THE Philadelphia Press, which claims to keep the only true and impartial record of delegates to the National convention, gives Tar 406 and Roosevelt 440, with 9 unreported and 28 contests.

SHOULD Teddy make the rifle at Chicago next month, it would be a good time for Woody Wilson to realize his wish by nominating Bryan at Baltimore, and then watch the Colonel, "once and for all, knock him into a cocked hat."

Hullings' Petition Is Dismissed.

Monday of this week Judge George S. Criswell, in court at Franklin, dismissed the petition recently filed by the friends of General Willis J. Hullings seeking to contest the nomination of Hon. Peter M. Speer as the Republican candidate for Congress in the Twenty-eighth district. The Court decides that no State tribunal has authority to conduct a contest for that office; Congress alone, he states, has the right to pass on the election and qualification of its own members.

In an opinion filed in the case Judge Criswell passes on the legality of a ballot cast by a member of one party voting the ticket of another party. He decides that such a ballot is legal. Under the law a voter is entitled to any ticket for which he asks unless he is challenged, and after a ticket has been given to a voter and cast by him, the Court cannot say he had no right to the ticket. The Court adds, however, that the right of challenge does not appear to be a sufficient safeguard against interference by one party with the nominations of another, but the Legislature, and not the courts, must furnish the remedy.

In conclusion Judge Criswell points out a way for action in the event that there has been any conspiracy on the part of the members of one party to name the candidates on the ticket of another. Such an act, he says, is criminal and the parties would be liable to conviction.

The right to enforce a curfew ordinance is to be tested in the appellate courts, Counsel for John Baker of Steelton have decided to take an appeal from the decision of the District court, sustaining the bona authorities in enforcing a curfew regulation. They take the position that horses have no right to make such regulations. It is said to be the first time the question has been carried to the higher courts, and the result will be awaited with interest throughout the state.

New Jersey for Teddy.

Water Power Schemes Again.

In the following true statement of the case the Oil City Derrick voices the sentiment of every inhabitant of this whole section of country. This unholty scheme must be thwarted, as we trust it will be, by the State water supply commission which has already killed one proposition on the ground that it would be against public interest to grant such extraordinary and unheard-of privileges. The Derrick says:

The people of this locality, and especially those of Forest county and Oil City, had hoped that they had heard the last of the scheme concocted by some private parties to obtain control of the streams of this section, when the applications were refused by the Water Supply Commission two weeks ago. But the matter is still being pressed, and a notice has been published that an application will be made on June 6 for the charter of an intended corporation to be called "Forest Hydro Electric Company, the character and object of which is the storage, transportation and furnishing of water for manufacturing and other purposes, and for the erection, establishing, furnishing and transmission for public use of water power therefrom in the counties of Forest Warren and Clarion." The application is made by J. R. Paul, J. P. Fife and H. W. Douglass, and the notice is signed by Frank M. Eastman and by Douglass and Fife as solicitors.

This is the same scheme and for the same purpose as was the former application which the citizens of this section succeeded in defeating by placing the matter in its true light before the Water Supply Commission, and showing that the sentiment of the citizens was strongly opposed to having any such privileges granted. There are no new reasons why this application should be given any more favorable consideration than the former one. The purposes contemplated are the same as in the applications which were disapproved, and there is no change in the situation on the part of the people. The same arguments hold against the new move that were presented in opposition to the first charters. The fresh application is simply the old one brought forward again.

It proposes to dam the Tionesta, divert its waters to another county, lessen the amount of water in the Allegheny, and create a menace to thousands of dwellers in this valley, and depreciate the investments of millions of dollars in its industries. It is an unreasonable scheme in its conception, injurious to a large community in its object, and a constant danger to life and property in its establishment.

The people have their work to do over again in seeing that the water schemers do not succeed in their purpose through indifference. They may count on wearing out the patience of our citizens by repeated applications, and therefore prompt action should be again taken to inform Governor Tener and the Commission that the people of this locality are as unalterably opposed to the present application as they were to the first one.

In this connection the following special telegram to the Derrick from its Harrisburg correspondent under date of May 27, is of interest to our people:

The first intimation the members of the State Water Supply Commission had that another raid is to be attempted on the waters of the Tionesta creek was to-day when shown a statement in the Derrick that the same parties who had once before been refused charters for five companies were now advertising their intention to again apply for the chartering of a company to do the very thing they were refused before. The application has not yet reached the Water Commission, but it was said today that even in its incipient stage, with only the statement from the Derrick before them, the commissioners will look into it at its meeting to-morrow, in order to see if anything is necessary to be done before the application goes to Harrisburg in the regular order of filing. If conditions are the same as obtained when the others were refused it is reasonably certain that this prompt agitation of the question may foil the conspirators, as the commission turned the other applications down very decidedly. Of course no final action can be taken until the application for the charter is formally before the commission. Meantime it behooves the people affected by the new company to be on the watch at their end of the line.

Mrs. Charles Daubenspeck was born in Kellestville, Dec. 4, 1886, and died at her home here May 22, 1912. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Watson, and her entire life was spent in Kellestville. She was joined in marriage with Charles Daubenspeck, Dec. 23, 1908, to which union two children were born, the oldest a son, Ralph, who is two years old, and an infant child who preceded her to the grave, being laid away in the Washington cemetery on Monday, May 20th. Mrs. Daubenspeck, together with her husband, was converted during the meetings held at the M. E. church two years ago. She was unusually bright and earnest in her experience, not being satisfied with anything but the richest of God's blessings. She received the "blessed assurance, Jesus is mine," while about her work at her home and never doubted from that moment the assurance that God had given her. On Tuesday when friends and attendants thought her condition improving, she asked to see her pastor, saying she could not live. They tried to persuade her that she was just discouraged but she persisted, and Rev. W. E. Frampton was sent for and as he talked to her she said: "I am going; I am going. I am prepared to go." Funeral services were held at the family home Thursday morning, Rev. W. E. Frampton officiating, and interment was made in the Washington cemetery. She leaves her young husband and little son, her parents, brothers and sisters and a number of other relatives, beside the sisters of the W. C. T. U., of which she was a faithful member, and a host of lifelong friends to mourn her loss. Their home was an unusually happy one and it is with the sincerest sorrow that the things that had become dear to them are sold and the home broken up. Mr. Daubenspeck and son will make their home with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Daubenspeck, for the present. Charles wishes to thank the friends and neighbors for their help and the kindly sympathy shown him during this great sorrow.

She has gone, our hearts are bleeding, Our great loss we scarce can bear; But we know that she is pleading God's great love our grief to share.

We will cast our burdens on Him, Trust Him as He bids us do; Though the road seems rough to walk in His strong hand can lead us through. So farewell, our blessed treasure— You have climbed the golden stair; When we bide the Savior's pleasure We shall find you waiting there.

OLD ENGLISH INNS REMAIN

These Charming Places on the Post Roads Have Changed Little in Many Years.

A history of the coach roads out of London would be a history of England, and the stories of the Inns alone would make a fat volume. They are still charming inns, with the same oak rafters and oak wainscoting, the same stuffed trout and foxes in dusty glass cases. They are as they were when they sold brandy in casks that had been thrown shorewards off Brighton and washed into the hands of waiting smugglers; as they were when a day broke, a masked gentleman on a gray mare would rap gently with his whip on their green shutters. And, then the Inns themselves, what could be more charming than their names?

Such names as the Angel of the Annunciation, at Staines on the last change into Windsor, which dates back to the days of the monasteries when the Innkeeper of that tavern was a lay brother, and on the last stage to Box Hill, the Robin Hood Inn, which dates back to that man himself, and those other Inns that celebrate the stars of the animal kingdom in specific colors: The White Hart at Henfield on the Brighton Road, the Dun Horse of Manning's Heath, the White Horse of Dorking, the Bull at Mockbridge, the Bear at Esther, the Lion at Guilford, and at Wimbledon the Dog and Fox. Great men have stopped at these Inns, and while we change horses the landlord will point out the windows of the rooms in which they rested—the first man of Europe on his way to Brighton, Lord Nelson on his way to join his ship at Portsmouth, and Sheridan, Pope, Mr. Pepps, Walpole, Dick Turpin, Capt. Henry Esmond, Mr. Pickwick, Sam Weller and David Copperfield.—Richard Harding Davis in the Metropolitan.
