Republican Ticket.

President—Hon. William H. Taft, of Ohio.
 Vice President—Hon. J. S. Sherman, of New York.
 State Treasurer—Hon. R. K. Young, of Tioga County.
 Auditor General—Hon. A. W. Powell, of Allegheny County.
 Congress-at-Large—F. E. Lewis, of Lehigh County; A. R. Rapley, of Cumberland County; A. H. Walters, of Cambria County; J. M. Morin, of Allegheny County.
 Congress—Hon. P. M. Spear, of Venango County.
 Assembly—Hon. A. R. Mechlino, of Clarion County.

Mr. Mechlino's Attitude.

The following is Hon. A. R. Mechlino's reply to Mr. Wason, Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Pennsylvania, relative to his attitude on the platform adopted by the recent Republican State Convention:

HON. HENRY G. WASON,
 Chairman Republican State Committee, Harrisburg, Pa.

DEAR SIR:—In answer to your communication of recent date, with regard to my position upon the reform measures recommended in the platform of the Republican party as adopted by the State Convention, would say, that I heartily approve of the various measures suggested, and if elected will aid in carrying out the recommendations in the platform, as well as other important measures asked for by a large majority of our citizens, and shall bitterly oppose such measures as the grabbing of the State water rights, so vitally important to the citizens of Forest and the other counties.

A. R. MECHLINO,
 Republican Candidate for Assembly.

This is surely a queer world. Only a few years ago the clamor was for better prices. Everybody complained that low prices were ruining them, and the farmer was specially aggrieved. Now high prices are conceded to be the bane of existence. If we could only arrange it so that everybody could sell at high prices and buy at low prices perhaps it would be all right.—Pony Spirit.

THE chief and only purpose of the Honorable William Finn in taking sides with the Roosevelt third-term movement is to get control of the Republican organization in Pennsylvania. Hence his feverish anxiety to confuse the third party with the Republican party by having the same set of Presidential electors represent both. A sincere Bullomose ought not to linger with longings looks around the camps of the enemy while he is fighting on the other side. The Finn motive is too transparent to deceive even the most unsophisticated.—Pony Spirit.

THE Washington Post thus remarks about the Democratic Congress: "More than three months have passed since the Titanic went down and Congress is about to adjourn. Nothing whatever has been done in behalf of humanity at sea, excepting a provision requiring two wireless operators to be carried on every vessel. Congress has not provided for extra lifeboats or rafts; it has not passed the seaman's bill which abolishes involuntary servitude—a relic of barbarism; it has not provided for adequate crews for vessels and life boats; it has not provided for the proper number of officers and regulated their hours; it has done nothing but hold hearings and introduce bills. So far as Congress is concerned, a Titanic could be lost every day without incurring any penalty whatever for the loss of passengers and crews."

A DISPATCH sent out from Pittsburg Monday states that "a bill to place harness racing under state supervision and to legalize pool selling at the tracks will be put into the next session of the legislature. The plan is to make the state highways a direct beneficiary turning into the state treasury a percentage of the profits." That would be a fine piece of "reform" legislation to place upon the statute books of Pennsylvania. Next thing we know some association of respectable (?) gamblers will be proposing legislation to throw open the doors to all sorts of vice and crime, making the state a partner in the profits to be derived therefrom in order to make the law a popular one. Strong men of unquestioned moral courage will be needed in the next legislature to stop the raid for vicious laws which it is proposed to put through.

THE "Progressive Party" was born in Chicago last week, and its nominees are Theodore Roosevelt for president, and Hiram T. Johnson, governor of California, for vice president. Practically the same men elected as delegates to the Republican national convention which met in Chicago in June, and who booted that convention, comprised a large portion of the convention that launched the new party. The same methods were employed and the same program was adopted for the placing of a ticket in the field as has been the case in all political parties for years back. So there you are. The platform declares in favor of the initiative, referendum, recall of judicial decisions, and woman suffrage, and in other respects differs little from the other national platforms adopted this year.

There is less of the fiery ripping up of things than was looked for in the third term party's pronouncements.

—One father will, as a rule, support 10 children cheerfully, but when 10 children are called upon to support one aged and broken-down father, the case is different.—Pony Spirit.

Another Dam Gone.

The Government is putting in dams along the Ohio river for the purpose of improving the navigation of that stream, and make it navigable the year round. These dams are built by experienced engineers and upon the best engineering lines. They are not high. Most of them are not above 25 feet in height, and the amount of water backed up by them is small, compared with the proposed lake to be made with a 300-foot dam at Tionesta. One of these Government dams was recently completed near Gallipolis, O., at a cost of a million dollars. Wednesday a little flood from the Great Kanawha came along and the dam was washed away. Fortunately the great bed of the Ohio river was below it, and the flood did very little damage, other than to the dam itself. When a dam so small as this one, and constructed with the care that is given to Government work, gives way before a flood in midsummer, the danger of permitting a dam 300 feet high to be built on such a stream as the Tionesta is too obvious to require comment.—Oil City Derrick.

We are told that no further action will be taken on the Tionesta dam project until the next legislature meets, presumably to get further legislation on the subject. If this be the case would it not be well to add another plank to the Republican State platform pledging strenuous opposition to any scheme by which great corporate interests may steal the rights of the people away and drive them from their homes by the building of gigantic death-trap dams over their heads? This scheme is on foot and the people had better keep wide awake to the situation.

When the train did not arrive Monday two of the men walked to Bucher's Mill. One of the party being a cripple was unable to walk and he and his partner made the best of sleeping on the flat car Monday night. The train did not come until Wednesday and as it rained Tuesday night, we don't imagine it was very comfortable sleeping quarters.

The ladies will return later, suffering greatly decreased," writes Lindsey Scott, of Temple, Ind. For sale by all dealers.

Recent Deaths.

HUNTER.
 Edgar Franklin Hunter, son of the late George S. and Adaline (Scott) Hunter, now Mrs. C. W. Clark, was born in Tionesta, October 4, 1856, and died at the hospital at North Warren, at 6 o'clock, Thursday evening, August 8, 1912, after an illness of about two months of stomach trouble. The deceased had been a life long resident of Tionesta, where he had many friends. He was of a retiring disposition, industrious in his habits and rarely was found unemployed when health permitted him to work. Besides his mother he is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Charles H., William H., and John G. Hunter, Mrs. Edward Sanner and Mrs. Frank P. Amsler, all of Tionesta. Friday evening the remains were brought to Tionesta and Saturday afternoon the funeral took place from the home of his mother. Rev. W. S. Burton, assisted by Rev. H. A. Bailey, conducted the services, and the remains were laid to rest in Riverside cemetery.

Mayburg's Big Chemical Plant.

What will be the largest chemical manufacturing plant of the kind in the world will soon be in operation in Mayburg, Forest county. The plant will be that of the Tionesta Valley Chemical Co., of Mayburg, the owners of which are Frank K. Brown, T. D. Collins and Frank X. Kreidler, all of whom are well known lumbermen and financiers of Forest county.

The building of the plant will be made entirely of concrete, brick and steel, and when completed the buildings alone will represent an investment of $350,000 and will be the largest wood chemical products plant in the world for the making of wood alcohol, acetate of lime, cresolite, charcoal and roofing compound.

The company owns and controls over 50,000 acres of timber land and they now have on hand enough material such as waste from saw mills, second growth cut timber and other saw mill refuse to keep the plant in operation for at least fifty years.

The foundation walls are in and building operations will be rushed so that the plant will be in operation by the first of November. Between 80 and 90 men will be employed and the pay roll will amount to about $6,000 a month, which will be a great boon to Mayburg and other Forest county towns.

The Struthers-Wells company of Warren was awarded the contract for the installation of the retorts and other equipment and they already have a considerable quantity of the material on the ground ready to be installed. This contract alone called for an outlay of over $80,000.

Frank K. Brown, one of the three owners of the plant and a man who is well known for his business ability will have personal charge of the plant and will be its general manager. Mr. Brown has had the building of a chemical plant for the purpose of utilizing the waste material from timber tracts and saw mills in mind for many years and when the plant is in operation next November his dreams will have been realized.

How To Dust.
 Karl de Schweinitz, executive secretary Pennsylvania Society for the prevention of tuberculosis, says:

When you clean a room, it is not enough to stir up the dust. You must remove it. When you brush a feather duster over a desk or a chair, you merely scatter the dust. Soon it settles and you have your work to do over again. In the meantime, while the dust is in the air, you are probably breathing it into your lungs, irritating your nose and throat and putting yourself in danger of catarrh.

Don't use a feather duster. Take a soft, dry cloth when you dust and shake it frequently out of the window. Another method is to use slightly moistened cloths rinsing them out in water when you have finished.

It is hard to sweep a room without raising dust. If you can afford it, buy a vacuum cleaner. The next best thing in sweeping a carpet is to moisten a newspaper, tear it into scraps and scatter these upon the floor. The damp pieces of paper will catch the dust. Sprinkle moist sawdust on bare floors. This will prevent the stirring up of much dust when you sweep. Neither paper nor sawdust should be dripping wet—only moist.

Remember that the idea in sweeping and dusting is to remove the dust—not to stir it up—and act accordingly.
