Auto's Must Observe Speed Limit.

Within the past week it became necessary to take some note of fast driving on the streets of the Boro by the driver of a car not owned in the town. The defense made by him was that be had been driving at a speed consistent with the law, when some cars owned by our citizens had sped past him at a high rate of speed. Inquiring of the driver of one of the cars owned here "if there was no speed limit," he was told that "there is a limit but no one pays any attention to it."

It would be manifestly unfair to arrest and fine drivers of foreign cars for not obeying the usual precautions for the parents. safety of others when our own citizens are unmindful of the law.

It is true that all cars owned in our city are constantly and continuously driven at a higher rate of speed through T. Rose, Esq. our streets than is consistent for the safety of those using the streets as pede-trians; to drive faster.

A SUICIDE WITH DYNAMITE.

M. Borchert, of Marienville, Blows His Head Off With a Charge of

J. M. Borchert, a carpenter, aged 40 years, of Marienville, this county, comhis shop at that place, Monday morning at 11 o'clock, by blowing his head off with a stick of dynamite. No one will ever know just how he went about his task of self-destruction, but conditions in the shop lead to the supposition that he laid on the floor and placed the stick of dynamite under his head or in his mouth. after lighting the fuse. The explosion which resulted shook the whole town, shattered all the windows in the building. The unfortunate man's head was blown to pieces and one eveball was picked up outside the building. Borchert had made no threats of suicide further than to say to his sister in the morning that he was not going to work any more. He was a good, industrious workman, but was a man of intemperate habits. On Sunday he returned from a trip to Clarion and Brookville and it is supposed that he had been drinking. That he was possessed of a suicidal mania is evidenced by the fact that on April 8, 1910, he attempted to commit suicide in the same shop, mutilating himself terribly with a carpenter's chisel. This act followed a prolonged spree. He had also prepared a rope to hang himsetf but grew so weak from loss of blood that he could not complete his purpose. He was taken to the Kane hospital and his life was saved. A note written by him then said he wished his body sent to Philadelphia to be dissected, rather than buried. No inquest was deemed necessary. Borchert is survived by his mother, Mrs. Henry Borchert, and one sister, Mrs. J. P. Long, with whom he lived.
