Republican Ticket. Congress-Hon, P. M. Speer, of Venango County. Assembly - Hon, A. R. Mechling,

Saturday's Primaries.

To say that the overwhelming landalide for Roosevelt at the primaries last Saturday was a surprise is stating the case correctly, but to say that a Roosevelt victory that would be very decisive was unexpected would be incorrect, as every well-informed person throughout the state has been aware of the decided sentiment for the former President for weeks past. This sentiment, instead of waning, actually gathered strength as the campaign progressed. The result is bound to have a decided effect upon the campaign for the presidential nomination that yet remains to be fought out, and if it should turn the tide completely f r Colonel Roosevelt at the Chicago convention it will not surprise the American people. From the day that he left the White House, three years ago the people -the masses-have looked forward to the time when they could again put him back there, and this, the first opportunity they have had to show their preference, has demonstrated what a hold he has upon them. Few if any who voted for they distrusted President Taft, on the edge the sincerity, honesty and ability of and it would have been so had any other man occupied the executive chair. It simply means that the Colonel continues That the third term bugaboo has no ter-

The question as to who was nominated for Assembly on the Democratic ticket must be determined by the official count which will be made by the county commissioners today. So many of the returns were sealed that it was impossible to get a correct estimate of how the vote went between J. L. Simmons of Kellettville, and P. C. Hill of Tionesta, both of whom were voted for and at last accounts Mr. Hill was two votes shead,

Congressman Speer Re-nominated.

The best figures obtainable last night from all parts of the district indicate the nomination of Hon. P. M. Speer by from 300 to 350 majority over Gen. Willis J. Hulings. The following figures show the unofficial majorities of the two can-

Speer's majority, 374. Exterminate The fly.

Karl de Schweinitz, executive secretary of the Pennsylvania society for the prevention of tubercolosis, says that now is the time to begin the fight against the house fly. For every fly that you kill this month you will reduce the fly population in the summer by several billions. One fly on an average lays in a season twelve sets of eggs. At the lowest estimate sixty flies are hatched from each laying. It is fair to say that 50 per cent. of the eggs batched will be females. Each female will in turn batch sixty flies. These will beget others, so that in one season a single fly will by a most conservative count have produced seven billions

Just as the bee gathers pollen from the flowers on its legs, does the fly collect germs. Typhoid fever, tuberculosis, and many other diseases are carried in this way from the sick room to your home, Wherever there is filth there the fly swarms. The fly which lights upon your lips may menace your life with disease germs. The flies that buzz about your kitchen or your dining room may literally be poisoning your food. As a matter of self preservation, therefore, s'art right now to kill the solitary flies which, if given a chance, will beget billions of their kind.

-Sheriff Charles C. Homan, who gets around the county as much as anybody else, is loud in his praises of the roads in Rockland township, the good condition of which is due to the fact that a King log twenty years, when we were all there at drag is used with intelligence. The Sheriff says that the roads in most other townships (where no work is done on them until May) are in bad condition, The King drag results in the ruts in the spring being filled with the loose dirt of the road, and in a short time they are hard. Sheriff Homan says the road of- the teachers a better chance to handle so ficials of other townships could get valuable hints from those in Rockland,-Franklin News. The foregoing applies with equal force to all country roads. Were the supervisors in each township to provide themselves with one or two of se comparatively inexpensive drags, these comparatively inexpensive drags, and at this season of the year, before the roads become hardened and baked, use them judiciously the good roads problem would be more than half solved in every district, and a great saving of expense later in the spring would be accomplished. These facts have been so often demonstrated in the past that it would seem to be unnecessary to point them out at each recurring season. assisted by Claude Littlefield. Last week the wind caught the footbridge just right and after it soared up toward the sky as far as the wires would permit, it came down and the strain was too great for the anchor on the east side and a ring broke releasing two wire cables. This put the bridge on its edge and made it impassable. Our red boat was launched and the traffic taken care of until the bridge was repaired, two days after the break. Thomas Miller was on the east side when the wind came and was in the act of starting over when the bridge soared upward.

Claude Littlefield and O. E. Rupe t went to Kellettville Friday night to assist in the play "The Prisoner of Audersonville" by The Mayburg Dramatic Club. They report it a very good play and well rendered by the club, which is being complimented by all who hear it. The Kellettville audience was very much interested while the play was going on, and the club received many congratulations after the play. The only drawback was the scarcity of music between acts, all caused by the planist being absent and there was no time to get another one in

O. E. Rupert went to Blue Jay last Friday to meet Norman and Bert Gilbert, two former Gusher boys. "Norm" used to play the violin, with Rupert at the piano, for the natives of that place. -Hugh Miles, in his ninety-first year and one of the oldest residents of Fagundas, this county, suffered a slight stroke of apoplexy at about 5:30 o'clock Friday evening. Miss Delhousen, a young lady who made her home with the old gentleman and his wife and remained to care for Mr. Miles after Mrs. Miles' death, becoming alarmed at his long absence from the house, went out to look for him. She found him lying in a swampy place of mud and water a few rods from the residence and unconscious. After Mr. Miles was taken into the house and cared for. he soon rallied and is now apparently as well as usual. Mr. and Mrs. Miles a number of years ago were made the victims of a bold robbery by three men who came to their home, gagged and bound them and then threatened them with torture if they did not disclose the hiding place of money. The robbers secured two fine gold watches, a government bond for $1,000 and some money. They took the family horse and drove nearly to Titusville before abandoning it in the road and then went to town and took an early train from there. One of the robbers was captured in Oil City and the bond found in his possession. A suspect in the case is in the Ohio penitentiary serving a life sentence. Their names were, respectively, McMahon and Gallagher. James Marron of the National hotel, at that time on the local police force, made the arrest in Oil City,
