GIRL CLUBBED BY LOVER DIES

Succumbs As Church Choir Begins Processional

PRISONER IN JAIL "GRIEVES"
Brutal Deed by Possible Mental Incapacitate—Assault Charge Will Now Be Changed to One of Murder.
Johnstown, Pa.—Just as the choir of St. Mark's Episcopal Church here Sunday morning began singing the "Processional," Fern Davis, who was to have been one of the singers, died at the Memorial hospital from wounds inflicted on the head last Wednesday night by George Henderson, professed to be her lover.
An autopsy showed that the blows delivered had not fractured the girl's skull or left a blood clot on the brain. The family physician, said the effect of the blows had been simply negative and that the whole nervous system had been disorganized.
Miss Davis did not regain consciousness after the assault. Members of her family were at her bedside constantly, hoping she might wake to corroborate the story told by Henderson.
Miss Davis, it is said, loved George Henderson. Henderson was so infatuated with her for the last year that he had tried often to persuade her to elope with him. Henderson was employed in the Cambria Steel Company's plant, but a month ago gave up his position.
Miss Davis' father did not like Henderson and many times said that the young man was not mentally competent.
Last Wednesday night, according to the story the police say Henderson told, Henderson called on his fiancée and the two went for a walk. He asked her to go with him to his home. His mother, Mrs. Margaret Henderson, and sister, Fannie, had just returned from a prolonged visit to Altoona and he wanted them to see his sweetheart.
Miss Davis accompanied him. Henderson's mother and sister had gone out. Henderson again pleaded with her to elope with him, but the girl said she could not.
Excusing himself a moment, Henderson went to the cellar and returned with a sharp-cornered club which he rolled in a newspaper so that his sweetheart would suspect nothing.
Entering the room he swung the club at the girl as she looked at him. Three blows were struck. Then Henderson went away.
Some time later his mother and sister arrived and found the unconscious girl lying near the sofa. Her face was streaked with blood and a scar

SHIELDS LOSES A LONG BATTLE

Convicted Sheriff Is Finally Lodged in Penitentiary

A SAD PARTING WITH WIFE
Brought to Prison in Custody of Old Friend—Prisoner Promises Still to Act as County Commissioner.
Andrews Trial Near.
Greensburg, Pa.—County Commissioner John E. Shields, formerly sheriff of Westmoreland county, was on Saturday sentenced on two charges growing out of the conduct of his office of sheriff during the miners' strike. On a misdemeanor charge he was sentenced to pay a fine of $1 and serve not less than one year and one month or more than three years in the penitentiary. On a charge of embezzlement and malfeasance in office he was sentenced to pay a fine of $5 and serve from one year and three months to three years. The terms of imprisonment are to run consecutively, making the minimum sentence two years and four months.
During the week a petition was circulated and extensively signed asking the court to suspend sentence. This petition was presented to the court but without effect. It was believed some demonstration might be made when sentence was pronounced and scattered through the crowded court room were a number of plain clothes men, state and city police.
Shields appeared in court accompanied by his wife and son Frank. After the sentence he was immediately taken in charge by Sheriff Benjamin Steel.
During the long struggle of the miners in the Westmoreland coal fields Shields, as sheriff, furnished deputies to the coal companies, charging the companies $5 a day for the men and paying the men $3. He failed properly to account for the balance, but finally made out a list in which he made charges for police paraphernalia. After the suit was brought it was claimed Shields permitted prisoners brought in by deputies to leave the prison. He was then charged with malfeasance in office.
After conviction he appealed his case to the superior court and when the lower court was sustained, appeal was taken to the Supreme Court. While under indictment Shields became a candidate for county commissioner and was elected.
Recently the Supreme Court handed down its opinion sustaining the lower courts. The prisoner promises to continue serving the county as commissioner while serving his term in

MINERS RIOTING

MOBS OF MEN, WOMEN AND BOYS TURN BACK LABORERS FROM THREE COLLIERIES.

CAUSE CORNER IN REVOLVERS
Unnaturalized Residents Buying Firearms—Water Flooding Mines—Industrial Workers Urging Men to Reject Compromise and Strike.
Wilkesbarre, Pa., May 10.—At the East Boston colliery of W. C. Payne at Luzerne a mob of 600 men, women and boys took possession of the road leading to the works, drove men on their way to work back to their homes and before dispersing beat John Riddick badly for refusing to comply with their order.
At the Nottingham colliery of the Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Company at Plymouth a mob of 600 men and boys gathered at the entrance to the works and turned back the men who have been carrying on the repair work and the engineers, firemen and pumpmen who have the union's consent to work.
At the Delaware colliery of the Delaware and Hudson Company at Hudson a crowd of 600 collected and drove back men who started for their regular places of employment. In no instance did the State police appear.
At the Liggett's Creek colliery of the Delaware and Hudson in the Scranton district a crowd of 500 men and boys armed themselves with clubs and stones and took their position on the road leading to the colliery. They held up the men who appeared for work and informed them that they would not be permitted to start their labor. John Z. Anzenburg raised an argument over the order and the mob led him to the bank of Liggett's Creek and threw him in, pelting him with clubs and stones. After all workmen had been sent home the crowd broke up.
At Minersville the men are angry over the shooting and threaten to even up matters with the "Black Cossacks," as the State troopers are called.
Pottsville, Pa., May 10.—During the past two days foreigners have almost exhausted the supply of firearms and ammunition of local dealers, while dynamite magazines have been robbed of large quantities of explosives. It is said these people have enough dynamite to blow up the whole of Minersville.
Since seven of the State police put a crowd of over 700 to rout in a pitched battle the bitter feeling has become intense and the troopers have been warned to beware of ambuscade on to which institution he was taken at once. His wife accompanied him to the prison and they had a sad parting. The former Westmoreland county official was brought to the penitentiary by Sheriff Steel. Sheriff Steel and his prisoner both showed their humiliation, the officer because he had to bring an old friend to prison and the prisoner because of being sent to a penal institution.

The Erie and Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad will run a special train from Warren to this city each morning, returning at night to accommodate those who wish to attend the trial.
Thomas C. Cochran of Mercer, will assist Frank Lyons in prosecuting Andrews. Attorney Cochran was former district attorney of Erie county, and A. C. Chapin will be associated with D. U. Arid of Warren, and James Scarlett in the defense of Andrews.
Schenk Trial Goes Over.
Wheeling, W. Va.—Prosecuting Attorney J. B. Handlan probably will be compelled next Saturday either to set a date for a second trial of Laura Farnsworth Schenk, on the charge of administering poison in the food and drink of her husband, John O. Schenk, the wealthy packer, or submit to dismissal of the case from the docket. The first trial resulted in a hung jury. Attorney J. J. P. O'Brien, chief counsel for Mrs. Schenk, made a motion in Criminal Court for dismissal of the case, on the ground that more than three terms have intervened without a retrial and that under West Virginia law his client must be dismissed or tried again. Mr. Handlan asked time to prepare arguments on the points involved and Judge Jordan passed the case until next Saturday.
Treasure Unearthed in Garden.
Kent, O.—Charles Ramsey, colored, unearthed a box containing $500 in gold coin and paper while spading for onions here recently. His father, Jonathan Ramsey, a former slave, had buried it 20 years ago, and later died in the Sandusky (O.) Soldiers' home.
Bank Charged With Fraud.
Cincinnati, O.—Suit for an accounting against the Second National Bank of Cincinnati has been entered by W. C. Starratt, receiver for the Alabama Trust and Savings Company of Birmingham, Ala., which closed its doors September 25, 1909. It is charged in the petition that the Second National Bank as correspondent, fraudulently applied the deposit balance in such a manner that the Alabama Bank was wrecked.

TO KILL COMMERCE COURT

Amendment to Appropriation Measure Also May End Tariff Board.
Washington, May 10.—The United States Commerce Court and the Tariff Board will be abolished on July 1 if the Senate concurs in and the President approves the legislative appropriation as perfected by the House. Backed by all their following and the Republican insurgents, the Democratic leaders jammed through the House by a vote of 129 to 49, one amendment providing for the abolishment of the Commerce Court and another creating a new agency to take the place of the Tariff Board. This latter fore-shadows a bill abolishing the board. The Commerce Court and the Tariff Board are two of the most important creations of the Taft Administration.

SHOT TEACHER; KILLED SELF

Jealous Suitor Calls Woman to School Door and Opens Fire.
Ogdensburg, N. Y., May 9.—Clephas Duquette, 20 years old, of Henrysburg, is dead, and Miss Rancour, with whom he had been keeping company and who was teaching school, received bullet wounds inflicted by him.
Calling her to the door of the school he fired four shots at her, three of the bullets entering her neck and the fourth lodging in the shoulder. Leaving the young woman for dead Duquette then drove to Lacolle and stepping into the parlor of the Nollis House he posed in front of a mirror and sent a bullet into his brain. The shooting was due to jealousy.

DEATH MYSTERY IN OLD ALLEGHENY.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—The body of Christina Bradley, aged 16, of 114 Rush street, North Side, was found floating in the Ohio river Saturday afternoon. The condition of the body when found would indicate that she had met with foul play, after which she was thrown in the river. She had been missing from her home since the previous Sunday. The Bureau of Police and Detectives had conducted an unsuccessful search for her. The girl was last seen alive at Locust and Bidwell streets, North Side, Sunday evening from her young friend. Opinion is divided as to whether she was a suicide or murdered.
General Strike Is Ordered.
Baltimore, Md.—As a result of the failure to settle the stevedores' strike, which has been in progress here for the last two weeks for higher wages and recognition of the union, telegraphic orders have been received here from H. B. Griffin, president of the National Transport Workers' Association at New York to "pull out everything in sight."
President Taft issued a formal denial of reports that he had sent Archibald Butt on mission of any kind of the one
