The Road of Low Prices and Big Values Leads Directly to This Store.

It's an easy matter to become famous for low prices, if a store handles cheap, shoddy goods.

It's an easy matter to deal in nothing but high quality goods if the question of price could be ignored.

But to combine really worthy values with moderate prices—there's the rub. It requires long and profitable experience; never ceasing watch of the market; accurate and prompt judgment in selecting; and absolute honesty in methods of buying and selling.

An experience and study of more than twenty years, combined with a uniform reputation for fair dealing, has built up for us the most extensive business in this part of the state. We are confident that we are in a unique position to fill your needs satisfactorily. Can't we become better acquainted?

When You Select Carpets or Rugs.

In our Daylight Rug Department, the feature brought especially to your attention is the fact that we keep our rugs in piles on the floor. This not only makes the rug remain flat, but gives it the same appearance here that it will have on the floor in your home.

These rugs are for the most part from the celebrated Whittall Mills; beyond comparison the finest rugs made in this country. Customers in continually increasing numbers call for them, realizing the desirability of their superior wearing qualities, the unusual number of private patterns, and the numerous sizes in which Whittall Rugs are woven.

Whittall Rugs Have a Minimum Selling Price.

When you buy one here you may be assured that the rug will cost you not a cent more than in any city in the United States.

As the exclusive agency for Whittall Rugs in this vicinity, may we not have the opportunity of showing you these rugs? It will be the means of establishing a confidence between us that will be to our mutual advantage.

New Town on the Map.

A little girl in the Atchison depot was watching a freight train go by. "Mamma," she said, "where is Capa city?" "I don't know, why?" asked the mother. "I see it on a car there," she replied. "Capa city" happened to be "capacity, 52,000 pounds," which she really saw.

A CONVENIENT SUMMER HOME.

Part of It Permanent, the Rest You Fold Up and Put Away.

The vacation problem seems to have been very satisfactorily solved by Adelbert L. Spitzer of Toledo, Ohio. Up the Maumee River at a convenient distance from the city Mr. Spitzer has located his summer home, which consists of four separate detached houses, three of which are exclusively for sleeping.

All are of heavy canvas stretched over frames of pine, with board floors laid about two feet from the ground. Each building has two canvas roofs, says "Country Life in America," one being about eight inches above the other.

This not only makes the rooms cooler, but in case of a severe storm prevents any leaking. The canvas is made in sections of proper size, stretched over the wooden frame and fastened to it with screw eyes passed through holes cut about the edge of the canvas.

Thus moving in or out is a simple matter. At the end of the season the canvas can be easily and quickly be taken down, leaving only the wooden frame exposed to the weather during the winter. If the woodwork is painted to prevent its becoming water soaked, rotting will be prevented for several years. The furniture may be shipped back to the city home or placed in a small, inexpensive stable or automobile house near by as desired. Reconstructing the house upon the return of summer is equally simple.

Chateaubriand's Early Struggles.

A new discovery has been made about Chateaubriand; nothing less than that he once sold stockings on commission. It was in 1790, when he was still an officer in the royal service. He had a debt of honor, amounting to $200. He wrote to a distant relative, one La Morandais, who manufactured stockings in Switzerland, appealing for help on the ground that he must either pay that debt or blow his brains out.

La Morandais, instead of sending him money, sent him 169 dozen pairs of stockings, offering him a liberal commission if he would sell them among his distinguished friends. He gratefully accepted the offer and succeeded in disposing of the merchandise. There is reason to believe that he managed to plant a good deal of it on the stores department of his own regiment.—Westminster Gazette.

Snakes Driven by Fire.

People residing in the Pine Creek Valley, which is contiguous to the wild land districts that were burned over recently, report a terrific influx of snakes driven into the valley by the great area of fire that ran over the wooded section.

The rattlesnakes are taking refuge in outbuildings, chicken pens and the like, so that there is a veritable snake panic in that section. The rattle and black snakes are the most numerous varieties, as these are the type of reptiles that stay for the most part in the hill sections.—Williamsport correspondence Philadelphia North American.

The Queen's Coachman.

There is one person, or rather personage, who played a very important part in the coronation, and he is the driver of the state coach. A king's coachman is usually aware of the dignity which surrounds his office. Certainly the coachman to Her late Majesty Queen Victoria had no mean misgivings on that score. At the 1884 jubilee this functionary was asked if he was driving any of the royal and imperial guests who were at that time quartered in Buckingham Palace.

"No, sir," was the crushing reply. "I am the Queen's coachman; I don't drive the riffraff."—London Chronicle.

Too Significant "If."

Three scientific men from an Eastern college visited a certain Montana mine. On the ascent by means of the usual bucket one professor thought he perceived signs of weakness in the rope by which the bucket was suspended. "How often," he inquired of the attendant, "do you change these ropes?"

"Every three months," carelessly replied the other. Then he added thoughtfully, "This must have been forgotten. We must change it to-day if we get up."—Christian Register.

Looking Up History.

As a small boy was standing on one of the best library chairs and dawdling with his grubby hands some of the choicest bindings in the bookcase his progenitor entered suddenly and cried rather sharply: "What are you doing at that bookcase, Wilfred?"

"Trying to find the History of the United States, father."

"What for?"

"Why, Joe Billings at our school says Mike Donlin played with the Giants year before last and I say he didn't."

First Woman Typist.

The will of Margaret A. Weller, said to have been the first woman in America to use a typewriter, was filed in the Probate Court. The document, which contains more than 1,000 words, was written in long hand by the woman and contains many technical legal phrases. She, like her husband, was a court stenographer and resided at 2739 Windsor place before her death.—St. Louis-Globe Democrat.

Regular Habits.

It is a good plan to have a regular time for reading. One accomplishes so much more in this way, and besides establishes a kind of intellectual habit that is a good thing in itself. In an hour, or even half an hour given regularly each day to reading, a great deal may be accomplished. Do not confine your self to serious books. Alternate light with heavy reading and do not attempt heavy reading when you are tired. Do not read merely to be amused. Treat your books as friends. Do not follow blindly the teachings of any book.

A TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.

In the year 1899, Charles Best of Pollock, Pa., was accidentally shot in the leg near the ankle. Six inches of the smaller bone was removed from the leg, leaving him in a serious condition. Two doctors insisted on amputating the leg. Mr. Best said: "No, I will try ASIATIC BALSAM first." Three bottles healed the wound entirely in two weeks time. ASIATIC BALSAM is the wonder of the age for healing Cuts, Burns, Scalds and Frost-bites and has stood the test for 30 years. Try it for Muscular Soreness or Stiffened Joints on man or beast; for horses' Sore Shoulders, Sore Backs, Kicks or Cuts, Progressive Liverymen and farmers keep Asiatic Balsam on hand for the many injuries their stock is liable to. It never fails. Try it and be convinced.

Mr. J. L. Findley, proprietor of the Ford City, Pa., livery stables, says under date of 1892: "We had a lame horse become entirely useless. We tried everything under the sun to cure this lameness and failed; we considered the horse a total loss. We used Asiatic Balsam and recommended to us. After using a short time all lameness disappeared and the horse was entirely well. I consider it my duty to recommend Asiatic Balsam to all horse owners."

Mr. H. T. Farley, livery and sales stable owner, of Kittanning, Pa., says: "After giving your Asiatic Balsam a trial I find it the best remedy for Cuts or Bruises I have ever used. One of my men while clipping a horse had his lip cut entirely through. We applied the Balsam which healed the cut almost immediately. One of my horses received a deep cut on his leg, laming him badly. A few applications of your Balsam removed the lameness and healed the cut in a very short time."

Mr. F. K. Weaver, of West Penn Junction, writes under date of Jan. 1, 1899: "I have used Asiatic Balsam for years and it is the best remedy for cuts, burns and bruises known. It is healing, relieving the pain without smarting. I have always kept a bottle on hand."

Pollock, Pa., April 14, 1910.—"We consider Asiatic Balsam a world beater for all cuts, burns and sores on man or beast." Best Brothers.

Mr. B. Steigler, of Herman, Pa., writes: "My son Christian, aged 12, fell from a tree, striking on a broken bottle, cutting a gash in his foot four inches in length and to the bone. We used Asiatic Balsam, three bottles of which healed the wound sound and well in two weeks."

We are placing Asiatic Balsam on sale in all stores. If your dealer does not have it, ask him to get it, as he will have a ready sale for it when once used.
