Bewitching New Hats. A Wonderful Choice.

Never was there a season in which Fashion smiled on a wider range of shapes, materials, colorings, trimmings, etc.

There are all manner of variations of the rolling brim hats; tri-corner, colonial, and four-cornered styles; hats of graceful, elegant Rembrandt type, variously modified; pokes, toques, turbans, etc.

Some are original models from Paris, others are copies and then there is the galaxy of new conceptions by noted makers, and our own designers. We have the right hat at the right price.

Pipes Not Made From the Brier. French brier pipes are not made from the roots of the brier, but from the root of a white heath which attains a considerable size in the south of France, where it is sedulously cultivated for pipe-making purposes. The name is derived from the French bruyere, the dialect form of which is briere, meaning beath.

In Right Places. keeping consists in taking things out and putting them back. One might elaborate the statement by saying that good housekeeping consists in getting the things back in the right places, and easy housekeeping consists in having places enough for the

of Hounds. Fox hunting in America moment is of much greater concern and interest than it was, even as reently as thirty years ago, says

Bally's Magazine' English hounds have been sent cross the Atlantic season after seaon, and huntsmen and others asociated with English packs are now ccupying posts of trust in the several merican hunts.

English title names have been given many new packs; hounds revel that nomenclature which has made e Ecivoir and others of English acks famous the world over.

In actual fact there is more genuine nting of the wild fox in the State Pennsylvania than in any other o States in the Union. There are out sixty distinct packs in the ate, which of course is a huge trict. Some of these are very mitive institutions of the trencher variety for the most part, but a t of them show good sport.

An Englishman who had hunted in the best parts of England and Ire nd once related to Mr. Trevelyan at some winters ago he had quite as and hunting within easy reach of Madelphia as a man could get any here in the world.

At Alken, S. C., where there is a inter colony of wealthy New York corle, there is a well organized pack, nd throughout the South there is uch hunting of a sort. Foxes there ere plentiful and if the country were ore open and not so thickly wooded the red fox would give good sport, though the gray fox, which is more on. . . to a miserable ringer.

England's Military Railway.

The South-Western is our most important military line. It skirts the Channel, and has more military stations on it than any other. It connects the three great naval stations. Fortsmouth, Portland and Plymouth, with the two great camps, and serves as many garrison towns as it does cathedral cities. The road it jointly owns with the Brighton into Portsmouth is the only one in the country that passes through a rampart. And, owing to the concentration of the troopships at Southampton, it carries every British soldier that goes or returns on foreign service,-West-

Buzzard Freed of Trap.

After a chase of three hours Abram Layton and his son captured one of the largest buzzards ever seen in this section. Attached to the bird's leg was a steel trap and an iron chain three feet long. The buzzard was so emaciated that it could hardly fly with its burden, which it had evidently carried for months, as the wound made by the snapping of the teel trap had entirely healed. The bird did not show fight, but seemed glad to get rid of its burden, and it looked so pitiful that Mr. Layton had compassion on it and set it free .-Clayton correspondence Philadelphia

The Way of a Cat.

A husband and wife of Presque Isle started out to visit some friends who ive about three miles from that town were greatly surprised to find their et house cat hidden under the seat among the horse blankets. While greetings were being passed the cat disappeared. After a short visit and hurried search the visitors started for home. More astonishment than efore was their share to find pussy iwalting them, as demure as though cothing had happened. - Portland

Mr. Napier left the wreath on an adjacent nedge, and will abandon the pilgri nage unless the prohibition is with drawn.-London Evening Standard.

Treasured Trees.

Two trees to be seen in the main treet of Thorshavn, the capital of he Farol Islands, have an interesting distory. Trees resolutely refuse to grow in these islands, except in some ew sheltered spots, and the inabitants therefore prize them reatly.
