It's Time to Consider the Spring Fashions.

Shipments of new apparel and fabrics are arriving daily, brought here by railroad and fast steamer from all parts of the world for your inspection and approval. Tailored Suits, Gowns, Dress Goods, Silks, Laces, etc., that reflect the newest and most desirable of the style ideas are pouring in in daily increasing numbers, to tell of the near approach of Spring.

Not for nothing does this store exert ceaseless, vigilant efforts to keep in touch with the great fashion centers—it's just that constant search which has enabled it to speak with absolute authority on all that pertains to the changing demands of Fashion.

The big stores of the great cities may show assortments greater in quantity—they show none more varied than you can get here right at your elbow, so to speak. And if price is considered, you have an additional reason for doing your shopping here.

Mason and His Precious Gold Pieces.

John Mason, the player, has carried three $20 gold pieces in his change pocket ever since the new issue of that specie, the two new colos, St. Jaudens' with and without "In God We Trust," and the old piece with "Liberty's" head. At the stage door of the Thirty-ninth Street theater in New York recently an old man begged the actor to help him secure a night's lodging. John tossed the beggar supposedly two silver half dollars, but in reality two of his favorite gold colos. The old man, noting the denominations, actually ran after his benefactor and pulled at his coat, intending to inquire if the gold were really given him in earnest. Before he could open his mouth, however, Mason pushed him back, exclaiming, "Not twice in one night, old man." "But do you mean it?" asked the beggar. "Certainly," answered Mason. "Forty dollars, mister," cried the man. "Not on your life," called Mason, as his cab moved away, and then to his companion, "Think of that—because I give him more than he asked for he thinks I'm easy
