A Standard of Colors. The call for international standards

all kinds is becoming every day nore insistent with the progressive nification of the industries of the vorld. The latest demand of this kind is for an international standard of plors. Chemists, manufacturers of lyestuffs and pigments, and many others would benefit by such a standard. It is suggested that when once the desired color scheme has been decided apon, the best method of perpetuating the standards, and rendering them available for comparison everywhere, would be by means of colored glasses with which a tintimetor could be constructed. A tentative instrument of this kind, based on an arbitrary color scheme, has been made .-- Youth's companlon

Wisconsin Will Insure People.

A law has recently been enacted in Wisconsin authorizing the State to ergage in the annuity and life insurance business after next year. The business is to be carried on under the management of the State insurance commissioner and is to be conducted on the same lines as a mutual insurance corporation, but at an expense not to exceed $2 per $1,000 traurance. Premiums are to be calculated according to the American mortality table. Annuities are to range from $100 to $300 and life insurance policies from $500 to $3,000 .--Medical Record.

Paris Restaurants Increase Prices. The ever increasing rise in the price of food in Parls has resulted in the posting of a notice in restaurants and cafes to the effect that in order to insure their clients being supplied with first class food or liquor the restaurants find themselves, much to their regret, obliged to increase their prices. They cite potatoes as an instance which necessitated the raise. Some months ago potatoes were selling at 9 francs a quintal wholesale, now they cost 17 francs a quintal .--

WHITEWASH BRUSH IN SPAIN. Great Leveller of Distinctions Between the Rich and Poor.

In Spain, where the ruins of Moorish towers are seen upon the crests of many hills as the "express" train crawls along at the rate of 15 or 20 ulles an hour, the evidences of surviving Moorish influence upon the people and customs of Andalusia make an interesting study. In the city of Ronda it is plain that the ideas of home building which the Arabs brought into the Iberian peninsula remain vital today.

The whitewash brush is the great leveller of distinctions between the rich and the poor in Spain. The exteriors of homes, great manor houses upon the haclendas, huts of mountaincers clinging to the sides of the linest perpendicular hills, handsome ornes of rich merchants in the cities and humble tenements are nearly all of plaster.

A few of them are kalsomined in blue or brown or pink, but the maority are pure white. Ronda is a white city with a few patches of blue 'nd pink and looks as if the whitewish brush had just been applied .--Louisville Courier-Journal.

Diamond Industry.

The diamond industry, which in 1908 suffered severely from the effect of the 1907 financial crisis in the United States, commenced to show decided in provement in the beginning of 1909. The rapidly increasing prosperity of the United States, which absorbs 60 per cent, of the diamond production of the world, caused renewed purchases, so that in the early opring all the diamond shops of Amsterdam were at work in full force to supply the demand. Conditions have steadily improved, and the trade prospects are exceptionally good.

Time Told by Shadows, Among curious clock novelties is the shadow boudoir clock. With it there is no need of getting up to strike a light or turn on the bulb. All that is necessary is to touch a button and the time is finshed on the wall, after the same fashion that signs are flashed on the sidewalk. When the owner of the clock retires he turns a night dial to the ceiling and when he presses a bulb the electric light reflects from the dial through the lens and appears, giving the correct time in shadow on the ceiling.

some other cause, there is a good deal to be desired in the way draft dogs are treated in Switzerland. Dogs, as every visitor to the country must have observed, are still employed there for drawing or helping to draw all kinds of light carts. Most milkmen and bakers employ dogs when taking around milk or bread. Butchers and vegetable fruit sellers also use them. These dogs are, of course all of strong build, but of very different breeds, those most commonly employed being of the St. Bernard or mastiff race. On a market day the streets of Berne are full of them. As a rule they do not look ill fed and their harness fits them well. Nevertheless, it is evident that they are often hard worked, for they may be seen lying stretched full length asleep on the cold, wet ground, or even on the snow, and this, after they have been heated by the exertion of pulling, frequently causes pneumonia or rheumatism .- Pall Mall Gazette.

WIGWAM HAS PASSED AWAY

Indians in Canada Now Make Use of Canvas Tents and Iron Stoves.

A novelist would find a veritable mine of data for stories of the severe life in the woods among any of the northern Indian tribes. During my stay among the Montagnals at Lake St. John two families descended from their winter hunting grounds to the post, being forced on the way to boil their moccasins and pelfries for soup to avoid starvation. Yet these same people were strong enough to travel and attend to the necessities of their camp. Within five days they returned again to the forest.

The canvas tents, which have entirely replaced the native birch bark wigwams, came into general use about twenty-five years ago. The first Indians to introduce them set up their tents and made camp in the space of an hour without having to cut the numerous wigwam poles or dig away the snow underneath, while the old bark lodge required the snow to be cleared to the ground on account of the fire in the center, the whole task consuming about two and one-half hours. The box iron stoves heat the tents very well and consume less wood than the open fires .- Southern Workman.
