HOW HE EVOKED THE WINDS

Captain of Beached Vessel Was Driven to Desperate Sacrifice, But It Succeeded.

The ship had lain beached in a tropical sea for three days. Not a breath of air stirred the mirror-like surface of the sea and the sails hung limp from the yards, like drapery carved from marble.

The captain resolved to wait no longer for wind. He piped all hands on deck and requested all passengers to come forward.

"I must ask all of you," he said, "to give me every match you have." Wonderingly, all obeyed. The captain collected every match on the ship in this manner. Then he threw them all aboard—all but one.

Then he took his pipe from his pocket and filled it with tobacco. As crew and passengers looked breathlessly on, he struck that one match—the only one aboard—and attached to light his pipe with it.

Instantly a furious gale swept over the deck. It extinguished the match, but filled the sails and the good ship plunged merrily forward on her course again. The sacrifice had been awful, but successful.

The Turbine.

The first steam turbine-fitted vessel was constructed by the Hon. C. A. Parsons at his works at Newcastle-on-Tyne. The turbine, a small vessel 100 feet in length, made her trial trip November 4, 1894. The system rapidly developed owing to increased speed of the vessels fitted with turbine engines and the economy effected in coal; improvements were made in their construction, and today the turbine ship is popular the world over.

Foolish Question.

The editor of the woman's page was on his vacation and the sporting editor had jumped into the breach. "Well, what do you think of this?" he snorted, as he held up a perfumed communication. "Here's a fool woman wants to know how to make a lemon tart; just as though a lemon wasn't tart enough already."—Life.

THE STAR.

He—I have just signed our leading lady for another season. She—Why, I didn't know you were a theatrical manager. He—I'm not; I refer to our cook.

The Usual Result. Mary had a little man. Soon after they were wedded He'd grown so bald you could not tell which way her man was headed.

Musical.

"A recent wedding announcement in a Milwaukee paper reads: 'Jane Lowell-Louis Leo.'" "Well, what about it?" "Nothing, only I was thinking what a good yodel it would make."

The Material.

"What do you think castles in Spain are built of?" "That's easy. Of gold bricks."

Telephone Snipe.

A "telephone snipe" is a man who habitually uses some other man's telephone at no other expense to himself than a "thank you." He flourishes, perhaps, because he is not a game bird.

What Men Escape.

Of course men have their little worries and troubles, but they don't have to go to bed at night with their faces smeared with complexion ointment.—Galveston News.
