Hon. P. M. Spear, congressman from this district, was the principal speaker at the sixth anniversary celebration of the Pennsylvania Society at Washington, D. C., Saturday evening, 4th inst. New Train Schedule at Tionesta.

Charles C. Adams, a former Tionesta boy, has our thanks for a copy of the Shiner edition of the Los Angeles Examiner, giving a full and highly illustrated account of the triennial meeting of that branch of the Masonic fraternity, and incidentally booming that glorious Pacific coast city as an entertainer of big crowds and events.

The Ladies Aid of the Presbyterian church have secured the services of Gertrude E. MacWhirk for an evening's entertainment, a week from next Friday evening, 24th inst. As an impersonator, dramatic reader and story teller, this lady has perhaps no superior in this country, and you should not fail to hear her. At the Court House.

The snake season at Hunter Station opened Thursday when a party of boys killed three good sized rattlesnakes and one of the copperhead variety that had crawled down from their winter den on the hillside to enjoy a sun bath on the P. R. R. tracks. If the snakes had escaped the boys they would probably have frozen to death Monday anyway.

Long hatpins were denounced in speeches at the meeting of the Central District State Federation of Pennsylvania Women's Clubs at Selins Grove last week. Mrs. John Giley of Harrisburg led the crusade and pleaded for legislation to make it a misdemeanor to wear a hatpin that protruded more than a quarter inch beyond the crown of a hat.

Elaborate preparations for "commencement" at Smith college, Northampton, Mass., are now making and will be on a grander scale perhaps, than usual even for this famed institution. Forest county is represented this year in the graduating class in the person of Ethel Meta May Scherer, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Scherer, of Endeavor. The exercises extend over June 12th and 14th.

Russell Hopkins, Paul Carson and James Haslet have rented the Hunter Island, opposite town, and will sow four acres of it to onion seed this spring. Plowing began last week but is held up by bad weather. While the matter is an experiment, yet the boys ought to realize handsomely from their investment if the crop is properly cultivated. The soil of these islands is rich and peculiarly adapted to onions.

Upward of 40 cans of wall-eyed pike, better known to local sportsmen as white salmon, were deposited in the Allegheny river here last Thursday, the shipment being consigned to the local camp of the United Sportsmen's association. This sort of work will undoubtedly add much to the up-keep of the fishing sport along the river, for if but half of the "fry" should come to maturity there would be an abundance for all.

F. P. Plyler, who is now superintendent of the big lumber mill at Mayburg, Forest county, was in town over Sunday visiting with his family and among friends. Mrs. Plyler accompanied him back to Mayburg and will visit there for a few days. Mr. Plyler reports the lumber business booming and though they keep the big mill humming all the time they are about two months behind with their orders right along.—Ridgway Advocate.

The Tri-County Natural Gas company has contracted for the drilling of 50 additional wells, while plans are under way for the drilling of as many more during the summer. Pipe lines are being extended into the Hill Creek district, where several large wells have already been brought in. Alterations to the pumping station at Leeper, Clarion county, are being made, in order to properly handle the increased production during the winter months.

A fire occurred Tuesday night of last week which carried away one of the old landmarks of Harmony township. It was a farm dwelling located near the headwaters of Pitloch creek, a mile south of Neiltown. The house was built more than sixty years ago by the late William McKinley, who built many of the houses in this town back in the fifties. Evidently the fire was of incendiary origin as the house was vacant, a family having moved out of it only a few days prior to the fire.

Snow flurries of such density as to becloud the vision so that one could "scarcely see across the street" were among the unseasonable weather conditions that obtained all of Monday afternoon. Out on the hills we are told the ground was white with the beautiful good snow of the time and no regulation winter blizzard could have behaved more unseasonably. This was on the 13th day of May, in the year of our Lord 1912. Put it down, and then when you rehearse the fact to your children and they intimate you are "big house," you can show 'em the figures.

Up at Warren where the liquor men have organized and have blacklisted many men of known temperate habits and those who are suspected of furnishing them with intoxicants, the scheme seems to be resulting in good. There is said to be fewer drunk men seen on the streets, and some of the men who have been placed on the list or their families for them, have asked to have the ban removed. None of the requests have been granted, but the appeals made indicate that the banned men have been unable to get their liquor and have coaxed their relatives into trying to have restrictions obliterated.

The committee of general arrangements of Stow Post is pleased to be able to announce that it has secured the services of Rev. Albert D. Stevens, D. D., of East Brady, Pa., to preach the annual Memorial Sermon for the Post, Corps and people, on Sunday, May 20th, at the Tionesta Presbyterian church. The commander-in-chief of Pennsylvania, in his general orders this year, particularly emphasizes the duty of all to attend these important services, urging all comrades and the people generally to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rudolph and their handsome little boy, of Endeavor, were Tionesta visitors Saturday. Mr. Rudolph gives some attention to raising poultry along with his other work on the big mill, and owns a black Monrovia hen which has them all guessing on her egg producing stunts. She lays but two eggs a week, but they are worth while, the last one measuring 6 1/4 x 8 1/2 inches in circumference. This was her last and best effort, but as the fruit is apparently still climbing there is no telling what she may do in time.

The Tidouite company in which G. T. Anderson and John N. Gerow are interested got a good gas well Friday on the Bevier tract, south of Marienville, estimated to be good for more than 500,000 feet per day. This is the second good well on the lease. The gas was found in the third sand at 938 feet and they will drill the well to the fourth sand, expecting to make another strike. Another Tidouite company, operating on the Baughman farm, in the same field, got a good gasser Monday of last week, it being their third. The well is estimated at over 500,000 feet per day. The Forest Gas Co., of Tidouite, gets the output from all these wells.

The Mayburg Dramatic Club held the boards at Bovard's hall Saturday night and gave a very creditable show, the title of which was the "Prisoner of Andersonville," a drama in four acts founded on incidents of the civil war. The cast of characters embraces fourteen persons, and most of the parts were acted as if by veterans instead of amateurs. Every seat in the hall was taken notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather, and the audience showed its appreciation of the troupe's good work by frequent and hearty applause. A good orchestra, led by Prof. O. E. Rupert of Portage, vied, furnished lively music between acts. The club need not be afraid to play before any audience if they play as well as they did here.

A lively runaway occurred Friday evening last about 9 o'clock in which a horse belonging to Donovan brothers, of Stewart run, played the principal part. The horse was hitched in the shed in rear of the Robinson store and in some unaccountable manner got loose, backed the rig out of the shed and "hit the pike fair." The horse seemed to know the way home and got there without delay, and strange to say, without doing any damage to himself and very little to the buggy to which he was hitched, the distance being nearly five miles. James Donovan, who attempted to catch the frightened horse, was knocked down striking his face on the pavement, but aside from losing a little of the cuticle from the side of his head, was little worse for the jar.

Since the adoption of the amendments to the State constitution abolishing spring elections, there has been some uncertainty as to whether justices of the peace whose terms of office were extended by the amendments would have to be re-commissioned. The Secretary of the Commonwealth sets the question at rest in the following paragraph in a circular letter issued in answer to inquiries on the subject: "Justices of the Peace whose terms have been lengthened by the constitutional amendments adopted on November 2nd, 1899, and the schedule thereto, or by the act of 2 March 1911, are entitled to serve the additional time without being re-commissioned, as the effect is to continue them in office during the extended terms without any other or further commissions."

The present value of the best black skunk skins should allow a margin of profit in rearing this class of animals, according to the biological survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The survey gives as one of the chief causes of the failure of many attempts to raise skunks for their fur inexperience, leading to overcroding and overfeeding the animals. It is pointed out that at least one acre of ground should be inclosed for each 50 animals, and even then there is danger of cannibalism unless there are plenty of separate dens for the females. In feeding a certain proportion of meat is necessary, but the animals also eat bread, green corn, clover, tomatoes and many other vegetable substances. The food should not be salted, and fresh water should be supplied regularly. Skunks breed once a year and produce from six to eight young. They are born in May or June and mature by December.

The annual banquet held in the parlors of the Presbyterian church Friday evening was a most joyful occasion to those fortunate enough to be there, and easily proved the climax that very fittingly closed a most successful commencement season of the Tionesta high school. The attendance, though not quite so large as on former occasions, was still very satisfactory, upward of seventy having gathered about the festal board. The menu, which was served in four courses by Committee No. 1 of the Ladies Aid, was all that the inner man could desire, and the table and other decorations were in keeping with the otherwise lovely occasion. Following the reception and the discussion of the elegant feast, Miss Katharine Osgood, president of the alumni association, called the assemblage to order and in a few pleasant introductions the toastmaster of the evening, Prof. F. W. Gill, who presided with the grace of a master of the art. The address of welcome was given by Mr. Jay Bankhead, and it was a royal effort as he royally responded to by Mr. Glenn Ledebur, one of the younger members of the class of '12. Others who responded to toasts were Messrs. W. C. Inel, Rev. H. A. Bailey, Dr. Dunn, Rev. W. S. Burton and Dr. Bovard. All of the speeches were good and given in a happy vein, lifting the occasion, and sparking with wit and humor.

It would surprise you to know of the great good that is being done by Chamberlain's Tablets. Darius Downey, of Newburg Junction, N. Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Plimpton celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary May 9th at the home of their son, Roy Plimpton, in Oil City. They were married in Grafton Center, Mass., came to Pioneer, Venango county, in 1865, and figured conspicuously in the early oil excitement along Oil creek.

This grand musical festival was given Tuesday night in Franklin and will be repeated there on Thursday evening. It will appear in Oil City on Wednesday and Friday evenings.

Prof. Charles Anderson of Brookston, has just completed another successful term as principal of the Big Run, Jefferson county, schools, and has been unanimously re-elected for the coming year. As a Forest county production we are proud of our talented young friend, and congratulate the Big Run educational interests in being able to hold him for another year, as he had some flattering offers in other places.

It is with sincerest regret that we chronicle the prospective change in the principalship of our school the coming year, Prof. F. W. Gill, who has so ably presided at the borough's temple of learning during the past four years, having received a flattering offer to take charge of the Tidouite schools at a salary quite in advance of that which our town is able to pay, and we understand he has accepted the offer. It is with keenest regret that Prof. Gill leaves Tionesta, which he has learned to call his home and look upon it as much more so than any other place to which the lines have fallen to him. And this feeling of regret at his departure is reciprocated, we feel sure in saying, by every inhabitant of our town. Under his supervision our schools have prospered in greater measure than ever before, and the influence for lasting good which Mr. Gill has exerted over the young people of Tionesta has been so marked as to be noted and frequently commented upon by all. Surely Tionesta is losing much in his departure, and our neighbors to the north are gaining accordingly and we congratulate them on their good luck.

Water Charters Refused.

The publication of an erroneous dispatch in the Oil City Derrick fell like a pall over this community last Thursday morning when it was stated that the State water supply commission had approved the applications for charters to dam Tionesta creek, and until later reports were received stating the very opposite to be the case, that is, that the commission had refused the applications, the comment by a unanimous citizenship were very severe and bitter.

The Derrick's report came through an error in the transmission of the telegram from Harrisburg, the word "not" being omitted from the message. The mistake served to show the intense feeling that exists in this county against this gigantic looting of the water rights, and the building of a horrible death-trap over our heads, and the correction caused a wonderful feeling of relief to the people, who stand ready to fight to the bitter end a project so foul and destructive in its every aspect.

The commission's refusal to approve the charters is based on the ground that the project would divert the water from the stream through a tunnel to another power project, and that the scheme would be against state interests.

It is hoped we have heard an end of the whole scheme once and for all.

RENEWING THEIR EFFORTS.
By notice of application for charter published in this issue it will be seen the same parties are going to try again for charter grants. It behooves our people to be on the alert and redouble their efforts toward frustrating the scheme.

The Sunday School rally held in the M. E. church Tuesday afternoon and evening was not so well attended as it should have been. Mr. Forsythe, one of the state workers, was here and spoke on "Teacher Training" in the afternoon and on "Class Organization" in the evening. Wm. Silzle read a paper on "Teaching Spirituality in the Sunday School." Mrs. F. J. Henderson gave an essay on "The Preparation of the Lesson," and Mrs. Dorrer on "Problems." The choir rendered several good selections. T. F. Ritchey, the County President, was up from Tionesta and had charge of the meetings. The teacher training class, which had been resting for the past six months, was called into life again. The county was divided into four sub-districts and officers were elected for the Kellestville district as follows: President, Dr. H. L. Davis; vice president, E. E. Daubenspeck; secretary, Mrs. W. F. Jones; treasurer, W. L. Watson; supt. of teacher training, H. E. Murphy; supt. of home department, Mrs. W. A. Hartman; supt. of elementary work, Mrs. H. B. P. Cloak, Miss Bessie Porter and Mrs. C. Y. Detar, after which a fine lunch was served. Their goods were shipped on Thursday, since which time they have been the guests of their children and other friends in town.
