THERE is something cowardly and sinister in hitching partisan legislation on appropriation bills. A House that resorts to such crookedness lacks courage as well as patrotism.

DR. WILSON is back from sea with his letter of acceptance finished. It was written aboard a private yacht. What will the horny-handed Democrats of Texas think of that?

D. L. BALL, Esq., of Warren, nominated by the recent Republican State convention of Pennsylvania as the Presidential Elector for this Congressional district, makes this entirely consistent reply to inquiries as to his course in case of his election: "I was nominated on the Republican ticket, and it is my duty to stand by the romines of the Republican National Convention. If chosen to the electoral college, I will vote for President William Howard Tatt." Mr. Ball is straight forward and honorable in his declaration, just as those who know the man, knew he would be.

THERE is nothing that equals publicity to defeat an unjust grabbing of water power. If we are not to be kept awake nights by fear, and ourlives made miserable, we must keep wide awake to the fact that public opinion is a power, when rightly directed, to prevent or remedy evils. Now is the accepted time to demonstrate that we are in earnest and do not intend to allow this fair valley to be menaced by a cloud of such blackness when it is wholly in our power to stop the movement. ### CONSERVATIONISTS OPPOSE DAM. Mr. Kehr, Secretary of the Association,

Visits Scene and Writes Intelligently on the Proposition.

HARRISBURG, PA., August 5, 1912. ED. REPUBLICAN :-

This is the first opportunity I have had f communicating with you since my return to Harrisburg. My visit to Warren, Forest, Clarion, Jefferson, and Clearfield counties was one of great interest and profit to me, but the most pleasing feature of it all was the trip which I took along the Tionesta in company with Hon, N. P. Wheeler, Hon. F. X. Kreitler, T. D. Collins and T. F. Ritchey, for it convinced me that the protest lodged by our Association and vigorously followed up, sgainst the proposed water-power project along that stream, was not misplaced. Any sane person who might make a similar trip and be accorded the same privileges of observation that were accorded me, could not help but cenclude that if this project were carried out it would mean eventually an unnecessary loss of life and property which could never be compensated for no matter how many dollars the power companies might make in the venture. It must be clearly understood at the outset that we do not oppose any movement which would make possible the use of power that can be derived from any stream nor do we object to any effort that may be made to make the waters of the state pure for domestic purposes and nayigable for commercial porposes, Moreover, we will support any movement that will prevent the loss of life and property by destructive floods. However, before we can give our assistance to any projected scheme, we must be convinced that the object will be beneficial to the greatest number of people. The backers of the Tionesta water-power project have never been able to show us that the greatest number of people would be benefitted if they were given the privileges they asked for, Consequently, we have always opposed the proposition.

It would be a crime to dam up the Tionests as proposed, endanger the lives of many people who live along it, destroy the prosperous industries, and inundate the valuable property that lies along it. I can readily see what would happen if the state ever gave its consent to the men who are trying to get use of this water. Notwithstanding the great things done by our prominent engineers, I am not convinced that dams could be constructed along the Tionesta of any magnitude, that would hold water. The formation of soil is such that as soon as trees are removed and it is exposed to the air and sunlight, it disintegrates. Add to this the erosion which would be caused by the water and the result would be eyen worse. It would take millions and millions of dollars to carry out the scheme proposed by the projectors, and would take hundreds of years to make up Williamsport, where he expects to unenough profit to pay off the damage bedergo an operation. We trust this won't fore power could be sold to the people for less than it can now be manufactured by coal in the nearby large cities.

I am informed by reliable sources that the State Water Supply Commission will ter the next Legislature, which convenes that he will be there with the "goods." next January, meets. Moreover, it now appears that the new school code has given the State Department of Education the water rights of the state and the au-

The Danger to Our Chestnut Trees.

The all important subject of forestry conservation and protection is interesting the public generally, because of the great loss that has been occasioned by the chestnut tree blight. This disease has been especially severe in eastern Pennsylvania aud New Jersey, and Pennsylvania's interest in combating the disease is self-apparent. A public conference held at the instance of Gov. Tener in the interest of this disease lead to the appointment of a commission to devise sources of this state for ourselves and means to prevent and control this disease. It is a parasitic growth or canker attacking the chestout only and killing the infected part. The disease may be recognized by some one or all of the following: 1. Dead branches, usually with withered leaves.

2. Cankers on the trunk where bark is not tkick or rough. These cankers are areas of dead, sunken, discolored bark, broken by checks or cracks.

3. Small reddish blisters or fruiting bodies, wart like, bursting shortly and disclosing pustules of a sulphur orange. reddish or brown color are found on smooth bark and between the cracks on rough bark.
