Goods Department is showing all the weavings in most extensive variety. Among them are:

Fine Scotch mixtures from the braes and heath of bonny Scotland, made of the finest and softest of Scotch mixed weaves, in colors that are more than usually popular for smart suitings. For fabrics that are in favor with Fashion this fall, there is nothing to surpass these splendid Scotch mixtures. Navy blue materials of suiting weight—a most attractive collection of excellent fall fabrics in this always popular shade.

Homespun suitings; diagonal mixtures; novelty chevrots; heavy chevrots; heavy twilled worsted serges; broadcloths; two-toned reversible fabrics; and all the other popular and staple weaves.

Come to this store with any style or fabric in mind; you'll find a good selection of styles and qualities from which to choose at prices that are astonishingly little.

Economies in Blankets and Bedding.

Now is a particularly good time to replenish bedding supplies if note is taken of the special values offered by this store. Among blankets and comforts unusual variety is shown in style and color; many grades are marked at prices so reduced as to make their purchase at this time a matter of vital importance to every housewife.

Let Us Pay the Expense of Your Trip.

On purchases amounting to $10, we rebate your fare one way; on purchases of $20 or over we'll pay for your round trip ticket. A little planning in advance makes it possible for you to shop in the largest store between Buffalo and Pittsburg, with no item of traveling expense to be considered.

Gilbert Always Remembered.
This Gilbert story reaches me from an old Harrobian, says a writer in the Manchester Guardian. In 1872 the people of the town got up theatricals to raise funds for a hospital. Dr. Butler, the head master, said he would not allow the school to go unless the pieces were first submitted to him. One was Gilbert's "Palace of Truth." In it is a passage in which the hero says to the heroine, "Meet me at 9 o'clock tonight outside the garden gate." Dr. Butler vetoed this and substituted, "Meet me at 3 o'clock this afternoon." This seemed to him more decorous. Some years after Gilbert was invited to the Harrow speeches. In reply to the toast of his health he said, "I am very much interested in visiting Harrow, for as far as I know it is the only place in the world where a line of mine has ever been condemned as improper." Great consternation prevailed—all the greater because no one except the speaker and one other person, who was just leaving Harrow in 1872, knew what he meant. It was not Gilbert's way to forget these things.

Somewhat Absentminded.
Some amusing glimpses of the discoverer of chloroform are given in the "Recollections of Lady Priestly," wife of Simpson's assistant at the time of the discovery. "The professor," she writes, "used to make his experiments with chloroform on us girls, and with some of the liquid just poured on a handkerchief would have laid a dozen of us lying about in various stages of sleep. Our mother feared nothing and was only too delighted to sacrifice, if unavoidable, a daughter or two to science! * * * He was extremely absentminded. I remember once jouncing at his house when he had just arrived from some antiquarian expedition. The butler, who had been unpacking his things, came in and said confidentially, 'Doctor, you have left all your flannel vests behind! Ah! Oh!' replied Simpson, feeling himself all over. 'I've got them all on.'"—Pall Mall Gazette.

Ooping the Baby.
"At the first sign of an attempt to standardize and sterilize the babies," says Ellis Parker Butler in Success Magazine, "I organized the Fond Fathers' Oop-de-baby Association of America. For thousands of years fathers have been permitted to oop-de-baby unrestrained, and this right was one of the first rights attacked by the advocates of the automatic baby. I considered it a double blow at the baby and at the father and resented it as such. If a father may not oop his own baby, what is the world coming to? Ooping a baby is a father's greatest pleasure. It is the act of grasping the baby under the arms, tossing the baby into the air and catching it on its down trip, while the words "Oop-de-baby" are repeated at each toss. This is repeated until the baby is hysterical or drops on the floor by accident. It is then handed to its mother."

Bones Stronger Than Oak.
The wonderful power of bone structure has been tested scientifically to show how that hollow bone bears strain. A very small bone, only one square millimeter (.0155 square inch) in diameter, will hold thirty-three pounds in suspension without breaking, while a piece of the best oak of the same thickness will hold up only twenty-two pounds. The bone is therefore half again as strong as the solid oak, thus showing that nature is economical in the weight given to bones, making them hollow and at the same time makes them stronger than if they were solid and much heavier. This principle has been recognized in mechanics, engineers using hollow steel tubes instead of solid to meet great strain.—New York World.

Tobacco in Vienna.
"They have a way of asking a stranger when he comes to Vienna," says a letter from that city. "Who is the largest, the most reliable, the smallest, the best and the worst dealer in cigars and cigarettes in Vienna? Of course the stranger does not know the answer, and the native tells him triumphantly, 'The government.' The government has the monopoly, and every person employed in a tobacco shop—they call them 'trafik'—is a government employe."

REV. ROBERT E. BROWN, of Franklin, Pa., who delivered an address on "The Marks of a Man," at the Men's Banquet at the Tionesta M. E. church, Friday night.

A Sure Way.
Ethel—Their parents made the match, I believe. Arthur—I thought they opposed it? Ethel—Yes; that's how they made it.—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Immortality.
"Speaking of immortality, what's the matter with the hen?"
"Go on."
"Her son never sets."—New York Times.

No, indeed.
Just because a man wants but little here below is no sign that he has anything coming to him on high.—Galveston News.

Consolation.
Kueker—My wife is always praising the men she rejected for me. Roker—Never mind; she will praise you to her second husband.—New York Sun.

We Solicit Your Business on a Quality Basis.

The fellow who wants your business and uses cheap prices for the "Bait" is like a cheap automobile. They make a lot of noise but don't accomplish anything—only dig their own graves. That's an expensive article. You will buy at a low price and cheat yourself on quality. You can better yourself a whole lot if you know what you are paying your money for and who you are getting it from. We are convincing a great many "doubting Thomases" that anything bought at this store measures up to the highest standard obtainable at the price.

As regards price—well, why don't you make comparisons? We know where we stand. We know the kind of goods we sell. We know what you can buy elsewhere. We know that if you consider quality, our prices are the lowest named anywhere. This is a Great Big Store, growing bigger and winning favor every day in the minds of the buying public. Come in today and choose your overcoat, or at least look them over. Wonderful values at $12.50 to $25.00.
